REPORT

ON

THE ADMINISTRATION OF CIVIL JUSTICE

IN

THE LOWER PROVINCES OF BENGAL

1879.

THE following report on the Administration of Civil Justice in the Lower Provinces of Bengal has been drawn up on the same plan as that adopted last year. A few of the forms of statements appended have been slightly modified. A new form has been added, at the request of the Government of India, to the series of Annual Statements, to exhibit proceedings in Insolvency. The figures relating to the Calcutta Small Cause Court have also been entered in these statements; and the business coming before that Court is noticed in chapter III of the report.

The returns of several districts were this year submitted with commendable punctuality. In others, however, the returns did not receive proper attention, and much difficulty has been caused by want of exactness in the preparation of the statements. The Court has taken serious notice of the conduct of certain officers who were particularly in fault, and the Judges trust that the reiterated instructions, which have been issued to secure proper attention being given to the preparation of these returns in the course of the year to which they relate, will lead to improved results in future.

Of the suits disposed of—

101 were dismissed for default or want of prosecution,
91 were withdrawn with leave,
11 were determined by compromise,
102 were decreed on confession,
296 were decreed ex-parte,

There were also disposed of during the year 349 petitions for probate and letters of administration, 2,095 interlocutory applications, including applications for injunction, for the appointment of a receiver, for the discovery of documents, &c., and 424 applications for execution.

References to take accounts.

The number of references to take accounts, to make enquiries, to settle conveyances, &c., pending at the commencement of the year, was 91. The number of fresh references directed by the Court during the year was 145, making a total of 236. Of these, 21 were disposed of by a Judge in Chambers, and 111 were disposed of by the Registrar on the Original Side. In 18 of the cases disposed of by the Registrar, that Officer conducted the sale of property ordered to be sold otherwise than in the ordinary course of execution after examining the title and settling the conditions of sale.

Proclamations under Section 287.

In connection with the Registrar's quasi-judicial duties, it should be stated that that Officer has during the year settled the proclamation of sale by the Sheriff in the ordinary course of execution in 23 cases, in 19 of which it was found necessary to examine witnesses.

Appeals from the Original Jurisdiction.

The number of appeals from the Original Side to the Appellate Side of the Court pending at the commencement of 1879 was 15, and the number filed during the year was 52, making a total of 67. Of these, 4 were dismissed for default, and 38 were disposed of on their merits with the following results:—The decree appealed from was affirmed in 26 cases, was modified in one case, was reversed in 10 cases, and was partly reversed in 1 case, and the case was remanded to the Lower Court, with directions to allow evidence to be adduced by one of the parties on a question of fact.

References from the Calcutta Court of Small Causes.

Two references from the Calcutta Small Cause Court were pending at the commencement of 1879, and 6 references were made during the year, making a total of 8. Of these, 7 were disposed of as follows:—In 3 cases the judgment was affirmed, in 2 cases a new trial was ordered, in 1 case the judgment, which was for the defendant, was set aside, and it was ordered that judgment should be entered for the plaintiff, and in 1 case the judgment was modified by reducing the amount found in favour of the plaintiff.

Insolvent cases.

The number of cases pending in the Insolvent Court at the commencement of the year was 191, and the number filed during the year was 95, making a total of 286 cases. Of these, 110 cases were disposed of during the year as follows:—5 cases were withdrawn, 17 cases were dismissed, and in 88 cases the insolvent obtained relief.

Of the persons who sought relief in the cases disposed of, 59 were merchants, 13 were private persons who had previous to their insolvency possessed independent means, and 38 were clerks employed in public and other offices.

It should be stated that of the cases which remained undisposed of at the end of the year, 85 are cases which, though practically abandoned, it has been found necessary to retain in the list of pending cases,—see extract from judgment of White, J., in the report for 1878, p. 2.

There were also disposed of during the year 48 applications for protection and 741 miscellaneous applications.

For the hearing of original suits, 2 Judges sat together for 1 day, 2 Judges sat separately and simultaneously for 127 days, 3 Judges sat separately and simultaneously for 4 days, and 1 Judge sat alone for 87 days. References to take accounts, &c., occupied 16 days of 1 Judge. The Insolvent Court occupied 25 days of 1 Judge. The appeals from the Original Side and the references from the Calcutta Small Cause Court occupied 3 Judges for 1 day and 2 Judges for 52 days. Judges' time occupied.

There were 4 appeals pending before the Privy Council at the commencement of 1879, and 2 were filed during the year. In the cases pending at the commencement of 1879, the proceedings were transmitted to the Privy Council on the following dates:— Appeals to the Privy Council.

In the first case, in 1869.
In the two next cases, in 1871.
In the next case, in 1876.

A letter has been addressed to the Registrar of the Privy Council inquiring as to these cases, which it will probably be found have been dismissed for want of prosecution under the provisions of Rule 5 of the order of Her Majesty in Council dated 13th June 1853, though no intimation of this has been received by this Court.

The following is a statement of receipts and expenditure on the Original Side during 1879:—

	Rs.	A.	P.

Do. on sales by the Registrar	5,992	1	9
Receiver's commission	29,788	12	10

Probate and Administration duty	2,70,912	0	0

	Receipts.			Expenditure.			Surplus.
	Rs.	A.	P.	Rs.	A.	P.	Rs.	A.	P.
1878	2,11,721	12	10	1,83,557	8	3	28,164	4	7
1879	2,58,275	15	2	1,78,486	4	6	79,787	10	8

The Clerk of the Crown, having during the year also officiated as Secretary to the Government of Bengal in the Legislative Department, has been allowed only half his pay of the former office. This will account for the principal portion of the reduced expenditure.

II.—CIVIL COURTS SUBORDINATE TO THE HIGH COURT.

The total number of orignal suits instituted, disposed of, and pending in the Civil Courts of the Lower Provinces subordinate to the High Court in each of the past three years, was as follows:—

	Instituted.	Disposed of	Pending.
1877	349,349	356,503	39,279
1878	355,176	352,762	46,195
1879	374,783	373,297	53,473

In the year 1875 the total number of suits instituted was 323,466, and thus the growth in five years is shown to be more than 50,000 suits. Such an increment amply justifies the augmentation of establishment sanctioned in 1878, and points unmistakably to the necessity for a further increase.

The number of suits disposed of has kept pace fairly with the influx of business, and the increase in the number of suits pending at the close of the year is not larger than is justly due to the same cause.

Suits instituted.

	Reg.	S. C. C.
1877 . .	299,906	49,443
1879 . .	314,443	60,340

The figures given in the margin show that there was an increase of about 14,000 suits filed in the Regular Civil Courts, and of upwards of 5,000 in the Courts of Small Causes. In the early part of the year the district of Julpigoree and Darjeeling was broken up, the former being placed under Rungpore, and the latter under Dinagepore. Shortly afterwards a new district was formed, composed of Bogra and Pubna. Maldah was also withdrawn from Dinagepore and placed under Rajshahye. These changes of jurisdiction prevent any useful comparison between the figures for the past, and those for the previous year exhibited in the comparative tables appended to this report, so far as individual districts of the Rajshahye and Cooch Behar Divisions are concerned. A comparison can, however, be made of the figures relating to the division as a whole. Referring to the details given in Table A, it will be seen that in that division there was in the past year a decrease of 2,666 suits in the Regular Civil Courts, and an increase of 361 suits in the Small Cause Courts. Turning to districts in other divisions, there was an increase in the number of suits filed of upwards of 3,000 in Backergunge; of upwards of 2,000 in Midnapore, Jessore, Dacca, Furreedpore, and Chittagong; of upwards of 1,000 in East Burdwan, 24-Pergunnahs, and Cuttack; and of upwards of 500 in West Burdwan and Hooghly. On the other hand, there was a decrease of upwards of 2,000 suits in Rungpore (including Julpigoree); of upwards of 1,000 in Mymensingh, Shahabad, and Tirhoot; and of upwards of 500 in Moorshedabad and Rajshahye (including Maldah). In the Courts of Small Causes there was an increase in the number of suits instituted of upwards of 2,000 in Jessore, of upwards of 1,000 in Nuddea and Cuttack, and a decrease of upwards of 500 in Dacca and Furreedpore.

The following are some of the reasons suggested by District Judges in explanation of the results shown in their returns.—In Backergunge many money and rent suits are said to have had their origin in the distress caused by the cyclone of 1876 and by subsequent bad harvests; but, on the other hand, the increase in title suits is ascribed to the revival of prosperity. Claims of the latter kind, being capable of postponement longer than other claims, were delayed in the recent distress only to swell the institutions on the return of better times. In Dacca the increase has been attributed to some extent to the good crop reaped in nearly all parts of the district; but as regards bond suits, the increase is explained by a general belief that the period within which suits on registered bonds might be brought had been reduced by the Limitation Act (XV) of 1877 to three years, and must therefore be brought in 1879. In Chittagong the increase is ascribed in one Munsifee to the re-transfer of Thannah Meerka-serai from Noakhali to the jurisdiction of the Munsif of Sitakoond, and in other Munsifees to the "better condition of the people" during the past year. The decrease of suits in the district of Tirhoot is attributed by the Judge to different causes. As regards money suits, the advances made in the last famine were well nigh recovered by the end of 1878, leaving but little occasion for suits in 1879; and the period for solemnizing marriages having been longer in the past year, people were under special inducements to negotiate matrimonial alliances, and to borrow for that purpose from mahajuns, who were accordingly more intent on making fresh advances than in recovering outstanding debts. Decrease in rent suits is said to have been owing to deposits of rent having been fewer; landlords, who had been detected in making false returns, preferring to make amicable arrangements with ryots, and also to the high rates for grain caused by the demands on account of the Afghan war, having rendered it easier for cultivators to pay their rents. The decrease in title suits is said to be due (negatively) to the cessation of certain causes which had led to an abnormal increase, viz., the ruling of the Privy Council in the case of Dindayal versus Jugdeepnarain (1877) and the Land Registration Act of 1876, and (positively) to cholera and inundation. In Nuddea bond cases, however, have increased in all the Courts (and in Cuttack in the Small Cause Court), owing to the last Limitation Act of 1877 having rendered many bonds inoperative unless sued upon within two years of its becoming law, viz., within the past year. The increase in suits on goods sold in Nuddea is ascribed to the destruction of the rice crop and the consequent high prices of food-grains. The increase in rent suits is said to be owing to the proceedings of a single zemindar, who brought upwards of 300 cases for arrears of rent, &c.

Suits disposed of.

There was an increase of upwards of 3,000 in the number of suits decided in the Regular Civil Courts in Midnapore and Jessore; of upwards of 2,000 in Dacca, Backergunge, and Chittagong; and of upwards of 1,000 in the 24-Pergunnahs and Furreedpore. In Tirhoot, on the other hand, there was a decrease of upwards of 2,000 in the number of suits decided; and in Shahabad of upwards of 1,000.

Pending.

In the districts noted on the margin there was a very considerable increase in the pending files of the Regular Courts at the close of 1879. In the first and last of these districts the result is due to an increase in the number of suits instituted, while in the remaining districts it is due also to a falling off in the number of suits disposed of. It is to be observed, however, that in Tipperah, while the total number of suits disposed of was less than in the previous year, the number of contested cases decided was greater.

	Increase.
Backergunge	1,933
Tipperah	1,161
Noakhally	966
Cuttack	722

Long pending suits and appeals, 1878 and 1879.

See Statement B.

As it may easily happen that many suits have been thrown into the Courts just at the end of the year, the material enquiry must always be not how many suits were pending, but how long they had been pending. From the figures given in the margin it will be observed that the total number of suits and appeals pending for more than one year at the end of 1879 was slightly less than the corresponding number at the end of 1878. The number of original suits of long pendency has materially increased in Tirhoot and Sarun, and decreased considerably in Mymensingh, Tipperah, and Patna. In West Burdwan and Tirhoot the files of appeal fell heavily into arrear. In the former district all the old cases (143) were on the file of the District Judge, Mr. Bignold, who explained that his time during the last quarter of 1879 was so occupied with criminal work and original suits, that he could not take up the civil appeals. A Subordinate Judge since appointed to Bancoorah has reduced the file somewhat, and a further reduction is expected owing to the appointment of an Additional Judge, who has in the current year taken the place of the District Judge. The 168 old appeals in Tirhoot belonged chiefly to the file of the 1st Subordinate Judge, who is said to have been unable to clear his files in the 4th quarter of the year, when there were comparatively few working days, owing to illness. The Officer in question has since died.

Number and value of suits instituted, 1875 to 1879.

See Statement C

Statement C shows that, including cases in the Courts of Small Causes, the total number of suits filed in 1879 exceeded the total number filed in 1875 by 51,317, or 13 per cent. The value in litigation at the same time increased to Rs. 4,67,05,729, as compared with Rs. 4,26,63,054, falling short, however, of the value of litigation in 1878 by upwards of two crores of rupees. This falling off relates exclusively to the District of Gya, where it is due to the fact that in 1878 four cases of exceptionally large value, Rs. 2,73,80,000, were instituted.

In the following statement the districts have been classed according to the number of suits instituted in 1879:—

Exceeding 20,000 suits.
Backergunge.	Dacca.	Jessore.
Nuddea.	24-Pergunnahs.
Exceeding 15,000 suits.
Hooghly.	Midnapore.	Mymensingh.
Rungpore.	Tipperah.
Exceeding 10,000 suits.
Bhaugulpore.	Burdwan, E.	Chittagong.
Cuttack.	Furreedpore.	Moorshedabad.
Noakhally.
Exceeding 5,000 suits.
Dinagepore.	Pubna.	Purneah.
Rajshahye.	Shahabad.	Tirhoot.
Exceeding 2,000 suits.
Burdwan, W.	Gya.	Patna.
Sarun.	Chota Nagpore.

In Jessore the number of suits instituted was slightly in excess of 35,000, of which more than one-third were filed in Courts of Small Causes. In Nuddea the number exceeded 30,000, of which more than half were brought in Small Cause Courts.

The increase in litigation during the last five years has been marked in the following districts:—viz., in Backergunge, where it has amounted to 67 per cent.; in Cuttack, where it has amounted to 77 per cent.; and in Hooghly, where it has been 31 per cent. Litigation has decreased in Dacca to the extent of 26 per cent.

Classification of suits instituted, 1878 and 1879.
See Statement D.

The number of suits of each class instituted in all the Civil Courts in each of the past two years was as follows:—

	1878.	1879.
Small Cause Court class	187,987	199,746
Rent suits	126,902	131,452
Other class	40,231	43,585

Excluding cases instituted in the Small Cause Courts, the number of cases of the Small Cause Court class instituted in 1879 was 139,406, of which 35,493 were dealt with by officers vested with the powers of a Small Cause Court for the trial of suits not exceeding Rs. 50 in value. Comparing the results in the past with those in the previous year, it appears that in cases instituted in the Small Cause Courts there has been an increase of 9 per cent., and in cases of the Small Cause Court class instituted in the Regular Civil Courts an increase of 4½ per cent. As regards suits under the rent law, the results in 1879 were 3 per cent. in excess of those in 1878; while in "title and other suits" there was an increase of 8 per cent.

The increase in cases of the Small Cause Court class will be considered later in this report with reference to the Small Cause Courts in which it occurred.

As regards rent suits, an increase of 1,701 cases is observable in Backergunge, of 1,767 in Jessore, and of 1,703 in Midnapore; while in Shahabad there was a decrease of 1,432 cases. In title and other suits, the increase is chiefly traceable in the returns of Backergunge, Chittagong, Midnapore, and Tipperah; and a marked decrease took place in Bhaugulpore, Nuddea, and Tirhoot.

The following statements, prepared in accordance with the practice of former years, will show in what districts suits of each class are most numerous.

	1878.	1879.
Dacca	15,116	16,771
Jessore	14,503	18,155
24-Pergunnahs	14,102	15,662
Mymensingh	13,141	11,926
Nuddea	11,733	13,779

These districts occupy the same relative position in the past as in the previous year.

The only districts in which the number of rent suits exceeded 10,000 in the past year were—

	1878.	1879.

In the following districts the number of title and other suits instituted in the past year exceeded 2,500:—

	1878.	1879.
East Burdwan	2,776	2,708
24-Pergunnahs	2,675	2,661
Mymensingh	2,521	2,669
Tipperah	1,766	2,701

The following table gives details regarding the suits for money or movables instituted in the past two years in the Regular Civil Courts and the Courts of Small Causes :—

Description of Suits.	Small Cause Courts.		Regular Courts.
	1878.	1879.	1878.	1879
On written obligation	28,166	32,567	98,210	99,649
On unwritten obligation	6,500	6,668	7,767	8,830
On account stated	2,208	2,620	6,922	7,222
Money had and received	1,193	1,556	2,409	3,328
Goods sold	7,534	7,834	3,292	4,206
Wages, work, and materials	1,192	1,108	1,001	1,367
Rent not falling under the rent-law	2,800	3,204	1,831	2,282
Movable property or value thereof	750	761	6,010	6,692
Damages	2,615	2,575	4,107	4,234
Other suits for money or movables not mentioned above	1,398	1,447	1,832	1,596
Total	54,656	60,340	133,381	139,406

It will be observed that there has been a material increase in the number of suits on bonds in the Small Cause Courts. In the Regular Civil Courts the increase under this head is less noticeable than that under the head "suits on unwritten obligation."

The following table contains a comparative statement of the various descriptions of rent suits instituted during the past two years in the Civil Courts and in the Revenue Courts :—

Description of Suits.	Civil Courts.		Revenue Courts.
	1878.	1879.	1878.	1879.
Arrears of rent	119,097	125,436	7,472	8,141
Enhancement or abatement of rent	1,520	1,836	87	88

All other suits under the rent law	3,627	1,317	52	71
Total	126,902	131,452	9,004	9,405

There was an increase in the suits for arrears of rent, as well as in those for enhancement or abatement and for ejectment; but a decrease in the heading "all other suits under the rent law."

The following statement gives detail of suits other than rent suits and suits of the Small Cause Court class instituted in the past two years :—

Other suits not falling under any of the previous heads	105	558	...	1·28
Total	40,237	43,585	100	100

The only noticeable difference between the results of the two years compared above is that there was an increase of 2,036 cases in the suits to declare and establish rights to real property.

Suits valued according to class.

See Statement E.

In the following statement the value of suits of each class instituted in each of the past two years is exhibited. The figures for 1878 differ from those shown in last report, owing to corrections made in the Hooghly and Patna statements :—

		1878.	1879.
		Rs.	Rs.
Suits for money or movables	Small Cause Courts	27,79,109	32,17,080
	Regular Courts	1,49,73,720	1,68,11,940
Suits under the rent law		74,62,678	76,02,524
Title and other suits		4,49,27,052	1,90,74,185

The great decrease under the head of title and other suits in 1879 is owing chiefly to the fact already noticed, that in the previous year a few suits of exceptionally large values were instituted in Gya. This explains also the decrease under the same head appearing in the following table, which exhibits the average value of a suit of each class in each of the two past years as follows :—

		1878.	1879.
		Rs.	Rs.
Suits for money or movables	Small Cause Courts	50·8	53·3
	Regular Courts	111·8	120·5

The following table gives further details of the value of suits instituted in 1879:— Details of value.

It thus appears that 364,066, or 97·1 per cent. of the whole number of suits instituted in the Civil Courts, did not exceed Rs. 500 in value. Of those instituted in the Small Cause Courts, 39,885, or 66·1 per cent., did not exceed Rs. 50. in value. Of suits of the Small Cause Court class instituted in the Regular Civil Courts, 88,325, or 63·3 per cent., did not exceed the same value. Of these, 35,318 were dealt with by officers vested with Small Cause Court powers. Of rent suits, 33·8 per cent. did not exceed Rs. 10 in value, and 44·8 per cent. more exceeding Rs. 10 did not exceed Rs. 50 in value. Of title and other suits, 68·9 per cent. did not exceed Rs. 100 in value.

The following statement gives details of 10,205 suits in which the value is said to have exceeded Rs. 500:—

Not exceeding Rs.	1,000	in value	5,429
„ „	5,000	„	3,850
„ „	10,000	„	563
„ „	1,00,000	„	342
Exceeding „	1,00,000	„	21

In the remaining 512 cases, the value cannot be estimated in money.

The manner in which suits were disposed of during each of the past five years is shown in the following table:— Suits how disposed of.

See Statement F

	Withdrawn, compromised, confessed, &c.	Decided ex-parte.	Contested.	Total.
1875 . . .	114,047	118,061	88,780	320,888
1876 . . .	126,068	127,776	92,163	346,007
1877 . . .	129,094	133,254	93,094	355,442

1879 . . .	139,070	140,466	93,761	373,297

Contested cases formed 25·11 per cent. of the whole number decided in 1879, as compared with 26·6 per cent. in 1878 and 26·19 in 1877.

In the following statement details are given for 1879 according to the class of suit, and the class of Court in which decided:—

		Withdrawn, compromised, confessed, &c.	Decided ex-parte.	Contested.
Courts of Small Causes .		30,240	19,589	11,670	61,499
Regular Courts	Suits for money or movables .	52,970	60,511	24,262	137,743

Total .		108,830	120,877	82,091	311,798

From this it appears that while in the Small Cause Courts 18·9 per cent. of the cases decided were contested, as compared with 26·3 in the Regular Courts, the ratio in the latter for each class of suits separately was in suits for money 17·6 per cent., in rent suits 28·7 per cent., and in title and other suits 46·9 per cent. The largest proportion of contested suits is, as usual, found among claims to establish title and other cases; while the smallest number contested are among claims for money or movables.

Of the suits for money, &c., entered above, as decided in the Regular Courts, 35,493 cases were dealt with by officers vested with the powers of a Small Cause Court Judge for the trial of petty suits not exceeding Rs. 50 in value. The manner in which these cases separately were disposed of is shown in the margin. Only 16·6 per cent. were contested.

Districts where contested suits were most numerous.

	1877.	1878.	1879.

As in the previous year, the proportion of contested cases decided in the Regular Civil Courts was greatest in certain districts of the Patna Division, mentioned below:—

	Percentage of contested cases
	In suits for money, &c.	In suits under the rent law.	In title and other suits.	TOTAL.
Patna	10·8	50·5	31·3	48·5

In the following statement further details are given of the manner in which suits were disposed of in the Civil Courts in the interior and in the Small Cause Courts separately. The proportion of cases in which the plaintiffs and defendants were respectively successful during the past three years is also shown:—

2,70,801	273,888	288,454	.....	38,157	42,668	48,932

	1877.	1878.	1879.
Plaintiff loses	23·8	22·4	22·7
Compromised	10·8	12·1	12·5
Plaintiff wins	64·4	65·5	64·7

The percentage of cases in which the plaintiff was unsuccessful was very nearly the same last year as in the year preceding. Under the heads "Compromised" and "Plaintiff wins," the results in the three past years vary little.

	Percentage.
Plaintiff loses . .	20·4
Compromised . .	12·2
Plaintiff wins . .	67·3

In the Courts of Small Causes taken separately, the success of the plaintiff was slightly greater than in the Courts generally, though there was no material difference in the results.

Applications to set aside ex-parte judgment, or judgments in default. See Statement G.

The following statement shows for each of the past three years the number of cases dismissed in default or decreed ex-parte, compared with the number of applications for setting aside the judgments in such cases made and granted :—

	1877.	1878.	1879.
Number of cases dismissed in default or decreed ex-parte	148,330	146,326	164,853
Number of applications to set aside judgments in such cases	8,972	8,832	9,139
Number of such applications granted . . .	3,055	3,051	3,890

The ratio of applications in 1879 to judgments was 5·5 per cent., or very slightly less than it had been in the previous year. Of the applications made last year, 42·3 per cent. were granted, as compared with 34·5 per cent. in 1878. Of 59 applications made in the Courts of Judges, 38 were granted, of which 15 belonged to the District Court of Mymensingh.

Decrees how executed. See Statement H.

The following statement shows the number of applications for the execution of decrees on which realizations were made in the past three years in full or partial satisfaction of decrees, and the amount realized in the Regular Civil Courts :—

	Complete.	Partial.	Amount realized. Rs.
1877	66,959	45,339	1,26,86,768
1878	70,613	50,069	1,49,51,076
1879	76,043	44,534	1,37,00,646

The corresponding figures for Small Cause Courts during the past two years are as follows :—

	Complete.	Partial.	Amount realized. Rs.
1878	5,497	6,416	4,38,860

In the Regular Civil Courts there was a decrease in the amount realized last year of Rs. 12,50,430, as compared with an increase of Rs. 22,64,308 in the previous year. The following are the districts in which the amount realized in these Courts was greatest :—

	Amount realized. 1878. Rs.	1879. Rs.
Bhaugulpore	14,72,547	10,31,477
Hooghly	4,24,686	9,37,912
Tirhoot	11,57,425	8,36,269
24-Pergunnahs	7,18,701	8,52,166

The increase in the amount realized is remarkable in Hooghly, where it has more than doubled, as compared with the proceeds of the previous year. In the 24-Pergunnahs the realizations in 1879 exceeded those of 1878 by above a lakh and a quarter.

The increased realizations in Hooghly may be due, the Judge suggests, to the influence of the new Procedure Code in infusing a greater degree of earnestness into decree-holders, "now that the period of three years from the date of the passing of the Code (30th March 1877) prescribed by the last clause of section 230 for execution of old decrees is fast approaching its close."

In Bhaugulpore an exceptionally large amount (nearly 14¾ lakhs) was realized in 1878, and the result was ascribed to the "improved circumstances of the cultivators." The amount realized in the past year (Rs. 10,31,477) fell considerably short of this, but was in excess of the amount realized in 1877. No explanation is offered as to the decrease.

The following statement shows the number of applications for the execution of decrees disposed of in the past year on which realizations were made with and without the issue of process, and the amount realized with and without it, in the Regular Civil Courts and in the Small Cause Courts separately :—

		Number of applications.	Amount realized.
			Rs.
Regular Civil Courts	With process . .	103,799	1,23,09,397
	Without do. . .	16,788	13,91,249
Small Cause Courts	With process . .	11,115	3,00,189
	Without do. . .	1,548	87,358

Taking all the Courts together, it will appear that the issue of process was found to be unnecessary in 13 per cent. only of the applications on which realizations were effected.

Decrees executed.
See Statement 6.

In Statement 6 further details will be found regarding the manner in which decrees were executed in 1879. The number of applications, including verbal ones, for execution, dealt with by the Civil Courts in the interior, was 317,891; the whole number disposed of, 263,344; and the number pending, 54,547. Satisfaction in whole or in part was obtained in 133,540 cases. Of the applications disposed of, the creditor's claim was adjusted under section 258, Civil Procedure Code, in 40,197 cases, and 113,885 applications were wholly infructuous. This does not mean that so many decrees became inoperative, but merely that single attempts to execute were unsuccessful or not persevered with.

Coercive processes.

The following figures show the comparative frequency of certain modes of execution in the past five years :—

Year.	Possession given	Imprisonment of person.	Property sold.
			Movable.	Immovable.
1875	6,221	3,058	16,224	16,030
1876	8,098	3,537	18,847	18,828
1877	7,636	3,922	15,559	23,681
1878	7,588	1,984	8,957	32,248
1879	8,064	2,190	10,299	32,240

The number of applications on which possession was given in the past year is somewhat larger than that of either of the two preceding years. In 218 cases only of the entire number in 1879 was the property of which possession was given movable property. The number of cases in which the judgment-debtor was imprisoned increased slightly in the year under report, as compared with the comparatively small number in the previous year. The cases of arrest not terminating in imprisonment were 5,289.

The effect ascribed in the report of last year to section 266, Civil Procedure Code, may still be observed in the relative proportion of cases in which movable property and immovable property were sold, viz., as 10,299 to 32,240. The returns show, however, that in 7,805 cases movable, and in 25,457 cases immovable property was attached, but subsequently released under the operation of section 275, Act X of 1877, either because satisfaction was obtained, or the decree set aside.

Other modes in which execution was effected were as follows:—In 1,461 cases the judgment-debtor's immovable property was dealt with under sections 305, 322, or 326, Civil Procedure Code, that is, opportunity was given to raise money on the property and so satisfy the decree. Specific performance was enforced in 490 cases, and partition was effected in 161 cases. Details are not given of the manner in which decrees were executed in 1,728 cases.

Original miscellaneous (judicial) cases.
See Statement I

In last year's report it was stated that the Court had issued instructions to secure uniformity in the preparation of the returns of miscellaneous business coming before the Courts. It will accordingly be found that the figures given in last year's report differ from those given in the following table, which exhibits the number of original miscellaneous cases of a judicial nature, which were instituted, disposed of, and pending in the Regular Civil Courts, and in the Small Cause Courts in each of the past two years:—

		Instituted.	Disposed of.	Pending.
Regular Civil Courts	1878 . .	43,080	42,571	7,496
	1879 . .	33,780	35,030	6,877
Small Cause Courts	1878 . .	1,714	1,650	183
	1879 . .	3,079	3,046	257

The returns indicate an increase of business coming into the Small Cause Courts, and a decrease in the Regular Civil Courts. Much reliance cannot, however, be placed upon the revised figures here given for 1878, as the registers for that year were not maintained according to the practice now prescribed.

Miscellaneous (non-judicial) cases.
See Statement I1

In the course of business many matters of a miscellaneous nature, other than judicial duties, necessarily require the attention of the officers presiding in the several grades of Civil Courts. For the purposes of a report on the Administration of Civil Justice, it is not necessary that a record should be kept of these; but the Court has thought it desirable, for purposes connected with the general administration, that returns should be submitted by the Courts of first instance, showing the number of certain classes of applications made to them under the rent law, to which it is important that prompt attention should be given. Such are applications for the deposit of rent, applications for assistance to distrain, and applications for the sale of distrained property. The following table shows the total number of such applications instituted, disposed of, and pending in the Civil Courts in each of the past two years:—

	Instituted.	Disposed of.	Pending.
1879	34,968	31,675	13,712

These figures also suggest that the registers for 1878 are defective. In explanation of the large number of cases pending at the end of 1879, it has been stated that an erroneous practice has prevailed in some Courts of keeping on the file applications for the deposit of rent until the person to whom the rent is payable appears to claim it. It has been ruled that such applications should be treated as disposed of as soon as the notice required by law has been served on the landlord.

III.—SMALL CAUSE COURTS.

I.—The Presidency Small Cause Court.

The procedure of the Presidency Small Cause Courts being regulated by a Special Act, some difficulty is found in filling up the returns, which have been devised specially with a view to exhibit the working of the Courts in the interior. The Judges of the Calcutta Small Cause Court have, however, supplied such information as was obtainable from the registers maintained by them, and the results of the working of the Court will now be briefly noticed in accordance with the request of the Government of India contained in their Resolution on the Court's report for 1877.

Calcutta Small Cause Court.

The number of suits instituted, disposed of, and pending in the Calcutta Small Cause Court during each of the past two years, was as follows:—

	Instituted.	Disposed of.	Pending.
1878	36,000	35,705	1,436
1879	37,199	37,051	1.584

In 30,109, or in nearly 81 per cent., of the cases instituted last year, the value in litigation was very trifling, in no case exceeding Rs. 50. It exceeded Rs. 500 in 674 cases, in 70 of which the value was in excess of Rs. 1,000.

Of the suits disposed of during the past year, 5,541 did not come to trial, having been dismissed for default or want of prosecution, 26,903 were decided without contest in the manner shown in the margin, and 4,607 were decided with contest or on reference to arbitration.

Decreed on confession .	4,861
Decreed ex-parte. . .	8,463
Dismissed ex-parte . .	45

The number of miscellaneous judicial cases disposed of by the Court in 1879 was 433. Of these, 80 were commissions received for execution from Courts in the interior, and 353 were distraint cases (not being interpleader claims) under the Distress Act, 1875.

The return of proceedings in the execution of decrees is defective. It appears, however, that 16,150 warrants were issued, 3,927 of which were wholly infructuous. Of the rest, 6,850 were satisfied in full, and 4,941 in part. Of the warrants on which satisfaction were obtained, 10,049 were satisfied directly through the intervention of the Court. The difference of 1,742 is made up of cases where, after a warrant has been issued, the debtor has paid the money probably hearing that a warrant is out against him.

The total amount realized in the execution department was Rs. 4,04,149, as shown in the margin.

	Rs.
With the issue of process .	1,63,793
Without the issue of process .	2,40,356
	4,04,149

II.—Small Cause Courts in the interior.

Small Cause Courts in the Interior.

See Statement A1.

The business coming before the Small Cause Courts in each district is shown in Statement A, which has already been noticed. In Statement A1 will be found details for each Court separately. No change occurred in the number of such Courts. The Court at Pubna was, however, withdrawn from the Kooshtea Circle, to which it was formerly attached, in consequence of the new district of Pubna having been formed. The Subordinate Judge attached to the district has been appointed Judge of the Small Cause Court. Should he be withdrawn, it is intended that the District Judge himself should preside in that Court.

The total number of cases instituted, disposed of, and pending in the Small Cause Courts during the past two years, was as follows:—

	Instituted.	Disposed of.	Pending.
1878	54,656	53,930	3,962
1879	60,340	61,499	3,896

In the past year there was thus an increase of 5,684 cases filed and of 7,569 decided, as compared with the previous year, which again had shown an increase over the year 1877. The pending files, however, are slightly lighter. The Courts, or groups of Courts, where the increase in the number of cases instituted has been greatest, are shown in the margin. In last annual report, it was noticed that the grant

	Increas
Hooghly, &c. . .	910
Kishnaghur, &c. . .	818
Kooshtea, &c. . .	973

to Small Cause Courts of exclusive jurisdiction in certain cases, even when the defendant does not reside or carry on business within the local limits of that jurisdiction, might in some measure be the reason of the increase in the number of cases coming before the Courts in the immediate vicinity of Calcutta. It is to be remarked, however, that while the total number of cases instituted in the Small Cause Courts in 1879 exceeded the number instituted in 1878 by no less than 5,684 cases, the number of contested cases decided in the past year was greater than the number decided in the previous year by 357 cases only. The increase has therefore been almost entirely in uncontested cases, and may well be the result of a desire to save limitation, as explained above.

The subjoined table shows the number of cases instituted during each of the past four years in the principal Courts and Circles :—

	1876.	1877.	1878.	1879.
Dacca and Moonsheegunge .	5,201	5,661	6,061	5,552
Jessore	5,194	5,102	4,943	5,927
Kooshtea, &c. (including Pubna)	4,723	4,755	5,151	6,555
Kishnaghur, &c. . . .	4,443	4,693	5,520	6,338

Bhaugulpore and Monghyr .	3,592	3,406	4,222	3,953
Furreedpore and Bhangah .	1,605	1,648	1,547	908

In nearly all Small Cause Courts the suits decided kept pace with those instituted, so that there was no accumulation of arrears.

Cases how decided.

As already stated above, 11,670 cases, or 18·9 per cent. of the whole number decided in the Courts of Small Causes, were contested. The following are the Courts, or groups of Courts, where the number of contested cases was greatest in the past two years :— See Statement F.

	1878.	1879.
Magoora, &c.	1,384	1,310
Jessore	1,335	1,080
Hooghly, &c.	1,276	1,365
Kishnaghur, &c.	1,261	1,456
Sealdah	1,181	1,297
Kooshtea, &c.	1,175	1,493
Dacca, &c.	876	821
Bhaugulpore, &c.	719	760

In the Small Cause Court at Jessore there has been a decrease in 1879 of contested cases almost equal to the increase in the previous year. There has been a marked increase in the Kooshtea group, but no remarkable difference in other Courts.

Value of suits instituted.

In last report it was stated that the increase of work in the Sealdah Small Cause Court had necessitated the appointment of a Registrar in order to relieve the Judge of much of the routine of the office, and to dispose of petty suits. In the past year the Judge decided 4,136 cases, of which 1,134 were contested, and the Registrar decided 1,710 cases, of which 161 were contested.

Officers vested with Small Cause Court powers.

It has been already shown that of the suits instituted in the Small Cause Courts in 1879, 10,951 did not exceed Rs. 10 in value, and 28,923 more did not exceed Rs. 50 in value. The exact number in which the value did not exceed Rs. 20 is not stated; but if it be assumed to be a little more than one-third of the entire number instituted, it would be about 22,000.

As has been already stated, 35,493 cases were disposed of last year by officers vested with Small Cause Court powers for the trial of petty suits not exceeding Rs. 50. Of these, 5,922, or 16·6 per cent., were contested. It has been shown before that of the cases of the Small Cause Court class before officers not vested with Small Cause Court powers, more than 50,000 did not exceed Rs. 50 in value; 26,628 more suits lay between Rs. 50 and Rs. 100 in value. The Court has already on more than one occasion suggested that the powers of Munsifs under section 29, Act VI of 1871, may be extended to cases of the value of Rs. 100.

APPELLATE JURISDICTION.

IV.—THE HIGH COURT.

I.—Appeals under Section 15 of the Letters Patent.

The statement in the margin shows the number of appeals under section 15 of the Letters Patent preferred against the decrees of the High Court in its Appellate Jurisdiction, and decided in each of the past two years. The number of appeals from the decisions of Judges of the High Court in the exercise of Original Jurisdiction before the Court in 1879, including 15 pending from the previous year, was 67, of which 42 were decided and 25 remained undisposed of at the close of the year.

Class of Appeals.	Filed.		Decided.
	1878.	1879.	1878.	1879.
First appeals .	29	52	36	42
Second appeals .	2	0	1	1
Third appeals .	97	36	151	30

The "second appeals" referred to, were appeals in cases where the Judges of a Division Bench sitting in appeal were equally divided in opinion. This class of appeals became extinct by the operation of section 575, C. C. P.

Third appeals are those appeals preferred from the decision of a single Judge in appeals against appellate decisions in cases not exceeding Rs. 50 in value.

The annexed figures show a marked diminution in the actual number of these small appeals, as well as in the number heard by a single Judge. To this fact in part is due the large decrease already shown in the number of "third appeals;" but another cause is to be found in the character of these appeals themselves, which were commonly frivolous and obviously preferred for purposes of delay, as the following table shows:—

	1878.	1879.
Disposed of by a single Judge.	617	294
Ditto by a bench of two Judges	285	409
Total .	902	703

	Confirmed.	Modified.	Reversed.	Remanded.	Disposed of otherwise.
1878	131	1	12	5	3
1879	25	...	4	2	...

Their vexatious character at length elicited serious observation from the Court and with excellent results. The fact explains to a great extent the decrease, which from the table given above, it will be observed, has occurred in the number of third appeals filed.

As long, however, as the law allows a further appeal in the High Court itself against the decision of a single Judge, the use of single benches will be of little advantage. Not only will the time of highly paid Judges be occupied in a degree quite out of proportion with the importance of the subject-matter, but as the parties to such cases are too often unequally matched in respect of means to carry on the contest, undue chances are given to the richer or more obstinate litigant.

II.—Appeals from Courts in the interior.

Including cases coming from Assam and British Burmah, the number of first and second appeals from the decrees and orders of the Civil Courts in the interior brought before the Court and decided in the past two years was as shown in the margin. Of the first appeals brought before the Court in 1879, 34, and of those decided, 7, were appeals in contested Probate Cases.

The following statement shows the manner in which the appeals brought before the Court came upon the file:—

			Instituted.	Received by transfer.	On review of judgt.	Revived.

		orders	195	0	1	1
	Appellate	decrees	3,001	0	7	4
		orders	102	0	1	1

It will, doubtless, attract attention that the number of appeals disposed of by the Court on the Civil Side was materially less in 1879 than in 1878. The amount of the decrease under each head is shown in the margin. This result is due not to any decrease in the number of days of sitting (for the Court sat on 242 days in the past as compared with 237 days in the previous year), but in part to the diminished number of Judges present during the latter half of 1879, in part to the demands made by other business on the time of the Judges who sat, in part also to the fact already noticed that only 294 against 617 second appeals were heard by single Judges, and finally, in part to the nature of the cases coming before the Court. It occasionally happens, as it did in 1879, that a single obstinately contested appeal occupies a Division Bench for weeks. In consequence, moreover, of the large increase of the work on the Original Side, it has been found necessary during the last two years to keep two Judges sitting almost continuously on the Original Side, whereas 3 or 4 years ago one Judge could generally get through the causes, with the assistance occasionally of a second Judge, when all the 12 Judges were available. The effect of this is that when one or more Judges are absent on leave, only 4 Division Benches can be formed on the Appellate Side.

The following statement shows in a more complete form the work which has come before the High Court in its Appellate Jurisdiction during each of the past four years. The increase in criminal business, it will be seen, is steady, and to some slight extent balances the falling off in civil work :—

The following statement shows the state of the appeal files of the High Court from year to year since its constitution :—

It will be observed that the file of appeals from original decrees at the close of last year, though heavier than at the close of the previous year, was lighter than at the close of 1877. The file of appeals from appellate decrees was considerably heavier than it had been for two years previously, but was not so heavy as at the end of 1876. The number of miscellaneous appeals pending at the end of last year was not materially different from the number pending at the end of the previous year. The arrangements of the Court carefully provide that no delay shall occur in disposing of business of this class.

It is to be remarked that, of the number of appeals from appellate decrees pending at the end of the year, no less than 1,378, or more than 45 per cent., were valued each of less than Rs. 50.

Districts from which appeals came.

Of the 350 appeals from original decrees instituted during the past year, 6 came from Assam and 1 from British Burmah. Of the 343 appeals pertaining to the Lower Provinces of Bengal, the largest numbers came from the following districts, viz., 39 from Tirhoot, 33 from Patna, 26 from Hooghly, 25 from Bhaugulpore, and 22 from Nuddea. The number of such cases received from each of the remaining districts, and especially from Tipperah, Midnapore, and Sarun, was comparatively small.

See Statement Y.

Deducting 106 appeals coming from Assam, the number of appeals from appellate decrees of the Courts in the interior of the Lower Provinces instituted during the year was 2,895. Of these, 270 came from Tirhoot, 268 from Bhaugulpore, 261 from Patna, and 221 from the 24-Pergunnahs. From the following districts numbers less than 100 of these appeals were received, viz., Hooghly 88, Midnapore 88, Nuddea 71, Rajshahye 52, and Noakholly 18.

Appeals classed according to value.

The following statement exhibits separately for each province the value of appeals from original and appellate decrees instituted during the past year:—

	Appeals from original decrees		Appeals from appellate decrees

Assam	2	4	52	54
British Burmah	0	1	0	0

It will be observed that of the appeals from original decrees, 65, or 18·5 per cent., were valued at Rs. 10,000 and upwards. Of the appeals against appellate decrees, 1,288, or 42·8 per cent. of the whole, were of a value not exceeding Rs. 50.

The following are the districts from which the greatest number of these petty appeals came:—Tirhoot (199), Sarun (104), Patna and Shahabad (82 each), Jessore (80), 24-Pergunnahs (60).

The following table shows more in detail the value of appeals from the original and appellate decrees of the Courts in the interior, and of third appeals under the Letters Patent instituted during the year:—

Result of Appeals.

Fifty-one appeals from original decrees, 57 appeals from appellate decrees, and 22 miscellaneous appeals, did not come to a hearing, having been dismissed in default or otherwise not prosecuted.

See Statement Z.

The details are as follows:—

	Appeals from original decrees.	Appeals from appellate decrees.	Miscellaneous appeals.
Dismissed in default	22	40	14
Withdrawn	8	6	7
Compromised	21	11	1

The result of appeal as affecting the decisions of the Lower Courts in the cases decided on trial is shown in the following table :—

	Appeals from original decrees.	Appeals from appellate decrees.	Miscellaneous appeals.
Affirmed	150	1,384	176
Reversed	55	144	68
Varied	19	48	15
Remanded	10	214	17

The ratio of cases in which the decisions of the Lower Courts were reversed or varied was 31·6 per cent. in the case of appeals from original decrees, 10·7 per cent. in the case of appeals from appellate decrees, and 30 per cent. in the case of miscellaneous appeals.

The reason of this difference in ratio will be obvious on consideration. In the first and last named classes of appeals both law and fact are open; in the other, only questions of law.

The following table shows separately for Judges and Subordinate Judges the percentage of cases heard, in which their decisions were affirmed or were reversed or modified.

	Affirmed.		Modified or reversed.
	Judges.	Subordinate Judges.	Judges.	Subordinate Judges.
Appeals from original decrees	65·7	63·4	28·5	32·9
Appeals from appellate decrees	72·6	81·5	13·7	7·9
Miscellaneous appeals	64	63·2	28	33·6

In Backergunge, 24-Pergunnahs, Rajshahye, and Noakholly, where all the original decrees against which an appeal was heard were affirmed, the results of appeals of this class were most infructuous to appellants; they produced the best results in Hooghly and Furreedpore, where in every case the decree was modified or reversed. The number of appeals decided on trial was, however, 5 only in the case of the former district, and 3 only in the case of the latter.

As regards appeals from appellate decrees, results were most adverse to appellants in the case of Purneah and of Dinagepore, where all the decrees against which appeals were heard were upheld, and Cuttack, where one decree only out of 24 was reversed. The appellants fared best in cases from Rungpore and Shahabad, where only about half the decrees appealed against were affirmed.

Conclusions are apt to be drawn from such figures as those given above, favourable to particular Judges or to classes of Judges, which, however, are in general fallacious. With respect to appeals from appellate decrees, it is indisputable that the result, assuming the infallibility of the High Court, illustrates the goodness or badness of the judgment of the Lower Appellate Court, only to the extent to which the ground of judgment of that Court is appealable to the High Court and is dealt with by that Court.

An Appellate Court may do very serious mischief by reversing sound conclusions of fact arrived at by an inferior Court, and yet may present a judgment unimpeachable under the present law in second appeal; and on the other hand, a timid Appellate Judge, or one having a special care for the result shown in statements, may leave the plainest errors uncorrected, and the High Court may be obliged to affirm his decree, and it is noticeable that both in regular appeals and in miscellaneous appeals (where commonly a greater scope is allowed for discretion) the advantage is with the District Judges.

In the margin figures are given, comparing the proportion of cases in which an order of remand was passed during each of the past three years. It will be observed that in each of the past two years there has been a decrease in the proportion of cases in which an order of remand was passed. They amounted to 10· 5 per cent. of the whole number in the past year as compared with 11· 24 per cent. in the previous year. The districts from which the largest number of appeals so dealt with came were Shahabad, Bhaugulpore, Gya, and Dacca.

V.—APPELLATE COURTS UNDER THE HIGH COURT.

The number of appeals in regular suits instituted, disposed of, and pending in the Courts in the interior of the Lower Provinces during the past three years, was as follows :— Appeals instituted. See Statement J.

	Instituted.	Disposed of	Pending.
1877	20,139	19,653	10,562
1879	19,479	19,486	10,771

There was an increase of 876 in the total number of appeals preferred in the past, as compared with the previous year. The increase was most marked in the districts named on the margin. The Judge of Midnapore attributes the increase in his district to the operation of Bengal Act VIII of 1879, under which the right of enhancement of rent by Government is contested. The increase in Dacca was principally in rent appeals, and followed a proportionate increase in suits under the rent law. In Mymensingh the increase in appeals cannot be thus accounted for, as the number of contested cases decided in which an appeal lay to the District Court was somewhat less in the past than in the previous year. It may, however, be due in part to the fact that the files have fallen somewhat into arrears. When this is the case, appeals are often filed merely for the purpose of delay. In Tipperah the increase in appeals correspond with an increase in title suits. The increase in appeals of the Small Cause Court class is said by the Judge to be "due to the suspension of the summary powers of two Munsifs."

Midnapore	298
Jessore	134
Dacca	188
Mymensingh	192
Tipperah	224

Appeals decided.

The number of appeals disposed of was 19,486 in the past, as compared with 19,462 in the previous year. In Tirhoot while the number of appeals instituted decreased, the number disposed of was 455 more than in the preceding year. This is ascribed by the Judge to two sets of analogous appeals having been dealt with, one relating to 204 and the other to 297 enhancement suits.

Appeals pending.

The increase in the number of appeals decided having fallen short of that in the number preferred, the year ended with an increase on the whole of 490 appeals on the pending file. While there was an increase in the business coming before the Appellate Courts in Midnapore, Dacca, and Mymensingh, there was a decrease in the work done, the result being an accumulation of arrears. In Tipperah the increase in the pending file was due to an increase in the number of appeals preferred.

Ratio of appeals to decisions.

See Statement K.

From the figures given in Statement K, it will be observed that the number of decisions in Courts in the interior in which an appeal lay to the District Court in the past year was 72,640, as compared with 75,487 in the previous year. The ratio of appeals to decisions was therefore 26·81 per cent., as compared with 24·64 per cent. The percentage was highest in the districts named on the margin. In Cuttack the result is affected by the exclusion of rent cases, which are tried in the Revenue Courts, Act VIII (B. C.) of 1869 not having been extended to those Districts.

Appeals classed.

See Statement L.

The following figures show for each of the two past years the number of appeals filed under each of the three chief classes :—

	In suits for money or movables.	In suits under the rent law.	In title and other suits.
1878	3,304	8,420	6,879
1879	3,699	8,886	7,394

From this table it appears that the increase in the appeals relates principally to title and other suits and partly to suits of the Small Cause Court class. There was no increase on the whole in appeals in rent cases.

Appeals valued.

See Statement M.

The following figures show the value of appeals of each of these three classes instituted in 1878 and 1879 respectively :—

	In suits for money or movables. Rs.	In suits under the rent law. Rs.	In title and other suits. Rs.
1878	5,10,295	6,89,175	16,18,410
1879	6,07,345	6,90,627	15,79,211

The total value of appeals filed was thus Rs. 28,77,183, as compared with Rs. 28,17,880 in 1878, showing an increase of Rs. 69,383 in value. The increase is chiefly under Class I.

The following table gives details of the value of appeals filed in the past year in the Civil Courts:—

Scale of values.	Number of Appeals
	In suits for money or movables.	In suits under the rent law.	In title and other suits.	Total.
Not exceeding Rs. 10	201	2,267	739	3,207
„ „ „ 50	1,149	3,523	2,458	7,130
„ „ „ 100	980	1,206	1,165	3,651
„ „ „ 500	1,120	1,157	1,978	4,264

Value not stated	8	6	40	49

From this it appears that the value on appeal exceeded Rs. 500 in 1,178 cases only, or in 6·06 per cent. of the appeals in all Courts, the value of which was ascertained. Appeals, the value of which did not exceed Rs. 100, formed 62·99 per cent. of the whole in the case of appeals in suits for money or movables; 83·42 per cent. in the case of those in suits under the rent law; and 63·05 per cent. in the case of those in title and other suits.

1879	12,055	1,764	3,900	655	1,112

The total number of appeals decided on trial was 19,486 in the past, as compared with 18,404 in the preivous year. The number of cases in which the decision of the Lower Court was upheld was slightly greater in 1879. The number in which it was modified or reversed was less by 87 cases. In the number of orders of remand, there was a decrease of 110 cases, which must be considered a large proportion with reference to the figures, being nearly one-sixth of the remands of 1878.

Confirmed	63·39	64·6	61·86
Modified	10·5	9·6	9·05
Remanded	5·6	4·1	3·36

The proportion of cases in which the decision of the Lower Court was upheld was great in Moorshedabad, Backergunge, and Cuttack, where it was over 66 per cent.; in Sarun, where it was 69·60 per cent.; in Beerbhoom, Rajshahye, and Noakhally, where it was over 70 per cent.; and in Dinagepore, where it was over 72 per cent.

Appeals in miscellaneous cases.

The number of appeals in miscellaneous cases instituted, disposed of, and pending during the past two years, was as follows:—

See Statement O.

	Instituted.	Disposed of.	Pending.
1878	1,466	1,568	614
1879	1,460	1 418	687

These figures call for no remark.

VI.—GENERAL AND ADMINISTRATIVE.

Work done by District Judges.
See Statement P1.

	Days.		Original suits.	Miscellaneous cases.	Regular appeals.	Miscellaneous appeals.	Sessions trials.	Criminal appeals.
	Civil.	Criminal.
1876 . .	4,124	2,491	135	8,841	8,343	1,479	1,252	3,281
1877 . .	4,391	2,529	189	8,565	8,170	1,661	1,293	3,249
1878 . .	4,284	2,742	130	8,670	8,025	1,435	1,410	2,801
1879 . .	4,229	2,972	231	6,733	7,529	1,205	1,404	2,770

It will be observed that, as pointed out last year, their duties in the Criminal Department continue to claim an increasing share of the attention of the District and Sessions Judges every year. The number of sessions trials held in 1879 was about the same as in 1878, while the number of criminal appeals heard decreased but slightly. On the Civil side while there was an increase in the number of original suits decided, the number of regular and miscellaneous appeals heard was considerably less than in any of the three previous years.

There was some variation in the number of District and Sessions Judges in the course of the year under report. The district of Julpigoree and Darjeeling was broken up, with effect from the 1st March, the latter magistracy being attached to Rungpore, and the former to Dinagepore, which was relieved of Maldah (transferred to Rajshahye). On the 1st July, the Additional Judge, who since the beginning of the year had been stationed at Pubna, was made a District and Sessions Judge, with jurisdiction over the districts of Pubna and Bogra. Since the close of the year under report, further changes have been made affecting Chittagong and West Burdwan.

Work by Additional Judges
See Statement P 2.

The following statement shows the amount of Civil and of Criminal work done by Additional Judges during the past four years:—

	Days.		Original suits.	Miscellaneous cases.	Regular appeals.	Miscellaneous appeals.	Sessions trials.	Criminal appeals.
	Civil.	Criminal.
1876 . .	505	424	18	495	1,015	111	297	72
1877 . .	334	340	7	345	635	228	183	72
1878 . .	463	300	13	491	688	74	252	184
1879 . .	401	311	8	491	639	115	278	41

The amount of work done by Additional Judges in the past year, while it fell short of the outturn in 1878, exceeded that in 1877. In last report it was noticed that an Additional Judge had been temporarily appointed in 1878 and employed in Gya. At the beginning of the year under report he was transferred to Patna, where he rendered material assistance in the disposal of regular appeals.

Work done by Subordinate Judges.
See Statement P 3.

The amount of work done by Subordinate Judges during the past four years was as follows:—

	Original suits.	Miscellaneous cases.	Appeals.
			Regular.	Miscellaneous.
1876 . .	4,608	14,155	11,638	35
1877 . .	4,866	13,860	10,848	27
1878 . .	5,889	12,211	10,748	59
1879 . .	5,783	7,924	11,318	88

In last report it was stated that the Small Cause Court powers vested in the Subordinate Judge of Dinagepore, had been withdrawn and vested in the Sudder Munsif. That Officer, on the 2nd Munsif being withdrawn, was found to be unable to deal with all the work devolving on him; consequently the Subordinate Judge was vested with the powers of a Munsif, under which he disposed of a considerable number of cases. In Purneah the Subordinate Judge continued to exercise Small Cause Court powers for the disposal of petty suits, and decided 827 cases in all. Of the remaining officers, the 1st Subordinate Judges of Bhaugulpore, Patna, Sarun, Gya, and Dacca decided the largest number of original suits. The largest number of appeals were decided by the 2nd Subordinate Judge of Sarun, the 1st Subordinate Judge of Tipperah, and the 1st Subordinate Judge of Bhaugulpore.

The apparent decrease in the number of miscellaneous cases decided is due to the instructions which in last report it was noticed that the Court had issued with a view to securing uniformity of practice in the preparation of the returns.

Work done by Munsifs.

See Statement P4.

The figures given in the margin show the number of suits and miscellaneous cases disposed of by Munsifs during the past three years. The apparent decrease in the number of miscellaneous cases in the past year is due to orders just referred to, restricting to certain classes the cases to be entered in the returns.

	Suits.	Miscellaneous.
1877	300,506	239,787
1879	305,776	171,255

In last report it was stated that the Government had sanctioned an increase in the staff of Munsifs, and that it only remained to open four new Courts as funds became available. The re-arrangement of the grades of Munsifs has now been completed, and four officers have been appointed to the districts, noted in the margin, where assistance was most required.

Sarun and Tirhoot	1
Noacolly	1

The appointment of an extra Munsif in Sylhet having been sanctioned by the Government of India, the total number of Munsifs of all grades is now 223, of whom 8 are employed under the Government of Assam. These figures do not include executive officers vested with the powers of a Munsif, who are, however, entered in Annual Statement 1.

The only Munsifs who in the past year decided more than 3,000 suits were those shown in the margin. Cases which were withdrawn or compromised, and cases which were decided ex-parte, are included in the figures here given. A better test is the number of contested cases decided. Taking them separately, it appears that work was heaviest in the Courts noted in the margin.

Lukhipore	3,807
2nd Bhanga	3,681
Chandpore	3,217
Sudharam	3,130
1st Midnapore	3,059

Khoolnah	978
3rd Jessore	892
Dewangunge	784
Sudharam	759
Tajpore	749
Jhenidah	742

Notwithstanding the increased number of Courts, it is clear that the pressure of work on many officers is still excessive. The number of suits instituted is steadily increasing, and before long it may be necessary to apply to Government for sanction to a further increase in the number of Munsifs.

Munsifs' Court-houses.

In last report it was stated that the Government had made a liberal grant with a view to providing improved Court-houses on a standard plan for Munsifs. Unfortunately financial pressure necessitated the withdrawal of the grant, and no progress was made in giving effect to the scheme during the year under report. Since its close the Government has renewed the grant, and orders have issued for the construction of Courts at those stations where the want of proper buildings was most urgently required.

Receipts and charges of the Civil Courts.

See Statements R. and S.

Including the High Court and the Presidency Small Cause Court, the receipts and charges of the Civil Courts in the past year were as shown in the margin. The general financial result is a surplus of Rs. 30,45,457. Taking the Courts at the Presidency separately, there is an excess of charge over receipts amounting to Rs. 1,39,309. The details are as follows:—

	Rs.
Receipts	71,67,856
Charges	41,22,399
Surplus	30,45,457

Courts at the Presidency.

Receipts.	Rs.
In stamps — Process fees	2,92,412
In stamps — Other fees	6,82,335
In cash — Fines	115
In cash — Other receipts	74,746

Charges.	Rs.
Salaries of—
Judicial Officers	5,99,037
Establishment — Process-servers	6,043
Establishment — Others	4,67,791
Contingencies and refunds	1,16,046
TOTAL	11,88,917

Courts in the interior.

Taking the Civil Courts in the interior separately, the net financial result for the past year was a surplus of Rs. 31,84,766, as shown in the margin. Deducting from both sides of the account the charges on account of process-servers, the financial results for the past three years may be stated as follows :—

	Rs.
Surplus	31,84,766

	Receipts. Rs.	Charges. Rs.	Surplus. Rs.
1877	44,81,586	24,60,205	20,21,381
1878	50,77,205	24,15,687	26,61,518
1879	55,27,938	23,43,172	31,84,766

The surplus resulting last year is shown to have exceeded that in 1878 by Rs. 5,23,248.

The following statement gives separately details of the receipts and charges of the Civil Courts in the interior in the past year:—

Receipts.		Rs.	Charges.	Rs.
In stamps	Process fees	15,38,926	Salaries of—	15,13,298
	Other fees	43,32,426	Judicial Officers
In cash	Fines	13,657	Establishment. Process-servers	5,90,310
	Other receipts	2,33,239	Establishment. Others	7,05 830
			Contingencies and refunds	1,24,044

Deducting the cost of process-servers, the net receipts from stamps, it will be observed, amounted to Rs. 52,81,042.

Under the head of process fees separately, the net gain to Government was Rs. 9,48,616, showing even more clearly than was shown in last year's report that the fees levied might be reduced with perfect safety to the revenue.

The following statement shows the gross receipts and charges of the several grades of Courts in the past year, and the result whether a surplus or deficit:—

Courts in the interior—	Receipts. Rs.	Charges. Rs.	Result plus or minus. Rs.
Small Cause Courts	4,90,973	2,11,668	+ 2,79,305
Munsifs' Courts	37,93,524	14,04,180	+23,89,344
Subordinate Judges' Courts	11,57,371	4,36,740	+ 7,20,631
Judges and Additional Judges' Courts	6,76,380	8,80,894	— 2,04,514
Courts at the Presidency—
Small Cause Courts	2,82,968	2,09,349	+ 73,619
High Courts (Orignal and Appellate)	7,66,640	9,79,568	— 2,12,928

It appears that in every grade of Court in the mofussil, except District Courts, the receipts largely exceed the expenditure, the results for the past year being even more favourable than those for the previous year. The cause of the deficit in District Courts was explained last year. At the Presidency the Court of Small Causes shows a surplus of Rs. 73,619, but the charges on the Civil side of the High Court exceeded the receipts by Rs. 2,12,918.

Probates, &c.
See Statement T.

On probates and letters of administration was Rs. 3,92,659 in the past, as compared with Rs. 3,18,404 in the previous year. The amount levied in the District Courts was Rs. 1,01,869 in the past, as compared with Rs. 94,624 in the previous year. In the High Court, omitting cases where the assets were exclusively in Assam, the amount of duty realized was Rs. 2,90,790, as compared with Rs. 2,23,780 in 1878.

Civil Court Ameens.
See Statement U.

The sums here exhibited are treated in account as receipts of the Civil Courts. Deducting them, the surplus or net revenue realized from these Courts is reduced to Rs. 26,52,798.

The receipts and disbursements on account of Ameens during the past two years were as follows :—

		Receipts. Rs.	Disbursements. Rs.
1878	Permanent Ameens	41,585	39,734
	Temporary Do.	1,375	1,851
1879	Permanent Ameens	38,100	35,462
	Temporary Do.	1,193	1,054

It will be seen that in the past year likewise the receipts on the whole exceeded the expenditure by Rs. 2,777, including an allowance of 10 per cent. for pensions. In a very few instances, notably in Chota Nagpore, did the receipts fall short of the disbursements.

Local inquiries. See Statement V.

The number of cases in which local inquiry was held and completed last year was 1,712. The average value involved in the suits in which the inquiry was made was Rs. 413, and the average cost of the enquiry, Rs. 15. The number of enquiries held last year was less than the number held in 1878 by 454 cases. There was a decrease from 96 to 79 in cases not exceeding Rs. 5 in value, in which the cost of enquiry always exceeds the amount in litigation of the Code of Civil Procedure.

Proceedings in insolvency. See Statement W.

The following statement exhibits the number of applications for a declaration of insolvency filed, disposed of, and pending in 1878-79 :—

Proceedings in insolvency. See Table W.

	Instituted.	Disposed of.	Pending.
1878	224	204	21
1879	186	165	42

The number of fresh applications was considerably less in the past than in the previous year. The number filed in those districts where such applications are most numerous is shown in the margin. In the 24-Pergunnahs, Dacca, and Chittagong, applications were not so frequent in 1879 as in 1878, while in Midnapore and Patna they were more frequent.

24-Pergunnahs	14
Hooghly	13
Midnapore	13
Tipperah	13

In no district was advantage taken of the provisions of the Code as amended by Act XII of 1879, permitting creditors to file application for a declaration of insolvency in respect to debtors.

Applications how disposed of.

Of the whole number of applications before the Court in the past year, 39 were granted, 48 were refused, 78 were not prosecuted, and 42 were pending at the end of the year.

On 5 applications out of 48 rejected, a sentence of imprisonment was passed under Section 359 of the Code of Civil Procedure. In one case an applicant was under that section sent to the Magistrate to be dealt with.

Number of persons declared to be insolvents discharged and pending. See Table W 1.

The following statement shows the number of persons declared to be insolvent during the past as compared with the previous year, the number who obtained their discharge, and who remained undischarged in the same period :—

	Declared to be insolvent.	Discharged.	Pending.
1878	71	62	3
1879	41	43	1

Of the persons declared to be insolvents during the past year, 5 were in Dacca, 4 in Tipperah, and 4 in the 24-Pergunnahs. No such declaration was made in Chittagong, Hooghly, or Mymensingh, and some other less important districts.

Receivers in insolvency.

Only one insolvent's estate was placed in the hands of a receiver during the year, as compared with 9 in the previous year. The following statement shows the amount realized and disbursed, and the balance in the hands of such officers, during each of the past two years :—

	Amount realized.	Amount disbursed.	Balance.
	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
1878	160	33	127
1879	31	...	138

See Statement W 2.

These results show that so far as creditors are concerned, no benefit as yet result from the new provisions of law.

Changes in the Subordinate Judicial Service.

The following changes took place in the ranks of the Subordinate Judicial Service during the year.

The undermentioned Subordinate Judges and Munsifs left the service :—

Subordinate Judges.

There were also disposed of, during the year, 77 applications for protection and 938 miscellaneous applications.

Judges' time occupied.

For the hearing of original suits 3 Judges sat together for 1 day, 2 Judges sat together for 4 days, 2 Judges sat separately and simultaneously for 106 days, 1 Judge sat separately for 103 days, and 3 Judges sat separately and simultaneously for 1 day. References to take accounts, &c., occupied 1 Judge for 28 days. The Insolvent Court occupied 1 Judge for 51 days. The appeals from the Original Side and the references from the Calcutta Small Cause Court occupied 2 Judges for 53 days.

Appeals to the Privy Council.

There were 4 appeals pending before the Privy Council at the commencement of 1879, 2 were filed during that year, and 1 was filed during 1880.

It appears from a letter from the Registrar of the Privy Council, that of the 4 appeals which were pending at the commencement of 1879, 2 had been dismissed for want of prosecution, and that no proceedings had been taken in the 2 other appeals since the 5th of December 1870, so that they may fairly be treated as having been abandoned. The proceedings in the appeals filed in 1879 and 1880 were all transmitted to the Privy Council in the course of the latter year.

	Rs.	A.	P.
Commission of the Accountant General	16,647	1	8

The Clerk of the Crown, having during the year also officiated as Secretary to the Government of Bengal in the Legislative Department, has been allowed one-half his pay of the former office. This will account for the principal portion of the reduced expenditure.

II.—CIVIL COURTS SUBORDINATE TO THE HIGH COURT.

The total number of original suits instituted, determined, and pending in the Civil Courts of the Lower Provinces subordinate to the High Court in each of the past three years, was as follows:— Original suits instituted, disposed of and pending See Table A.

	Instituted.	Determined.	Pending.
In 1878	355,176	352,762	46,195
„ 1879	374,783	373,297	53,473
„ 1880	384,564	386,965	55,982

The number of original suits instituted during the past year exceeded by 9,781 the number instituted in the previous year, and by 29,388 the number instituted in 1878.

Although the number of suits heard and determined has exceeded the number instituted during the past year, a result which was not attained in either of the two preceding years, no reduction was made in the pending files, which show 2,509 suits in excess of the number pending at the close of 1879. A similar anomaly appears on examination of the figures of the preceding years, for although the number of cases decided in 1879 was less by 1,486 than those instituted, the number pending at the end of 1879 exceeded by 6,278 those brought on from 1878. These results are attributable to cases admitted to re-hearing either on application for review of judgment or on revival of cases decreed ex-parte, and also to cases remanded on appeal, none of which are entered as new cases.

Suits instituted.

The figures given in the margin show that there was an increase of nearly 13,000 suits instituted in the Regular Civil Courts and a decrease of about 3,000 in the Courts of Small Causes. On reference to the details given for each district in Table A, it will be seen that, in the

	Reg.	S. C. C.
„ 1879	314,443	60,340
„ 1880	327,248	57,316

Regular Civil Courts, the increase was most remarkable in the following districts, viz. :—

	Increase of more than
Furreedpore	3,000
Bancoora, Mymensingh, Dacca	2,000
Hooghly, Jessore, Rajshahye, Backergunge, Midnapore	1,000
Sarun, Moorshedabad, Pubna, Tirhoot, Bhaugulpore	500

On the other hand, the decrease is most striking in the following districts, viz. :—

	Decrease of more than
Noakhally, Burdwan	2,000
Rungpore, Chittagong, Nuddea	1,000
Dinagepore	500

In the Courts of Small Causes of the following districts there was the largest increase in the number of suits instituted, viz. :—

Dacca	1,000
Furreedpore	500

While a falling off is chiefly in the following districts, viz. :—

Jessore, Cuttack	2,000
Nuddea, 24-Pergunnahs	500

The following are some of the reasons given in the District Judges' reports in explanation of these results :—

Bancoora.—The District Judge reports : "there was a considerable increase in the institutions in the Courts of the Munsifs of Bancoora, Kotulpore, and Khatra. As regards Kotulpore and Khatra, the increase is accounted for by the fact that these two Munsifis were only created at the beginning of the last quarter of 1879. The increase in the Bancoora Munsifi is ascribed to the transfer, from Bishenpore to its jurisdiction, of Thanna Onda, one of the most litigious thannas in the district."

Mymensingh.—The increase in this district is ascribed to the prosperous condition of the people owing to good harvests.

Dacca.—In this district the increase took place principally in the Small Cause Courts of Dacca and Munshigunge and in the Courts of the Munsifs of Dacca, Munshigunge, and Manickgunge. It occurred mostly in suits for money and movables and in cases under the Rent Law. The Judge says that it is difficult to assign any particular reason for this increase in litigation, but he thinks that it is perhaps owing to the excellent crops reaped in all parts of the district towards the end of 1879.

Hooghly.—The District Judge remarks that the steady increase of litigation in this district year by year may be taken as an index of its commercial prosperity.

Midnapore.—The increase is attributed to a great influx of settlement suits under Act VIII (B.C.) of 1879 in the Courts of the Munsifs of Tumlook, Dantoon, and especially at Contai.

Pubna.—The increase here is stated to be due to the abundance of crops during the past year and the greater facility with which landlords have realised their rents.

Tirhoot.—In this district the increase is in suits under the Rent Law, and is reported to be due to disputes between certain indigo planters and their ryots. The Land Registration Act of 1877 has also, the District Judge reports, tended to increase litigation to a great extent. Many suits for adjudication of title and to set aside the Collector's orders were instituted during 1880, and are still being instituted.

Sarun.—The District Judge reports thus: "There is an increase in the number of institutions of all classes of original suits over the preceding year. The increase is most considerable in rent and title suits. Suits of the latter class appear to be steadily increasing, probably in consequence of the raising, in proceedings under the Land Registration Act, of questions of title which had been allowed to remain unsettled previously. I have not been able to obtain a perfectly satisfactory explanation as to the marked and general increase in rent suits over the previous year. The prevailing opinion among the Judicial officers subordinate to me is, that it is probably due to abundant harvests, and consequently an increased chance of landlords being able to realise old-standing arrears."

Dinagepore.—The Munsif of Dinagepore accounts for the increase in the number of suits relating to money and for the decrease in that of rent suits by the fact that several suits were brought before him on kistbandis executed in consideration of rent due. In the Thakurgaon Munsifi the number of suits for money or movables has been, successively for the last four years, 1,331, 1,259, 1,088, and 979, showing a constant decrease. This is attributed partly to good harvests; but the more probable cause assigned is that the Court is less frequented owing to the jungles which surround it on three sides being infested with tigers. Rent suits show a decrease of 486 in the number of institutions, principally owing to the fact that a large number of this class of suits was instituted in 1879 by one putnidar and zemindar. The Munsif of Putnitolla remarks that there has been a gradual decrease in the number of suits of all classes since the re-arrangement of the Munsifi jurisdiction of this chowkee in 1878. Nearly half of the suits used to come from the thannas Budalgachie, Khettal, and Punchbibi, which have been taken away and included within the Bogra Munsifi. Many of the villages of Gungarampore and Porsha are at a distance from the Court, and the communications are indifferent. The Munsif has reason to believe that creditors prefer giving up half their claims to coming such a long distance to press them in Court. He further ascribes the decrease to the favourable harvests of the past three years, and to the absence of ill-feeling among the large land-holders. The Munsif of Terai attributes a gradual decrease of institutions in his sub-division to the increasing cost of litigation. He also remarks that remnants of the old system of village punchayets are still to be seen there, and that not a few differences are adjudicated upon by those agencies. In the three Courts at Darjeeling, institutions have increased, mainly no doubt from the development of the district and from improvement in its communications.

Nuddea.—The Judge explains the falling off in litigation in this district by ascribing it partly to the character of the harvest which was exceptionally good in 1880, and partly to the "unexampled prevalence of sickness affecting all classes."

Rungpore.—The decrease in this district was chiefly in respect of suits for money or movables, which the Judge says was apparently owing to the number in 1880 being abnormal in consequence of the numerous suits brought by the Maharajah of Cooch Behar in 1879 to recover advances made to his ryots during the last famine. This cause has ceased to be in operation during the past year.

Noakhally.—The Judge of this district thus reports in regard to the decrease in institutions:—"This table shows a marked decrease in the institution of cases on the Small Cause Court file under special procedure, and the Munsif of Sudharam (who alone hears such cases) attributes it to the fall of prices in the market; the price of rice, which is the principal crop of this district, having been remarkably low this year. From other sources I hear that the people have had several good years with high prices, and find it profitable in the first instance to pay off their ordinary debts, and next their arrears of rent. This would account for the fact that rent suits are nearly as numerous as in 1879."

Cuttack.—In this district "the decrease," the Judge reports, "is attributable in every case to the fact that a large number of suits were instituted in the latter part of 1879, which, but for a widely-spread mistaken impression as to the meaning of Section 2 of the new Limitation Act, would not have been instituted till the next year or later. The increase of Small Cause Court suits in Jaipore is a consequence of the prosperity of the country and the expansion of trade."

The High Court feel that in many instances the causes assigned for the fluctuation in litigation are speculative; but as they have no means of testing their accuracy, they merely state the substance of the reports given for the information of Government.

The Regular Courts of the following districts decided the largest number of cases in comparison with the previous year, viz.:—

Furreedpore	3,000
Bancoora, Mymensingh, Hooghly	2,000
Cuttack, Dacca, Rajshahye, Tipperah, Jessore	1,000

On the other hand, the returns of the following districts show a considerable falling off, viz.:—

Burdwan	2,000
Rungpore, Midnapore	1,000

The work done in the Small Cause Courts has varied principally in the following Courts, viz.:—

Jessore, Cuttack, Nuddea	1,000

In the districts noted on the margin, there was an increase in the pending files of the Regular Courts at the close of 1880. In the first-named district, the increase was considerable and was mainly due to a large number of suits to contest the Hijelee settlements made by Government, which were decided after the close of the year under review. There have also been many suits instituted by Messrs. Watson & Co. against their tenants. In the remaining three districts the result is due to an increase in the number of suits instituted.

	Increase.
Midnapore	2,405
Moorshedabad	690
Dacca	533
Furreedpore	502

The number of suits and appeals pending for more than one year at the close of 1879 and 1880, respectively, is shown on the margin. The largest number of these suits is to be found in the following districts, viz.: 24-Pergunnahs (21), Dacca (19), Gya (32), Sarun (20), Cuttack (21). As regards appeals, the arrears are most remarkable in the following districts, viz.: Midnapore (125), Hooghly (105), Nuddea (66), Furreedpore (36), Shahabad (243), Tirhoot (46); the arrears in Shahabad were mainly due to the exceedingly small amount of work done during the year by the District Judge. The increase in the number of long-pending suits and appeals throughout Bengal has necessitated an application to Government to strengthen the existing staff of Judicial officers in certain districts. The returns, as will appear from a subsequent portion of this report, show that, in the aggregate, less work has been done by the higher Courts of Original Jurisdiction and by the Appellate Courts in the interior; but the variations are generally susceptible of satisfactory explanation and the additional establishments are necessary to deal with arrears, the origin of which has been already reported to Government.

	1879.	1880.

Table C shows that, including cases in the Courts of Small Causes, the total number of suits filed in 1880 exceeded the total number filed in 1876 by 45,708, or 13·4 per cent. The value in litigation at the same time increased to Rs. 5,11,11,458, as compared with Rs. 5,04,82,055. Number and value of suits instituted, 1876 to 1880. See Table C.

In the following statement the districts have been grouped according to the number of suits filed in 1880:—

Exceeding 20,000 suits.
24-Pergunnahs.	Dacca.	Jessore. · Backergunge.
Exceeding 15,000 suits.
Mymensingh.	Midnapore.	Tipperah.
Nuddea.	Hooghly.	Furreedpore.
Exceeding 10,000 suits.
Bhaugulpore.	Moorshedabad.	Rungpore.
Burdwan.	Chittagong.	Noakhally.
Cuttack.
Exceeding 5,000 suits.
Pubna.	Tirhoot.	Purneah.
Bancoora.	Rajshahye.	Shahabad.
Dinagepore.	Sarun.	Patna.
Exceeding 2,000 suits.
Beerbhoom and Chota Nagpore.

In Jessore the number of suits instituted was slightly in excess of 32,000, of which about one-third were filed in the Court of Small Causes. In the 24-Pergunnahs the number exceeded 26,000, of which a little more than one-fourth were filed in the Courts of Small Causes. In Mymensingh and Tipperah the number of suits instituted was slightly below 20,000, all of which were instituted in Regular Civil Courts, there being no Small Cause Courts in those districts. It is to be remarked that in the past year the number of suits instituted in 2 districts only did not exceed 2,000, as compared with 5 districts in 1879.

The increase in litigation during the last five years has been marked in the following districts, viz.: in Bancoora, where it has amounted to 108 per cent.; in Backergunge, 70·2 per cent.; in Cuttack, 35 per cent.; and in Hooghly, where the increase has been 34 per cent. In Bancoora, this increase is probably due to the impulse given by the establishment of many mining and other works, to the prosperity of that district, and to the alterations in the local jurisdiction. The advance of litigation in Backergunge is not explained; but it has no doubt been caused by the extensive and increasing trade now at work.

In Cuttack, this result has been due to abundant harvests after years of scarcity; and in Hooghly in a great measure to an extension of local jurisdiction by the transfer of part of the neighbouring district of Burdwan. Litigation has decreased in Dinagepore to the extent of 42 per cent.; in the 24-Pergunnahs to the extent of 35 per cent.; and in each of the districts—Burdwan, Chittagong, and Rajshahye—to the extent of 24 per cent. In Dinagepore, the falling off can be accounted for by the transfer of Malda to Rajshahye; but there has still been a falling off in Rajshahye, which is probably due to the transfer of the litigious district of Pubna to form the new district of Pubna and Bogra. The loss to Burdwan by the transfer of Jehanabad to Hooghly explains the diminution of litigation in that district. No reason for the decrease in the 24-Pergunnahs and Chittagong has been reported.

	1879	1880.
Suits cognizable by a Small Cause Court .	199,746	196,851
Suits under the Rent Law	131,451	142,886
Other suits	43,585	. 44,827

Excluding cases instituted in the Small Cause Courts, the number of such cases instituted in 1880 was 139,535, of which 38,491 were disposed of by 59 Officers (58 Munsifs and 1 Subordinate Judge) vested with the powers of a Small Cause Court for the trial of suits not exceeding Rs. 50 in value. Comparing the results in the past with those in the previous year, it appears that, in cases instituted in the Small Cause Courts, there has been a decrease of 5 per cent.; and in similar cases instituted in the Regular Civil Courts, there has been an increase of ·09 per cent. As regards suits under the Rent Law, the results in 1880 were 8·7 per cent. in excess of those in 1879; while in "title and other suits" there was an increase of 2·8 per cent.

The results in regard to the Courts of Small Causes will be considered in a subsequent portion of this report in connection with Small Cause Courts.

As regards rent suits, an increase was most remarkable in the following districts, viz.: in Backergunge, of 2,400; in Jessore, of 1,843; in Furreedpore, of 1,563; while in Burdwan there was a decrease of 743 cases. In "title and other suits," the only remarkable increase was in Midnapore, where such cases increased from 2,472 in 1879 to 4,876 in 1880. In Burdwan, a decrease of 740 cases of this class is shown; in Cuttack, of 654; and in Backergunge of 642 cases.

The following statement, prepared in accordance with the practice of former years, will show in what districts suits of each class were most numerous.

Jessore	14,503	18,155	15,424
Mymensingh	13,141	11,926	13,864

It is remarkable that the relative position of these districts in the past year was exactly the same as in 1878.

In respect of rent suits, Backergunge and Jessore, which are adjoining districts, continue to hold the same position as they did in the previous year. In no other district did the number of rent suits instituted in the past year exceed 10,000.

	1879.	1880.
Mymensingh	2,669	2,884
24-Pergunnahs	2,661	2,591
Tipperah	2,701	2,567
Chittagong	2,279	2,537

The following table gives details regarding the suits for money or movables instituted in the past two years in the Regular Civil Courts and in the Courts of Small Causes:—

Description of Suits.	Small Cause Courts.		Regular Civil Courts.
	1879.	1880.	1879.	1880.
On written obligation	32,567	29,136	99,649	95,952
On unwritten obligation	6,668	6,965	8,830	9,362
On account stated	2,620	2,635	7,222	8,632
Money had and received	1,556	977	3,328	3,118
Wages, work, and materials	1,108	1,180	1,367	1,534

Total	60,340	57,316	139,406	139,535

It will be observed that there has been a considerable decrease in the number of suits on bonds; while the number of suits for the recovery of the value of goods sold appear to be increasing both in the Small Cause Courts and in the Regular Civil Courts.

The following table contains a comparative statement of the various descriptions of suits under the Rent Law instituted during the past two years in the Civil Courts and in the Revenue Courts:—

Description of Suits.	Civil Courts.		Revenue Courts.
	1879.	1880.	1879.	1880.
Arrears of rent	125,436	136,731	8,141	7,190

All other suits under the Rent Law	1,317	1,564	71	56

The number of "suits for arrears of rent" instituted in the Civil Courts continues to increase; while in the Revenue Courts suits of this class were not so frequently instituted as in the previous year.

There was a decrease in the number of suits for enhancement and abatement of rent instituted in Civil Courts. The decrease in the number of suits relating to distraint instituted in the Revenue Courts is also noticeable.

The following statement gives details of suits other than rent suits and suits of the Small Cause Court class, instituted in the past two years :—

Other suits not falling under any of the previous heads	558	2,946	1·28	6·57
Total .	43,585	44,827	100	100

The number of suits to declare and establish rights to real property has fallen off during the past year; while suits of the class described in the above statement as "other suits not falling under any of the previous heads" have increased from 558 in 1879 to 2,946 in the past year.

Suits valued according to class.
See Table E.

In the following statement the value of suits of each class instituted in each of the past two years is exhibited :—

		1879. Rs.	1880. Rs.
Suits for money or movables	Small Cause Courts .	32,17,080	30,11,419
	Regular Courts .	1,68,11,938	1,53,22,956
Suits under the Rent Law		76,02,524	77,60,187
Title and other suits		1,90,74,185	2,50,16,897

The increase in value under the heads of "Suits under the Rent Law" and "Title and other suits" is chiefly owing to the increase in the number of institutions of such suits.

The following statement shows the average value of a suit of each class:—

		1879.	1880.
		Rs.	Rs.
Suits for money or movables	Small Cause Courts . .	53·3	52·5
	Regular Courts . .	120·5	109·8
Suits under the Rent Law		57·8	54·3

The following table gives further details of the value of suits instituted in 1880:— Details of value- See Statement 3.

Details of Value.	Suits for money or movables.			Suits under the Rent Law.	Title and other suits.
	Small Cause Courts.	Regular Courts.
		Under Small Cause Court powers.	Under Ordinary Procedure.

From this table it appears that in 375,151 or 97·5 per cent. of the whole number of suits instituted in the Civil Courts, the value involved did not exceed Rs. 500; and of these in 71·8 per cent. the value did not exceed Rs. 50. Of suits instituted in the Small Cause Courts, in 40,107 or 69·9 per cent. the value did not exceed Rs. 50. Of suits of the Small Cause class instituted in the Regular Civil Courts, 91,757 or 65·7 per cent. did not exceed the same value. Of these, 38,410 were dealt with by officers vested with Small Cause Court powers. Of rent suits, 39·7 per cent. did not exceed Rs. 10 in value, and 78·9 per cent. more, exceeding Rs. 10, did not exceed Rs. 50 in value. In 32,686 or 72·9 per cent. of the title and other suits instituted, the property in dispute did not exceed Rs. 100.

The following statement gives details of 8,983 suits in which the value is said to have exceeded Rs. 500:—

		Suits for money or movables.	Suits under the Rent Law.	Title and other suits.
Not exceeding Rs.	1,000 in value . .	2,106	1,215	1,280
„ „	5,000 „ . .	1,147	634	1,793
„ „	10,000 „ . .	143	40	268
„ „	1,00,000 „ . .	100	15	220
Exceeding „	1,00,000 „ . .	3	...	19
		3,499	1,904	3,580

In the remaining 430 cases, the value cannot be estimated in money.

Suits how determined. See Table F.

The manner in which suits were dealt with during each of the past five years is shown in the following table:—

	Withdrawn, Compromised, Confessed, &c.	Decided ex-parte.	Contested.	Total.
1876	126,068	127,776	92,163	346,007
1877	129,094	133,254	93,094	355,442
1878	126,961	131,805	94,151	352,917
1879	139,070	140,466	93,761	373,297
1880	147,885	142,606	96,474	386,965

Contested cases formed 24·9 per cent. of the whole number decided in 1880, as compared with 25·11 per cent. in 1879 and 26·6 in 1878.

		Withdrawn, Compromised, Confessed, &c.	Decided ex-parte.	Contested.
Courts of Small Causes . . .		28,415	20,100	10,994
Regular Courts.	Suits for money or movables . .	56,883	60,205	24,392
	Suits under the Rent Law . .	44,869	57,160	40,719
	TOTAL .	119,470	122,506	85,480

From this statement it appears that while in the Small Cause Courts 18·4 per cent. of the cases decided were contested, as compared with 26·1 per cent. in the Regular Civil Courts, in the latter the ratio for each class of suits separately was, in suits for money or movables, 17·2 per cent., in rent suits 28·5 per cent., and in title and other suits 47·1 per cent. From these results, as might be expected, it appears that the proportion of rent suits which are contested is large, as compared with suits for money, &c., and small, as compared with title and other suits.

Of the suits for money, &c., entered above, as decided in the Regular Courts, 38,491 cases were dealt with by 59 officers vested with the powers of a Small Cause Court Judge for the trial of petty suits not exceeding Rs. 50 in value. The manner in which these cases were disposed of is shown in the margin.* Only 16 per cent. were contested.

	Rs.
* Withdrawn, &c. . .	17,245
Decided ex-parte . .	15,060
Contested . . .	6,186
TOTAL . . .	38,491

Districts where contested suits were most numerous.

	1878.	1879.	1880.
Jessore	8,188	8,313	8,297
24-Pergunnahs	6,999	7,564	6,968

The proportion of contested cases decided in the Regular Civil Courts was greatest in the following districts:—

Percentage of contested cases.

	In suits for money, &c.	In suits under the Rent Law.	In title and other suits.	Total.
Tirhoot	25·2	57·8	63·0	46·1
Gya	35·3	49·8	53·0	44·3
Sarun	23·1	40·4	40·4	35·2
Chota Nagpore . .	27·3	...	70·0	35·2

In connection with this statement, it should be noted that all these districts stand very low on the list as regards the number of suits instituted. The experience of the Judges of the High Court fully confirms the results above shown, as cases coming from the Behar districts are generally of an intricate character, and are keenly contested.

In the following statement further details are given of the manner in which suits were disposed of in the Civil Courts in the interior and in the Small Cause Courts separately. The proportion of cases in which the plaintiffs and defendants were respectively successful during the past three years is also shown :—

All Courts, including Small Cause Courts.			Mode of disposal.	Small Cause Courts separately.
1878.	1879.	1880.		1878.	1879.	1880.
556	613	661	Plaints rejected . .	56	59	70

42,683	46,780	51,344	Add compromised . .	7,163	7,524	7,086
273,888	288,454	297,705	...	42,668	48,932	47,299

	1878.	1879.	1880.
Plaintiff loses	22·4	22·7	23·06
Plaintiff wins	65·5	64·7	63·6

These results show that during the past year the plaintiffs were less successful than usual.

	Percentage. 1879.	1880.
Plaintiff loses . .	20 9	20·5
Compromised . .	13·2	11 9
Plaintiff wins . .	65·9	67·4

In the Courts of Small Causes taken separately, the success of the plaintiff was somewhat greater than in the Courts generally, as will appear from the statement given on the margin.

Applications to set aside ex-parte judgment or judgments in default. See Table G.

The following statement shows for each of the past three years the number of cases dismissed in default or decreed ex-parte, compared with the number of applications for setting aside the judgments in such cases made and granted :—

	1878.	1879.	1880.
Number of cases dismissed in default or decreed ex-parte	146,326	164,853	173,632
Number of applications to set aside judgments in such cases	8,832	9,139	8,400
Number of such applications granted	3,051	3,890	4,132

The ratio in 1880 of applications to judgments was the same as in the previous year ; and of the applications made last year, 49·1 per cent. were granted, as compared with 34·5 per cent. in 1879. The proportion is highest in the Courts of Small Causes, by which Courts 58·1 per cent. of the applications made were granted.

Decrees how executed. See Table II.

The following statement shows the number of applications for the execution of decrees on which realizations were made in the past three years in full or partial satisfaction, and the amount realised in the Regular Civil Courts :—

	Complete.	Partial.	Amount realised. Rs.
1878	70,613	50,069	1,49,51,076
1879	76,013	44,534	1,37,00,646
1880	74,000	44,306	1,47,27,846

The corresponding figures for Small Cause Courts during the past two years are as follows :—

	Complete.	Partial.	Amount realised. Rs.
1879	5,940	7,023	3,87,517
1880	5,566	8,144	6,18,084

In the Regular Civil Courts there was an increase in the amount realised last year of Rs. 10,27,200, as compared with a decrease of Rs. 12,50,430 in the previous year. In the Small Cause Courts the amount realised in 1880 was nearly double the amount realised in 1879. The following are the districts in which the amount realised in the Regular Civil Courts was greatest :—

	Amount realised. 1879. Rs.	1880. Rs.
24-Pergunnahs	8,52,166	11,25,981
Tirhoot	8,36,269	9,56,621
Backergunge	9,32,981	9,30,617
Furreedpore	2,73,996	6,70,930
Tipperah	4,98,460	6,20,955

The increase in the amount realised in Furreedpore is remarkable.

The following statement shows the number of applications for the execution of decrees disposed of in the past year, on which realisations were made with and without the issue of process, and the amount realised with and without it, in the Regular Civil Courts and in the Small Cause Courts separately :—

		No. of applications.	Amount realised. Rs.
	Without do. . .	17,023	16,51,913
Small Cause Courts .	With process . .	12,153	5,08,116
	Without do. . .	1,557	1,09,968

Taking all the Courts together, it will appear that the issue of process was found to be unnecessary, as in 1879, in 13 per cent. only of the applications on which realisations were effected.

Decrees executed. See Statement 6.

In Statement 6, further details will be found regarding the manner in which decrees were executed in 1880. The number of applications for execution, including verbal applications made immediately on delivery of judgment, dealt with by the Civil Courts in the interior, was 323,185, the whole number disposed of 273,450, and the number pending 49,735. Satisfaction in whole or in part was obtained in 132,916 cases. Of the applications disposed of, the creditor's claim was adjusted under Section 258 of the Civil Procedure Code in 41,592 cases, and 132,583 applications were wholly infructuous. This does not mean that so many decrees became inoperative, but merely that those particular attempts to execute were unsuccessful or not persevered with.

The following figures show the comparative frequency of certain modes of execution in the past five years:— Coercive processes.

Year.	Possession given.	Imprisonment of person.	Property sold.
			Movable.	Immovable.
1876	8,098	3,537	18,847	18,828
1877	7,636	3,922	15,559	23,681
1878	7,588	1,984	8,957	32,248
1879	8,064	2,190	10,299	32,240
1880	8,040	1,775	10,728	27,627

The number of applications upon which the judgment-debtor was imprisoned was not so great in the past as in any of the preceding four years. Of the 8,040 applications upon which possession was given to the decree-holder, in only 127 cases was the property 'movable property.' The number of applications upon which the immovable property owned by the judgment-debtor was sold was not so great as in the previous two years. This no doubt is due to the operation of rules issued by the High Court under Section 287 of the Code of Civil Procedure, the tendency of which has been no doubt to delay sales of immovable property in consequence of some enquiry into the nature of the title sold, so as to ensure a larger price for the debtor. The rules are now under consideration on report of the several District Judges after the experience of their working for one year.

Other modes in which execution was effected were as follows:—In 586 cases the judgment-debtor's immovable property was dealt with under Sections 305, 322, or 326 of the Civil Procedure Code,—that is, opportunity was given to raise money on the property and to satisfy the decree. Specific performance was enforced in 260 cases, and partition was effected in 149 cases; details are not given of the manner in which decrees were executed in 6,677 cases.

The following statement exhibits the number of original miscellaneous cases of a judicial nature, which were instituted, determined, and pending in the Regular Civil Courts and in the Small Cause Courts in each of the past two years:—

		Instituted.	Determined.	Pending.
Regular Civil Courts	1879	33,780	34,878	6,874
	1880	32,729	33,495	6,304
Small Cause Courts	1879	3,079	3,046	257
	1880	3,161	3,231	195

The above figures show a decrease in the institutions of this class of cases before Regular Civil Courts and a slight increase in the institutions before Small Cause Courts. Corresponding results are also shown in respect of the disposals. Details are, however, given below of the manner in which these cases were dealt with in the past two years:—

	By Regular Civil Courts.		By Small Cause Courts.
	1879.	1880.	1879.	1880.
Withdrawn, compromised, confessed, &c.	6,205	6,536	872	860
Decided ex-parte	7,644	7,874	492	374
Contested	21,029	19,085	1,682	1,997

Of the cases decided after contest by the Regular Civil Courts, the applications were granted in 55·09 per cent. and refused in the remainder. Of the whole number decided, 1,061 or 3·1 per cent. were compromised. In Small Cause Courts, 58·4 per cent. of the contested applications decided were granted, the rest being refused; 112 or 3·4 per cent. of the whole number decided were compromised.

Miscellaneous (non-judicial) cases. See Table II.

As explained in last year's report, the Court has thought desirable, for purposes connected with the general administration, that returns should be submitted by the Courts of first instance, showing the number of applications of certain classes made to them under the Rent Law, to which it is important that prompt attention should be given. Such are applications for the deposit of rent, applications for assistance to distrain, and applications for the sale of distrained property. The following table shows the total number of such applications instituted, disposed of, and pending in the Civil Courts in each of the past two years :—

	Instituted.	Disposed of.	Pending.
1879	35,468	31,680	13,712
1880	33,878	41,639	5,715

From the above statement it will be seen that the pending files of cases of this class have been considerably reduced.

Average duration of cases. See Table Q.

The following statement shows the average duration of suits, contested and uncontested, before the several grades of Courts :—

		District Judges. M.	D.	Subordinate Judges. M.	D.	Munsifs. M.	D.	Small Cause Court Judges. M.	D.
Under Ordinary Procedure.	Contested	5	5	7	27	3	15	...	...
	Uncontested	5	12	3	17	1	23	...	...
Under Small Cause Court Procedure.	Contested	...	...	...	18	1	3	...	28
	Uncontested	...	...	...	17	...	28	...	22

On comparing the above figures with those printed at page 13 of the Report for 1879, it will be seen that, with the exception of the cases decided by Subordinate Judges under Small Cause Court procedure and those decided by District Judges after contest, there has been a falling off in the promptitude with which cases have been dealt with. In Tirhoot and Tipperah the trials of contested cases, and in the Courts of the District Judges of Gya and Mymensingh those of uncontested cases, have been greatly prolonged. In Hooghly the long duration of cases (contested—1 year, 2 months, 23 days, and uncontested —11 months, 15 days) decided by the District Judge is also unsatisfactory; but is attributed to the continual interruption to civil work by Sessions duties and to the additional work thrown on him by the recent increase of his local jurisdiction.

I.—The Presidency Small Cause Court.

It was stated, in the Report for 1879, that some difficulty had been experienced in obtaining all the information regarding the Presidency Small Cause Court required for the purposes of that report. This difficulty continued to exist in the past year; but the Judges of the Calcutta Small Cause Court report that they trust that, for the future, matters will be in better order, as registers are now being maintained to provide the information required.

Calcutta Small Cause Court.

The number of suits instituted, disposed of, and pending in the Calcutta Small Cause Court during each of the past two years was as follows :—

	Instituted.	Disposed of.	Pending.
1879	37,199	37,051	1,584

Of the 35,304 suits instituted, in 28,439 or 80·5 per cent. the value involved did not exceed Rs. 50; and of these, in 50·8 per cent. the value was very trifling, in no case exceeding Rs. 10. In 706 cases the value exceeded Rs. 500; and of these again in 65 it exceeded Rs. 1,000.

Of the suits disposed of during the past year, 5,527 did not come to trial, having been dismissed for default, or for want of prosecution, or having been withdrawn with leave; 23,337 were decided without contest in the manner shown in the margin, and 6,736 were decided on contest or on reference to arbitration. The number of miscellaneous judicial cases

Decreed on confession .	2,592
Decreed ex-parte . .	7,674
Dismissed ex-parte . .	9

disposed of by the Court in 1880 was 157. Of these, 55 were commissions received for execution from Courts in the interior, and 102 were distraint cases (not being interpleader claims) under the Distress Act, 1875.

In the past year, 15,197 applications for the execution of decrees were filed in the Calcutta Small Cause Court; of these 15,031 were disposed of, leaving 166 applications pending at the close of the year. Of the applications disposed of, in 11,377 cases the decree was wholly or partly satisfied; in 6,200 cases satisfaction was obtained with, and in 5,177 cases without, the issue of process.

	Rs.
With the issue of process	1,57,996
Without the issue of process	1,89,116

The total amount realised was Rs. 3,47,112 in the past, as compared with Rs. 4,04,149 realised in the previous year.

II.—Small Cause Courts in the interior.

The business coming before the Small Cause Courts in each district is shown in Table A, which has already been noticed. In Table A 1 will be found details for each Court separately. No changes occurred in the past year in the number of such Courts. In the Pubna Small Cause Court, the Subordinate Judge of the district continues to preside.

Small Cause Courts in the interior. See Table A 1.

	Instituted.	Disposed of.	Pending.
1879	60,340	61,499	3,896
1880	57,316	59,509	2,922

In the past year there was thus a decrease of 3,024 cases filed, and of 1,990 decided, as compared with the previous year. The pending files are consequently lighter. The Courts, or groups of Courts, where the increase or decrease in the number of cases instituted has been greatest, are shown below:—

	Increase.	Decrease.
Cuttack	...	2,108
Dacca and Munsheegunge	1,731	...
Magoorah, &c.	...	773
Jessore	...	718
Kishnaghur	...	563
Furreedpore	503	...
Sealdah	...	462
Kooshtea and Chooadanga	...	468

It is to be remarked that while the total number of cases instituted in 1880 fell short by no less than 3,024 cases of the number instituted in 1879, the number of contested cases decided in the past year was less than the number decided in the previous year by 676 cases only. The decrease has, therefore, been almost entirely in uncontested cases.

The subjoined table shows the number of cases instituted during each of the past four years in the principal Courts and Circles:—

	1877.	1878.	1879.	1880.
Dacca & Munsheegunge	5,661	6,061	5,552	7,283
Kooshtea and Chooadanga	3,554	4,050	5,023	4,555
Kishnaghur, &c.	4,693	5,520	6,338	5,775
Sealdah	4,380	5,581	5,690	5,228
Hooghly, &c.	3,783	4,220	5,130	5,413
Bhaugulpore and Monghyr	3,406	4,222	3,953	4,418
Furreedpore	1,048	1,547	908	1,411

The Small Cause Courts all worked with regularity and kept pace with the work coming before them, so that there were no arrears.

Cases how decided. See Table F.

As already stated, 10,994 cases or 18·3 per cent. of the whole number decided in the Courts of Small Causes were contested. The following are the Courts or groups of Courts in which the number of contested cases was greatest in the past two years :—

	1879.	188 .
Hooghly, &c.	1,365	1,361
Magoora, &c.	1,310	1,349
Kishnaghur, &c.	1,456	1,093
Dacca and Munsheegunge	821	1,093
Kooshtea and Chooadanga	1,105	883
Jessore	1,080	832
Bhaugulpore and Monghyr	760	625
Cuttack	783	621

Value of suits instituted.

As noticed in previous reports, the increase of work in the Sealdah Small Cause Court had necessitated the appointment of a Registrar, in order to relieve the Judge of much of the routine of the office, and to dispose of petty suits.

Out of 38,491 cases disposed of by officers vested with powers of a Small Cause Court for the trial of the petty suits not exceeding Rs. 50 in value, 6,186 or 16 per cent. were contested. It has been shown before, that, of the cases of the Small Cause Court class before officers not vested with the powers of a Small Cause Court Judge, 53,347 did not exceed Rs. 50 in value; besides these, the value in 25,888 suits lay between Rs. 50 and Rs. 100. The Court has already on more than one occasion suggested that the powers vested in Munsifs under Section 29, Act VI of 1871, may be extended to cases of the value of Rs. 100.

APPELLATE JURISDICTION.

IV.—THE HIGH COURT.

I.—Appeals under Section 15 of the Letters Patent.

The statement in the margin shows the number of appeals under Section 15 of the Letters Patent preferred against the decrees of the High Court in its Appellate Jurisdiction, and decided in each of the past two years. The number of appeals from the decisions of Judges of the High Court in the exercise of Original Jurisdiction before the Court in 1880, including 25 pending from the previous year, was 69, of which 42 were decided, and 27 remained unheard at the close of the year.

	1879.	1880.	1879.	1880.
Second appeals	...	.	1*	...
Third appeals	36	45	30	55

* The Judges being divided in opinion, Section 575 of the Code no longer allows such appeals

The change in the law (Section 575 of the Code of Civil Procedure) has prevented what used to be known as second appeals. A third appeal is presented against the order of a single Judge passed in an appeal from an appellate decree in a suit valued at less than Rs. 50.

The slight increase in the number of third appeals filed in 1880 is due in some measure to the increase in the appeals decided by a single Judge. In the following table the manner in which "third appeals" were disposed of in the past two years is given :—

	Confirmed.	Modified.	Reversed.	Remanded.	Disposed of otherwise.
1879	25	...	4	2	...
1880	41	...	8	6	...

Third appeals were preferred from the orders passed in 10·3 per cent. of the 434 appeals decided in the past year by a single Judge of the High Court; and of the whole number of third appeals determined in that year, in nearly 75 per cent. the decision of the single Judge was confirmed; but as the character of this class of appeal was commented upon fully in the report for 1879, it is unnecessary to make further remarks on the subject in the present report.

	Disposed of in 1879.	1880.
Ditto by a bench of two Judges	409	497
TOTAL	703	931

The figures on the margin show a considerable increase in the number of appeals decided in the past year, particularly in respect of those decided by a single Judge of the Court.

II.—Appeals from Courts in the interior.

CLASS OF APPEALS.	BROUGHT BEFORE THE COURT.		DECIDED.

Second appeals—

From orders	104	128	100	142

Including cases coming from Assam and British Burmah, the number of first and second appeals from the decrees and orders of the Civil Courts, brought before the High Court and decided in the past two years, is as shown in the margin. Of the first appeals brought before the Court in 1880—26, and of those decided—38, were appeals in contested probate cases.

The following statement shows the manner in which the appeals brought before the Court came upon the file :—

APPEALS FROM			Instituted.	Received by transfer.	On review of Judgment.	Revived.

	Orders		230	...	...	1
	Orders		126	...	...	2

It will be observed that a greater number of appeals has been decided by the Court on the Civil side under every head in the past year than in the year preceding; but nevertheless the High Court has been unable to keep pace with the income of work in appeals from decrees or from appellate decrees, the income exceeding the outturn by 40 cases in the one and by 321 cases in the other class of appeals.

The amount of the increase under each head is shown in the margin.

The following statement shows in a more complete form the work which has come before the High Court in its Appellate Jurisdiction during each of the past four years. The increase in criminal business, it will be seen, has been steadily progressive and the rate of increase has been greatest in the year just closed :—

Districts from which appeals came.
See Table V.

Of the 354 appeals from original decrees instituted during the past year, 10 came from Assam and 3 from British Burmah. Of the 341 appeals pertaining to the Lower Provinces of Bengal, the largest numbers came from the following districts, viz. :—

Tirhoot	51
Patna	31
Sarun	22
24-Pergunnahs	21

The number of such cases received from each of the remaining districts was comparatively small, especially from Backergunge, Chittagong, Dinagepore, and Noakhally.

The following statement exhibits separately for each province the value of appeals from original and appellate decrees instituted during the past year :— Appeals classed according to value.

	Appeals from Original Decrees.		Appeals from Appellate Decrees.
	Valued at Rs. 10,000 and upwards.	Valued at less than Rs. 10,000.	Valued at more than Rs. 50.	Not exceeding Rs. 50 in value.
Lower Provinces of Bengal . .	87	254	1,437	924
British Burmah	...	3	...	...

It will be observed that, of the appeals from Original Decrees, 90 or 25·4 per cent. were valued at Rs. 10,000 and upwards. Of the appeals against appellate decrees, 973 or 37·8 per cent. of the whole were of a value not exceeding Rs. 50.

The greatest number of these petty appeals came from the following districts, viz. : Dacca (130), Sarun (74), Tirhoot (74), Tipperah (70), Patna (68), and Jessore (64.)

The following table shows more in detail the value of appeals from the original and appellate decrees of the Courts in the interior, and of third appeals under the Letters Patent instituted during the year :—

Forty-nine appeals from original decrees, 84 appeals from appellate decrees, and 18 miscellaneous appeals did not come to a hearing, having been dismissed in default, withdrawn, or compromised. Result of Appeals. See Table Z.

The details are as follows :—

The result of appeal as affecting the decisions of the Lower Courts in the cases decided on trial is shown in the following table :—

Affirmed	172	1,661	279
Varied	26	40	10

The ratio of cases in which the decisions of the Lower Courts were reversed or varied was 35·6 per cent. in appeals from original decrees, 8·6 per cent. in appeals from appellate decrees, and 19·6 per cent. in miscellaneous appeals.

The following table shows the result of appeals decided by the High Court as affecting District and Subordinate Judges:—

The proportion of cases, in which orders of remand were passed or the Lower Court was directed to take further evidence, to the number decided by the High Court is given in the margin. A comparison with the similar returns for the two preceding years shows an increase. Cases so dealt with amounted to 12·6 per cent. of the whole number in the past year, as compared with 10·5 per cent. in the previous year. These cases related principally to the districts of the 24-Pergunnahs, Sarun, Patna, Tirhoot, and Burdwan.

Of 1,161 cases filed in the past 18½ years, 555 were struck off, compromised, &c., and 583 were despatched to England; 23 cases were pending preparation and despatch to England at the close of 1880.

The following table shows the result of appeals to the Privy Council in which the judgments on appeal were received during the past six years. Besides the cases here entered as disposed of in 1880, one appeal was dismissed for want of prosecution :—

V.—APPELLATE COURTS UNDER THE HIGH COURT.

The number of appeals in regular suits instituted, disposed of, and pending in the Local Courts during the past three years, was as follows :— Appeals instituted. See Table J.

	Instituted.	Disposed of.	Pending.
1878	18,603	19,462	10,281
1880	19,529	17,559	13,143

The above figures show an increase of only 50 in the total number of appeals preferred during the past year. Taking, however, each district separately, the increase or decrease (as the case may be) was most marked in the districts noted on the margin. These results are mainly attributable to the fluctuation in the number of original suits.

	Increase.	Decrease.
Patna	449	...
Backergunge	312	...
Nuddea	...	217
Dacca	...	217
Shahabad	...	170

Midnapore	...	113
Moorshedabad	...	108
Pubna	98	...
Chittagong	89	...
Rajshahye	78	...

Although there was very little variation (50 cases) in the number of appeals preferred during the past year, as compared with the same return of the previous year, the number of appeals decided fell off considerably, viz., by 1,927 cases. In Beerbhoom, Nuddea, Jessore, Moorshedabad, Dinagepore, Dacca, and Cuttack, however, the number of appeals decided exceeded the number instituted; while in the remaining districts the contrary result is exhibited.

In consequence of this result there has been a considerable accumulation of arrears, as the pending files show an increase of 2,372 appeals over those pending at the close of 1879. The increase was greatest in the Appellate Courts of Mymensingh (492), Hooghly (385), Chittagong (371), Sarun (316), Shahabad (300), and 24-Pergunnahs (255). In Hooghly and Shahabad the increase of the pending files is attributed by the District Judges to the fact that more criminal work came before the Courts during the past year, so that a sufficient number of days could not be devoted to civil duties. The District Judge of Mymensingh reports that the increase was due to the small number of Appellate Courts in the District.

From the figures given in Table K, it will be observed that the number of decisions in Courts in the interior, in which an appeal lay to the District Court in the past year, was 74,826, as compared with 72,640 in the previous year. The ratio of appeals to decisions was therefore 26·09 per cent., as compared with 26·81 per cent. The percentage was highest in the districts named on the margin. With the exception of Cuttack, all of these districts are situated within the Patna Division, in which, as already stated, the suits are most keenly contested. Ratio of Appeals to decisions. See Table K

	In suits for money or movables.	In suits under the Rent Law.	In title and other suits.
1879	3,699	8,386	7,394
1880	3,769	8,387	7,373

It thus appears that the increase in appeals is principally in suits for money or movables.

Appeals valued See Table M.

The value of appeals of each of these three classes instituted in 1879 and 1880 is shown in the following statement :—

1879	6,07,343	6,90,628	15,79,211
1880	6,61,119	5,83,556	13,08,809

The total value of appeals filed was thus Rs. 27,53,484, as compared with Rs. 28,77,182 in 1879, showing a decrease of Rs. 1,23,698. The decrease is chiefly in respect of appeals in rent suits.

The following table gives details of the value of appeals filed in the past year in the Civil Courts :—

Scale of Values.	Number of Appeals. In suits for money or movables.	In suits under the Rent Law.	In title and other suits.	Total.
„ „ 50	1,093	3,650	2,561	7,304

Value not stated	...	12	111	123
Total . .	3,769	8,387	7,373	19,529

Out of 19,529 appeals, the District and Subordinate Judges were both competent to try 19,039 or 97·49 per cent. In the remainder, i.e., 490 cases, or in 2·51 per cent., the appeal lay only to the District Judge, the Court of first instance being the Subordinate Judge. In 17,559 appeals only, a second appeal lay to the High Court in consequence either of Section 102 of the Rent Law or Section 584 of the Code of Civil Procedure; but in many of these cases no second appeal could be preferred, as the cases turned only on matters of fact.

Appeals how disposed of. See Table N.

The following statement shows the result of appeals in the past two years as affecting the decisions of the Lower Courts :—

	Confirmed.	Modified.	Reversed.	Remanded.	Otherwise disposed of.
1879 . . .	12,055	1,764	3,900	655	1,112
1880 . . .	10,402	1,760	3,708	597	1,092

These figures show a decrease under each head. The proportion is generally unfavourable to the Courts of first instance.

	1878.	1879.	1880.
Confirmed	64·6	61·86	59·24
Modified	9·6	9·05	10·02
Remanded	4·1	3·36	3·34

The proportion of cases, in which the decision of the first Court was upheld, was favourable in Dinagepore, where it was 74 per cent.; in Sarun, where it was 72 per cent.; in Cuttack and Tirhoot, where it was nearly 71 per cent.; and in Beerbhoom, 24-Pergunnahs, Rajshahye, and Dacca, where it was a little over 65 per cent. The proportion was very small in Backergunge and Nuddea.

Appeals in Miscellaneous cases. See Table O.

	Instituted.	Disposed of.	Pending.
1879	1,460	1,418	687
1880	1,185	1,428	464

A decrease is apparent in the total number of miscellaneous appeals instituted in the past year, and a reference to Table O shows that the districts of Mymensingh and Tirhoot are most prominent in this respect. Miscellaneous appeals are heard only by District Judges, except under special orders of the High Court, under Section 27 of the Bengal Civil Courts Act.

VI.—GENERAL AND ADMINISTRATIVE.

	Days.
	Civil.	Criminal.	Original Suits.	Miscellaneous Cases.	Regular Appeals.	Miscellaneous Appeals.	Sessions trials.	Criminal Appeals.
1877	4,301	2,529	189	8,565	8,170	1,661	1,293	3,249
1878	4,284	2,742	130	8,670	8,025	1,435	1,410	2,801
1879	4,229	2,972	231	6,733	7,529	1,205	1,404	2,770
1880	3,994	3,179	251	6,889	7,775	1,289	1,573	3,194

The gradual increase in the number of Original Suits decided, and of Sessions trials held, and Criminal Appeals heard, is remarkable. The first is, no doubt, due to the larger number of contentious cases, under the Indian Succession Act, which can be tried by the District Judge alone. Such cases occupy a considerable portion of the time of District Judges, especially in districts adjoining Calcutta; but no doubt in course of time such cases will increase generally.

The increase of Criminal work thus shown has extended to the High Court, as has already been noticed.

Work done by Additional Judges. See Table P 2.

The following statement shows the amount of work—Civil and Criminal—done by Additional Judges during the past four years:—

	Days.
	Civil.	Criminal.	Original Suits.	Miscellaneous Cases.	Regular Appeals.	Miscellaneous Appeals.	Sessions trials.	Criminal Appeals.
1877	334	340	7	345	635	228	183	72
1878	463	300	13	491	688	74	252	184
1879	401	311	8	491	639	115	278	41
1880	275	198	6	154	517	74	133	...

The decrease in the amount of work done by Additional Judges is mainly owing to the reduced number of such officers employed during 1880.

The amount of work done by Subordinate Judges during the past four years was as follows:—

	Original Suits.	Miscellaneous Cases.	Appeals.
			Regular.	Miscellaneous.
1877	4,866	13,860	10,848	27
1878	5,889	12,211	10,748	59
1879	5,783	7,924	11,318	88
1880	5,147	7,427	9,267	65

The miscellaneous appeals were heard by the Deputy Commissioners, who are also Subordinate Judges, in Chota Nagpore, and by the Subordinate Judges of Nuddea and Backergunge under exceptional circumstances.

In Cuttack the Subordinate Judge is vested with the powers of a Munsif; and under these powers he disposed of some cases which are included in the above figures. In Purneah the Subordinate Judge is vested with the powers of a Judge of a Small Cause Court for the trial of cases cognizable by such Courts to the limit of Rs. 50 in value. In the past year a second Subordinate Judge was employed temporarily for a portion of that year in Furreedpore. This officer decided 169 appeals.

There has been a remarkable falling off in the work of the Subordinate Judges, and this is most conspicuous in the Districts of Bhaugulpore, Chittagong, Hooghly, and Jessore, which has received, and is still receiving, the special attention of the High Court.

Work done by Munsifs. See Table P 4.

The following figures show the number of suits and miscellaneous cases disposed of by Munsifs during the past three years :—

	Suits under ordinary Procedure.		Under Small Cause Court Powers.
	Contested.	Uncontested.	Contested.	Uncontested.	Total.	Miscellaneous cases.
1878 . .	74,192	185,452	6,168	27,143	292,955	219,987
1879 . .	73,928	197,698	5,827	28,910	306,363	171,255
1880 . .	77,055	207,183	6,084	31,730	322,052	179,411

Three more Munsifs were employed during the year under review than during 1879, but nevertheless the results are very satisfactory.

Receipts and charges of the Civil Courts. See Tables R and S.

Including the High Court and the Presidency Small Cause Court, the receipts and charges of the Civil Courts in the past year were as shown in the margin. The general financial result is a surplus of Rs. 30,07,025. Taking the Courts at the Presidency separately, there is an excess of charges over receipts amounting to Rs. 2,00,334. The details are as follows :—

	Rs.
Receipts	71,77,015
Charges	41,69,990
Surplus	30,07,025

Courts at the Presidency.

		Receipts. Rs.		Charges. Rs.
In stamps	Process fees . .	2,87,006	Salaries of Judicial Officers .	5,98,067
	Other fees . . .	5,72,698	Establishment. Process-servers .	5,989
In cash	Fines	428	Establishment. Others . . .	4,66,234
	Other receipts . .	1,10,196	Contingencies and refunds . .	1,00,272
	Total .	9,70,328	Total .	11,70,662

Courts in the Interior.

	Rs.
Receipts	62,06,687
Surplus	32,07,359

Taking the Civil Courts in the interior separately, the net financial result for the past year was a surplus of Rs. 32,07,359, as shown in the margin.

The account for the last three years may be thus stated :—

	Receipts. Rs.	Charges. Rs.	Surplus. Rs.
1878	50,77,205	24,15,687	26,61,518
1879	55,27,938	23,43,172	31,84,766
1880	56,00,975	23,93,616	32,07,359

These figures show that the surplus of last year exceeded that in the previous year by Rs. 22,593, which in its turn exceeded that of 1878 by Rs. 5,23,248, so that in the past two years the surplus has increased by about 5½ lakhs of rupees. This statement does not include the charges on account of process-servers who are paid by regular salaries amounting in the aggregate to Rs. 6,05,712 for the year under review.

The following statement gives, separately, details of the receipts and charges of the Civil Courts in the interior in the past year :—

Receipts.		Rs.	Charges.		Rs.
In stamps	Process fees	16,87,035	Salaries of Judicial Officers		14,76,256
	Other fees	41,85,456	Establishment.	Process-servers	6,05,712
In cash or special stamps	Fines	13,533		Salaried copying and comparing clerks	3,817
	Copying and comparing fees	2,32,552		Others	7,03,226
	Other receipts	88,111	Contingencies.	Fees paid to copyists not on the fixed establishment	91,113
				Other contingencies and refunds	1,19,204
	TOTAL	62,06,687		TOTAL	29,99,238

Deducting the costs of process-servers and of copying and comparing clerks, the net receipts from stamps amounted to Rs. 54,04,401; and under the head of process fees separately, the net gain to Government in the past year was Rs. 10,81,323, as compared with Rs. 9,48,616 gained in the previous year.

It was stated in the beginning of this report that a new system for the preparation of copies in the Civil and Criminal Courts in the Lower Provinces had been introduced in the past year, under which the fees to be derived from the persons applying for copies of documents are realised by special stamps provided for the purpose. The following figures show the results of this system during the past year :—

	Rs.	Rs.
Copying and comparing fees realised by special stamps		2,32,552
Deduct—
Salary of copying and comparing clerks on the fixed establishment	3,817
Fees paid to copyists not on the fixed establishment	91,113
Surplus		1,37,622

These figures show that a considerable surplus amounting to Rs. 1,37,622 has been obtained by Government. Besides the fees referred to above, persons desirous of obtaining their copies on the day on which the application is made are required to pay a special fee—termed "expedition fee." No separate record of these fees is, however, available at present; but it is in contemplation to submit to Government a fuller report on the subject of the new scheme.

The following statement shows the gross receipts and charges of the several grades of Courts in the past year, and whether a surplus or deficit has resulted :—

	Receipts.	Charges.	Results—plus or minus.
	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
Courts in the Interior—
Small Cause Courts	3,86,517	1,75,089	+2,11,428
Munsifs' Courts	39,11,940	14,59,311	+24,52,639
Subordinate Judges' Courts	11,83,122	5,01,832	+6,81,290
District and Additional Judges' Courts	7,25,108	8,63,096	—1,37,988
Courts at the Presidency—
Small Cause Courts	2,79,638	2,07,730	+71,908
High Courts (Original and Appellate)	6,90,690	9,62,932	—2,72,242

It appears that in every grade of Court in the Mofussil, except in the highest grade (that of District Judges), the receipts have largely exceeded the expenditure. The results for the past year are, moreover, more favourable in the Courts of Munsifs and of District Judges than in the previous year. At the Presidency, the Courts of Small Causes show a surplus of Rs. 71,908; but the charges on the Appellate Side of the High Court exceeded the receipts by Rs. 4,41,015.

On probates and letters of administration, Rs. 2,95,485 were realised in the past, as compared with Rs. 3,18,404 in the previous year. The amount levied in the District Courts was Rs. 1,22,318 in 1880, as compared with Rs. 1,01,869 in 1879. In the High Court, omitting cases where the assets were exclusively in Assam, the amount of duty realised was Rs. 1,73,167, as compared with Rs. 2,90,790 in 1879.

The sums here exhibited are treated in account as receipts of the Civil Courts. Deducting them, the surplus or net revenue realised from these Courts is reduced to Rs. 27,11,450.

Civil Court Ameens. See Table U.

		Receipts.	Disbursements.
		Rs.	Rs.
1879	Permanent Ameens	38,100	35,462
	Temporary Do.	1,193	1,054
1880	Permament Ameens	35,167	34,585
	Temporary Do.	2,717	2,651

The receipts thus exceeded the expenditure, including an allowance of 10 per cent. for pensions, by only Rs. 648, as against Rs. 2,777 in the previous year. In Tirhoot, Rungpore, Shahabad, Furreedpore, and Chota Nagpore, a considerable deficit appears.

Local investigations. See Table V.

The number of cases in which local investigations were held and completed last year was 1,670.

The average value involved in the suits in which the investigation was made was Rs. 759, and the average cost Rs. 30.

The number of investigations held last year was less than the number held in 1879 by 42 cases. There was a considerable decrease in cases not exceeding Rs. 20 in value.

Proceedings in Insolvency. See Table W.

The following statement exhibits the number of applications for a declaration of insolvency filed, disposed of, and pending in 1879 and 1880—

	Instituted.	Disposed of.	Pending.
1879	186	165	44
1880	275	256	63

The number of fresh applications was considerably larger in the past than in the previous year, and is likely to increase year by year as the law becomes better understood. Such applications were most numerous in the following districts, viz.:—

	Filed in 1879.	1880.
Patna	11	26
Dacca	17	23
Hooghly	13	22
24-Pergunnahs	14	21
Midnapore	13	17

The only districts in which applications were less frequent are Noakhally, Tipperah, and Cuttack. The District Judge of Patna reports in the following terms on this subject:—

"I do not think that this Chapter (XX) of the Code (Act X of 1877) has worked well. The only use made of it is by debtors who wish to be released from arrest. The new Code has put many difficulties in the way of the sale of a debtor's property, and this circumstance, coupled with a reduction in the charge for a warrant of arrest, has led to a considerable increase in the number of executions taken out against the person. To be saved from jail, the debtor announces, under Section 336, that he intends to apply to be declared an insolvent, and so is released on security. He then either settles with his creditor or applies to the District Court to be declared an insolvent; but in the latter case his real object is still merely to obtain protection.

"In one case, a number of ryots were arrested in execution of decrees for rent, and immediately informed the Munsif that they intended to apply to be declared insolvents. The Munsif released them on security, and they afterwards filed applications before me. On looking into their schedules, I found that they had more property than was necessary for the payment of the decrees, and that they had no other debts. I asked them why they did not sell their properties rather than apply to be made insolvents; and they explained that the decrees against them having been affirmed by the Appellate Court they had preferred special appeals and did not wish to sell their properties until the result should be known.

"It would be better, I think, if the insolvency jurisdiction could be exercised by the Court executing the decree, or if the petition could be referred to that Court for enquiry. The District Judge knows nothing of the circumstances of the particular case, and finds it very difficult to decide if the applicant is speaking the truth.

"The insolvencies are commonly of so petty a nature that it is a heavy burden both on the creditors and on the debtors to have the cases brought into the Judge's Court. The pleader's fees there are higher, and the process fees are double; two rupees have to be paid for each notice on a creditor. One insolvent had 32 petty creditors, so that the charge for service of notice was Rs. 64."

The District Judge of Sarun, in commenting on the results shown in his returns, thus reports:—

"The provisions of the law in relation to insolvency have not worked well in this district. Seven applications were made during the year, of which only one was granted, and that with some hesitation; applications appear to be made either for the obvious purpose of defrauding the creditors or when the applicant is reduced to absolute destitution and has no assets to divide among them. I have not yet seen, in my experience of this class of case since the passing of Act X of 1877, a single case in which the person applying to be declared an insolvent has put at the disposal of the Court property to be divided among the creditors. In one case during the year, the bad faith of the applicant was so glaring that he was sent to the Magistrate to be dealt with and was punished by him."

The High Court submit these observations without any comment, as the subject of insolvency is now under consideration, and will be specially reported on at the close of the current year.

Of the whole number of applications before the Court in the past year, 86 were granted, 83 were refused, 87 were not prosecuted, and 63 were pending at the end of the year. Applications how disposed of.

On 6 applications, out of 83 rejected, sentence of imprisonment was passed under Section 359 of the Code of Civil Procedure. In one case, an applicant was sent to the Magistrate to be dealt with according to law.

The following statement shows the number of persons declared to be insolvents during the past as compared with the previous year, the number who obtained their discharge, and who remained undischarged in the same period:— Number of persons declared to be insolvent, discharged, and pending. See Table W1

	Declared to be insolvent.	Discharged.	Pending.
1879	41	43	3
1880	86	85	4

Backergunge . .	2	9
Patna . .	1	8

Tipperah . .	4	7

In the districts noted on the margin, the largest number of persons were declared to be insolvents. No such declaration was made in Cuttack, Furreedpore, Pubna, and Chota Nagpore.

Six insolvents' estates were placed in the hands of Receivers during the year, the returns of the previous year showing only one such case. The following statement shows the amount realised and disbursed and the balance in the hands of such officers during each of the past two years:— Receivers in insolvency.

REPORT

ON

IN

1881.

In drawing up the following Report on the Administration of Civil Justice in the Lower Provinces of Bengal in 1881, the plan adopted in preparing the reports for previous years has been retained. The forms of statements appended to this report are also similar to those appended to previous reports; the only exception being that Annual Statement 1 has been modified, with a view to furnish information required by the Government of India as to the number of European and Native Judicial Officers, of each grade, exercising appellate or original jurisdiction in the Province.

During the year under report, the Local Government, with the sanction of the Government of India, introduced into the Province of Bengal a scheme with the object of providing young Covenanted Officers electing the judicial branch of the service with some training in civil judicial work, before being called upon to fill the office of District Judge. In furtherance of this scheme, several Covenanted Civilians, whose duties had hitherto been confined to executive and criminal judicial work, were invested with powers as Civil Judges, and were entrusted, according to the length of their service, some with the functions of a Subordinate Judge, others with those of a Munsif. The results of this measure have not as yet sufficiently developed themselves to enable the Court to come to any decided opinion as to its merits. The scheme was not brought into operation till late in the year. Owing to the very nature of it, there have been some preliminary difficulties in the way of getting it into working order. But, so far as can be seen, the practical experience to be gained by "Civilian Sub-Judges and Munsifs," in the conduct of a civil judicial trial, will fall short of the expectations of Government. The whole question will be separately dealt with by the High Court, when the Judges have before them better materials on which to arrive at a conclusion of any value. It is sufficient to say, for the purposes of this report, that the work done by these special officers has been incorporated in the appended statements.

Another very important measure was, at the instance of the Government of Bengal, taken in hand during the past year. Experience having shown that the trial of rent-suits, and of petty cases of the Small Cause Court class, was considerably protracted, owing to such cases having to give way to complicated original suits pending before the same officers, the Government of Bengal proposed that, at every Munsifi where two or more Munsifs are stationed together, one of these officers, being duly invested with the necessary powers under Section 29 of the Bengal Civil Courts' Act, VI of 1871, should take up all Small Cause Court cases up to the value of Rs. 50, and all rent-suits, throughout the jurisdiction of the Munsifi; and that all other cases of any class should be left to the remaining officer or officers having concurrent jurisdiction. This system has now been in force, in most of the districts of Bengal, during a greater or lesser portion of the year under report. So far as can be seen at present, the results have been most satisfactory. It has been found necessary, here and there, to slightly modify the original scheme, so as to meet, as occasion arose, a temporary influx of work of one kind or the other. But the general result has undoubtedly been, not only that a larger number of rent and Small Cause Court suits have been decided than in corresponding portions of previous years, but also that the trial of such suits has been far more expeditious.

II.—CIVIL COURTS SUBORDINATE TO THE HIGH COURT.

Original suits, instituted, disposed of, and pending. See Table A.

The total number of original suits instituted, disposed of, and pending in the civil Courts of the Lower Provinces subordinate to the High Court in each of the past three years, was as follows:—

	Instituted.	Determined.	Pending.
In 1879	374,783	373,297	53,473
„ 1880	384,564	386,965	55,988
„ 1881	383,229	390,292	54,429

The figures given above show a slight falling off (1,335 cases) in the number instituted in the past as compared with the previous year; and a considerable increase (3,327) in the number decided. The result is that the arrears on the pending files have been reduced from 55,988 in 1880 to 54,429 in 1881,—a result which may be partly ascribed to the entertainment towards the close of the year of some additional Munsifs.

Suits instituted.

The figures given in the margin show that the decrease in the number of cases instituted in 1881 has occurred entirely in the Courts of Small Causes; for the institutions in the Regular Civil Courts have increased by 1,344 cases. This increase is, however, insignificant in comparison with the increase reported in 1880, which amounted to 12,805 cases.

	Reg.	S.C.C.

„ 1881 . .	328,592	54,637

On a reference to the details given for each district in Table A, it will be seen that the increase in the Regular Civil Courts was chiefly contributed by the following districts:—

	Instituted in 1880.	Instituted in 1881.	Increase.
Dinagepore	6,666	7,885	1,219
Mymensingh	19,593	20,674	1,081
Dacca	18,383	19,393	1,010
Pubna and Bogra	6,808	7,812	1,004
Tirhoot	7,454	8,399	945
Tipperah	19,399	20,285	886
Rajshahye	7,122	7,887	765
Purneah	8,054	8,630	576
Nuddea	8,003	8,500	497

The following districts, on the other hand, show a marked decrease, viz.:—

	Instituted in 1880.	Instituted in 1881.	Decrease.
Midnapore	17,942	15,196	2,746
Chittagong	13,479	11,872	1,607
Jessore	22,122	21,145	977
Furreedpore	17,511	16,680	831
Bankura	7,062	6,335	727
Backergunge	19,755	19,196	559

In the Courts of Small Causes the falling off in the number of cases instituted occurred chiefly in the following Courts:—

	Instituted in 1880.	Instituted in 1881.	Decrease.
Cuttack	2,867	1,160	1,707
Narail	3,248	2,556	692
Jhenidah	2,673	2,036	637
Moonsheegunge	3,258	2,652	606
Magoora	1,943	1,729	214
Kooshtea	2,939	2,764	175
Jessore	4,209	4,065	144
Ranaghat	1,808	1,691	117

On the other hand, an increase occurred in the following Courts :—

	Instituted in 1880.	Instituted in 1881.	Increase.
Kishnaghur	2,199	2,756	557
Monghyr	2,464	2,820	356
Meherpore	1,768	2,035	267
Chooadangah	1,616	1,849	233

The following are some of the reasons given in the District Judges' reports in explanation of these results :—

Burdwan.—Throughout this district suits under the Rent Law have increased. This increase is, in the opinion of the District Judge, probably due to the cheapness of agricultural produce during the year, and the consequent inability of the ryots to pay their rents in full. On the other hand, title and "other class" suits have decreased from 1,968 in 1880 to 1,306 in 1881; a decrease attributed to the same cause which has affected the institution of rent suits. The District Judge reports that the population, which is chiefly made up of the cultivating class, has been to some extent impoverished by the low prices of agricultural produce, and consequently disabled from paying the heavy and increasing cost of litigation. His views are probably correct, for there was an increase in the classes of suits in which the poor are generally the defendants, but a decrease in the classes in which both parties are often of the poorer classes of people.

Cuttack.—In this district, a decrease in the number of suits instituted is reported from Jajpore, and an increase in the Sudder Munsifi. These results are attributed to the re-transfer of thana Aul (Oolabhar) from the former to the latter Munsifi.

Dinagepore.—There was an increase in the number of suits instituted in the Court of the Subordinate Judge, reported to be due (1) to the declining state of two of the native banking firms (kothis) in the station, and (2) to the embarrassed circumstances of a local zemindar. As regards original suits triable by Munsifs, there was an increase, principally of rent suits, in the Sudder Munsifi; and this is ascribed to the ill-feeling which is said to exist between certain izaradars and their ryots. The general increase in suits at this Munsifi is also to some extent attributable to the more expeditious disposal of suits under the new system described in paragraph 3 of this report. Of the 1,315 rent suits instituted, only 6 were for enhancement of rent. From the report of the Sudder Munsif, it would appear that the ryots of this district, who are mostly simple and illiterate, gather in large profits with little labour or outlay, and are thus easily induced to yield to the demands of their landlords for a small increase of rent.

There was also an increase, ascribed to the fall in the price of rice, in the number of suits instituted in the Patnitolah and Chintaman Munsifis. There was a slight decrease in Thakurgram, which is stated to be due, partly to the improved condition of the inhabitants, and partly to the cause, reported last year, that the country in the neighbourhood of the Munsif's Court is infested with tigers.

Nuddea.—There was a marked increase of litigation in this district, both in the Regular Civil Courts and in the Courts of Small Causes. This increase may, in the opinion of the District Judge, be ascribed to the following causes: (1) continued prevalence of sickness, which had the double effect of increasing the household expenses of the members of (what the Judge calls) the "defendant-class," and of incapacitating them from paying off their debts; and (2) the institution, due to the non-forbearance of the "plaintiff-class," of a number of suits for the recovery of debts. It will be observed that the first argument adduced by the District Judge for the increase in the past year was the very argument which he brought forward in explanation of the decrease in litigation in 1880. To explain this apparent anomaly the District Judge reports as follows :—

"My explanation was founded on the following reasoning: There were four undisputed facts :—

"(a) The sickness in 1880 was severe.

"(b) The sickness in 1881 was equally severe.

"(c) The litigation in 1880 showed a great falling off.

"(d) The litigation in 1881 showed a decided revival.

"I had in 1880 attributed fact (c) without hesitation to fact (a).

"It remained to reconcile fact (d) with fact (b).

"My explanation, slightly expanded, was this: the sickness in 1880 having displaced, or, as I conceive, deferred, a large quantity of the normal litigation of 1880, that quantity would either have to be brought over and added to the normal quantity of the litigation of 1881, as an excess quantity—abnormal arrears, in short—or would have to be abandoned.

"I assume that it was not abandoned; but that the plaintiff-class, being themselves under the pressure of the epidemic and the losses it caused, found it necessary to bring this excess quantity into the Courts in 1881, to prevent a lapse of their right of action by limitation.

"By the 'plaintiff-class' I mean the class having claims,—the class who, according to my hypothesis, were compelled or induced by the epidemic to defer their rights of action in 1880, but who were not willing (and for the same cause) to abandon them in 1881.

"Briefly, the epidemic which operated as a check in 1880 operated as a spur in 1881.

"This explanation is of course put forward as a conjectural hypothesis, and not as a conclusive demonstration; but I venture to think that it is not wholly self-contradictory.

"It might perhaps be more correct to ascribe the revival of litigation in 1881, other causes remaining the same, to what I have termed the abnormal arrears of 1880, and this was no doubt the main cause."

Tipperah.—The District Judge of Tipperah makes the following observations regarding the institutions in his district during 1881:—

"The institutions during the year show an increase of 10·4 per cent. in rent suits, and of 2·69 per cent. in suits for money or moveables; while there is a decrease of 10·7 per cent. in title suits. I believe the same cause accounts for both variations. There have been two successive bumper harvests in the district, and little demand outside it for rice, which has accordingly been a drug in the market. The ryots are obliged to sell their accumulated stores at extremely low prices; there is consequently a scarcity of money. Debts cannot be paid; hence the increase of suits for money and rent; while people have not generally the means to embark in title suits, which usually require a pretty full exchequer to go on with, and which the more favourable law of limitation allows to be put off to a convenient season."

The District Judge's remarks are probably correct as regards the poorer classes of the people; for superabundant crops, while furnishing the people with plenty of food, always reduce to comparative impecuniosity the minor ryots who live from hand to mouth. But the increase in the number of title suits cannot be ascribed to the same reason; for it appears from the returns that such suits of the higher values, i. e., exceeding Rs. 50, were more numerous in 1881 than in 1880.

Chota Nagpore.—There was a slight decrease in the institutions in this district. This occurred chiefly in Manbhoom and Lohardugga; and it is apparently due to the more extensive working of the Encumbered Estates Act (VI of 1876) in these places than in Hazareebagh.

Suits decided.

The Regular Courts of the following districts decided the largest number of cases in comparison with the previous year, viz.:—

	Disposed of in
	1880.	1881.	Increase

On the other hand, the returns of the following districts show a considerable falling-off, viz.:—

	Disposed of in
	1880.	1881.	Decrease.
Chittagong	13,879	11,871	2,008

Shahabad	6,338	5,897	441

The work done in the Small Cause Courts has varied principally in the following Courts, viz.:—

	Disposed of in 1880.	Disposed of in 1881.	Increase.
Chooadangah	1,657	2,814	1,157
Kishnaghur	2,224	2,769	545

Sealdah	5,719	5,255	464

In the districts given below, there was an increase in the pending files of the Regular Courts at the close of 1881:— Pending files of original suits.

	Number of suits pending at the close of 1880.	Number of suits pending at the close of 1881.	Increase.
Shahabad	1,460	2,379	919
Rajshahye	1,023	1,482	459

Moorshedabad	1,536	1,870	334
Purneah	966	1,258	292
Dinagepore	768	1,007	239

On the other hand, there was a marked decrease in the following districts:—

	Number of suits pending at the close of 1880.	Number of suits pending at the close of 1881.	Decrease
Sarun	1,690	1,375	315
Tipperah	4,152	3,871	281

With reference to the increase of arrears on the files of original suits in Bhaugulpore, the District Judge reports that the excess occurred in the Courts of the Munsifs of Banka and Monghyr; and that it is attributable to the fact that the influx in the Court of the Munsif of Bhaugulpore was so great during the months from June to September that it became necessary to depute, with the approval of the Court, not only the Munsif of Banka, but also the 2nd Munsif of Monghyr, to assist at the Sudder Station. The result of this arrangement was the disposal of a large number of old cases on the file of the Munsif of Bhaugulpore, but a corresponding increase in the number of pending cases at Banka and Monghyr.

The number of suits and appeals pending for more than one year at the close of each of the years 1880 and 1881 is shown on the margin. The number of long-pending suits has increased in the 24-Pergunnahs, Mymensingh, Gya and Shahabad, and decreased in Dacca, Sarun and Cuttack. The number of old appeals has increased in Bankura, Mymensingh, Chittagong, Shahabad and Tirhoot, and has materially decreased in Midnapore and Hooghly.

Original suits	194	223
Appeals	723	1,320

In 1881 the accumulation of old suits and appeals was greatest in the following districts :—

	Suits.		Appeals.
Gya	50	Shahabad	532
24-Pergunnahs	31	Bankura	176
Patna	31	Mymensingh	135
Shahabad	21	Tirhoot	134
Mymensingh	17	Chittagong	98

The large number of suits and appeals of long standing is due to several causes : some general, and some special and peculiar to the district, or to the idiosyncracies of the officers responsible for the work. A general cause is the existence, notwithstanding the repeated prohibitions of the High Court, of a practice which commends itself to a large number of officials—that of postponing the hearing of an old suit on the ground that a part-heard case (and often a petty one) has to be taken up on the date fixed for hearing. If a little more intelligence were exercised in fixing dates for the trial of all cases, and the cause-board properly consulted, an officer, really desirous of clearing his file of old cases, could in nearly every instance arrange for their being decided without clashing with other work.

Another very general cause is the inefficiency of the class of officials known as Civil Court ameens. In some districts the staff is under-manned. But, as a rule, the delay which occurs in the submission of an ameen's report is due very much more to deliberate procrastination on his part, than to any excess of work in his hands. There can be little doubt that the system which recognizes this class of officers is one which requires very thorough reform. At present the result of referring any matter for local investigation by an ameen-commissioner is simply to shelve the whole proceedings in the suit for an indefinite period. The subject has more than once been handled by the High Court; but the main difficulty which has stood in the way of reform is that of striking out a course which would suit the circumstances of all parts of the country. A better-paid agency, and a consequent higher class of individual, is difficult to provide in a district where the litigation, requiring a series of local investigations, is small. For the present, therefore, the Court must remain satisfied with the close scrutiny which it is the duty of every District Judge to exercise over the working of his ameens, in order to see that they perform their duties as efficiently as circumstances will allow.

In the 24-Pergunnahs District, where the staff of ameens is weak, an additional permanent ameen has very recently been sanctioned by the Local Government at the instance of the High Court.

The above remarks apply more especially to original suits. As regards appeals, the general increase in appellate work of late years will account for some of the arrears. In Mymensingh and Bankura they are ascribed to the insufficiency of the appellate staff. Measures were taken during the year to meet this call; and, so far as the latter-named district is concerned, the pressure may now, at the time of writing this report, be considered no longer to exist.

The arrears on the files of the Appellate Courts in Tirhoot are said to be due to the fact that, during the last three months of the year, the Officiating Judge was overweighted with exceptionally heavy criminal work. An additional Sub-Judge has, for some months, been deputed to this district, and steady progress has been made towards restoring the files to their normal condition.

The heavy arrears in Shahabad and Chittagong are due almost entirely to special causes. The late Judge of Shahabad and the present Judge of Chittagong are both officers of undoubted industry and great conscientiousness. But they both lack that facility of work without which an officer is helpless in his struggle to cope with the arduous duties of a judicial officer in this country. And the necessary result has been the accumulation of very heavy arrears, and the necessity for deputing additional judicial agency to both districts. It is due to the Judge of Chittagong to add that, of late years, the appellate work of the district has been dependent on the exertions of a much diminished staff of officers. At the present time of writing, the measures taken to relieve this abnormal pressure have met with considerable success.

A reference to Table C. appended to this report will show that, including cases in the Courts of Small Causes, the total number of suits filed in 1881 exceeded the total number filed in 1877 by 33,880, or 9·7 per cent. The value in litigation at the same time increased by Rs. 38,78,886, or 8·3 per cent. Number and value of suits instituted, 1877 to 1881. See Table C.

In the following statement the districts have been grouped according to the number of suits filed in 1881 :—

Exceeding 20,000 suits.

Jessore.	Backergunge.
24-Pergunnahs.	Mymensingh.
Dacca.	Tipperah.

Exceeding 15,000 suits.

Nuddea.	Midnapore.
Hooghly.	Bhaugulpore.
Furreedpore.

Exceeding 10,000 suits.

Rungpore.	Burdwan.
Moorshedabad.	Noakhally.
Chittagong.

Exceeding 5,000 suits.

Pubna and Bogra.	Shahabad.
Cuttack.	Bankura.
Dinagepore.	Sarun.
Purneah.	Patna.
Rajshahye.	Beerbhoom.
Tirhoot.

Exceeding 2,000 suits.

Chota Nagpore.	Gya.

In Jessore the number of suits was slightly in excess of 31,000, of which nearly one-third were filed in the Courts of Small Causes. In the 24-Pergunnahs and Dacca the number was slightly in excess of 26,000. In Nuddea the number was somewhat below 20,000, of which a little more than one-half were filed in the Courts of Small Causes. The fact that the number of districts, in which more than 20,000 suits were filed, was six in the past, as compared with four only in the previous year, will tend to illustrate the manner in which the work of the Civil Courts has been increased.

The increase in litigation during the last five years has been most marked in Bankura, where it has amounted to 64 per cent., and in Backergunge to 48·2 per cent. Litigation has decreased in Dinagepore to the extent of 27·5 per cent., and in Burdwan to the extent of 21·1 per cent. The reasons suggested in the report for 1880 for the increase of litigation in Bankura and the decrease in Dinagepore and Burdwan in that year, are probably equally applicable to the year under report.

	1880.	1881.
Suits cognizable by a Small Cause Court	196,851	199,224
Suits under the Rent Law	142,886	149,119
Other suits	44,828	34,886

Excluding cases instituted in the Small Cause Courts, the number of cases of the Small Cause Court class instituted in 1881 was 144,587, of which 48,031 were disposed of by 81 officers (80 Munsifs and 1 Subordinate Judge) vested with the powers of a Small Cause Court Judge for the trial of suits not exceeding Rs. 50 in value. Comparing the results in the past with those in the previous year, it appears that, in cases instituted in the Courts of Small Causes, there has been a decrease in 1881 of 4·6 per cent.; and, in cases of the Small Cause Court class instituted in the Regular Civil Courts, there has been an increase of 3·6 per cent. As regards suits under the Rent Law, there was an increase of 4·3 per cent.; while in "title and other suits" there was a decrease of 22·1 per cent.

The results, as affecting the Courts of Small Causes, will be considered later on in this report, in more immediate connection with the statistics for such Courts.

As regards suits of the Small Cause Court class instituted in the Regular Civil Courts, the most noticeable increase occurred in the following districts: viz., Mymensingh (1,650), Cuttack (1,591), and Dinagepore (712). On the other hand, there was a decrease of 921 in the number of suits of this class instituted in Chittagong, of 747 in Furreedpore, and of 469 in Rungpore. The decrease in Chittagong is attributed generally by the District Judge (1) to the prosperity of the people, who were, as a consequence, in a better position to meet their obligations; and (2) to the difficulty, anticipated by litigants, of profiting by their decrees, owing to the alleged cumbrous working of the new rules framed by the High Court. The first of these arguments required some explanation, for it had been advanced by the District Judge in a former report in order to account for an increase in such litigation in the year 1880. The District Judge accordingly explains as follows:—

"The circumstances of this district are normally prosperous. The rainfall is generally heavy, and the crops very rarely fail. The peasantry are rarely in debt, and are very independent. They are many of them enriched by service in Burma, where the wages of labour are very high; and the flow of labour to Burma has raised, and keeps up, the price of that which remains in Chittagong.

"The district is, however, exposed to cyclone and flood; and the great storm of 1876 reduced many to great straits.

"I understand, however, that, while some of the borrowers certainly did execute bonds, the greater number pledged ornaments, on condition that the pawnee's lien should become absolute if the debt was not repaid by a certain date. The tendency of this condition was to keep the transactions out of Court.

"Nevertheless there was an increase, in 1877, of suits for money, &c., which may be stated perhaps at 20 per cent.; for it stands at 16 per cent., although the jurisdiction area was materially reduced early in the year.

"So in 1878 there was still an abnormal number of bond suits; for, notwithstanding the reduction of area, the number was the same as it had been in 1876.

"In 1879 a part only of the area was re-transferred, and the suits of this class rose very nearly to the standard of 1877.

"It would seem that, by the end of 1879, the effects of the cyclone had very nearly passed away; for in 1880 the institutions fell to the mean of the years 1874 and 1875."

Suits under the rent law increased considerably in Dinagepore (945), Dacca (935), Tirhoot (898), Tipperah (878), Burdwan (675), and Pubna and Bogra (609). They decreased in Chittagong (710) and Jessore (501). The following are some of the remarks recorded by District Judges in explanation of the variations of the figures for the past two years in respect of suits of this class:—

Chittagong.—"Turning to rent suits, I find that the diminution in the year following the cyclone is but small, while the next year's figures are normal. I should account for this by the fact that the limitation in rent suits is short, and persons had either to bring a suit in 1877, or to allow arrears of 1874 to become barred.

"But a good deal of current rent clearly remained unpaid in the triennium beginning with the cyclone year; for in 1879 and 1880 the rent-suits were unusually numerous.

"The number of rent suits during the past year is but moderately in excess of that of the years before the cyclone. Here also we see that the people have nearly recovered the position they then lost."

Nuddea.—"Rent suits have increased from 5,066 to 5,662; net increase 596. It would appear that there is an increase of 289 rent suits in the Sudder, and 274 in the Bongong Munsifs' Courts, as compared with the number of cases instituted in 1880 in these two Munsifis. This increase chiefly relates to 'suits for arrears of rent with or without ejectment or cancelment of lease.' In the Sudder the increase is attributed to the proceedings of a single zemindar. I am informed that, in the majority of cases, the defendants who were sued in 1879 have been sued during the year under report, and at Bongong the increase is attributable to the first and second causes already mentioned.

"It may, however, be remarked here that the relations between landlord and tenant, which were of a quiet character in 1880, were more disturbed in 1881. This was owing to inability of the defendant class to pay, and to the non-forbearance on the part of the zemindars to allow their demands to remain unsatisfied, for fear of the same being barred by limitation."

Patna.—"The diminution" [in the number of suits] "extends to all classes of cases. It has been most marked in the Behar Sub-Division, where the number of rent suits has fallen to about one-third of the figures for 1880. The Munsif ascribes this to a cessation of hostilities between landlord and tenant. In the Barh Sub-Division there has been a considerable increase in the number of rent suits, the figures being 1,409 against 1,063 for 1880. The 163 enhancement suits, instituted in the Munsif's Court, all belonged to one village, and were suits in which the landholder tried to enhance the rent by converting money-rents into rents paid in kind. So far as I can judge, landholders prefer the Bhaoli tenure, and ryots the Nakdi one. This is natural, as the landholders commonly take nine-sixteenths of the produce, and Road and Public Works Cesses in addition, when the tenure is Bhaoli. When produce is very cheap or very scanty, the ryots may prefer the Bhaoli system; and I have been told that they have, in some cases, voluntarily returned to it. But certainly the severest struggles between landlord and tenant occur when the former alleges Bhaoli tenure, and the latter says that it is Nakdi. Possibly, if the landlords confined their demand to one-half of the produce, and did not levy unauthorized cesses, the payment in kind would not be so unpopular. The system does not adapt itself well to the purpose of a law-suit, for the Courts have no means of ascertaining satisfactorily the amount of the produce. On this subject the 3rd Munsif writes as follows:—'I am also inclined to believe that of late there has been a tendency in this district among the landlords to revert to the old mode of collection by grain-rent, and a determined disposition on the part of the ryot to pay in money. Cheapness of the season is now looked upon by the knowing ryot as a mere incident which may not continue for years; and exactions of all kinds, which are easy in the Bhaoli system, are dreaded by him more than any infliction that the market can make upon him.'"

Tirhoot.—"The number of institutions of rent suits has generally increased in almost all the Munsifs this year, showing, either the want of good feeling between the landlords and tenants, or the refusal of the ryots to pay their due rent. A large number of these suits is generally decided in batches as analogous cases. The institutions in the sudder station have risen from 699 to 933; and, apart from other causes, the speedier disposal of rent suits under the new scheme" [referred to on the first page of this report] "may have operated in inducing an increase. The number of institutions was the heaviest in the Munsifi of Tajpore, the figures having risen from 871 to 1,201. Many of these comprise batches of analogous suits by indigo planters, Government and other landlords, against their ryots."

Dacca.—"Under the head of rent suits there was an increase of 935 suits, which occurred mostly in the Courts of the Munsifs of Kaligunge, Munshigunge and Manikgunge. No particular cause can be assigned for this increase. It may be that landlords are more generally having recourse to the Civil Courts for assistance in collecting their rent. There have been no agrarian disturbances this year; and no landlord, that I am aware of, has made any general attempt to enhance the rent of his ryots."

The decrease of 22·1 per cent. in the number of "Title and other suits" instituted in the past year was due chiefly to a falling off in the number of cases instituted in the following districts: viz., Midnapore (a decrease of 3,263 cases), Burdwan (662 cases), and Sarun (622 cases). The decrease in Midnapore is apparent only, and is probably due to the institution by Government of a large number of settlement suits in 1880. In Sarun, and in most of the other districts where a decrease occurred, it is attributed mainly to the fact that title suits for setting aside the Collector's mutation orders, under the Land Registration Act of 1876, have considerably diminished in number, as such suits were generally brought within a year from the date of the Collector's orders. To explain the decrease in Tirhoot, the District Judge advances the additional argument that suits under the Mitakshara law, for setting aside the father's alienations, have largely decreased; as, since the publication of the Privy Council Ruling in re Deendoyal Lall, the creditors invariably make the sons defendants in their suits, and thus no room is left to the sons to contest their father's alienations after the sale of their ancestral properties. The District Judge adds that "it is believed that tentative and speculative suits will greatly diminish in the present year, as the advocates and pleaders have framed strict rules for the speedy and full realization of their legal fees from their clients, with effect from the beginning of the present year."

The following statement, prepared in accordance with the practice of former years, will shew in what districts suits of each class were most numerous.

	1879.	1880.	1881.
Mymensingh	11,926	13,864	15,514
24-Pergunnahs	15,662	14,241	14,371
Jessore	18,155	15,424	13,602
Furreedpore	8,957	11,550	10,702

It will be observed that in Mymensingh there has been a gradual increase, and in Jessore a gradual decrease, in the number of institutions of suits of this class since 1879.

The number of suits under the rent law instituted in the past year has exceeded 10,000 in three districts only, viz., Jessore (15,094), Backergunge (14,281), and 24-Pergunnahs (10,194). Jessore and Backergunge, it is to be observed, continue in this respect to hold the same position as in the previous two years.

Chittagong was the only district where the number of "title and other suits" instituted in 1881 exceeded 2,500. The following statement shows the districts in which the number instituted in 1881 exceeded 2,000 :—

	1879.	1880.	1881.
Tipperah	2,701	2,567	2,318
Mymensingh	2,669	2,884	2,290
24-Pergunnahs	2,661	2,591	2,180

The following table gives details regarding the suits for money or moveables instituted in the past two years in the Regular Civil Courts, and in the Courts of Small Causes :—

Description of Suits.	Small Cause Courts.		Regular Civil Courts.
	1880.	1881.	1880.	1881.
On unwritten obligation	6,965	6,045	9,362	10,103
On account stated	2,635	2,948	8,632	9,277
Money had and received	977	712	3,118	3,319
Goods sold	8,966	8,212	4,967	4,876
Wages, work and materials . . .	1,189	1,178	1,534	1,373
Rent not falling under the rent law . .	3,733	3,840	2,694	3,224
Moveable property or value thereof . .	700	1,589	6,049	5,090
Other suits for money or moveables not mentioned above	654	775	2,284	2,202
Total .	57,316	54,637	139,535	144,587

It will be observed that the decrease in the Small Cause Courts was chiefly in respect of suits on bonds and on unwritten obligations, for recovery of goods sold, and for damages. On the other hand, suits for the recovery of moveable property or its value more than doubled the number instituted in 1880. The increase in the Regular Civil Courts was chiefly in respect of suits on bonds.

	Civil Courts.		Revenue Courts.
	1880.	1881.	1880.	1881.
Arrears of rent	136,731	144,127	7,190	8,858
Enhancement or abatement of rent	1,364	1,837	119	131
Relating to distraint	356	330	271	219
Damages for extortion, &c.	373	386	99	96
For pottahs or kabulyats	106	53	86	34
For ejectment or recovery of possession	1,488	914	349	194
For recovery of money or accounts from agents	904	903	27	35
All other suits under the rent law	1,564	569	56	67

There was a considerable increase in the number of suits for "arrears of rent," both in the Civil Courts and in the Revenue Courts. Suits for "enhancement or abatement of rent" also increased in both classes of Courts, but especially so in the Civil Courts. On the other hand, suits for "ejectment or recovery of possession" decreased considerably in both classes of Courts; and miscellaneous suits under the rent law decreased to a great extent in the Civil Courts.

The following statement gives details of suits other than rent suits and suits of the Small Cause Court class, instituted in the past two years:—

	Number of suits.		Percentage of the total number of the class.
	1880.	1881.	1880.	1881.

Other suits not falling under any of the previous heads	2,947	545	6·57	1·56
TOTAL	44,828	34,886	100·	100·

This statement shows that, with the exception of suits relating to religious endowments, suits for dissolution of marriage, or for enforcement of matrimonial rights, suits relating to shipping, and suits under Section 261, Act X of 1865, which have slightly increased, a decrease has occurred in the institution of all classes of miscellaneous original suits, particularly in suits for the recovery of immovcable property, and under the head "other suits not falling under any of the previous heads."

Suits valued according to class. See Table E.

The following statement gives the value of suits of each class instituted in each of the past two years :—

		1880.	1881.
		Rs.	Rs.
Suits for money or moveables .	Small Cause Courts . .	30,11,418	28,76,972
	Regular Courts . . .	1,53,22,956	1,65,08,394
„ under the rent law		77,60,187	81,12,308
Title and other suits		2,50,16,897	1,88,69,806

The decrease under the head "title and other suits" is chiefly due to the falling-off in the institutions of such suits. The decrease is most marked in Mymensingh, Gya, Sarun, Moorshedabad, Cuttack, Tipperah, Bhaugulpore and Burdwan, and, in the case of the last named district, is attributed to the fact that, in 1880, some exceptionally heavy colliery suits were filed, which swelled the value for that year.

The following statement shows the average value of a suit of each class :—

		1880.	1881.
		Rs.	Rs.
Suits for money or moveables .	Small Cause Courts . .	52·5	52·6
	Regular Courts . . .	109·8	114·1
Suits under the rent law		54·3	54·4
Title and other suits		558·1	540·8

Details of value. See Statement 3.

The following table gives further details of the value of suits instituted in 1881 :—

Details of value.	Suits for money or moveables.			Suits under the rent law.	Title and other suits.
	Small Cause Courts.	Regular Courts.
		Under Small Cause Court powers.	Under ordinary procedure.

Total .	54,637	49,079	95,508	149,119	34,886

From this table it appears that in 374,223 or 97·6 per cent. of the whole number of suits instituted in the Civil Courts, the value involved did not exceed Rs. 500, and in 72 per cent. of these, the value did not exceed Rs. 50. Of suits instituted in the Small Cause Courts, in 37,813 or 69·2 per cent. the value did not exceed Rs. 50. Of suits of the Small Cause Court class, instituted in the Regular Civil Courts, 95,279 or 65·9 per cent. did not exceed the same value. Of these, 49,079 were dealt with by officers vested with Small Cause Court powers. Of rent suits, 32·3 per cent. did not exceed Rs. 10 in value; and 79·1 per cent. of these, exceeding Rs. 10, did not exceed Rs. 50 in value. In 24,795 or 71 per cent. of the title and other suits instituted, the property in dispute did not exceed Rs. 100.

The following statement gives details of 8,545 suits, in which the value is said to have exceeded Rs. 500:—

	Suits for money or moveables.	Suits under the rent law.	Title and other suits.
Not exceeding Rs. 1,000 in value . .	2,172	1,167	1,059
„ „ 5,000 „ . . .	1,250	644	1,449

In the remaining 461 cases the value cannot be estimated in money.

The manner in which suits were dealt with during each of the past five years is shown in the following table:— Suits how determined. See Table F.

	Withdrawn, compromised, confessed, &c.	Decided ex parte.	Contested.	TOTAL.
1877	129,094	133,254	93,094	355,442
1878	126,961	131,805	94,151	352,917
1879	139,070	140,466	93,761	373,297
1880	147,885	142,606	96,474	386,965
1881	144,250	146,304	99,738	390,292

Contested cases formed 25·5 per cent. of the whole number decided in 1881, as compared with 24·9 per cent. in 1880 and 25·1 per cent. in 1879.

		Withdrawn, compromised, confessed, &c.	Decided ex parte.	Contested.
Courts of Small Causes		25,582	19,069	10,769
Regular Courts .	Suits for money or moveables	57,568	61,912	25,102
	„ under the rent law .	45,931	61,104	42,850
	TOTAL .	118,668	127,235	88,969

From this statement it appears that while in the Small Cause Courts 19·4 per cent. of the cases decided were contested, as compared with 26·5 per cent. in the Regular Civil Courts, in the latter the ratio for each class of suits separately was—in suits for money or moveables, 17·3 per cent.; in rent suits 28·5 per cent.; and in title and other suits 52· per cent. From these results it will be observed that the largest proportion of contested suits is, as in previous years, found among title and other claims, while the smallest proportion is in respect of suits of the Small Cause Court class.

Of the suits for money, &c., entered above, as decided in the Regular Courts, 48,031 cases were dealt with by 81 officers vested with the powers of a Small Cause Court Judge for the trial of petty suits not exceeding Rs. 50 in value. The manner in which these cases were disposed of is shown in the margin. Only 15·4 per cent. were contested.

Decided ex parte	20,076
Contested	7,415
TOTAL	48,031

Districts where contested suits were most numerous.

	1879.	1880.	1881.
Jessore	8,313	8,297	7,933
24-Pergunnahs	7,564	6,968	7,010
Tipperah	5,045	5,267	6,282
Dacca	4,675	4,582	5,611
Mymensingh	4,465	4,791	5,092

The proportion of contested cases decided in the Regular Civil Courts was greatest in the following districts:—

	PERCENTAGE OF CONTESTED CASES.
	In suits for money, &c.	In suits under the rent law.	In title and other suits.	TOTAL.

Gya	30·9	56·8	61·4	44·9
Chittagong	27·7	32·9	57·1	36·6
Shahabad	22·9	37·2	55·5	36·1
Chota Nagpore	28·7	...	67·4	35·1
Sarun	19·4	31·2	56·5	32·
Tipperah	17·5	37·4	58·2	30·2

On referring to the statement given in an earlier portion of this report, in which the districts have been grouped according to the number of suits filed in 1881, it will be observed that, with the exception of Chittagong and Tipperah, in all the districts referred to above, the institutions in the past year did not exceed 5,000.

In the following statement further details are given of the manner in which suits were disposed of in the Civil Courts in the interior, and in the Small Cause Courts separately. The proportion of cases in which the plaintiffs and defendants were, respectively, successful during the past three years is also shown :—

All Courts, including Small Cause Courts.			Mode of Disposal.	Small Cause Courts separately.
1879.	1880.	1881.		1879.	1880.	1881.

68,226	70,773	73,224	Decreed on trial	8,261	7,878	7,777
241,674	246,361	250,290	Plaintiff wins	41,408	40,213	36,691
46,780	51,344	52,141	Add compromised	7,524	7,086	7,489
288,454	297,705	302,431		48,932	47,299	44,180

	1879.	1880.	1881.
Plaintiff loses	22·8	23·	22·5
Plaintiff wins	64·7	63·6	64·2

In the Courts of Small Causes taken separately the plaintiffs were not so successful in 1881 as in 1880 ; this will appear from the results noted in the margin; but their success in these Courts was, as in the previous year, somewhat greater than in the Courts generally.

	Percentage.
	1880.	1881.
Plaintiff loses	20·5	20·3
Compromised	11·9	13·5
Plaintiff wins	67·6	66·2

The following statement shows for each of the past three years the number of cases dismissed in default or decreed ex parte, compared with the number of applications for setting aside the judgments in such cases made and granted :—

Applications to set aside ex parte judgments, or judgments in default. See Table G.

	1879.	1880.	1881.
Number of cases dismissed in default or decreed ex parte	164,853	173,632	177,018
Number of applications to set aside judgments in such cases	9,139	8,400	9,337
Number of such applications granted	3,890	4,132	4,176

The ratio in 1881 of applications to judgments was 5·2 per cent., or a little in excess of the proportion for the previous year. Of the applications made last year, 44·7 per cent. were granted, as compared with 49·1 per cent. in 1880. The proportion in the several classes of Courts taken separately for the past two years was as follows:—

	Percentage.
	1880.	1881.
District Judges' Courts	62·5	80·
Small Cause Courts	58·1	54·1
Subordinate Judges' Courts	27·3	30·5
Munsifs' Courts	47·7	43·2

The high percentage in the District Judges' Courts is owing to the small number of the applications made in each district.

Decrees how executed. See Table H.

The following statement shows the number of applications for the execution of decrees on which realisations were made in the past three years, in full or partial satisfaction, and the amount realized in the Regular Civil Courts:—

	Complete.	Partial.	Amount realized.
			Rs.
1879	76,043	44,534	1,37,00,646
1880	74,900	44,306	1,47,27,846
1881	64,167	37,206	1,27,13,970

	Complete.	Partial.	Amount realized.
			Rs.
1880	5,566	8,144	6,18,084
1881	5,561	6,460	3,81,392

In the Regular Civil Courts there was a decrease of Rs. 20,14,876, and in the Courts of Small Causes a decrease of Rs. 2,36,692 in the amount realized. The amount realized in the Regular Civil Courts was greatest in the following districts:—

	Amount realized.
	1880.	1881.
	Rs.	Rs.
Tirhoot	9,56,621	14,46,298
Backergunge	9,80,617	8,94,797
24-Pergunnahs	11,25,981	8,73,264
Bhaugulpore	12,41,847	7,15,799

The above figures show that the realizations in Jessore have fallen off by over a lakh of rupees. This result is reported by the District Judge to be to some extent due to the smaller number of applications for executions; but chiefly to the fact that, in a large number of instances, parties come to terms out of Court, and do not certify the fact for record in the execution cases. He states also that in a vast number of cases, although the decree-holders apply for a process, they fail to have it executed, their object being simply to keep the decree alive; and that the infructuousness of an enormous number of execution applications is entirely due to the laches of the decree-holders.

The following statement shews the number of applications for the execution of decrees disposed of in 1881, on which realizations were made with and without the issue of process, and the amount realized with and without it, in the Regular Civil Courts and in the Small Cause Courts separately:—

		Number of applications.	Amount realized.
			Rs.
Regular Civil Courts	With process	84,901	1,11,31,077
	Without process	16,472	15,81,893
Small Cause Courts	With process	10,789	3,12,098
	Without process	1,232	69,294

Taking all the Courts together, it will appear that the issue of process was found to be unnecessary in 15·6 per cent. of the applications on which realizations were effected in 1881, as compared with 13·9 per cent. in 1880.

In Burdwan, Chittagong and Dinagepore there was a marked decrease in the number of applications for execution of decrees filed in 1881, as compared with the number filed in 1880; while in Noakhally there was a large increase in the amount realized without the issue of process. These results are attributed, by the Judges of these districts, to the difficulty experienced by decree-holders in complying with the requirements of the rules made by the High Court in July 1880 and referred to in the report for that year. These rules are about to be again taken into consideration, together with special reports on the subject submitted by District Officers.

Decrees executed. See Statement 6.

In Statement 6 further details will be found regarding the manner in which decrees were executed in 1881. The number of applications for execution (including verbal applications made immediately on delivery of judgment) dealt with by the Civil Courts in the interior, was 316,475; the whole number disposed of 263,676; and the number pending 52,799. Satisfaction, in whole or in part, was obtained in 113,394 cases. Of the applications disposed of, the creditor's claim was adjusted under Section 258 of the Code of Civil Procedure in 35,834 cases; and 144,303 applications were wholly infructuous. This does not mean that so many decrees became inoperative, but merely that the decree-holders were unsuccessful in, or did not persevere with, those particular attempts to execute such decrees.

Coercive processes.

The following figures shew the comparative frequency of certain modes of execution in the past five years:—

Year.	Possession given.	Imprisonment.	Property sold.
			Moveable.	Immoveable.
1877	7,636	3,922	15,559	23,681
1878	7,588	1,984	8,957	32,248
1879	8,064	2,190	10,299	32,240
1880	8,040	1,775	10,728	27,627
1881	7,453	1,936	10,258	21,182

These figures shew that the number of applications in which the judgment-debtor's property was sold has decreased, particularly in cases in which his immovcable property was sold. The latter result is, as pointed out in the report for 1880, apparently due to the operation of the High Court rules referred to above. There was also a decrease in the number of applications upon which possession was given to the decree-holder; but, of the 7,453 applications upon which this mode of execution was adopted, in only 260 cases was the property "movcable property." On the other hand, there was an increase in the number of applications upon which the judgment-debtor was imprisoned.

Other modes in which execution was effected were as follows:—In 629 cases the judgment-debtors' immoveable property was dealt with under Section 305, 322 or 326 of the Civil Procedure Code; that is, opportunity was given to raise money on the property, so as to satisfy the decree. Specific performance was enforced in 133 cases; and partition was effected in 185 cases. Details are not given of the manner in which decrees were executed in 6,395 cases.

The following statement exhibits the number of original miscellaneous
38. cases of a judicial nature, which were instituted, determined, and pending in the Regular Civil Courts and in the Small Cause Courts, in each of the past two years:—

		Instituted.	Determined.	Pending.
Regular Civil Courts	1880	32,729	33,521	6,310
	1881	28,892	29,550	5,849
Small Cause Courts	1880	3,161	3,231	195
	1881	2,817	2,827	188

The above figures shew a decrease in all Courts in the institutions of this class of cases. Corresponding results are also shewn in respect of the cases disposed of, and of pending files. Details are given below of the manner in which these cases were dealt with in the past two years:—

	By Regular Civil Courts.		By Small Cause Courts.
	1880.	1881.	1880.	1881.
Withdrawn, compromised, confessed, &c.	6,536	5,830*	860	547
Decided ex parte	7,874	6,952	374	244
Contested	19,085	16,768	1,997	2,036

* Includes 90 redemption and foreclosure cases.

Of the cases decided after contest by the Regular Civil Courts, the applications were granted in 53·4 per cent. and refused in the remainder. Of the whole number decided, 850 or 2·8 per cent. were compromised. In Small Cause Courts, 51·9 per cent. of the contested applications decided were granted, the rest being refused; 80, or 2·8 per cent. of the whole number decided, were compromised.

Miscellaneous (Non-Judicial) cases.
See Table I.1.

The following table shows, for the years 1880 and 1881, the total number of miscellaneous non-judicial cases instituted under the Rent Law in the Courts of first instance in Bengal, the total number decided by those Courts, and the number pending at the close of each of those years:—

	Instituted.	Disposed of.	Pending.
1880	33,838	41,593	5,688
1881	29,463	31,373	3,778

These figures show that, as compared with 1880, there was a considerable decrease in the number of cases of this class instituted in the past year; and a corresponding decrease in the number disposed of during that period and pending at the close of the year.

Taking each district separately, the decrease was most marked in the following districts:—

	Decrease.
Midnapore	1,644
Patna	1,057
Bhaugulpore	768
Backergunge	632
Hooghly	400

On the other hand, there was a marked increase in the following districts:—

	Increase.
Tirhoot	761
Tipperah	402

Nearly all the cases instituted in Backergunge relate, it is stated, to deposits of rent; and the decrease in the past year is held by the District Judge to point to the better relations which existed between tenants and their landlords.

The following statement exhibits in detail the several classes of miscellaneous (non-judicial) cases instituted, disposed of, and pending in the Courts in 1881:—

	Instituted.	Disposed of.	Pending.
Applications for the deposit of rent	27,577	29,575	3,201
Applications for assistance to distrain	1,260	1,219	365
Applications for the sale of distrained property	626	579	212

Of the 1,219 applications for assistance to distrain property, 1,012 were granted and the rest refused.

The average duration of suits, contested and uncontested, disposed of in the past year by the several grades of Courts, is given in the following statement:— Average duration of cases. See Table Q.

		District Judges.	Subordinate Judges.	Munsifs.	Small Cause Court Judges.
		M. D.	M. D.	M. D.	M. D.
Under ordinary procedure	Contested	6 10	8 11	3 29	...
	Uncontested	5 28	3 16	1 26	...
Under Small Cause Court procedure	Contested	...	0 20	1 24	0 28
	Uncontested	...	0 20	1 6	0 22

On comparing these figures with those given at page 16 of the report for 1880, it will be observed that suits, both contested and uncontested, were dealt with less promptly than in the previous year. The average duration of contested cases disposed of by the District Judge of Gya is particularly high (3 years 1 month and 5 days); but this cannot be attributed to any dilatoriness on the part of the District Judge, as the figures given represent the duration of only two cases decided during the year. One of these was a very important case connected with the Ticcari Raj, which necessitated the deputation, during its trial, of an Additional Judge to the district. In Hooghly the duration of cases decided by the District Judge continues to be unsatisfactory; it is attributed, as in 1880, to the continual interruption to Civil work by Sessions and other Criminal duties. The duration of uncontested cases disposed of by the District Judge of Chittagong is also unsatisfactory.

I.—THE PRESIDENCY SMALL CAUSE COURT.

Calcutta Small Cause Court.

The number of suits instituted, disposed of and pending in the Calcutta Small Cause Court, during 1880 and 1881, was as follows:—

	Instituted.	Disposed of.	Pending.
1880	35,304	35,600	1,288
1881	34,108	34,063	1,333

Of the 34,108 suits instituted, in 27,175, or 79·6 per cent., the value involved did not exceed Rs, 50; and, of these, in 48·3 per cent. the value was very trifling, in no case exceeding Rs. 10. In 680 cases the value exceeded Rs. 500; and, of these again, in 55 cases it exceeded Rs. 1,000.

The total amount in litigation was Rs. 17,28,960 in the past, as compared with Rs. 17,70,038 in the previous, year.

Details of the value of the suits instituted in the past two years are given below:—

Classified value of suits.	1880.	1881.
Up to Rs. 10	14,449	13,145
„ „ 50	13,990	14,030
„ „ 100	3,001	3,070
„ „ 1,000	641	625
TOTAL	35,304	34,108

These figures show that the decrease has been chiefly in respect of petty cases, in which the value did not exceed Rs. 10. Suits of values ranging from Rs. 10 to Rs. 500 have, however, slightly increased

Of the suits disposed of during 1881, 5,483 did not come to trial, having been dismissed for default or for want of prosecution, or having been withdrawn with leave; 21,964 were decided without contest in the manner shown in the margin; and 6,616 were decided after contest or on reference to arbitration. The number of miscellaneous judicial cases disposed of by the Court in 1881 was 203. Of these, 48 were commissions received for execution from Courts in the interior; and 155 were distraint cases (not being inter-pleader claims) under the Distress Act, 1875.

Decreed on confession .	2,176
Decreed ex parte . .	7,150
Dismissed ex parte . .	52

Besides the above, 1,819 processes, issued from Courts in the mofussil, were served by the Calcutta Small Cause Court on persons residing in Calcutta.

Including the applications pending at the close of 1880, there were in the past year 15,614 applications for the execution of decrees on the file of the Calcutta Small Cause Court. Of these, 15,147 were disposed of; leaving 467 applications pending at the close of 1881. Of the applications disposed of, in 11,493 cases the decree was wholly or partly satisfied; in 5,616 cases satisfaction was obtained with, and in 5,877 cases without, the issue of process.

	*Rs.
* With the issue of process	1,78,244
	3,36,024

The total amount realised was Rs. 3,36,024* in the past, as compared with Rs. 3,47,112 in the previous, year.

To effect the execution of decrees, the following were some of the principal coercive measures adopted by the Calcutta Court of Small Causes. In 460 cases the judgment-debtor was imprisoned; in 602 cases his moveable property was sold; and in 49 cases his immoveable property was made over to the decree-holder in liquidation of the debt.

II.—SMALL CAUSE COURTS IN THE INTERIOR.

The business coming before the Small Cause Courts in each district is shown in Table A, which has already been noticed. In Table A 1 will be found details for each Court separately. No changes occurred in the past year in the number of such Courts. The Subordinate Judge of the District continues to preside in the Pubna Small Cause Court.

	Instituted.	Disposed of.	Pending.
1880	57,316	59,509	2,922
1881	54,637	55,420	3,025

There was a decrease in the past year of 2,679 cases filed and of 4,089 cases decided. There was, however, an increase of 103 cases on the pending files.

The Courts, or groups of Courts, where the increase or decrease in the number of cases instituted has been greatest, are shown below:—

	Increase.	Decrease.
Cuttack	...	1,707
Magoorah, &c.	...	1,543
Kishnaghur, &c.	707	...
Dacca and Moonsheegunge	...	543
Bhaugulpore and Monghyr	440	...

On comparing Table F 1, appended to this Report, with the corresponding Table appended to the Report for 1880, it will be observed that the number of contested cases decided by the Small Cause Courts in the past year, was only 225 less than the number decided in 1880. This circumstance leads to the inference that the decrease in the institutions of the past year has been almost entirely in uncontested cases.

The subjoined table shows the number of cases instituted during each of the past four years in the principal Courts and Circles :—

	1878.	1879.	1880.	1881.
Dacca and Moonsheegunge	6,061	5,552	7,283	6,740
Jessore	4,943	5,927	4,209	4,065
Kooshtea and Chooadanga	4,050	5,023	4,555	4,613
Kishnaghur, &c.	5,520	6,338	5,775	6,482
Hooghly, &c.	4,220	5,130	5,413	5,595
Bhaugulpore and Monghyr	4,222	3,953	4,418	4,858
Furreedpore	1,547	903	1,411	1,311

Notwithstanding the fact that the number of cases decided by the Small Cause Courts in the past year exceeded the influx of cases during that period, the pending files at the close of the year were not so free from arrears as at the close of 1880. The explanation for this apparent anomaly is that, in addition to the institution of fresh cases, a large number of cases which had been dismissed for default, &c., and of cases in which an application for a review of judgment was granted, were restored to the files during the year under report.

In a preceding portion of this report it is shown that, of the total number of cases decided by the Small Cause Courts in the past year, 10,769 or 19·4 per cent. were contested. The following are the Courts or groups of Courts in which the number of contested cases was greatest in the past two years :—

	1880.	1881.
Hooghly, &c.	1,361	1,277
Kishnaghur, &c.	1,093	1,192
Magoorah, &c.	1,349	1,176
Dacca and Moonsheegunge	1,093	1,133
Kooshtea and Chooadanga	883	1,027
Bhaugulpore and Monghyr	625	781
Jessore	832	692

The relative position of the Courts at Sealdah, Hooghly, &c., Dacca and Moonsheegunge, and Kooshtea and Chooadanga is, for the past year, exactly the same as for 1880.

Value of suits instituted.

Out of 48,031 cases disposed of by officers vested with the powers of a Small Cause Court for the trial of the petty suits not exceeding Rs. 50 in value, 7,415 or 15·4 per cent. were contested. It has been shown before that of the cases of the Small Cause Court class before officers not vested with the powers of a Small Cause Court Judge, 46,200 did not exceed Rs. 50 in value; besides these, the value in 26,758 suits lay between Rs. 50 and Rs. 100. The Court has already on more than one occasion suggested that the powers vested in Munsifs under Section 29, Act VI of 1871, should be extended to cases of the value of Rs. 100.

APPELLATE JURISDICTION.

IV.—The High Court.

I.—Appeals under Section 15 of the Letters Patent.

The statement in the margin shows the number of appeals, under Section 15 of the Letters Patent, preferred against the decrees of the High Court in its Appellate Jurisdiction, and decided in each of the past two years. The number of appeals before the Court in 1881, from the decisions of Judges of the High Court in the exercise of Original Jurisdiction, was 76, including 27 pending from the previous year. Of these, 47 were decided, and 29 remained unheard at the close of the year.

Class of Appeals.	Filed.		Decided.
	1880.	1881.	1880.	1881.
Third Appeals ...	45	114	55	103

As stated in the report for 1880, the alteration in the law (Section 575 of the Code of Civil Procedure) has prevented what used to be known as second appeals. The number of third appeals, presented in 1881 against the order of a single Judge, on appeal from an appellate decree in suits valued at less than Rs. 50, was 144, as compared with 45 in 1880. The increase is the more noteworthy, in that the number of decisions passed by a single Judge in 1880 and 1881 was 434 and 374, respectively. The following table shows the manner in which "third appeals" were disposed of in the past two years:—

	Confirmed.	Modified.	Reversed.	Remanded.	Disposed of otherwise.
1880	41	...	8	6	...
1881	71	2	23	6	1

Third appeals were preferred from the orders passed in 38·5 per cent. of the 374 appeals decided in the past year by a single Judge of the High Court; and, of the whole number of third appeals determined in that year, in 68·9 per cent. the decision of the single Judge was confirmed, as compared with 74·5 per cent. in 1880.

	Disposed of.
	1880.	1881.
Ditto by a bench of two Judges...	497	835
Total ...	931	1,209

The figures on the margin show a decrease in the number of appeals in suits valued at less than Rs. 50 decided by a single Judge of the Court, and a considerable increase in the number decided by Benches consisting of two Judges.

II.—Appeals from Courts in the interior.

Class of Appeals.	Brought before the Court.		Decided.
	1880.	1881.	1880.	1881.
First appeals—
From decrees ...	396	346	356	327

Second appeals—
From decrees ...	2,566	2,351	2,245	2,617
From orders ...	128	134	142	134

Including cases coming from Assam and British Burma, the number of first and second appeals from the decrees and orders of the Civil Courts, brought before the High Court and decided in the past two years, is as shown in the margin. Of the first appeals brought before the Court in 1881, 44—and of those decided, 51—were appeals in contested probate cases.

The following statement shows the manner in which the appeals brought before the Court came upon the file:—

				Instituted.	Received by transfer.	On review of judgment.	Revived.
Appeals from ...	Original ...	Decrees	...	323	11	2	10
		Orders	...	220	...	1	3
		Orders	...	133	...	...	1

The number of appeals from Courts in the interior decided by the High Court was 3,301 in the past, as compared with 2,995 in the previous, year. This increase was only in respect of appeals from the appellate decrees of Lower Courts. As to the other classes of appeals from the interior, the number decided in 1881 was 684, or a decrease of 66 cases as compared with the number decided in 1880.

The increase in the number of appeals decided by the High Court in 1881 has effected a decrease in the pending files which have been reduced from 4,042 in 1880 to 3,796 in 1881.

The amount of the increase or decrease, as the case may be, in the pending files is shown in detail in the margin.

Total .	266	20

The following statement shows in a more complete form the work which has come before the High Court in its Appellate Jurisdiction during each of the past four years. It will be observed that there was a slight decrease in the criminal business of the Court in 1881 as compared with 1880. But appeals under the Letters Patent are steadily increasing year by year :—

(f) Mr. Justice Pontifix resumed his seat as a Judge on the reopening of the Court after the Dusserah vacation on the 21st November 1881.

The following statement shows the state of the files of the High Court from year to year since its constitution.

Number of appeals (Civil and Criminal) from the decisions of the Courts in the interior instituted in the years 1862 to 1881.

The figures for 1862 are those for half the year only.

Districts from which appeals came. See Table V.

Of the 334 appeals from original decrees instituted during the past year, 8 came from Assam and 1 from British Burma. Of the 325 appeals pertaining to the Lower Provinces of Bengal, the largest numbers came from the following districts, viz. :—

Tirhoot	44
Bhuagulpore	35
Patna	35
Sarun	25
24-Pergunnahs	22

and the smallest numbers came from Cuttack (1), and Beerbhoom, Burdwan, Sonthal Pergunnahs, Chittagong, Purneah, and Chota Nagpore (2 from each). In the other districts in the province the numbers varied from 3 to 16.

Appeals classed according to value.

The following statement exhibits separately for each province the value of appeals from original and appellate decrees instituted during the past year :—

	Appeals from Original Decrees.		Appeals from Appellate Decrees.
	Valued at Rs. 10,000 and upwards.	Valued at less than Rs. 10,000.	Valued at more than Rs. 50.	Not exceeding Rs. 50 in value.
Lower Provinces of Bengal .	74	251	1,327	916
British Burma	...	1	...	...

It will be observed that of the appeals from original decrees, 77 (or 23 per cent.) were valued at Rs. 10,000 and upwards. Of the appeals against appellate decrees, 964 (or 41·3 per cent. of the whole) were of a value not exceeding Rs. 50.

The greatest number of these petty appeals came from the following districts, viz. :—

Bhaugulpore	134
Tirhoot	95
24-Pergunnahs	64
Hooghly	54
Patna	54
Furreedpore	52

The smallest numbers came from Noakhally (1), and Moorshedabad and Cachar (2 each).

The following table shows more in detail the value of appeals from the original and appellate decrees of the Courts in the interior, and of third appeals under the Letters Patent instituted during the year :—

(c) These figures include one appeal from Rangoon.
(d) Besides these, an appeal was preferred under the Letters Patent against an order of a Judge rejecting an application for leave to prefer an appeal to the Privy Council.

Result of Appeals. See Table Z.

Forty-nine appeals from original decrees, 581 appeals from appellate decrees, and 48 miscellaneous appeals, did not come to a hearing, having been either summarily rejected, dismissed in default, withdrawn, or compromised.

The details are as follows :—

	Appeals from original decrees.	Appeals from appellate decrees.	Miscellaneous appeals.
Summarily rejected		522	41
Dismissed in default	27	19	4
Withdrawn	4	19	2
Compromised	18	21	1

The result of appeal, as affecting the decisions of the Lower Courts in the cases decided on trial, is shown in the following table :—

Affirmed	161	1,470	218
Reversed	57	277	46
Varied	24	32	11
Remanded	36	257	34

The ratio of cases in which the decisions of the Lower Courts were reversed or varied was 29·1 per cent. in appeals from original decrees, 15·1 per cent. in appeals from appellate decrees, and 18·4 per cent. in miscellaneous appeals.

The following table shows the result of appeals decided by the High Court as affecting District and Subordinate Judges :—

The proportion of cases in which orders of remand were passed, or in which the Lower Court was directed to take further evidence, to the number decided by the High Court after a hearing, is given in the margin, and shows, on comparison with the figures for 1880, a considerable increase in respect of appeals from original decrees and miscellaneous appeals, and a slight decrease in respect of appeals from appellate decrees. Cases so dealt with amounted to 12·4 per cent. of the whole number in the past, as compared with 12·6 per cent. in the previous, year. These cases related principally to the districts of Patna, Bhaugulpore, Sarun, Jessore and Shahabad.

Of 1,218 cases filed in the past 19½ years, 584 were struck off, compromised, &c., and 601 were despatched to England. Thirty-three cases were pending preparation and despatch to England at the close of 1881.

The following table shows the result of appeals to the Privy Council in which the judgments on appeal have been received during the past six years.

Besides the cases here entered as disposed of in 1881, one appeal was dismissed for want of prosecution:—

V.—APPELLATE COURTS UNDER THE HIGH COURT.

Appeals instituted. See Table J.

	Instituted.	Disposed of.	Pending.
1879	19,479	19,486	10,771
1880	19,529	17,559	13,113
1881	19,792	18,579	14,840

The above figures show a slight increase (263 cases) in the total number of appeals preferred during the past year as compared with 1880. Taking each district separately, the increase or decrease (as the case may be) was most marked in the districts noted on the margin. These results are mainly attributable to the fluctuation in the number of original suits; but the District Judge of Hooghly, in which district the number of appeals filed in 1881 was only 43 less than the number filed in 1880, reports that the people in the district are now beginning to understand that an appeal is a waste of money. "Formerly," he writes, "appeals were instituted almost as of course, either from sheer love of litigation and dependence upon the uncertainty of the law, or in order to stave off, if only for a time, execution of the decree of first instance. Now, however, that an appeal has to undergo the preliminary ordeal of a hearing under Section 551, C. C. P., which procedure is strictly administered, appeals are made, for the most part, only when there are good grounds for the making of them."

The increase in Midnapore is explained by the institution by Government of a large number of rent-suits in this district; in the great majority of these, appeals were lodged against the orders of the Lower Court.

The number of appeals decided in the past year was considerably in excess of the number decided in the previous year; but it did not cover the influx. As a necessary consequence, the accumulation on the pending files has increased by 1,697 cases. This increase was most conspicuous in the following districts:—

	Increase.
Midnapore	552
Shahabad	478
Chittagong	376
Mymensingh	336
Tirhoot	216

The files at Hooghly were, on the other hand, reduced by 271, and those of Gya by 236 cases.

From the figures given in Table K it will be observed that the number of decisions in Courts in the interior, in which an appeal lay to the District Court, in the past year, was 77,985, as compared with 74,826 in 1880. The ratio of appeals to decisions was, therefore, 25·2 per cent., as compared with 26·09 per cent. for the previous year. The percentage was highest in the districts named on the margin. It will be observed that the relative position of Patna, Sarun and Tirhoot in the past year was exactly the same as in 1880. Ratio of appeals to decisions. See Table K.

	Percentage.
Patna	55·26
Sarun	47·40
Gya	43·57
Shahabad	42·94
Tirhoot	38·15

The following figures shew for each of the two past years the number of appeals filed under each of the three chief classes :— Appeals classed. See Table L.

	In suits for money or moveables.	In suits under the rent law.	In title and other suits.
1880	3,769	8,387	7,373
1881	3,625	8,564	7,603

The increase in the institution of appeals was, therefore, entirely in respect of appeals in suits under the rent law and in "Title and other suits."

The value of appeals of each of these three classes instituted in 1880 and 1881 is shewn in the following statement :— Appeals valued. See Table M.

	In suits for money or moveables.	In suits under the rent law.	In title and other suits.
	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.

1881	6,62,881	6,40,389	14,14,793

The total value of appeals filed was thus Rs. 27,18,063 in 1881, as compared with Rs. 27,78,271 in 1880, shewing a decrease of Rs. 60,208, wholly in respect of appeals in "Title and other suits."

The following table gives details of the value of appeals filed in the past year in the Civil Courts :—

Scale of Values.	Number of Appeals. In suits for money or moveables.	In suits under the rent law.	In title and other suits.	Total.
Not exceeding Rs. 10	162	2,127	1,024	3,313

Out of 19,792 appeals, the District and Subordinate Judges were both competent to try 19,311 or 97·6 per cent. In the remainder, i. e., 481 cases, or in 2·4 per cent., the appeal lay only to the District Judge, the Court of first instance being the Subordinate Judge. In 18,579 appeals a second appeal lay to the High Court, under the provisions, either of Section 102 of the Rent Law, or of Section 584 of the Code of Civil Procedure. But in many of these cases no second appeal could be preferred, as the decisions dealt merely with matters of fact.

Appeals how disposed of. See Table N.

The following statement shows the result of appeals in the past two years as affecting the decisions of the Lower Courts :—

	Confirmed.	Modified.	Reversed.	Remanded.	Otherwise disposed of.
1880	10,402	1,760	3,708	597	1,092
1881	11,003	1,913	3,594	638	1,431

There was accordingly an increase under each head, with the exception of the head "Reversed." The proportion of cases, in which the orders of the Courts of first instance were upheld, was almost similar to that obtained in 1880, being a little over 59 per cent.

	1879.	1880.	1881.
Confirmed	61·86	59·24	59·22
Modified	9·05	10·02	10·29
Reversed	20·02	21·11	19·34
Remanded	3·36	3·34	3·43

The proportion of cases, in which the decision of the first Court was upheld, was favourable in Purneah, where it was nearly 75 per cent.; in Moorshedabad and Dinagepore, where it was nearly 70 per cent.; and in the 24-Pergunnahs, Dacca and Gya, where it was a little over 65 per cent. The proportion was very small in Patna (37·6 per cent.), and Rajshahye (42·6 per cent.)

Appeals in miscellaneous cases. See Table O.

The number of appeals in miscellaneous cases instituted, disposed of and pending during the past two years was as follows :—

	Instituted.	Disposed of.	Pending.
1880	1,193	1,429	472
1881	1,143	1,248	388

There was thus a sight decrease in the number of appeals of this class instituted in 1881. This decrease was most striking in the districts of Chittagong, Patna and the 24-Pergunnahs. On the other hand, there was a considerable increase (107) in Tirhoot. This increase is attributed to the fact that a large number of analogous appeals, relating to determination of mesne profits in execution of decrees, was filed during 1881.

VI—GENERAL AND ADMINISTRATIVE.

	Days.		Original suits.	Miscellaneous cases.	Regular appeals.	Miscellaneous appeals.	Sessions trials.	Criminal appeals.
	Civil.	Criminal.
1878 . . .	4,284	2,742	130	8,670	8,025	1,435	1,410	2,801
1879 . . .	4,229	2,972	231	6,733	7,529	1,205	1,404	2,770

There was a slight diminution in the number of Sessions trials held in the past year; but the number of criminal appeals decided during that period is considerably in excess of the number decided in 1880. On the civil side there was a decrease in the amount of appellate work dealt with by District Judges; who, on the other hand, disposed of a larger number of original suits. The amount of civil work done by the District Judge of Gya was less in 1881 than in 1880; but this was owing, as pointed out elsewhere, to the trial of the Ticcari Raj case, which occupied a great deal of the Judge's time.

There was a slight variation in the number of District and Sessions Judges in the course of the year under report. The districts of East and West Burdwan, which were amalgamated in 1880, were again disintegrated in 1881; they are now, respectively, called the districts of Burdwan and Bankura. The Additional Judge, who was employed in 1880 in the former district, has now been appointed District and Assistant Sessions Judge of Bankura.

The following statement shows the amount of work, civil and criminal, done by Additional Judges during the past four years :—

	Days.		Original suits.	Miscellaneous cases.	Regular appeals.	Miscellaneous appeals.	Sessions trials.	Criminal appeals.
	Civil.	Criminal.
1878 . . .	463	300	13	491	688	74	252	184
1879 . . .	401	311	8	491	639	115	278	41
1880 . . .	275	198	6	154	517	74	133	...
1881 . . .	248	165	...	107	507	36	139	59

The decrease in the amount of work done by Additional Judges is mainly due to the abolition during 1880 of the Additional Judgeship of Chittagong, and to the appointment of the Additional Judge of Burdwan to the District Judgeship of Bankura.

The amount of work done by Subordinate Judges during the past four years was as follows:— Work done by Subordinate Judges. See Table P3.

	Original suits.	Miscellaneous cases.	Appeals.
			Regular.	Miscellaneous.
1878	5,889	12,211	1,0748	59
1879	5,783	7,924	11,318	88
1880	5,147	7,427	9,267	65
1881	5,113	6,128	10,466	27

The miscellaneous appeals were heard by the Deputy Commissioners, who are also Subordinate Judges in Chota Nagpore.

In Cuttack the Subordinate Judge is vested with the powers of a Munsif, and under these powers he disposed of only one case. The Subordinate Judge of Dinagepore holds similar powers in that district, and the work dealt with by him in this capacity is exhibited separately in Table P4. In Purneah the Subordinate Judge is vested with the powers of a Judge of a Small Cause Court for the trial of cases cognizable by such Courts to the limit of Rs. 50 in value. There were 37 Subordinate Judges (inclusive of Deputy Commissioners) and 13 Small Cause Court Judges vested with the powers of a Subordinate Judge employed at the close of 1881. At the close of 1880 there were employed 33* of the former class of officers and 12 of the latter. The five Additional Subordinate Judges employed at the close of 1881 were attached to the districts of Hooghly, Burdwan, Shahabad, Rungpore and Hazareebagh.

* The Deputy Commissioner of Julpigoree was incorrectly omitted from the return for 1880.

Work done by Munsifs. See Table P4.

The following figures show the number of suits and miscellaneous cases disposed of by Munsifs during the past three years—

	Suits under ordinary procedure.		Under Small Cause Court procedure.		Total.	Miscellaneous Cases.
	Contested.	Uncontested.	Contested.	Uncontested.
1879 . . .	73,928	197,698	5,827	28,910	306,363	171,255
1880 . . .	77,055	207,183	6,084	31,730	322,052	179,411
1881 . . .	79,117	203,006	7,345	39,993	329,461	148,958

The number of Munsifs employed at the close of 1881 was 5 more than at the close of 1880. Besides the ordinary Munsifs employed at the close of the past year, there were 3 Assistant Commissioners of Chota Nagpore vested with the powers of a Munsif, and 4 Covenanted Civil Servants, who, under the scheme referred to in the beginning of this Report, were vested with similar powers. Of the latter, only 3 exercised these special powers during the year, and the amount of work done by them is given below :—

The following Munsifs disposed of the largest number of original suits and contested cases during the past year :—

„ of Modheypoora . .	3,194	„	of Chandpore . .	810
1st „ of Cuttack . . .	3,092	„	of Jhenidah . . .	799

This statement is, however, of little practical value; for it does not at all follow that an officer whose numerical outturn of work is large was really burdened with more work than his fellows. A number of analogous cases, all disposed of in one judgment, would contribute to swell the total opposite his name.

Receipts and Charges of the Civil Courts. See Tables R. & S.

Including the High Court and the Presidency Small Cause Court, the receipts and charges of the Civil Courts in the past year were as shown in the margin. The general financial result is a surplus of Rs. 27,70,549.

	Rs.
Receipts	71,23,556
Charges	43,53,007
	27,70,549

Taking the Courts at the Presidency separately, there is an excess of charges over receipts amounting to Rs. 2,12,921. The details are as follows :— Courts at the Presidency.

Receipts.		Rs.	Charges.		Rs.
In stamps	Process fees	2,76,683	Salaries of Judicial Officers		5,93,167

Courts in the interior.

	Rs.
Receipts	61,66,149
Charges	31,82,679
	29,83,470

Taking the Civil Courts in the interior separately, the nett financial result for the past year was a surplus of Rs. 29,83,470, as shown in the margin.

Deducting the charges on account of process-servers, who are paid by regular salaries amounting in the aggregate to Rs. 6,10,077 for 1881, the account for the last three years may be thus stated :—

	Receipts.	Charges.	Surplus.
	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
1879	55,27,938	23,43,172	31,84,766
1880	56,00,975	23,93,616	32,07,359
1881	55,56,072	25,72,602	29,83,470

It thus appears that the surplus of 1881 fell short of that of 1880 by Rs. 2,23,889. This falling-off is attributable mainly to the great diminution in the number of "title and other suits" instituted in the past year, and in the value of the property involved in such suits.

The following statement gives, separately and in detail, the receipts and charges of the Civil Courts in the interior in the past year :—

Receipts.		Rs.	Charges.		Rs.
			Salaries of Judicial Officers		15,70,941
In stamps	Process fees	16,48,968	Establishment — Process-servers		6,10,077

In cash or special stamps.	Fines	11,027	Establishment — Others		7,16,037
	Copying and comparing fees	3,03,857	Contingencies — Fees paid to copyists not on the fixed establishment		1,54,361
	Other receipts	86,769	Contingencies — Other contingencies and refunds		1,19,802
	TOTAL	61,66,149	TOTAL		31,82,679

Deducting the cost of process-servers and of copying and comparing clerks (inclusive of the copyists not on the fixed establishment), the nett receipts from stamps amounted to Rs. 52,92,454. Under the head of process-fees separately, the nett gain to Government in the past year was Rs. 10,38,891, as compared with Rs. 10,81,323 gained in the previous year.

The following figures show the results, during the past year, of the system of preparing copies, introduced in 1880:—

		Rs.
Copying and comparing fees realized by special stamps . . .		3,03,857

Fees paid to copyists not on the fixed establishment .	1,54,361

Besides this surplus, amounting to Rs. 1,38,035, "expedition fees" were, in many cases, realized from parties desirous of having their copies prepared on the day on which application for them was made. These receipts are now treated in the accounts as "Miscellaneous Receipts."

The following statement shews the receipts and charges of the several grades of Courts in the past year, and the surplus or deficit which has resulted:—

As in 1880, the receipts have largely exceeded the expenditure in every grade of Court in the mofussil, except in the Courts of District Judges. It does not, however, follow that a District Judge's Court is a source of pure loss to Government. Very few original suits are filed in his Court; as, under the law at present in force, such suits require to be instituted in the Court of the lowest grade competent to hear them. They are, therefore, instituted in the Courts of Subordinate Judges, and to their credit is shown the amount realized by Court fees, &c., although, ultimately, the cases themselves may be decided by the District Judges.

The results of the past year, as compared with those obtained in 1880, were not so favourable in any Court, except in the Courts of Small Causes in the mofussil and at the Presidency; the surplus obtained by the mofussil Small Cause Courts being Rs. 12,625, and that by the Presidency Small Cause Court Rs. 6,429, in excess of the surplus obtained in 1880. On the Appellate side of the High Court there was a deficit of Rs. 28,086 in excess of that of the previous year. In the Original side of the High Court the receipts exceeded the expenditure by Rs. 1,77,843 in the past, as compared with Rs. 1,68,773 in the previous, year.

As fees on probate and letters of administration, Rs. 3,16,134 were realized in the past, as compared with Rs. 2,95,485 in the previous, year. The amount levied in the District Courts was Rs. 91,870 in 1881, as compared with Rs. 1,22,318 in 1880. In the High Court, omitting cases in which the assets were exclusively in the Province of Assam, the amount of duty realized was Rs. 2,24,264, as compared with Rs. 1,73,167 in 1880.

The sums here exhibited are treated in account as receipts of the Civil Courts. Deducting these, the surplus or nett revenue realized from such Courts was, in the past year, Rs. 24,54,415.

The receipts and disbursements on account of Civil Court Ameens, during 1880 and 1881, were as follows:— Civil Courts Ameens. See Table U.

		Receipts.	Disbursements.
		Rs.	Rs.
1880	Permanent Ameens	35,167	34,585
	Temporary „	2,717	2,651
1881	Permanent Ameens	33,397	34,167
	Temporary „	4,501	4,029

The result for the past year was a loss to Government of Rs. 298, as compared with a surplus of Rs. 648 in 1880. The districts where the receipts fell considerably short of the expenditure were Rungpore, Chota Nagpore, Shahabad, Beerbhoom and Chittagong. In Chota Nagpore, however, this result was mainly due to the fact that, while the receipts on account of the employment of ameens by the Revenue Courts were debited to the Revenue Department, the portion of their salary for the time thus occupied was debited to the Civil Department. On the recommendation of the Court, instructions have been issued by Government directing all officers in the Revenue Department who may employ Civil Court ameens to pay into the Civil Courts the fees chargeable on their account.

The number of cases in which local investigations were held and completed last year was 1,430. The number held and completed in 1880 was 1,670. The decrease in the past year was in respect of cases of all values, except cases where the value of the property in litigation varied between Rs. 5 and Rs. 20. The number of investigations held in the latter class of cases rose from 194 in 1880 to 209 in 1881. Local investigations. See Table V.

The average value involved in the suits in which the investigation was made was Rs. 859·9, and the average cost Rs. 33. The corresponding figures for 1880 were Rs. 759·4 and Rs. 30, respectively.

The following statement exhibits the number of applications for a declaration of insolvency filed, disposed of and pending in 1880 and 1881:— Proceedings in Insolvency. See Table W.

1880	275	256	63
1881	319	298	84

It will be observed that applications for insolvency are increasing steadily year by year. The increase last year was, however, not so great as it was in 1880, when the number filed exceeded by 89 the number filed in 1879. Such applications were most numerous in the following districts:—

	Filed in 1880.	Filed in 1881.
Patna	26	26
Hooghly	22	22
Dacca	23	21
Midnapore	17	18

The districts in which applications were least numerous were as follows:—

	Filed in 1880.	Filed in 1881.
Purneah	5	2
Cuttack	4	4
Furreedpore	4	4
Shahabad	5	4
Rajshahye	3	5
Rungpore	11	5
Chota Nagpore	5	6

No decree-holder availed himself, during 1881, of the provisions of Section 344, Act X of 1877, as amended by Section 59 of Act XII of 1879, under which he could apply that his judgment-debtor be declared an insolvent.

The provisions of Chapter XX of the Code of Civil Procedure, which relate to insolvency, have for some time been under the consideration of the Court. In the report for 1880 the Judges proposed to review the law in this respect at the close of the year now under report. District officers were accordingly requested to communicate their views on the subject when submitting their usual annual reports for the year. The following extracts will show in what manner the provisions of this chapter of the Code have been applied in the several districts named :—

Backergunge.—"The insolvency provisions are, there is reason to think, unsuited to Eastern Bengal, especially to this part of it.

"The ryots are a well-to-do class owing to the immense sums of money poured into this quarter, for about six years past, to purchase rice.

"In other parts of India the scheme may be beneficial.

"Here hardly a single person can be found who is bonâ fide an insolvent; and if there be any such, he is probably too poor to avail himself of the machinery of the District Court.

"Again, a Bengali decree-holder is too sage to throw good money after bad, or to try to draw blood from a stone; hence the really poor man is seldom forced into the Insolvent Court.

"In about four years' experience of the Insolvency Chapter I have usually found that the persons availing themselves of the procedure are only judgment-debtors who desire to defeat their judgment-creditors."

Beerbhoom.—"As the practice at present prevails, a full fee is charged for notice to each and every judgment-debtor in an execution case. This charge undoubtedly falls heavily upon judgment-debtors who have ultimately to pay it. The case operates with greater hardship on an applicant for insolvency, a full fee being levied from him for a notice to each creditor. I am perfectly aware that, generally speaking, the creditors live at distances from each other, and that, in consideration of such fact, separate fees are charged; but it appears to me that this is hardly a sufficient ground for the imposition of separate fees, more especially as there is a large surplus, after defraying the expenses, connected with the working of the Process-serving Establishment; and I think some concession might with advantage be made in the interests of both judgment-debtors and insolvents; and I would suggest that the rules as to the rates of fees charged for summons to defendants be extended to these notices."

Bhaugulpore.—"The applications under this Chapter are few; and it generally happens that, shortly after they are made, the applicant is set at liberty without any further interference. As pointed out in my last year's report, the fees required from the alleged insolvent for the service of notices upon his creditors should be removed or reduced. When the man is really insolvent, he often has difficulty in getting the money to meet those fees."

Burdwan.—"As very few judgment-debtors are declared insolvent under the present law, it does little injury to decree-holders, and I see no necessity for amending it."

Bankura.—"There were 9 applications for insolvency during the year, of which 2 were refused and 5 allowed. There was no application made before arrest. I doubt whether the people are aware that such applications can be made the moment an order for attachment of property is made.

"I consider it will be better to change the law on the subject, so as to enable the Court executing the decree to deal with such applications, with an appeal to the District Court."

Chittagong.—"Nine applications have been made during the past year, against 7 in the previous year. Of 8 applications disposed of, 1 was withdrawn, 3 were granted and 4 rejected. The number of cases appears too small to support any conclusion as to the probable working of the Act in future. My impression is that the provisions of the law have not been invoked by persons able to discharge their obligations; but in the majority of the cases, namely, 4 out of 7, it seemed to me that the applicants had acted in bad faith, in endeavouring to save from surrender a portion of what they had. There have been, however, no cases so glaring as to call for a prosecution.

"The aggregate amount of property surrendered has been extremely small, averaging 26 Rupees only for each person declared insolvent."

Dacca.—"I have nothing very special to report about the working of Chapter XX of Act X of 1877 during the past year. The number of applications to be declared insolvent was the same in 1881 as in 1880, viz., 21.

"A few of these applications have been fraudulent. In particular, an Armenian gentleman, who is well known to have made over his property benami to his sons, on being arrested at the instance of one of his creditors, at once applied to be declared an insolvent. But his object was, apparently, only to gain time to make an arrangement with his creditors; for he soon satisfied the decree against him, which was for upwards of Rs. 7,000; and then he withdrew his application to be declared an insolvent. I passed a sentence of imprisonment on 1 applicant for insolvency, as he was found to have made over his house benami to his daughter. But he has absconded and evaded arrest up to date.

"The provisions of Chapter XX of Act X of 1877 are not more generally availed of, because they give the debtor only freedom from personal arrest. They do not free him and his property from all further demands. If this were the case, the number of applications for insolvency would be very much greater. At present for the most part only judgment-debtors who have been arrested at the instance of their creditors, and who have really no property, apply to be declared insolvents. For these, the provisions of Chapter XX of Act X are no doubt a great boon. Dacca is no doubt a considerable commercial centre; but nevertheless the time has not yet come, I think, for extending the provisions of the English Insolvency Act to the mofussil."

Hooghly.—"There were presented during the year under review 22 applications for declaration of insolvency under Chapter XX of the Civil Procedure Code; 13 were remaining over from the year previous; so there were altogether 35 under trial during the year. Eight of these were withdrawn, or otherwise not prosecuted; 6 were granted; and 2 rejected without penal proceedings being taken against the applicants; leaving 19 pending adjudication at the close of the year. None of the persons declared to be insolvents had property enough to require the services of receivers; in fact, most had little or nothing. Those who possessed property compounded with their creditors and withdrew their petitions. Two of the 6 declared to be insolvents were Europeans or Eurasians. There is, of course, a tendency on the part of fraudulent debtors to take advantage of this procedure in order to free themselves of their liabilities. In very few cases, I am convinced, is a true schedule of property given. It is, however, difficult to prove that property has been concealed. Cases under this procedure are some of the most unsatisfactory that a Judge has to try."

Midnapore.—"I think that Chapter XX of the Civil Procedure Code is unsuited to the mofussil. I think that Section 344, which requires all applications in insolvency to be made in the District Court, causes difficulties which well might be avoided. In the District Court pleaders' fees are higher and process-fees are double of those in the Munsifs' Courts. I have rarely met with an instance of an insolvent's estate more than meeting the costs of the issue of notices and other charges. The collected returns printed in the High Court Civil Administration Reports show that very few applications under Chapter XX are made in any part of the mofussil. I am not in possession of the reasons which induced the Legislature to substitute Chapter XX of Act X of 1877 for the procedure laid down in sections 280-281 of Act VIII of 1859. I think that it would be better to revert to that procedure; but, if it is considered advisable to retain Chapter XX of Act X of 1877, it would be well to give Munsifs jurisdiction in all cases where the sum of the debts of the petitioner does not exceed Rs. 1,000."

Moorshedabad.—"There has been no instance of an application by a creditor, presumably because they see no advantage.

"In 1881 there were 12 applications by debtors: 7 in consequence of arrest, and 5 in consequence of attachment. In all, the debts were below Rs. 1,000, except in 2 cases.

"Practically, the feeling of creditors is against imprisonment, except where it is believed the debtor has concealed property. I may remark, however, that the difficulties thrown in the way of creditors by the orders requiring affidavits, search, and so on, have, I think, increased proceedings by arrest rather than attachment in the case of debtors of small means.

"There are two classes of cases,—those in which a receiver is appointed and those in which no receiver is appointed. The provisions, as they stand, seem too limited, and don't work practically. For instance, in case the insolvent, after appointment of a receiver, plays tricks, there is no clear procedure to enforce the receiver's proceedings, and remunerate him for his work.

"Where there is no receiver, the Court after the discharge order has no summary power to take possession or compel delivery of the property offered in the application, and cannot apply the assets to the benefit of creditors equally. The actual result in the past year is that, subsequent to the discharge order, there have been no further proceedings, the scheduled assets remaining with the insolvent.

"In one case only, out of the total 12, a receiver was appointed, and in that he realized about Rs. 2,000 and was paid 5 per cent.

"Parties cannot obtain relief to the extent afforded by the Presidency Town Insolvency Act, and, therefore, in important cases, try to apply under that.

"In point of fact, the mufussil District Court effectively can only grant or refuse protection. It is found usually best to stop there, because, even in case of proof under Section 359, of which I have not seen any indubitable instance, a sentence of imprisonment at once defeats the arresting creditor.

"In one case of this nature, where the Court abstained from proceeding, the debtor satisfied the debt rather than go back to jail.

"The provisions of the law require to be enlarged so as to give complete powers. But first the question of abolition of imprisonment for debt must be decided, because, if it be abolished, any provisions in insolvency in the mofussil will be useless.

"Experience hitherto indicates that, in a district of this character, insolvency procedure is not much called for, because creditors and bonâ fide debtors don't work such provisions as exist."

Mymensingh.—"The provisions of Chapter XX of the Civil Procedure Code are salutary. They are an improvement on the provisions contained in Act VIII of 1859, and allow the creditors a fair chance of realizing a portion of their dues by disposing of their debtor's property rateably. The increase, from seven cases in 1880 to ten in 1881, seems to show a growing inclination on the part of the public to avail themselves of the present provisions.

"In one respect the provisions of Act VIII appear to me better than those of the present law. They empowered the Court executing the decree to receive applications from judgment-debtors for their discharge; whereas now all applications must be made to the District Court.

"Poor debtors find a difficulty in paying notice fees when there are several creditors.

"I do not think the imprisonment provisions of the present law are ever unduly pressed against debtors. They are of great utility in compelling persons, who can pay but won't, and whose natural dishonesty would otherwise materially interfere with ordinary trade transactions in the interior of Bengal.

"Only four applications for the declaration of insolvency, out of the 11 that were in the file, were granted during the course of last year. In one of these four cases the property was sold by auction and fetched Rs. 10-8, which is now in deposit. The liabilities amounted to Rs. 1,540-14 to nine creditors. The property in the remaining three cases is similarly of small value, and will not yield much to the creditors."

Nuddea.—"Most of the cases" [disposed of during the year] "were tried by the officers acting for me in my absence. From my own experience, I am inclined to think that such applications are not generally bonâ fide, and that they require most careful watching by the Court."

Patna.—"I have little to add to my remarks of last year. I still consider that the procedure is unsatisfactory. Applications are only made by judgment-debtors; and their sole object seems to be to be released from jail. They never put property of any value at the disposal of the Court; and yet the Court can seldom feel satisfied that the statements in the application are substantially true, and that the petitioner is entitled to his discharge. I do not think that the law can remain in its present state. Either the jurisdiction of the other Courts should be extended, so that each Court can deal with its own judgment-debtor, or the Judge's power should be increased, so that he can deal with all cases of insolvency, and not only with judgment-debtors'. When the insolvent is a judgment-debtor I think that the Court which passed the decree, and granted execution, is best qualified to decide if his application for discharge should be granted. The District Judge knows less about the facts, and the machinery of his Court is more expensive. The fees for processes are higher; and if the Lower Court was a Munsif's Court, and only second grade pleaders were employed, then the parties have to engage new pleaders.

"On the other hand, traders and others, who wish to be declared insolvent, but against whom decrees have not passed, have still to go down to Calcutta. Thus, when an European merchant, who had resided here for years, and carried on business in Patna, failed last year, he went secretly to Calcutta, and hid there for some weeks till he acquired a residence and could apply to the High Court. He got his discharge there; but the proceedings must have been much more expensive to the estate than if they had been conducted here. I have not found any instance yet of traders or shop-keepers taking advantage of Chapter XX from honest motives.

"Section 336 seems to me calculated to paralyse the action of the Lower Courts; for under it they must release a judgment-debtor who says he will apply to be made an insolvent, and can furnish security for his appearance.

"Many a man, who used to pay up rather than go to jail, now does not do so; as, by saying that he is going to apply, &c., he gets a month's respite. The evil, too, is that, under the present law and rules of the High Court, the realization of decrees by the attachment and sale of property, moveable or immoveable, is so slow, expensive and uncertain, that decree-holders are driven to make more use of the power of arrest than formerly. Act X of 1877, by its tenderness for debtors' property, has led to the filling of our civil jails; for more men are now arrested and imprisoned than used to be the case. If the working of the insolvency law, and the Notification* of Government under Section 336, render this last resource of the decree-holder ineffectual, and if he be not indemnified by additional facilities under the attachment and sale sections, his chances of getting his money will be very small indeed."

* Vide Calcutta Gazette of the 6th August 1879, Part I, page 809.

Purneah.—"The sections of the Code dealing with such matters are but ill-suited to the cases which arise in outlying Districts like Purneah. Applications under them are only made to avoid incarceration; and, as a rule, the applicant professes not to have money enough of his own to pay for the issue of notices on his creditors. Further, cases are so few, and the amount realized is so small, that it is impossible to find a receiver (other than a paid officer of the Court) willing to administer an insolvent's estate for the remuneration allowed under the amended Section 356 of the Civil Procedure Code."

Rajshahye.—"Chapter XX of Act X of 1877, relating to insolvency, has hardly been used by the people, either in this district or in the district of Maldah. During the year 1881 only 5 cases were instituted; and out of these, 3 cases were compromised, one case only was decided on its merits, and the case shown as pending at the end of the year has since been struck off for default on the part of the insolvent to appear."

Sarun.—"I have again to report that the provisions of the law relating to insolvency have not worked satisfactorily in the district; 8 applications were filed during the year, all of which were rejected. There was no bonâ fide endeavour to effect among the creditors, through the Court, a division of the whole of the property remaining in the hands of the judgment-debtor. As a rule, the schedules of property attached to insolvency applications contain an ostentatiously minute list of cooking utensils, of clothes and similar rubbish; but there is no mention of any property which would be worth putting at the disposal of the Court. No applications were made by any of the creditors, under Section 359, Act X of 1877, for the punishment of the applicants; and no case occurred that appeared to me sufficiently bad to justify me in sending the applicant to the Magistrate. I venture to think it unnecessary and inexpedient that it should be suggested to every judgment-debtor, arrested in execution of a money decree, that he should apply to be declared an insolvent under the proviso to Section 336, Act X, 1877; and that he should be at once released on security on expressing his intention of doing so. In many cases, when he has once obtained his temporary release, he has got all that he wants for the time, and his subsequent application to be declared an insolvent is a mere matter of form; or, if it is anything more, it is made with the object of defrauding his creditors."

Tipperah.—"It would, I think, be well if all Munsifs were vested with the powers of a District Judge in insolvency matters (Section 360 of the Civil Procedure Code). If a Munsif is capable of trying and passing a decree in a suit, it seems to follow that he is also capable of adjudicating the judgment-debtor an insolvent. These proceedings are generally of the simplest and pettiest nature, and the time of a highly paid officer like the District Judge ought not to be taken up with them. The petitioner has hardly any property to place at the disposal of the Court, the schedule generally assigning a few annas only to each creditor. I think each Court of every grade ought to have insolvency jurisdiction in every case, when the decree giving rise to the application has been passed by such Court.

"Considering the petty nature of most of the insolvency cases, the fees for notices to creditors are too high; if Munsifs were vested with powers under Section 360, the cost of such notices would be reduced to a more equitable scale."

Tirhoot.—"Only 18 applications under this Chapter came before the District Judge during the year under review. Of these, 5 were not prosecuted, 7 were granted, 2 were refused and 4 were pending at the close of the year. In 6 out of the 7 applications granted, the applicants were found to have no property at all beyond absolute necessaries; and, in one case, the applicant had only a share in a small house, which was sold for the sum of Rs. 5-8. In all these 7 cases, the Judge found that the applications were bonâ fide, and that the applicants, either through illness, misfortune or other causes, had become involved in debt which they had no means to pay. In 3 out of the 4 cases pending at the close of the year, the applicants have since been declared insolvents, and discharged as having no property. In 2 applications which were rejected, I found that they were not bonâ fide, and that there were good grounds for thinking that the applicants were attempting to conceal their property, with a view to defraud their creditors. In 1880, 2 young men (brothers) of Mozufferpore applied to be declared insolvents, who, the evidence clearly showed, had recklessly borrowed money, without any prospect of paying it, for purposes of debauchery and dissipation, and their applications were, therefore, rejected.

"It thus appears that the number of applications under chapter XX is small, and that they are filed mostly by persons who are absolute paupers. In only one case, in which the value of the property was insignificant, was a receiver appointed; and no application has yet been made by a decree-holder under para. 2 of Section 344. The fact that the provisions of the law, being new, are not yet fully understood and appreciated by the majority of the people, may account for the small number of applications hitherto filed; and the fact that, in the majority of execution cases, the judgment-debtors possess property of some kind or other which can be attached and sold, may account for most of the applications being made by judgment-debtors who possess no property at all. That the introduction of the insolvency law into the mofussil is a move in the right direction, I see no reason to doubt; as it affords a safe protection from imprisonment for debt to honest judgment-debtors who have no intention of defrauding their creditors; and as regards attempts on the part of dishonest judgment-debtors to obtain relief under the law, the procedure prescribed is, I think, sufficiently stringent to frustrate them. The provisions of the law might be extended to all judgment-debtors, whether they have been arrested, or whether their property has been attached in execution, or not, although this extension would probably greatly increase the work of the District Judges."

Chota Nagpore—"The insolvency sections of the Code of Civil Procedure have been made use of to such a very limited extent, in the districts of this division, that it is hardly possible as yet to form any opinion on their working.

"During the year 1880 there were only 5 applications, appertaining to two out of the four districts, and 3 of these were rejected, while two were not proceeded with. And in the year under review it appears that there have been 6 such applications, appertaining to 2 districts, of which one was not proceeded with, 4 are shown as still pending, and one person as imprisoned under Section 359.

"The mass of the litigants in this part of the country are, I think, hardly yet acquainted with the provisions of the law in this respect; and, besides this, the operation of the Chota Nagpore Encumbered Estates Act probably accounts, in some measure, for the paucity of insolvency applications, inasmuch as the holders of all estates taken under this Act are protected from arrest."

On a consideration of the reports on this subject, which have been received from the various District Judges in Bengal, the Court is not inclined to relax any existing rules in favour of applicants in proceedings under the provisions of the Code which relate to insolvency.

The applications are very few in number; the majority of them are made with dishonest motives; and, in the opinion of the Judges, it would not be desirable to do anything to facilitate the endeavours of debtors, whose chief desire is to defraud their creditors.

Applications how disposed of.

Of the total number of applications before the Courts in the past year, 112 were granted, 85 were refused, 101 were not prosecuted, and 84 were pending at the close of the year.

Of the 112 applications which were granted, a receiver was appointed in 9 cases. In 9 of the 85 applications rejected, sentences of imprisonment were passed under Section 359 of the Code of Civil Procedure. In no case was an applicant sent to a Magistrate to be dealt with according to law.

Number of persons declared to be insolvent, discharged and pending.

See Table W. I.

The number of persons declared to be insolvents, the number who obtained their discharge, and the number who remained undischarged during each of the years 1880 and 1881, are given below:—

	Declared to be insolvent.	Discharged.	Pending.
1880	86	85	1
1881	113	110	4

The districts noted on the margin shew the largest number of persons declared to be insolvents. No such orders were made in Sarun or in Chota Nagpore. In each of the Districts of Cuttack, Dinagepore, Furreedpore, Midnapore, Pubna and Bogra, Rajshahye, Rungpore and Shahabad, only one person was declared to be insolvent.

Dacca	4	7

The estates of 16 insolvents, including those remaining unsettled at the close of 1880, were in the hands of receivers during 1881. The proceedings in 4 of these were finally closed during 1881, leaving 12 in the receivers' hands at the close of that year. The number of estates placed in the hands of receivers during each of the past two years was 6 and 9, respectively. The following statement shows the amount realized and disbursed, and the balance in the hands of such officers during each of the years 1880 and 1881:—

	Amount realized.	Amount disbursed.	Balance.

Nagri (Kaithi) character

In exercise of the powers vested in the Local Government by Section 645 of the Code, the exclusive use of Nágri (Kaithi) was enjoined in the following portions of the province, in lieu of the language known as Urdu, which had hitherto been the language of the Courts:—

Patna Division.—In all districts, from the 1st January 1881.

Bhagulpore Division.—In all districts, except Maldah and the Sonthal Pergunnahs, from the 1st January 1881.

Chota Nagpore Division.—In the districts of Lohardugga, Hazareebagh, and in the district of Singbhoom, except Pergunnah Dholbhoom, from the 1st July 1881.

Only 4 of the District Judges have mentioned this subject in their reports, viz., those of Bhaugulpore, Patna and Sarun, and the Judicial Commissioner of Chota Nagpore. In the last-named territory the change is stated to have met with the general approval of the people. In Bhaugulpore, it is reported, the officers are getting accustomed to the character, and are now beginning to read and write it with ease. As regards Patna, the proscription of Urdu is stated to be very unpopular with the Mahomedans, who, in the large town of Patna, are numerous and influential. The District Judge of Sarun reports as follows:—

"Perhaps the most important practical change in the working of the Behar Courts during the year under review was the substitution of the Kaithi character for the Persian character formerly in use. To prevent the change from being altogether sudden, I gradually introduced the use of the new character in my office, as well as in those of my subordinates, in the latter portion of the previous year. The change has worked smoothly on the whole. It has been the occasion of some loss of time; due, partly no doubt to the comparative inexperience of mohurrirs in the Kaithi, but also, in some degree, to the nature of the character itself, which it is physically impossible to write as fast as the Persian. The outturn of work, however, shows that it has not brought about the material hindrance to business that its opponents predicted."

The following extracts, relating to the effect of recent legislation on the working of the Courts, are selected from some of the district reports :— Recent Legislation.

Noakhally.—"The legislation of the last year has not had any effect on the mofussil Courts which calls for special remark.

"It is noticed that the people have not yet become acquainted with all the provisions of the Stamp Act I of 1879; for, following the old law, they still occasionally write their bonds for sums not exceeding Rs. 25 on a stamp of 2 annas; and hence, when the amount exceeds Rs. 10, they render themselves liable to penalty.

"Act IX (B. C.) of 1879 has had the effect of diminishing the rent suits in the Munsifi of Sundip.

"The Munsif of Sundip says regarding Act IX (B. C.) of 1879: 'From the claims that are often made, respecting cesses under Section 27 of this Act, it would appear that the people have not yet understood what they are required to prove: when they claim cesses for small revenue-paying estates, they claim the highest amount assessable under the law; but they adduce no evidence, and the result is the other party objects, and the Court has no option but to award the smallest amount assessable under the law.'"

Chota Nagpore.—"The Encumbered Estates' Act (VI of 1876), which commenced to operate in the year 1879, appears to have had the effect, as was anticipated, of diminishing the number of suits instituted.

"With respect to the local rent law, Act I (B. C.) of 1879, which is in force in 3 out of the 4 districts, although it would appear to have had the effect of reducing the number of institutions in the Lohardugga District, it has not, as a matter of fact, caused any diminution in the work, owing to the provisions of Section 39, which now enable the landlords to join a large number of their defaulting tenants in one and the same suit, and which are largely availed of."

Rungpore.—The following remarks are made by the Deputy Commissioner of Julpigoorce: "As regards the bearing of recent legislation on the trial of rent suits, I think it may now be regarded as an established fact that Act X of 1859, with all its imperfections, is so much preferred for the recovery of arrears of rent by at least the Manager of the Chaklajat Estate that Clause 7, Section 7 of Act VII (B. C.) of 1880, has become almost a dead-letter in this district, as the following figures will show.

"In the year 1880 there were 211 certificates issued for the recovery of arrears of rent due to the Chaklajat Estate as compared with none of the year under report.

"In June last the Manager of the Chaklajat Estate, in replying to a reference from the Board of Revenue on the subject, expressed himself to the effect that, for this district, Act X of 859 afforded a more expeditious means of recovering arrears of rent than the 'Recovery of Public Demands Act'; and, after making every allowance for the influence which this preference probably derived from the circumstance that the machinery of Act X and its working are thoroughly understood by the Manager's amla, while the provisions of Act VII of 1880 are practically unknown to them, I also think that of the 2 enactments it would be found, in practice, that Act X of 1859 really provides a more summary procedure than the Public Demands Act.

"On a close comparison of the so-called summary procedure of the latter Act, in respect of the recovery of arrears of rent, with the provisions of Act X of 1859, it will be found that, under both, the tenants have the same opportunities, and are allowed practically the same means, of contesting what to them may appear unlawful demands."

COURT ... DISTRICT ... OF BACKERGUNGE

REPORT

ON

IN

1882.

THE following Report on the Administration of Civil Justice in the Lower Provinces of Bengal in 1882 has been drawn up on the plan adopted in preparing the reports for previous years. The Statements appended to this report are similar in form to those appended to previous reports; but it was found necessary during the past year to modify some of the instructions issued by the High Court regarding the preparation of periodical returns. According to these more recent orders the classes of miscellaneous cases enumerated on the margin* are now exhibited in Annual Statement 5, Part II† and Table O†, instead of in Annual Statement 4, Part II‡ and Table I.‡ The necessity for these changes arose from the inconsistency of exhibiting in the same statement with miscellaneous cases of a judicial nature—which are dealt with by Courts in the exercise of Original Jurisdiction—cases which had to be dealt with only by officers exercising Appellate Jurisdiction; and from the discovery that some of the cases found no place at all in the returns as they stood.

* Applications to an Appellate Court to withdraw or transfer an appeal, Sec. 25, C. P. Code.
Applications for re-admission or re-hearing of an Appeal, Sections 558, 560, C. P. Code.
Applications for leave to appeal as a Pauper, Section 592 C. P. Code.
Applications for review of judgment, Section 623, C. P. Code.

† Statement and Table showing the number of Miscellaneous Appeals instituted, disposed of and pending.

‡ Statement and Table showing the number of miscellaneous cases (Judicial) instituted, disposed of and pending.

In the Report for 1881, allusion was made to the introduction, into this Province, of two schemes having for their object the more efficient administration of civil justice. As to the first of these, under which certain junior Covenanted Civilians were invested with the functions of a Subordinate Judge or of a Munsif, the Court anticipated a twelvemonth ago that the practical experience to be gained by these officers, in the conduct of a civil judicial trial, would fall short of the expectations of Government. A consideration of the special reports of all District Officers on this subject, dealing with the working of the scheme during the year 1882, has confirmed the Court in the belief that the system is of little, if any, practical value for the purpose of training young Covenanted Officers in this portion of their duties. As an aid to the ordinary Judicial staff of a district, their work in this direction has proved to be almost valueless. There can be little doubt that the system will have to be abandoned, and a better one, if possible, devised. The subject will be separately dealt with in a special communication to Government.

The second measure—that of setting apart certain selected officers for the trial of rent-suits and petty suits of the Small Cause Court class—appears to have met with considerable success. Special reports, relating to the year under review, have been received, and are now under the consideration of the Court. The scheme is one which seems to have secured the approval of the litigating public, and to have resulted in the more speedy disposal of the classes of suits towards which it was directed. Further experience has shown that the division of the work effected by the measure has resulted, in some instances in the "Rent-Suit Munsifs," in others in the "Land-Suit Munsifs," being overburdened with cases, according to the character of the litigation which prevails in the locality. But the inequality in the incidence of the work has been rectified wherever necessary; and, as a rule, the system may be said to work smoothly and with good results. This matter will also be specially dealt with by the Court in due course.

The re-organization of the Subordinate Judicial Service, which was effected during the year under report, is a matter the details of which are already known both to the Supreme and to the Local Governments. Its chief features are: an increase of 5 officers in the grades of Subordinate Judges, and of 11 officers in the grades of Munsifs; the abolition of the Rs. 700 grade of Subordinate Judges; the adoption of Rs. 200 as the minimum pay of a Munsif; and the redistribution of officers in the several grades in such a manner as, not only to give immediate promotion to a large number, but to secure a reasonable amount of rapidity in future promotions. It also recognizes the claims of officers to promotion by seniority, in the absence of special disabling circumstances, up to the first, or Rs. 400, grade of Munsifs; and requires that all promotions to any of the grades of Subordinate Judges should be based, partly on seniority, but chiefly on the merits of the individual. There can be no doubt that this reform, which is primarily due to the suggestions of Sir Ashley Eden, the late Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, has gone far to make the service popular, and to better the prospects of a very hard-working class of public officers. And the High Court expressed at the time its gratification that so much of the scheme, which was elaborated with the assistance of two of the Judges and of its Registrar, found favor with the Government of India.

ORIGINAL JURISDICTION.

I.—THE HIGH COURT.

Original suits.

The number of civil suits, including Divorce, Vice-Admiralty, Testamentary and Intestate (contentious) cases, pending on the Original Side of the High Court at the end of 1881, was 692; the number instituted during 1882 was 616; making a total of 1,308 cases for disposal during the year under report.

The suits instituted during 1882 may be classified thus:

7	Suits for possession of immovable property.
1	Suit for declaratory decrees.
6	Other suits under the Specific Relief Act.
34	Suits to declare and establish rights to real property, including pre-emption, foreclosure, &c.
31	Suits to declare and establish personal rights.
66	Suits for an account.
2	Suits relating to Religious endowments.
1	Suit to set aside judgments, contracts or obligations, on the ground of fraud.
4	Suits for dissolution of marriage (Divorce).
16	Suits for partition.
3	Suits relating to shipping (Vice-Admiralty).
4	Administration suits.
14	Suits for dissolution of partnership.
19	Suits under Section 261 of Act X of 1865.
17	Suits not falling under any of the previous heads.
391	Suits for specific money claims.
TOTAL . 616

The value of the property in litigation was Rs. 22,08,941 in the past as compared with Rs. 26,80,732 in the previous year.

	Disposed of.	Pending at the close of the year.
Original suits including Vice-Admiralty, Testamentary and Intestate (contentious) cases	584	708
Divorce suits	2	14
TOTAL . .	586	722

The number of suits disposed of in 1882 was 586, leaving 722 undetermined at the end of the year.

Of the suits disposed of—

102 were dismissed for default or want of prosecution.
46 were withdrawn with leave;
15 were determined by compromise;
53 were decreed on confession;
188 were decreed ex parte;
13 were decreed upon award;
135 cases were decreed; and
34 cases were dismissed.

There were also disposed of during the year 283 petitions for Probate and Letters of Administration, 1,846 interlocutory applications, including applications for an injunction, for the appointment of a Receiver, for the discovery of documents, &c., and 332 applications for execution. Interlocutory applications.

The number of references to take accounts, to make enquiries, to settle conveyances, &c., pending at the commencement of the year, was 142. The number of fresh references directed by the Court during the year was 205; making a total of 347. Of these, 24 were disposed of by a Judge in Chambers, 115 by the Registrar on the Original Side, and 14 by the Assistant Clerk. In 27 of the cases disposed of by the Registrar, that officer conducted the sale of property ordered to be sold otherwise than in the ordinary course of execution, after examining the title and settling the conditions of sale. Of the references to take accounts pending disposal at the close of 1882, 89 have not been prosecuted for a considerable time, and steps are being taken with a view to their being struck off as having been abandoned. References to take accounts.

In connection with the Registrar's quasi-judicial duties, it should be stated that that officer has during the year settled the proclamation of sale by the Sheriff, in the ordinary course of execution, in 20 cases, in 19 of which it was found necessary to examine witnesses. Proclamations under Section 287.

The number of appeals from the Original Side to the Appellate Side of the Court pending at the commencement of 1882 was 29, and the number filed during the year was 34, making a total of 63 for disposal. Of these, 6 were dismissed for default, and 3 uncontested and 28 contested cases were disposed of with the following results: The decree appealed from was affirmed in 2 and was modified in 1 of the uncontested cases, and was affirmed in 18, was modified in 6 and was reversed in 4 of the contested cases. Appeals from the Original Jurisdiction.

No references from the Calcutta Court of Small Causes were pending at the commencement of 1882, but twelve references from that Court were made during the year. Three of these were disposed of during the year, in all of which the judgments of the Court below were confirmed. References from the Calcutta Court of Small Causes.

The number of cases pending in the Insolvent Court at the commencement of the year was 210, and the number filed during the year was 127, making a total of 337 cases. Of these, 127 cases were disposed of during the year as follows: 5 cases were withdrawn, 15 cases were dismissed, and in 107 cases the insolvents obtained relief. Insolvent Cases.

Of the persons who sought relief in the cases disposed of, 65 were merchants, 14 were private persons who had once possessed independent means, and 48 were clerks employed in public and other offices.

There were also disposed of during the year, 72 applications for ad interim protection, and 968 miscellaneous applications. Orders.

It should be understood that, of the cases remaining undisposed of at the close of the year, 85 are cases which, though practically abandoned, it has been found necessary to retain in the list of pending cases—vide extract from the Judgment of White, J., on page 2 of the Court's Administration Report for 1878.

For the hearing of original suits, including interlocutory and other applications, two Judges sat separately and simultaneously for 217 days, and three Judges sat separately and simultaneously for 1 day. References to take accounts, &c., occupied one Judge for 25 days. The Insolvent Court occupied one Judge for 45 days. The appeals from the Original Side and the references from the Calcutta Small Cause Court occupied two Judges for 64 days. Judges' time occupied.

There were no appeals pending before the Privy Council at the commencement of 1882, and only one appeal was filed during the year. Appeals to the Privy Council.

The following is a statement of receipts and expenditure in the High Court, on its Original Side, during 1882:—

	Rs.	A.	P.
RECEIPTS.
Commission of the Accountant General	11,768	13	4
Ditto on sales by the Registrar	8,662	0	6
Fines realized	130	0	0
Other fees realized by means of stamps	2,15,600	0	0
TOTAL	2,67,265	8	1
Probate and administration duty	1,98,677	0	0
EXPENDITURE.
Establishment	1,69,929	9	6
Contingencies	13,048	10	0
TOTAL	1,82,978	3	6

The following figures show the financial results for the past three years:—

	Receipts.			Expenditure.			Surplus.
	Rs.	A.	P.	Rs.	A.	P	Rs.	A.	P.
In 1880	2,90,013	2	2	1,76,692	8	10	1,13,320	14	4
„ 1881	2,75,256	7	9	1,85,361	13	9	89,894	10	0

In 1880 there was a saving of Rs. 4,200 owing to the fact that the Clerk of the Crown drew only half his salary as such, on account of his simultaneously holding another appointment. There was also a saving of Rs. 629 in the Sheriff's Office, in consequence of the services of one of the European Bailiffs having been dispensed with for a time. These underdrawings will account for a considerable portion of the reduced expenditure in that year.

With respect to the receipts, it appears that the Accountant General's commission on the suitors' funds, which received large accessions in 1880, amounted in that year to Rs. 16,647, as compared with Rs. 12,229 in 1881, and Rs. 11,768 in 1882. It also appears that in 1880 the Registrar sold some valuable properties, and that in consequence his commission on sales was in that year unusually large, amounting to Rs. 25,736, as compared with Rs. 4,392 in 1881, and with Rs. 8,662 in 1882. These items will account for the difference between the amount of the receipts in 1880, and the amount of the receipts in each of the two following years.

II—CIVIL COURTS SUBORDINATE TO THE HIGH COURT.

Original suits instituted, disposed of, and pending. See Table A.

The total number of original suits instituted, disposed of, and pending in the Civil Courts of the Lower Provinces subordinate to the High Court in each of the past three years, was as follows:—

	Instituted.	Determined	Pending.
In 1880	384,564	386,965	55,988
„ 1881	383,229	390,291*	54,437*
„ 1882	403,877	407,239	57,443

* Revised figures.

These figures show an increase of 20,648 original suits instituted, and an increase of 16,948 suits decided, in 1882. The latter increase was, however, not sufficiently large to effect a reduction in the pending files, which increased by 3,006 cases.

Suits instituted.

	Reg.	S.C.C.
In 1880 .	327,248	57,316
„ 1881 .	328,592	54,637
„ 1882 .	350,606	53,271

On a reference to the figures given in the margin, it will be observed that the increase in the number of cases instituted in 1882 has occurred entirely in the Regular Civil Courts, for in the Courts of Small Causes there was a slight falling off (1,366) in the past year. The decrease in the institution of cases in the latter class of Courts has been gradual, year by year, since 1880.

From the details given for each district in Table A, it will be seen that the increase in the Regular Civil Courts occurred in almost all the districts in the Province, the only exceptions being Bhaugulpore, Dacca, Furreedpore, Nuddea, Patna, Rungpore, and Tirhoot. The decrease was most marked in Furreedpore (1,104) and in Tirhoot (1,000).

The increase in the number of original suits instituted in the Regular Civil Courts occurred especially in the following districts, viz.:—

	Instituted in 1881.	Instituted in 1882.	Increase.
Backergunge	19,196	21,945	2,749
24-Pergunnahs	21,345	23,810	2,465
Tipperah	20,285	22,635	2,350
Midnapore	15,196	17,222	2,026
Burdwan	11,675	13,455	1,780
Dinagepore	7,885	9,412	1,527
Mymensingh	20,674	22,120	1,446
Noakhally	10,579	11,998	1,419
Rajshahye	7,887	9,090	1,203
Moorshedabad	12,028	13,146	1,118

In the Courts of Small Causes the falling off in the number of cases instituted occurred chiefly in the following Courts:—

	Instituted in 1881.	Instituted in 1882.	Decrease.
Backergunge	1,865	643	1,222
Narail	2,556	1,864	692
Magoorah	1,729	1,227	502
Meherpore	2,035	1,574	461
Munshigunge	2,652	2,205	447
Jhenidah	2,036	1,643	393
Ranaghat	1,691	1,386	305
Krishnaghur	2,756	2,479	277
Furreedpore	1,311	1,079	232
Patna	1,345	1,114	231

On the other hand an increase occurred in the following Courts:—

	Instituted in 1881.	Instituted in 1882.	Increase.
Cuttack	1,160	2,136	976
Howrah	2,944	3,258	314
Serampore	1,651	1,933	282
Sealdah	5,257	5,538	281
Bhaugulpore	2,038	2,275	237

The following are some of the reasons given in the District Judges' reports in explanation of these results:—

Backergunge.—"Suits of every class were more numerous in 1882 that in 1881. For the increase under the heads of suits 'for money and movables' and of 'title and other suits,' I can assign no cause; but that in the number of rent suits I fully anticipated. Tenants in Backergunge, never submissive, annually display greater disinclination to discharge their obligations otherwise than under legal compulsion; and the low prices of the produce of land that have, owing to bumper crops and the absence of scarcity in other provinces, prevailed in this district during the last two or three years, have diminished the tenants' ability to meet the fixed cash demand for rent. The market has, however, somewhat improved of late, and possibly the rise in prices may, in some degree, relieve the landlords of the necessity of a resort to litigation; but I doubt it, and expect rather a steady annual increase of rent suits. Indeed, I look upon an increase in suits of every kind as a certainty, and that will entail a corresponding strengthening of the judicial staff of the district and of their ministerial establishments."

In the opinion of the High Court, the question of strengthening the ministerial establishments of subordinate Civil Courts is one which will shortly have again to be faced. Not only are these establishments weighed down with an amount of work which experience has shewn that it is not fair to exact from them, but the more speedy decision of rent suits and of petty suits of the Small Cause Court class, owing to the successful working of the scheme for their disposal by a special officer, has increased the work in the execution department to an extent which has carried it beyond the powers of the present staff.

Burdwan.—"There has been an increase in the institution of rent suits to the extent of 849, suits for money and movables to the extent of 743, and suits of title to the extent of 188. The principal increase is in Culna and Bud-Bud. In the former munsifi the increase is from 1,638 to 2,392, of which the increase under rent suits amounts to 453. This increase is not, however, in my opinion attributable to any embitterment of relations between landlord and tenant. The best ordinary test of the state of feeling between zemindar and ryot is the number of enhancement suits; but as a matter of fact, notwithstanding the increase in the suits for rent, the number of enhancement cases has diminished from 28 in the year 1881 to 17 in the year under notice. The number of cases of application for deposit of rent, for assistance to distrain, and for sale of distrained property has also decreased from 971 to 720.

"In Ranigunge, the Munsif professes himself unable to account for the increase of 115 in suits for money and movables. In this sub-division, the harmony of the relation between landlord and tenant is shewn by there having been only one suit for enhancement.

"The reports of Lower Courts are unfortunately very meagre and inadequate as regards the cause of fluctuation, but it may be assumed that the increase in the number of institutions of rent suits and for 'money and movables,' is due principally to the low prices which have prevailed, and the small remuneration obtained by cultivators for their staples. They have, therefore, in a large number of cases, been unable to pay their rent.

"There was also in many parts of the district, especially Bud-Bud, a partial failure of the crops owing to drought, and this cause has undoubtedly operated to swell the bond and rent suits. The money-lenders, who would ordinarily renew bonds, were apprehensive of difficulty in ultimately realizing their debts, and an increase in this kind of litigation was the consequence. As an indication that present rates of rent press hardly when seasons are bad, I am informed by the Collector that some 300 notices of relinquishment of lands have been taken out by the tenants of a prominent zemindar in the Cutwa sub-division. This fact shows in what direction we are to look for an explanation of the increase in the number of rent suits.

"The increase in the number of title suits is too slight for comment."

Cuttack.—The increase in the number of suits instituted in the Civil Courts in Cuttack occurred mainly in the Courts of Small Causes and in the Court of the Munsiff of Balasore. The explanation of the latter officer relates only to an increase in the number of suits "for money or movables;" and this increase he attributes to a rich harvest of paddy during the past year, which enabled the cultivators to drive a profitable trade in that article, and thus gave opportunity to the creditors to institute suits for the recovery of old debts. The District Judge, however, thinks that the large works now in hand in the Irrigation Department and on the new coast canal may very likely have helped to increase the files of suits for money or movables. He also states that the transfer of Killa Banki to the district, which took effect from 1st April 1882, undoubtedly accounts for some of the increase. The High Court have, however, since ascertained that only 99 Small Cause Court suits and 5 title suits were instituted by residents of Killa Banki from the date of its annexation to Cuttack to the close of the year. The reasons given by the Small Cause Court Judge for the increase in his Court are given in a subsequent part of this report.

Dacca.—"There were altogether 25,483 suits instituted in 1882 as against 26,133 in 1881. There was therefore a decrease of 650 suits in the number of institutions. This decrease has not been confined to any particular class of cases, but has to a greater or less extent occurred in all classes of suits. Thus, suits 'for money or movables' have decreased by 417; rent suits have decreased by 166; and 'title and other suits' by 67 suits. The falling off in the number of cases instituted in 1882 has occurred entirely at Munshigunge and Manikgunge.

"The decrease in suits for money and in rent suits is no doubt due to the prosperous condition of the agricultural classes in 1882. The jute crop in 1882 was particularly good, and the jute trade was accordingly exceedingly active. Thus the number of maunds of raw jute imported to Calcutta from this district alone, in the last financial year, was 26,36,396 as against 19,10,027 in the previous year. The cultivating classes in this district were, therefore, very well off in 1882. As a rule, they were not in want of money, and could afford to pay their rents without difficulty. This is no doubt the cause of the decrease in rent suits in 1882. It is remarkable that the decrease in the number of rent suits during 1882 is entirely in suits for 'arrears of rent,' the number of such suits instituted in 1882 being 4,387 as against 4,554 in the previous year, i.e., 167 less than in 1881.

"The slight decrease (67) in 'Title and other suits' calls for no special explanation."

Dinagepore.—"The total number of suits instituted during the past year increased to 10,508 cases from 9,103 in 1881; the increase was most marked in the following Courts:—

	1881.	1882.
Munsif's Court, Darjeeling	62	170
" " Thakurgaon	1,401	1,904
" " Hemtabad	1,336	1,656
" " Patnitolah	676	969

"The increase of rent suits at Hemtabad is attributed by the Munsif to the ill-feeling between landlords and tenants in his jurisdiction. The Munsif complains of the small number of pleaders attached to his Court, and considers that there would be more suits if there were more pleaders. I do not think there would be more well-founded suits, or that increase in the number from this cause would be desirable.

"The Munsif of Patnitolah attributes the increase of suits in his Court 'principally to two causes: (1) the Munsif had remained throughout the whole year at this place as he was not deputed elsewhere; and (2) the cheap price that prevailed in the markets of food-grains and other agricultural produce, in spite of the scanty production of the soil in this district;' and he adds—'The generality of the suits belong to the Small Cause nature, and the parties are generally the mahajans and the agriculturists.' In general it may be remarked that some increase in suits is naturally to be expected each year. It is only when the increase is much above the average that a special cause is likely to be assignable."

Furreedpore.—"The figures from the interior do not appear to call for much special remark. The variations, as compared with the past year, of the figures in suits before the Munsifs of Goalundo and Mulfatgange, are mainly due to the appointment of one Munsif in each of these Chowkis for the trial of rent and Small Cause suits.

"The noticeable feature of the Bhanga returns is the great decrease in suits on bonds, which the Munsifs attribute to the improved position of the class which recruits the ranks of borrowers; and to the increased expenditure under the Rules of the High Court in execution of decrees, which drives creditor and debtor to the expedient of the renewal of expiring bonds.

"On the other hand, the decrease in similar suits in Madaripore, with corresponding increase in rent suits, is put down by the Munsif to a like improvement in the position of the borrowing or tenant class, which he represents as ready enough, when able, to pay off their bond-debts, but congenitally disinclined, no matter how good their crops, or how full their pockets, to pay their rents.

"He also says that, owing to the growing estrangement between the two classes of rent-receivers and rent-payers, there is a marked tendency on the part of the former to convert the local Court into an establishment for the collection of their dues. With reference to the Rent Bill just introduced, it is highly significant, as remarked by the Munsif, that the process of distraint is coming to be so repugnant to public opinion as to be falling into gradual disuse and disrepute. Similarly, the greater independence of the tenants and fuller comprehension of their legal rights, and stronger determination to assert them, are evinced by the increase from 46 in 1881 to 116 in 1882, in suits under Section 9 of the Specific Relief Act mainly by evicted tenants against their landlords."

Hooghly.—"It is difficult to account for the rather striking increase in cases of the past year, but whether from the continued agricultural and commercial prosperity of the district, or from the facility with which redress is now obtainable, litigation has been steadily gaining ground during the last few years."

Midnapore.—"The institutions for 1882 are 17,887, being an increase of 2,043 cases more than in 1881. The increase is greatest in the rent class, being nearly half the whole increase—

Rent	954
Small Cause Court	767
Title	322

The increase is distributed pretty evenly over all the Courts in the Small Cause Court and Title classes. It is not easy to say to what causes the increase is due. Possibly the increase in the Small Cause Court and rent suit classes is attributable to the increased expedition with which these suits are tried in the special Courts at Midnapore and Tumluk."

Noakhally.—"For purposes of comparison, the two Munsifis at Shudaram should be regarded as one Court; this being so, it will be found that there is a slight falling off in the institution at Shudaram and an increase at all the other Munsifis. The increase I attribute to the general tendency to increased litigation arising from improved administration; and the decrease at Shudaram is, perhaps, owing to the fact that the residents of Hattya are hoping for a Munsif of their own and are keeping back their cases until he is appointed."

A proposal to establish a separate Munsif's Court on the island of Hattya was before the Court in May 1882. After making enquiries into the matter, the High Court determined that the circumstances of the case would best be met by the appointment to the island of a Deputy Magistrate, who could be appointed a Munsif, under the provisions of Act VI of 1871, to determine the few civil suits arising in the locality. A recommendation to this effect was accordingly made to the Government of Bengal in June 1882; but the Court have received no further communication on the subject, and are unaware of any steps having been taken towards that end.

Patna.—"There has been a diminution of litigation, the number of suits and appeals instituted having been respectively 4,925 and 724, against 5,278 and 1,187 for 1881. In 1881 also there was a diminution in the number of suits as compared with 1880, when the number instituted was 5,606.

"I am not disposed to look upon this decrease of law suits as a good sign. The comparative cessation of Land Registration Suits accounts for it in some measure, but I am inclined to think that it is also due to exhaustion, and to people finding that it is very difficult to get decrees executed. The Codes of 1877 and 1882 are probably unduly favourable to debtors. A ryot has little except his cattle and his house, but the first cannot be sold in any case, and the latter is only saleable in execution of rent decrees. The expenses attending execution have also been increased. Affidavits and searches of Registration-records are required, and decree-holders are no longer allowed, as a matter of course, to bid at sales.

"There has been a considerable diminution in the number of rent suits, but I doubt if it is in any way due to the prevalence of better relations between landlords and tenants. The animosity between them is, in my opinion, increasing; but landlords and leaseholders do not sue because they can seldom prove their claims. When the question is about the rates of rent the landlord is generally defeated, for he has no kabulyuts and his servants are not trustworthy. I am sure that a new Rent Law is urgently wanted in the interest of both parties, and I hope that the passing of it will not be long delayed. The changing of the law will not, however, be enough. We also want cheaper Courts, and more of them. At present I doubt if it ever pays any one to bring a suit for less than Rs. 20 even if it is undefended. If it does pay him, it must be at a heavy cost to the judgment-debtor, for the Court-fees and the feeding of the witnesses must swell the original debt very much. Suppose, for instance, that we take the case of a landlord at Mokamah, and this is a neighbourhood where there used to be at least a good deal of dispute between landlords and tenants. The landlord's agent has first to go to Bankipore to file the suit. This costs 11 annas 9 pies for railway fare. He pays the pleader Re. 1 and he pays Rs. 1-2 or Rs. 1-8 for the stamps on the plaints, and Re. 1 for a process. He then has to return to Mokamah, and, when the piada (process-server) comes, he has to give him some one to point out the defendant; and this man has to go into Bankipore with the piada. The landlord must pay his fare to Bankipore and back, and he must also pay for the piada's railway fare, and for the fares of one or two witnesses. If these expenses be totalled up, it will be found that they cannot come to less than Rs. 7 or 8. Probably the expenses will be a good deal more.

"A decree having been obtained, the landlord must buy a copy of it, and then he must apply for execution and support the application with an affidavit. When the sale day comes, he must pay eight annas if he wants to bid, and unless he does, others are chary of bidding. Then, after the sale, two months must elapse before it is confirmed. I have taken Mokamah for my illustration, but the description applies to all the districts except in the matter of railway fares. The Stamp law is responsible for most of the expense in all but petty cases, and it would be a great benefit if it could be altered."

Tipperah.—"Institutions shew an increase during the year under all 3 headings of rent, money and title suits, chiefly under the head of suits for money, which shew an increase of 14 per cent. on the previous year. The reason assigned by those with whom I have spoken on the subject is the continued low price of rice, the staple of the district. The agricultural classes generally have, therefore, but little cash in hand to meet the various demands on them; hence the numerous suits of this class. The increase in rent suits is only 5·3 per cent., which is probably chiefly owing to the same cause. There is an increase in title suits of 11·6 per cent. I am unable to suggest any explanation of the increase in the latter."

Tirhoot.—The decrease of 1,000 in the number of suits instituted in this District occurred in the Sub-division of Tajpore alone, and is stated by the District Judge to be probably due to an outbreak of cholera.

its decided.

The Regular Courts of the following districts decided the largest number of cases in comparison with the previous year, viz.:—

	Disposed of, 1881.	Disposed of, 1882.	Increase.

Tipperah	20,754	22,124	1,370

On the other hand, the returns of only seven districts show a falling off in the number of cases decided. This decrease is most marked in the following districts :—

	Disposed of,
	1881.	1882.	Decrease.
Midnapore	18,684	17,347	1,337
Patna	4,527	3,405	1,122
Furreedpore	16,930	16,197	733

The work done in the Small Cause Courts has varied principally in the following Courts, viz. :—

Cuttack	1,215	2,157	942

In the districts given below there was an increase in the pending files of the Regular Civil Courts at the close of 1882— Pending files of Original suits.

	Number of suits pending at the close of
	1881.	1882.	Increase.
Noakhally	1,207	2,023	816

Cuttack	1,057	1,260	203

Additional Munsifs are now helping to clear the files in the Districts of Noakhally, Tipperah, 24-Pergunnahs, Bhagulpore, Mymensingh, and Moorshedabad ; the last-named district has two such officers.

On the other hand, there was a marked decrease in the following districts:—

	Number of suits pending at the close of
	1881.	1882.	Decrease.
Dacca	3,072	2,011	1,061
Furreedpore	2,190	1,746	444
Backergunge	2,809	2,436	373
Rajshahye	1,482	1,161	321
Shahabad	2,379	2,162	217
Rungpore	2,471	2,288	183
Chota Nagpore	636	498	138

An additional Munsif was working in the District of Furreedpore until the 25th June of the current year, when the state of the files permitted his deputation to Mymensingh. Backergunge has still two additional Munsifs, and Rajshahye and Shahabad one each. As soon as the arrears become well in hand, these officers will be deputed to other districts where their services may be required.

The District Judge reports that the large increase of arrears in Noakhally (which occurred almost entirely in the Courts of the Munsifs of Dewangunge and Lukhipore) was due partly to the increase in institutions, and partly to the present Munsif of Dewangunge being less expeditious in his work than the officer who was in charge during 1881. The temporary absence at Dewangunge of the 2nd Munsif of Lukhipore accounts for some of the increase at the latter place. The District Judge of Gya attributes the arrears in his district partly to the larger number of institutions, and partly to the insufficient staff of Munsifs allowed to the District. The High Court, however, consider the arrears to be due to the inequality in the institutions in the several Courts in the District; for, while at the sudder station the work is more than enough for the two Munsifs who are stationed there, at Aurungabad it is not enough to occupy the time of one officer. Compared with other districts in the Province, the number of suits before all the Munsifs in Gya seems moderate. The increase in the number of pending cases in Bhaugulpore is remarkable chiefly in the Courts of the 2nd Subordinate Judge and of the Sudder Munsif. As regards the increase in the former Court, the District Judge reports that the changes of officers during the past year led to a reduction in the number of cases disposed of, and that just at the close of the year one large case, which occupied a month of working days, prevented further disposals. The increase in the Sudder Munsif's Court was due to the Munsif having disposed of fewer cases than in the preceding year, but the District Judge reports that he sees no reason to think that the work actually done by him in 1882 was less heavy.

The number of suits and appeals pending for more than one year at the close of each of the years 1881 and 1882 is given on the margin. These figures shew that a considerable reduction has been effected in respect of appeals pending for more than one year. From the details in Table B., it will be observed that the number of original suits of long pendency has increased considerably in Bhagulpore, Patna and Moorshedabad, and that of old appeals in Midnapore, Furreedpore, Cuttack, and Pubna and Bogra. On the other hand, the arrears of long-pending suits were considerably reduced in Mymensingh, Shahabad, Tirhoot, and especially in Gya, and of long-pending appeals in Tipperah, Shahabad, Tirhoot, Mymensingh, Bankura, Nuddea and Chittagong. These results are, no doubt, due primarily to the deputation during the year of extra Subordinate Judges to the six last-named districts, but also to the excellent work done by the officers of the regular staff in some of the districts named.

Appeals	1,320	413

In 1882 the accumulation of old suits and appeals was greatest in the following districts—

	Suits.		Appeals.
Patna	76	Furreedpore	79
Bhaugulpore	36	Midnapore	74
24-Pergunnahs	26	Bankura	47
Moorshedabad	25	Cuttack	39
Bankura	13	Pubna and Bogra	26
Hooghly	13	Sarun	26

These figures compare favorably with those given in the report for 1881. The heavy arrears of long-pending original suits in Patna are reported to be owing to the trial during the year of an important original case, "the Badulpore adoption case," which occupied a good deal of time. Besides this important case, there were on the files in Patna an important case about a Sikh Temple in the District, and a number of rent suits from the Barh subdivision in which the landlords sued for a return to payment of rent in kind.

Number and value of suits instituted, 1878 to 1882.

On a reference to Table C, appended to this report, it will be seen that, including cases in the Courts of Small Causes, the number of suits filed in 1882 exceeded the number filed in 1878 by 48,695 or 13·7 per cent., while the value in litigation during the same period decreased by Rs. 1,40,55,150 or 19·9 per cent. The decrease in the value of litigation in 1882, as compared with that in 1878, is in a great measure due to the abnormally high values of the suits instituted in the Regular Civil Courts of Gya during the latter year, when the value in litigation in that district amounted to Rs. 2,86,07,267. Substituting for these figures the average value of the suits instituted in Gya for the past four years (1879 to 1882), viz., Rs. 19,32,629, it will appear that the value of suits instituted in the Province in the past year exceeded the value in 1878 by Rs. 1,26,19,488 or 28·8 per cent.

See Table C.

In the following statement the districts have been grouped according to the number of suits filed in 1882 :—

Exceeding 20,000 suits.

Jessore.	Backergunge.
24-Pergunnahs.	Mymensingh.
Dacca.	Hooghly.
Tipperah.

Exceeding 15,000 suits.

Nuddea.	Furreedpore.
Midnapore.	Bhaugulpore.

Exceeding 10,000 suits.

Rungpore.	Noakhally.
Burdwan.	Cuttack.
Moorshedabad.	Dinagepore.
Chittagong.

Exceeding 5,000 suits.

Pubna and Bogra.	Shahabad.
Rajshahye.	Bankura.
Purneah.	Sarun.
Tirhoot.	Beerbh

Exceeding 2,000 suits.

Patna.	Gya.
Chota Nagpore.

In Jessore, where the number of suits was slightly in excess of 30,000, nearly one-third of the total number were filed in the Courts of Small Causes. In the 24-Pergunnahs the number was somewhat under 30,000; the number filed in the Regular Civil Courts being greater than in Jessore. In Dacca the number slightly exceeded 25,000, and in Nuddea it was slightly below 20,000, of which more than one-half were filed in the Small Cause Courts. On a comparison with the report for 1881, it will be observed that the number of districts in which more than 20,000 suits were filed has exceeded by one the number shown in that report.

The increase in litigation during the past 5 years has been most marked in Bankurah, where it amounts to 80·8 per cent., Dinagepore 49·4 per cent., Rajshahye 43·8 per cent., Hooghly 42·9 per cent., Backergunge 33·8 per cent., and Gya 31·9 per cent. During the same period, litigation decreased in only 5 districts, viz., Rungpore, Tirhoot, Noakhally, Shahabad, and Chota Nagpore. The decrease was most marked in the three first-named districts, the falling off amounting respectively to 20·4, 11·6, and 10·9 per cent.

Classification of suits instituted in 1881 and 1882.

See Table D.

The following statement shews the number of suits of each class instituted in all the Civil Courts in 1881 and 1882 :—

	1881.	1882.
Suits cognizable by a Small Cause Court	199,224	208,362
Suits under the Rent Law	149,119	159,830

Excluding cases instituted in the Courts of Small Causes, the number of cases of the Small Cause Court class instituted in 1882 was 155,091; of which 68,459 were disposed of by 83 officers (82 Munsifs and 1 Subordinate Judge) vested with the powers of a Small Cause Court Judge for the trial of suits not exceeding Rs. 50 in value. Comparing the results of the past with those of the previous year, it appears that there has been a further decrease in 1882 in cases instituted in the Courts of Small Causes of 2·5 per cent., and a further increase in cases of the Small Cause Court class instituted in the Regular Civil Courts of 7·2 per cent. In suits under the Rent Law there is a further increase of 7·1 per cent. As regards "Title and other suits" there was a slight increase of 2·2 per cent. in the past year, as against the decrease of 22·1 per cent. returned in 1881.

The increase in cases of the Small Cause Court class instituted in Courts of Small Causes will be dealt with separately in a subsequent part of this Report in more immediate connection with the statistics of such Courts.

As regards cases of the Small Cause Court class instituted in the Regular Civil Courts, the increase of 7·2 per cent. was contributed chiefly by the following districts, viz., Tipperah (1,555), Backergunge (1,490), Mymensingh (1,154), Cuttack (783), Midnapore (750), and Burdwan (743). The institution of cases of this class fell off in the Regular Civil Courts of only six districts, the most noticeable decrease being in Furreedpore (1,031), Nuddea (687), and Pubna and Bogra (268). Some of the reasons assigned by District Judges for these results have been given in an earlier part of this Report. As regards the decrease of 687 in the number of money suits instituted in the Regular Civil Courts in Nuddea, the District Judge reports that there has been a considerable decrease in suits for recovery of money on "contract not in writing," and on "goods sold," and that the cheapness of food-grain during the year and the diminution of malaria probably improved the condition of the non-producing classes, resulting in fewer loans and a consequent smaller number of money suits. The District Judge adds that the first-named cause affects the grain-producing class in a different way. His remarks in this direction will be noticed under the head of rent suits.

In Chota Nagpore there was a slight decrease (64) in the number of money suits. This occurred chiefly in the District of Hazareebagh, and is reported to be due to the more extensive working of the Encumbered Estates Act (VI of 1876) in that district, than in the Districts of Lohardugga and Manbhum.

The increase in the number of rent suits instituted in 1882 was most marked in the 24-Pergunnahs (1,583), Noakholly (1,261), Backergunge (1,087), Dinagepore (1,061), Rajshahye (1,048), Midnapore (954), Burdwan (849), Hooghly (832). The institutions of suits of this class fell off in only six districts, the decrease being most marked in Tirhoot (1,208), Patna (429), Bhagulpore (317), and Rungpore (288). The increase in the number of rent suits in the 24-Pergunnahs is attributed by the Judge to the more rapid disposal of such suits by special Munsifs under the scheme introduced in 1882. A similar reason is given by the District Judges of Dinagepore and Midnapore for the increase in their districts. The following extracts, relating to the same subject, are taken from the reports of some of the other District Judges :—

Chittagong.—"I believe the increase in rent suits is partly due to growth of population and extension of cultivated area ; and partly to settlement operations in the south. In adducing the last as a cause, I am supported by the fact that more than half the increase has occurred in the two southern Munsifis."

Gya.—"The increase in the institutions during the year under review is chiefly in suits under the Rent Law, the numbers of which have nearly doubled. In this class of suit numerous analogous cases were brought, and I think that the increase in this class of litigation is chiefly attributable to the fact that tenants more frequently resist the illegal exactions of their landlords now-a-days than they used to do. Any endeavour on the part of the landlord to enhance the rates of rent, or to change the agore batai system * into dana bandi † is now frequently met by the combined opposition of the tenants, and leads to the institution of numerous suits. The cheapness of agricultural produce may also have something to do with the tenants not paying their cash-rents, but as the bhawli (payment in kind) system is more prevalent in this district than the nagdi (cash payment), I do not think that the cheapness of grain makes any very appreciable difference in the number of suits of this class."

* Partition of crop in certain proportions between landlord and tenant after cutting.

† Estimate of crop while still in the ground by landlord's agents ; partition to be made according to such estimate.

Nuddea.—"Rent suits have increased from 5,662 to 6,214 ; net increase 552. It would appear that there is an increase of 131 rent suits in Chooadangah, 259 in Bongong, (institutions of the two Courts in 1881 taken together), and of 209 in the Kushtea First Munsif's Courts as compared with the number instituted in 1881 in these Munsifis.

"This increase chiefly relates to 'suits for arrears of rent' with or without ejectment or cancelment of lease."

The Munsif of Chooadanga reports that the increase was due to the failure of the ryots to pay rent on account of sickness ; and also to the fact that some of the ryots were not on good terms with their zemindar, who was consequently obliged to sue them for their rents.

The First Munsif of Bongong reports that the main cause which led to an increase in the institution of rent suits was the falling off in the value of food-grains which made the cultivators short of funds, and unable to pay their rents.

The First Munsif of Kushtea explains that the probable cause of increase was abundance of crops and partial disappearance of malaria. Having plenty at home and being in good health, people are now in a position to settle their differences by recourse to law.

In the Meherpur Munsif's Court there was a decrease of 149 rent suits, ascribed by the Munsif partly to the existence of good feeling between landlord and tenant, and partly to the failure of crops. These explanations, which at the best must be taken to be more or less purely speculative, are passed in review by the District Judge, who gives his own views as follows :—

"I think the general causes to which the increase in rent suits is attributable are—

1. The low prices obtained by the cultivators for their produce, affecting their ability to pay rent.
2. The wave of ill-feeling between zemindar and ryot which has spread over the north and east of this district in common with adjoining districts during the last year or two.

"This fact was noticed in last year's report and it has affected a larger area during the year under notice. The district is, however, still free from agrarian disturbances, and the tension that exists shows itself mainly in the shape of withholding payment of rent."

Noakhally.—"The increase in rent suits at Sundip is due to a temporary and special cause. The purchaser of the assets of a large estate was compelled to institute, in 1882, many rent suits which would otherwise have been barred. The increase at the other Munsifis is much less marked, and is not capable of, nor does it require, any special explanation."

Sarun.—"The increase in rent suits occurred in the Sudder and Sewan Sub-divisions of the Sarun District. In Chumparun the institutions were precisely the same as in the previous year.

"The Rent-suit Munsif considers the increase, as far as the Sudder Sub-division is concerned, to be partly due to the somewhat strained relations between landlord and tenant, resulting chiefly from changes of landlord on the granting of thika leases by the zemindars. He remarks that the majority of the rent suits were brought by thikadars and not by zemindars; and he observes that the introduction of a thikadar into a village generally results in litigation, in consequence of the attempts of the new and temporary landlord to collect directly or indirectly something in excess of the previous rental. Another reason suggested by the Munsif, as perhaps partly accounting for the increase in institutions, is the increased expedition with which cases are disposed of under the new system, whereby all Rent and Small Cause Court suits are disposed of by one officer; but I should think that it is probably rather too early for this cause to work to any great extent at present.

"The Munsif of Sewan also remarks on the large number of suits between thikadar and tenant, owing to the grasping conduct of the former in their attempts to make a profit by their leases. He attributes the increase of institutions of rent suits partly to the fact that the purchasers of several estates sold for default of payment of Government revenue were forced, during the year, to institute suits wholesale in order to obtain practical possession; and partly to similar numerous institutions on the part of a particular thikadar, who met with resistance from his tenants on taking a new lease."

The High Court are inclined to concur with those officers who ascribe the increase in the number of rent suits partly to the system under which a special Munsif is deputed to try such suits and petty suits of the Small Cause Court class. The Court have now under consideration the reports of the various District Officers in Bengal on the working of this system; which, so far as can be seen at present, is successful in that rent suits were decided with greater expedition: and popular, in that a larger number is instituted.

The variations for the past two years in the figures representing "Title and other suits" are most marked in the returns of the following districts, viz.:—

	Increase.		Decrease
Midnapore	322	Tirhoot	329
Cuttack	222	Shahabad	327
24-Pergunnahs	221	Noakhally	308
Hooghly	214	Bankurah	268
Chittagong	211	Mymensingh	190

The decrease in Bankurah occurred principally in the Kotulpore Munsifi. The explanation given is to the effect that, in 1881, the prevalence of malarious fever, combined with the scarcity of ready money owing to the abundant harvest and the consequent low prices, induced many of the inhabitants of that locality to defer the institution of many suits in which the period of limitation is comparatively short. These suits would have become barred by limitation if not instituted in 1882; and the result was that the title suits were deferred to better times, as the law of limitation gave the claimants the option of extending the period of their institution.

The marked increase in the number of suits for money or movables, instituted in this Munsifi in 1882, tends to corroborate this view.

The decrease in Noakhally is stated to be in a great measure due to the comparatively small number of suits instituted at Sundip to contest the jumabandis of Settlement Officers.

The District Judge of Sarun comments as follows on the slight decrease (27) in the number of "Title and other suits" instituted in his district:—

"I have again to notice a decrease in Title suits, both as to number and in respect of value. I think there is scarcely any room for question that the cause is that which I assigned for the decrease last year (1881): namely, the gradual subsidence of the rush of litigation which resulted from the introduction of the Land Registration Act. It is to be hoped that when all the vexed questions of title are settled, which were forced to a decision by the operation of that Act, there will eventually be a permanent reduction in suits of this kind. Up to the present time, it (the Act) has brought about the institution not only of suits to contest bonâ fide disputes of title, but also, as was to be expected, of many suits of an entirely speculative nature."

As regards the variations in the figures for the past two years of the other districts in the Province, in some cases no special reason has been assigned; in others the District Judges have reported that they do not find it easy to say to what causes these variations are due.

The following statement, prepared in accordance with the practice of former years, will shew in what districts suits of each class were most numerous.

Including Small Cause Courts, each of the following districts had more than 10,000 suits for money or movables :—

	1880.	1881.	1882.
Mymensing	13,864	15,514	16,668
24-Pergunnahs	14,241	14,371	15,321
Nuddea	12,468	13,328	12,689
Jessore	15,424	13,602	12,129

Dacca, Mymensing, and the 24-Pergunnahs continue to hold the same position as in the previous year. It will be observed that, in the two districts last named, there has been a gradual increase, which, in the case of Mymensingh, has been observable since 1879. In Jessore there has been a gradual decrease since the same year. On comparing the above statement with that given in the Report for 1881, it will be observed that Furreedpore, which for the past two years has been credited with more than 10,000 money suits, now returns less than that number; and that three other districts have for the first time exceeded the same number.

As in 1881, so in the year under review, Jessore (16,258), Backergunge (15,368), and 24-Pergunnahs (11,777), are the only districts in which the number of rent suits instituted has exceeded 10,000. In Tipperah, Hooghly, and Midnapore the number of rent suits instituted in 1882 amounted to nearly 9,000.

Chittagong and Tipperah (as against Chittagong alone in 1881) were the only districts where the number of "Title and other suits," instituted in 1882, exceeded 2,500. The following statement shows the districts in which the number instituted in 1882 exceeded 2,000 :—

	1880.	1881.	1882.
Tipperah	2,567	2,318	2,624
24-Pergunnahs	2,591	2,180	2,401
Mymensing	2,884	2,290	2,100

The following table gives details regarding the suits for money or movables instituted in the past two years in the Regular Civil Courts, and in the Courts of Small Causes :—

Description of Suits.	Small Cause Courts.		Regular Civil Courts.
	1881.	1882.	1881.	1882.
On written obligation	27,993	26,607	100,903	106,492
On unwritten obligation	6,045	6,145	10,103	11,817
On account stated	2,948	3,080	9,277	10,204
Money had and received	712	673	3,319	3,613
Goods sold	8,212	8,350	4,876	5,774
Wages, work and materials	1,178	1,230	1,373	1,432
Rent not falling under the Rent Law	3,840	3,116	3,224	3,310
Movable property, or value thereof	1,589	1,374	5,090	5,053
Other suits for money or movables not mentioned above	775	1,580	2,202	2,862
Total	54,637	53,271	144,587	155,091

From the above figures it will be seen that the decrease in the Small Cause Courts was chiefly in respect of suits on bonds, suits for recovery of rent not falling under the Rent Law, suits for the recovery of movable property or its value, and suits for damages. The institutions in miscellaneous suits for money or movables nearly doubled those in 1881. The increase in the Regular Civil Courts was in respect of every class of money suits, except suits for the recovery of movable property or its value. The decrease under this head is, however, very slight.

	Civil Courts.		Revenue Courts.
	1881.	1882.	1881.	1882.
Arrears of rent	144,127	155,668	8,858	9,475
Enhancement or abatement of rent	1,837	1,292	131	54
Relating to distraint	330	282	219	253
Damages for extortion, &c.	386	278	96	81
For pattahs or kabulyats	53	96	34	104
For ejectment or recovery of possession	914	760	194	175
For recovery of money or accounts from agents	903	1,030	35	26
All other suits under the Rent Law	569	424	67	60
Total	149,119	159,830	9,634	10,228

The increase in the number of suits under the Rent Law was chiefly in respect of suits for arrears of rent in both the Regular Civil, and in the Revenue Courts. On the other hand, suits for enhancement or abatement of rent decreased considerably in both classes of Courts. Suits relating to distraint decreased in the Regular Civil Courts and increased in the Revenue Courts.

The following statement gives details of suits other than rent suits and suits of the Small Cause Court class, instituted in the past two years :—

Other suits not falling under any of the previous heads	545	684	1·56	1·917
Total	34,886	35,685	100·	100·

There was a considerable increase in the number of suits for immovable property and of suits for the dissolution of partnership, the number of the latter having increased from 9 in 1881 to 103 in 1882. On the other hand, there was a marked decrease in the number of suits for "declaratory decrees." As regards the other classes of miscellaneous original suits, the variations in the figures of the past two years are very slight.

The following statement gives the value of suits of each class instituted in each of the past two years:— Suits valued according to class. See Table F.

		1881.	1882.
		Rs.	Rs.
Suits for money or movables	Small Cause Courts	28,76,972	28,91,626
	Regular Courts	1,65,08,394	1,66,37,949
„ under the Rent Law		81,12,308	90,98,624
Title and other suits		1,88,69,806	2,77,90,897

The increase in the value of suits for money or movables was most marked in Shahabad, Dacca, and Patna. There was a marked decrease in the 24-Pergunnahs, Tirhoot, Dinagepore, and Hooghly. The decrease in Hooghly is stated to have occurred in the Subordinate Judge's Court, and to be due to the paucity of suits upon bonds for large sums, such as were brought in 1881 against the zemindar of Sowrafully. As regards the value of suits under the Rent Law, a marked increase appears in the returns of Gya, Mymensingh and the 24-Pergunnahs, and a marked decrease in those of Tirhoot. These results are mainly due to the institutions of such suits, which increased considerably in the three first-named districts and decreased in Tirhoot. The value of Title and other suits increased considerably in Mymensingh, Tirhoot, Burdwan, Moorshedabad, and Midnapore. In the case of Mymensingh, this increase is stated to be due to the filing of a suit valued at Rs. 50,00,000 in the Court of the Subordinate Judge. This suit was for a declaration of right to a large zemindari and was dismissed on a preliminary objection. The increase in Tirhoot and Burdwan is stated to be owing to the institution in the past year of one isolated case in each of these districts valued in the one case at 36, and in the other at 14 lakhs of rupees. In Patna, although there was a decrease of only 97 in the number of "Title and other suits" instituted in 1882, the money-value of such suits decreased by very nearly 50 lakhs of rupees.

The following statement shews the average value of a suit of each class:—

		1881.	1882.
		Rs.	Rs.
Suits for money or movables	Small Cause Courts	52·6	54·2
	Regular Courts	114·1	107·2

Further details of the value of suits instituted in 1882 are given in the following statement:— Details of value. See Statement 3.

* This case was registered by mistake in the Court of one of the Munsifs of Backergunge who is vested with Small Cause Court powers. On discovery of the mistake the plaint was returned for presentation to the proper Court.

It will be observed from this statement that in 394,581, or 97·6 per cent. of the whole number of suits instituted in the Civil Courts, the value involved did not exceed Rs. 500; and in 71·5 per cent. of these, the value did not exceed Rs. 50. Of suits instituted in the Small Cause Courts, in 36,199, or 67·9 per cent., the value did not exceed Rs. 50. Of suits of the Small Cause Court class, instituted in the Regular Civil Courts, 101,157, or 65·2 per cent., did not exceed the same value. Of these, 67,976 were dealt with by officers vested with Small Cause Court powers. Of rent suits, 32·3 per cent. did not exceed Rs. 10 in value; and 46·6 per cent. exceeding Rs. 10 did not exceed Rs. 50 in value. In 25,228, or 70·6 per cent., of the "Title and other" suits instituted, the property in dispute did not exceed Rs. 100.

The following statement gives details of 8,773 suits in which the value is said to have exceeded Rs. 500:—

	Suits for money or movables.	Suits under the Rent Law.	Title and other suits.

In the remaining 523 cases the value cannot be estimated in money.

Suits how determined.

See Table F

The manner in which suits were dealt with during each of the past five years is shewn in the following table:—

	Withdrawn, compromised, confessed, &c.	Decided ex parte.	Contested.	TOTAL.
1878	126,961	131,805	94,151	352,917
1879	139,070	140,466	93,761	373,297
1880	147,885	142,606	96,474	386,965
1881	144,250	146,304	99,738	390,292
1882	152,660	157,831	96,748	407,239

Contested cases formed 23·7 per cent. of the whole number decided in 1882, as compared with 25·5 per cent. in 1881, and 24·9 per cent. in 1880.

		Withdrawn, compromised, confessed, &c.	Decided ex parte.	Contested.
Courts of Small Causes		25,211	18,088	11,057
Regular Courts .	Suits for money or movables .	62,491	66,926	26,338
	„ under the Rent Law .	50,093	68,357	42,252
	TOTAL .	127,449	139,743	85,691

From this statement it appears that, while in the Small Cause Courts 20·3 per cent. of the cases decided were contested, as compared with 24·2 per cent. in the Regular Civil Courts, in the latter the ratio for each class of suits separately was, in suits for money or movables 16·9 per cent., in rent suits 26·2 per cent., and in title and other suits 46·9 per cent. From these results it will be observed that the largest proportion of contested suits is, as in previous years, found among title and other claims; while the smallest proportion is in respect of suits of the Small Cause Court class.

Of the suits for money, &c., entered above as decided in the Regular Courts, 68,459 cases were dealt with by 83 officers vested with the powers of a Small Cause Court Judge for the trial of petty suits not exceeding Rs. 50 in value. The manner in which these cases were disposed of is shewn in the margin. Only 14·3 per cent. were contested.

Decided ex parte	30,758
Contested	9,848
TOTAL	68,459

The following were the only districts with more than 5,000 contested cases in the past year:— Districts where contested suits were most numerous.

	1880.	1881.	1882.

Hooghly	4,805	4,590	5,100

The proportion of contested cases decided in the Regular Civil Courts was greatest in the following districts:—

	PERCENTAGE OF CONTESTED CASES.
	In suits for money, &c.	In suits under the Rent Law.	In title and other suits.	TOTAL.
Patna	26·6	43·8	58·5	40·7

From Table A it will be observed that, with the exception of Chittagong, the number of original suits instituted in the Civil Courts of these districts is very small: the number instituted in 1882 in Gya, Chota Nagpore, and Patna being below 5,000, while in Tirhoot, Sarun, and Shahabad it was somewhat above that figure.

In the following statement further details are given of the manner in which suits were disposed of in all the Civil Courts in the interior, as compared with suits decided in the Small Cause Courts as such. The proportion of cases in which the plaintiffs and defendants were, respectively, successful during the past three years is also shewn :—

Plaintiff wins	63·6	64·2	64·5

Taking the figures of the Small Cause Courts separately, it appears that the plaintiffs have been less successful year by year since 1880. Their success in the past, as in the previous years, was, however, somewhat greater than in the Courts generally.

	1879.	1880.	1881.	1882.
Compromised . .	13·2	11·9	13·5	12·9

Applications to set aside ex parte judgments, or judgments in default.

See Table G.

The following statement shows for each of the past three years the number of cases dismissed in default or decreed ex parte, compared with the number of applications for setting aside the judgments in such cases made and granted :—

	1880.	1881.	1882.
Number of cases dismissed in default or decreed ex parte	173,632	177,018	203,867*
Number of applications to set aside judgments in such cases	8,400	9,337	10,141
Number of such applications granted . . .	4,132	4,176	4,835

* This increase is nominal; for it includes Miscellaneous Original cases which were incorrectly omitted from the figures of preceding years. The applications shown in Table G are in respect of Regular, as well as Miscellaneous, cases.

The ratio in 1882 of applications to judgments was 4·9 per cent., as compared with 5·2 per cent. in 1881. Of the applications made last year, 47·6 per cent. were granted, as compared with 44·7 per cent. in 1881. The proportion in the several classes of Courts taken separately for the past two years was as follows:—

	Percentage.
	1881.	1882.
District Judges' Courts	80·	86·6
Small Cause Courts	54·1	58·1
Subordinate Judges' Courts	30·5	36·3
Munsifs' Courts	43·2	45·9

Decrees how executed.

The following statement shows the number of applications for the execution of decrees on which realizations were made in the past three years, in full or partial satisfaction, and the amount realized in the Regular Civil Courts:— See Table II.

	Complete.	Partial.	Amount realized.
			Rs.
1880	74,900	44,306	1,47,27,846
1881	64,167	37,206	1,27,12,970
1882	70,046	43,979	1,37,30,738

	Complete.	Partial.	Amount realized.
			Rs.
1881	5,561	6,460	3,81,392
1882	5,464	6,365	4,03,878

In the Regular Civil Courts there was an increase of Rs. 10,17,768 in the amount realized as against a decrease of Rs. 20,14,876 reported in 1881. Similarly in the Small Cause Courts there was an increase of Rs. 22,486 as against the decrease of Rs. 2,36,692 returned in 1881. The amount realized in the Regular Civil Courts was greatest in the following districts:—

	Amount realized.
	1881. Rs.	1882. Rs.
24-Pergunnahs	8,73,264	10,03,213
Hooghly	4,11,167	8,39,808
Bhaugulpore	7,15,799	8,36,071
Jessore	5,31,730	7,88,856
Mymensingh	4,97,031	5,50,303
Tipperah	3,43,257	5,32,475
Sarun	4,50,046	5,18,500

The amount realized in 1882 fell short of the amount realized in 1881 in only eight districts. In Tirhoot the realizations fell off by a little more than 5 lakhs of rupees. This result is probably due to the decrease in the number of applications in which satisfaction was obtained. The increase in the realizations in the Regular Civil Courts of Jessore is stated by the District Judge to be entirely owing to certain heavy execution cases in the Judge's and Subordinate Judges' Courts; for out of Rs. 3,14,305 paid by judgment-debtors in the latter Court, Rs. 2,22,960 represent three decrees fully satisfied. In Chota Nagpore there was an increase of Rs. 1,33,726 in the amount realized. This increase, the Judicial Commissioner reports, was very marked in Hazareebagh, Manbhum, and Lohardugga; and is, he states, apparently due to the fact that, the circumstances of the cultivators having improved, the judgment-debtors have found it easier to discharge their debts.

The following statement shews the number of applications for the execution of decrees disposed of in 1882, on which realizations were made with and without the issue of process, and the amount realized with and without it, in the Regular Civil Courts and in the Small Cause Courts separately :—

		Number of applications.	Amount realized.
			Rs.
Regular Civil Courts	With process	96,442	1,21,49,485
	Without process . . .	17,583	15,81,253
Small Cause Courts	With process	10,824	3,39,894
	Without process . . .	1,005	63,984

Taking all the Courts together, it will appear that the issue of process was found to be unnecessary in 14·7 per cent. of the applications on which realizations were effected in 1882, as compared with 15·6 per cent. in 1881.

On the subject of execution of decrees the District Judge of Bhagulpore reports as follows :—

"I fear that the work connected with the execution of decrees is in many Courts left too much in the hands of ministerial officers. No doubt a great deal of this work is purely ministerial; but, unless it be closely watched by the presiding officer, there will be sloth in issuing notices and processes, and delay and malpractices in their service. I have written to my Subordinate Courts pointing out the provisions of the law, and making some suggestions that may be useful to them. . . . . I have, in a previous report, expressed an opinion adverse to the working of the rules requiring, from decree-holders, affidavits to enable the Court to settle the terms of the sale-proclamation. I have in no degree modified this opinion. The officers of the Registration Department give no assistance beyond lending their registers. The search of those registers takes much time and requires a knowledge of English. The parties naturally do not wish to pay liberally for having the search made, and the result is that this work is falling into the hands of the touters and other unauthorised legal practitioners who hang about the Courts. The system induces dishonesty. It is, I think, a fact that in a large number of cases the affidavits are consciously untruthful; and if the Courts did not, perhaps wisely, overlook this fact, they would have to make many commitments to the Criminal Courts. Decree-holders are now required to swear to their belief in statements, when really they have no such belief. For all they know, their searcher has made the merest pretence at search. As suggested last year, arrangements might be made to obtain the information through officers of the Registration Department. There would in such case be some hold upon those supplying the information, and consequently some guarantee for its truth and the thoroughness of the search; and the cessation of pretentious but untruthful affidavits would in itself be no small advantage. The decree-holder has to incur both expenses and a risk of prosecution under the present system; and would gladly see the payment of a fee to the Registration Department substituted for them."

The matter will be specially dealt with by the High Court when the sale-rules are revised.

Decrees executed.

See Statement 6.

In Statement 6 further details will be found regarding the manner in which decrees were executed in 1882. The number of applications for execution (including verbal applications made immediately on delivery of judgment) dealt with by the Civil Courts in the interior was 346,566; the whole number disposed of, 292,479; and the number pending, 54,087. Satisfaction, in whole or in part, was obtained in 125,854 cases. Of the applications disposed of, the creditor's claim was adjusted under Section 258 of the Code of Civil Procedure in 40,065 cases. The number of wholly infructuous applications was 159,505. This does not mean that so many decrees became inoperative, but merely that the decree-holders were unsuccessful in, or did not persevere with, those particular attempts to execute such decrees.

Coercive Processes.

The following figures shew the comparative frequency of certain modes of execution in the past five years:—

Year.	Possession given.	Imprisonment.	Property sold.
			Movable.	Immovable.
1878	7,588	1,984	8,957	32,248
1879	8,064	2,190	10,299	32,240
1880	8,040	1,775	10,728	27,627
1881	7,453	1,936	10,258	21,182

These figures shew a considerable increase in the number of cases in which the judgment-debtor's property was attached and sold. There was also an increase in the number of judgment-debtors imprisoned. As regards cases in which the judgment-debtor's immovable property was attached and sold, the increase occurred in almost all the districts in the Province, the only exceptions being Dacca, Jessore, Tirhoot, 24-Pergunnahs, and Chota Nagpore. In Dacca, Jessore, and Chota Nagpore, there was, however, as against this decrease, an increase in the number of cases in which the judgment-debtor was imprisoned and in which his movable property was sold. In Dacca, recourse was had more frequently in the past year to personal arrest, and to attachment of the judgment-debtor's movable property as modes of execution. The District Judge is inclined to ascribe this fact to the strictness of the rules recently drawn up by the High Court for the attachment and sale of judgment-debtor's immovable property. He reports as follows:—

"Judgment-creditors are reluctant to go to the trouble and expense of making search in the Registration Office, and of producing extracts from the Collectorate registers. They do all they can to evade these rules; and there can be no doubt that, in many instances, they succeed in evading them. In many instances, the so-called searches in the Registration Offices are merely nominal ones. It has recently been brought to my notice by the Officiating Collector that a short time ago he discovered 38 cases of searches applied for, at the Munshigunge Registration Office, in which searches were never really made by the applicants. They had, however, satisfied their consciences by applying for the searches, and there is every reason to fear that they straightway went off to the Munsif and made affidavits that they had searched in the Registration Office, and found that the properties they wished to attach and sell were unencumbered. To prevent similar evasions in future, the searches should, I think, be made by the officer of the Registration Department, and judgment-creditors should be required to produce, instead of affidavits of their own, certificates from the Registration Officers, stating that their Registers had been searched and no encumbrances discovered. The present system is open to the still further objection that it affords great facilities to fraudulent judgment-creditors for tampering with the Registers of the Registration Offices."

Other modes in which execution was effected were as follows: In 392 cases the judgment-debtor's immovable property was dealt with under Sections 305, 322, or 326 of the Civil Procedure Code; that is, opportunity was given to raise money on the property, so as to satisfy the decree. Specific performance was enforced in 314 cases; and partition was effected in 80 cases. Details are not given of the manner in which decrees were executed in 8,861 cases.

Miscellaneous (Judicial) cases.

The following statement exhibits the number of original miscellaneous cases of a judicial nature which were instituted, determined, and pending in

See Table I.

the Regular Civil Courts and in the Small Cause Courts, in each of the past two years :—

		Instituted.	Determined.	Pending.
Regular Civil Courts	1881	28,848 *	29,514*	5,792*
	1882	31,803	32,131	5,785
Small Cause Courts	1881	2,817	2,827	188
	1882	3,063	3,036	221

* Revised figures.

These figures shew an increase in all Courts in the institution of cases of this class. Corresponding results are also shewn in respect of cases decided. The increase in the institutions is probably due to the increased number of execution cases out of which miscellaneous judicial cases commonly arise. In Hooghly, there was a perceptible falling off in the institution of such cases in the District Court; this is attributed by the District Judge to fewer land acquisition cases having been referred to the Court for trial during the year, and to applications for foreclosure of mortgages having been discontinued from the 1st of July of the year, the date on which the Transfer of Property Act came into operation.

Details are given below of the manner in which these cases were dealt with in the past two years :—

	By Regular Civil Courts.		By Small Cause Courts.
	1881.	1882.	1881.	1882.
Withdrawn, compromised, confessed, &c.	5,830	6,589 †	547	627
Decided ex parte	6,952	7,292	244	204
Contested	16,768	18,250	2,036	2,205

† Includes 60 redemption and foreclosure cases.

Of the cases decided after contest by the Regular Civil Courts, the applications were granted in 55·3 per cent. and refused in the remainder. Of the whole number decided, 1,036 or 3·2 per cent. were compromised. In Small Cause Courts, 51·1 per cent. of the contested applications decided were granted, the rest being refused; 109 or 3·5 per cent. of the whole number decided, were compromised.

Miscellaneous (Non-judicial) cases.

See Table I.

The following table shews, for the years 1881 and 1882, the total number of miscellaneous non-judicial cases instituted under the Rent Law in the Courts of First Instance in Bengal, the total number decided by those Courts, and the number pending at the close of each of those years :—

	Instituted.	Disposed of.	Pending.
1881	29,463	31,373	3,776
1882	26,966	27,510	3,232

The institution of miscellaneous cases of a non-judicial nature has fallen off steadily since 1879, when the number instituted amounted to 35,468. As compared with that year, the number instituted in 1882 decreased by 8,502 or 23·9 per cent.

‡ Revised figures for these details are not available.

Taking each district separately, the decrease was most marked in the following districts:—

	1881.	1882.	Decrease.
Sarun	2,908	2,255	653
24-Pergunnahs	1,871	1,403	468
Purneah	1,491	1,081	410
Midnapore	2,003	1,634	369
Tirhoot	2,638	2,293	345
Dinagepore	1,168	831	337
Tipperah	1,820	1,495	325

On the other hand, there was a marked increase in the following districts:—

	1881.	1882.	Increase.
Shahabad	1,442	1,962	520
Gya	463	874	411
Noakholly	283	625	342
Furreedpore	282	581	299

The increase in Gya is stated by the District Judge to be the result of the increase in the number of rent-suits. This, however, can hardly be the correct explanation, for, with the exception of Tirhoot, there was an increase in the number of rent-suits in all the districts named above, as those in which a considerable decrease in the number of miscellaneous cases of a non-judicial nature occurred. Again, in Shahabad and Furreedpore there was a decrease in the number of rent-suits, and an increase in the number of miscellaneous non-judicial cases.

The following statement exhibits in detail the several classes of miscellaneous (non-judicial) cases instituted, disposed of, and pending in the Courts in 1881 and 1882:—

	Instituted.		Disposed of.		Pending.
	1881.	1882.	1881.	1882.	1881.	1882.
Applications for the deposit of rent	27,577	24,799	29,575	25,333	3,202	2,668
Applications for assistance to distrain	1,260	1,344	1,219	1,383	364	325
Applications for the sale of distrained property	626	823	579	794	210	239
Total	29,463	26,966	31,373	27,510	3,776	3,232

From these details it will be observed that the decrease in the number of miscellaneous non-judicial cases was entirely in respect of applications for the deposit of rent.

Of the 1,383 applications for assistance to distrain property disposed of during the past year, 1,209 were granted and the rest refused.

Average duration of cases. See Table Q.

The average duration of suits, contested and uncontested, disposed of in the past year by the several grades of Courts, is given in the following statement:—

		District Judges.	Subordinate Judges.	Munsifs.	Small Cause Court Judges.
		M. D.	M. D.	M. D.	M. D.
Under ordinary procedure	Contested	4 6	10 21	3 17	...
	Uncontested	5 4	3 28	1 22	...
	Uncontested	...	0 25	0 28	0 22

On a comparison with the corresponding statement given in the Report for 1881, it will be observed that, with the exception of contested as well as uncontested cases dealt with by Subordinate Judges under ordinary and under Small Cause Court procedure, suits, both contested and uncontested, were disposed of with greater promptitude in 1882 than in 1881. As in 1881, the duration of contested cases disposed of by the District Judge of Gya is very high (1 year 2 months and 15 days), while it is remarkably so (3 years 2 months and 11 days) in respect of contested cases disposed of by the Subordinate Judge. The District Judge disposed of only two original suits during the year. In Pubna, the duration of contested and uncontested cases disposed of by the District Judge, and of contested cases disposed of by the Subordinate Judge, was also very high. There was some improvement in the duration of cases decided by the District Judge of Hooghly, the duration in 1882 being 10 months and 5 days for contested cases and 8 months and 21 days for uncontested cases. In Chota Nagpore, the duration of contested cases decided by the Subordinate Judges was 9 months, and of uncontested cases, 3 months and 19 days. The Judicial Commissioner reports that this long duration of cases was unavoidable: the Subordinate Judges are district officers, who have to devote much of their time and attention to their ordinary executive work, in its several departments; and the duration of cases in their Courts must consequently always be greater than in the Courts of officers whose whole attention is devoted to civil work. As a matter of fact, experience has shown that the combination, in one officer, of the functions of a Civil Judge and of an executive officer, leads to the neglect of his civil work, and is, therefore, much to be deprecated.

III.—SMALL CAUSE COURTS.

I.—The Presidency Small Cause Courts.

Calcutta Small Cause Court.

The number of suits instituted, disposed of and pending in the Calcutta Small Cause Court during 1881 and 1882 was as follows:—

1881	34,108	34,063	1,333
1882	29,553	29,329	1,557

Of the 29,553 suits instituted, in 22,906, or 77·5 per cent., the value involved did not exceed Rs. 50; and of these, in 47 per cent. the value was trifling, in no case exceeding Rs. 10. In 746 cases the value exceeded Rs. 500, and of these again, in 134 cases it exceeded Rs. 1,000.

The total amount in litigation was Rs. 18,28,343 in the past, as compared with Rs. 17,28,960 in the previous, year. Details of the value of the suits instituted in the past two years are given below:—

Classified value of suits.	1881.	1882.
Up to Rs. 10	13,145	10,776
„ „ „ 50	14,030	12,130
„ „ „ 100	3,070	2,851
„ „ „ 500	3,183	3,050
„ „ „ 1,000	625	612

From these details it will be observed that the decrease has been entirely in respect of suits of the several scales of value given in the statement except under the scale "above Rs. 1,000." The falling off of suits, especially those below Rs. 50, is, in the opinion of the Judges of the Presidency Small Cause Court, due to the change of procedure introduced by Act XV of 1882 ("The Presidency Small Cause Court Act") which came into operation on the 1st of July of that year. The new procedure enhances the trouble entailed on a party desirous of bringing a suit, by, among other things, requiring his attendance in Court. Such attendance must be either in person or by some one on his behalf acquainted with the facts of the case, and is necessary for the purpose of signing and verifying the plaint. When the plaintiff himself does not sign the plaint, the new procedure requires that it should be signed by his recognized agent. Under the old procedure, there was no necessity for a party to a suit to be present either in person or by pleader; he was sufficiently represented by "a relative, servant, or member of his establishment in his exclusive employ." This subject has already been commented on in the Resolution of the Government of Bengal in the report on the working of the Presidency Small Cause Court. As regards the decrease in suits valued above Rs. 50, the Judges report that apart from some allowance that must be made for the fact that the procedure under Act XV of 1882 was new, ordinary fluctuations must also be taken into account. The year 1882 was prosperous, and not one in which an influx of litigation could be expected. The increase in the number of suits of values exceeding Rs. 1,000 is due to the extended jurisdiction of the Presidency Small Cause Court conferred by the new Act; but this increase is greater than the Judges of that Court had anticipated. There were in all 168 suits valued at more than Rs. 1,000, of which 34 were instituted before the 1st of July 1882 by abandoning the excess in each case; and 134 in the half-year since that date. The 34 instituted before the 1st of July 1882 are included in the 612 set down against the scale of value "up to Rs. 1,000." In connection with the subject of the institutions in the Calcutta Small Cause Court, the Judges of that Court regret to have to report that the litigation of the year (1882) shows an increased tendency on the part of the trading community to deal in purely speculative contracts. Formerly such cases of contracts were confined to Government securities (the amount generally being Rs. 25,000) or to shares: now the Judges find that such cases have been extended to gunny bags and yellow metal; the object of the parties in many of them not being to contend the fact of an actual bonâ fide sale on one side or a purchase on the other, but simply to recover the difference, if any, of the market value of the goods on the date of delivery.

Of the suits disposed of during 1882, 4,345 did not come to trial, having been dismissed for default or for want of prosecution, or having been withdrawn with leave; 19,229 were decided without contest in the manner shown in the margin; and 5,755 were decided after contest or on reference to arbitration. The number of miscellaneous judicial cases disposed of by the Calcutta Small Cause Court in 1882 was 409. Of these, 41 were commissions received for execution from Courts in the interior, and 368 were distraint cases (not being interpleader claims) under the District Act, 1875.

Decreed on confession	1,980
Decreed ex parte	6,161
Dismissed ex parte	48
TOTAL	19,229

Besides the above, 1,821 processes issued from Courts in the Mofussil were served by the Calcutta Small Cause Court on persons residing in Calcutta. Including the applications pending at the close of 1881, there were in the past year 14,779 applications for the execution of decrees on the file of the Calcutta Small Cause Court. Of these, 14,424 were disposed of, leaving 355 applications pending at the close of 1882. Of the applications disposed of, in 10,264 cases the decree was wholly or partly satisfied, in 4,128 cases satisfaction was obtained with, and in 6,136 cases without, the issue of process.

	Rs.
* With the issue of process	1,95,540
Without the issue of process	2,02,254

The total amount realized was Rs. 3,97,794 * in the past, as compared with Rs. 3,36,024 in the previous, year.

To effect the execution of decrees, the following were some of the principal coercive measures adopted by the Calcutta Court of Small Causes. In 417 cases the judgment-debtor was imprisoned, in 624 cases his movable property was sold, and in 64 cases his immovable property was made over to the decree-holder in liquidation of the debt.

II.—Small Cause Courts in the interior.

Small Cause Courts in the interior.

See Table A1.

The business coming before the Small Causes Courts in each district is shown in Table A, which has already been noticed. In Table A1 will be found details for each Court separately. Since the beginning of 1882 a new Court of Small Causes was established at Bongong under Notification* of the Government of Bengal dated 20th December 1881. This Court is included in the Kishnaghur group of Small Cause Courts, which now consists of Kishnaghur, Ranaghat, and Bongong: and the Meherpore Court, which formerly belonged to the Kishnaghur group, has been attached in the Kooshtea group, which now consists of Kooshtea, Chooadangah, and Meherpore. The Subordinate Judge of the district continues to preside in the Pubna Small Cause Court.

* Vide page 8 of Part I of the Calcutta Gazette of the 4th January 1882.

	Instituted.	Disposed of	Pending.
1881	54,637	55,420	3,025
1882	53,271	54,356	3,204

There was thus in 1882 a decrease of 1,366 cases filed and of 1,064 cases decided; while the pending files at the close of the same period increased by 179 cases.

The Courts, or groups of Courts, where the increase or decrease in the number of cases instituted has been greatest, are shewn below:—

	Increase.	Decrease.
Magoorah, &c.	...	1,587
Backergunge	...	1,222
Cuttack	976	...
Hooghly	778	...
Kishnaghur, &c.	618	...
Kooshtea, &c.	...	570
Dacca and Munshigunge	...	442
Bhaugulpore and Monghyr	334	...

The increase in the Kishnaghur group of Small Cause Courts is nominal, and is explained by the establishment of the new Court at Bongong; for by substituting for the figures of Bongong those of Meherpore, a decrease of 1,043 cases will be found in the institutions. The Judge of the Cuttack Small Cause Court suggests the following as the causes of the increase in the institutions in his Court:—

(1) the annexation of Killa Banki to the District of Cuttack;
(2) the gradual stimulus imparted to trade by the increased facilities afforded for inland navigation; and

(3) the large works now in hand in the Irrigation Department, and the new coast canal, in connection with which a large number of petty suits brought by contractors, &c., are said to have arisen.

No reasons have been given for the large decrease in the Magoorah group of Courts. In the Jessore Small Cause Court there was a decrease of 218 in the number of cases instituted in 1882; this, in the opinion of the presiding officer, is owing to the fact that the demand for labour in connection with the railway works has kept people out of Court. That officer is also of opinion that the good harvests of the past years have, as they invariably do, reduced the number of cases in his Court.

On comparing Table F 1, appended to this Report, with the corresponding table appended to the Report for 1881, it will be observed that the number of contested cases decided by the Small Cause Courts in the past year was 288 in excess of the number decided in 1881. The decrease in the number of suits instituted in 1882 has therefore been entirely in uncontested cases.

The subjoined table shows the number of cases instituted during each of the past four years in the principal Courts and Circles :—

	1879.	1880.	1881.	1882.
Magoorah, Jhenidah and Narail	8,637	7,864	6,321	4,734
Dacca and Moonsheegunge	5,552	7,283	6,740	6,298
Kooshtea, Chooadanga, and Meherpore	5,023	4,555	4,613	6,078
Kishnaghur, Ranaghat, and Bongong	6,338	5,775	6,482	5,065
Hooghly, Howrah and Serampore	5,130	5,413	5,595	6,373
Furreedpore	908	1,411	1,311	1,079

It has already been stated that in 1882 there was an increase in the pending files of the Small Cause Courts, against a decrease in the institutions in such Courts. The increase in the pending files is most marked in the Courts at Kooshtea, Howrah, Serampore, and Sealdah. On the other hand, the arrears on the pending files were considerably reduced in the Courts at Munshigunge, Furreedpore, Chooadanga, and Magura.

Cases how decided.

In a preceding portion of this Report it is shewn that, of the total number of cases decided by the Small Cause Courts in the past year, 11,057, or 20·3 per cent., were contested. The following are the Courts or groups of Courts in which the number of contested cases was greatest in the past two years :— See Table F 1.

	1881.	1882.
Hooghly, &c.	1,277	1,492
Kooshtea, &c.	1,027	1,376
Dacca and Moonsheegunge	1,133	1,202
Magoorah, &c.	1,176	1,024
Bhaugulpore and Monghyr	781	861
Kishnaghur, &c.	1,192	848
Jessore	692	678

The relative position of the Courts at Sealdah and of the Hooghly group is for the past year exactly the same as for 1880 and 1881.

Value of suits instituted.

Out of 68,459 cases disposed of by officers vested with the powers of a Small Cause Court for the trial of petty suits not exceeding Rs. 50 in value, 9,848, or 14·3 per cent., were contested. It has been shewn before that, of the cases of the Small Cause Court class before officers not vested with the powers of a Small Cause Court Judge, 33,181 did not exceed Rs. 50 in value ; besides these, the value in 29,175 suits lay between Rs. 50 and Rs. 100. The Court has already on more than one occasion suggested that the powers vested in Munsiffs under Section 29, Act VI of 1871, should be extended to cases of the value of Rs. 100.

APPELLATE JURISDICTION.

IV.—THE HIGH COURT.

I.—Appeals under Section 15 of the Letters Patent.

Class of appeals.	Filed.		Decided.
	1881.	1882.	1881.	1882.
Second Appeals .	...	2	...	...
Third Appeals . .	114	97	103	109

The statement in the margin shews the number of appeals under Section 15 of the Letters Patent, preferred against the decrees of the High Court in its Appellate Jurisdiction, and decided in each of the past two years. The number of appeals before the Court in 1882, from the decisions of Judges of the High Court in the exercise of Original Jurisdiction, was 63, including 29 pending from the previous year. Of these, 37 were decided, and 26 remained unheard at the close of the year.

In the Reports of 1879, 1880, and 1881, it was stated that second appeals (i.e., appeals in cases where the Judges of a Division Bench sitting in appeal are equally divided in opinion) are "prevented" by the operation of Section 575, Code of Civil Procedure. This statement is somewhat misleading, as the question as to whether such appeals will lie when one of two Judges of a Division Bench has affirmed the decree of the Lower Court, has been raised in a recent appeal (No. 2 of 1882) preferred under Section 15 of the Letters Patent of 1865, and has not yet been decided.

The number of third appeals presented in 1882 against the order of a single Judge on appeal from an appellate decree in suits valued at less than Rs. 50, was 97, as compared with 114 in 1880. The decrease is remarkable, seeing that the number of decisions passed by a single Judge was 662, or 288 in excess of the number passed in 1881. The manner in which "third appeals" were disposed of in the past two years is shewn below :—

	Confirmed.	Modified.	Reversed.	Remanded.	Disposed of otherwise.
1882	88	...	10	10	1

Third appeals were preferred from the orders passed in 14·6 per cent. of the 662 appeals decided in the past year by a single Judge of the High Court, and, of the whole number of third appeals determined in that year, in 80·7 per cent. the decision of the single Judge was confirmed, as compared with 68·9 per cent. in 1881.

	Disposed of.
	1881.	1882.
Ditto by a Bench of two Judges	835	588
Total .	1,209	1,250

The figures on the margin shew a considerable increase in the number of appeals in suits valued at less than Rs. 50, decided by a single Judge of the Court, and a considerable decrease in the number decided by Benches consisting of two Judges.

II.—Appeals from Courts in the interior.

Including cases coming from Assam and British Burma, the number of first and second appeals from the decrees and orders of the Civil Courts, brought before the High Court and decided in the past two years, is as shewn in the margin. Of the first appeals brought before the Court in 1882, 39, and of those decided 24, were appeals in contested probate cases.

Class of Appeals.	Brought before the Court.		Decided.
	1881.	1882.	1881.	1882.
First appeals—

Second appeals—
From decrees	2,351	2,817	2,617	3,285
From orders	134	164	184	155

The following statement shews the manner in which the appeals brought before the Court came upon the file :—

			Instituted.	Received by transfer.	On review of Judgment.	Revived.

		Orders	230	...	...	2
	Appellate	Decrees	2,789	...	9	19
		Orders	163	...	...	1

The number of appeals from Courts in the interior decided by the High Court was 4,061 in the past as compared with 3,301 in the previous year. This increase was chiefly in respect of appeals from the appellate decrees of Lower Courts. On the other hand, there was a slight decrease in the number of appeals from original orders decided in 1882.

First appeals—

Second appeals—

The amount of the increase or decrease as the case may be, in the pending files is shewn in detail in the margin.

The following statement shews in a more complete form the work which has come before the High Court in its appellate jurisdiction during each of the past four years. It will be observed that there was a considerable increase in the civil business of the Court in 1882, while there was a slight decrease in the criminal business :—

Districts from which apeals came.

Tirhoot	53
Bhaugulpore	26
Patna	25
Sarun	20

and the smallest numbers came from Chittagong, Moorshedabad and Tipperah (2 from each), and Beerbhoom and Purneah (4 from each). None came from Dinagepore. In the other districts in the Province the numbers varied from 5 to 19.

Appeals classed according to value.

The following statement exhibits separately for each Province the value of appeals from original and appellate decrees instituted during the past year:—

	Appeals from original decrees.		Appeals from appellate decrees.
	Valued at Rs. 10,000 and upwards.	Valued at less than Rs. 10,000.	Valued at more than Rs. 50.	Not exceeding Rs. 50 in value.
Lower Provinces of Bengal . .	57	265	1,593	1,110
Assam	1	6	55	31
British Burma	...	1	...	...

It will be observed that, of the appeals from original decrees, 58 (or 17·5 per cent.) were valued at Rs. 10,000 and upwards. Of the appeals against appellate decrees, 1,141 (or 40·9 per cent. of the whole) were of a value not exceeding Rs. 50.

The greatest number of these petty appeals came from the following districts, viz.:—

Midnapore	144
Tirhoot	106
Dacca	94
Sarun	90
Hooghly	78
Shahabad	76
Bhaugulpore	58
Tipperah	55
Patna	54

The smallest numbers came from Cachar (2), and from Moorshedabad, Rajshahye, and the Assam Valley Districts (3 from each).

The following table shews more in detail the value of appeals from the original and appellate decrees of the Courts in the interior, and of third appeals under the Letters Patent instituted during the year :—

(a) Thirty-nine of these are will cases. Of the remainder, one is a suit under Section 265 of the Contract Act; another is a suit for setting aside the order of a Revenue authority; and the remaining one is a suit for costs disallowed in the decretal order.

(b) These consist of the following suits, viz., three for establishment of title; five for declaratory right; two for registration of name; one for restitution of conjugal rights; one for right to a pathway; one for setting aside an order; and one for setting aside a sale.

(c) These figures include one appeal from Rangoon.

See Table Z.

Sixty-six appeals from original decrees, 425 appeals from appellate decrees, and 55 miscellaneous appeals, did not come to a hearing, having been either summarily rejected, dismissed in default, withdrawn or compromised.

The details are as follows :—

	Appeals from original decrees.	Appeals from appellate decrees.	Miscellaneous appeals.
Summarily rejected	...	312	39
Dismissed in default	45	54	5
Withdrawn	5	31	4

The ratio of cases in which the decisions of the Lower Courts were reversed or varied was 36·4 per cent. in appeals from original decrees, 10·8 per cent. in appeals from appellate decrees, and 24·6 per cent. in miscellaneous appeals.

The following table shews the result of appeals decided by the High Court as affecting District and Subordinate Judges :—

The proportion of cases in which orders of remand were passed, or in which the Lower Court was directed to take further evidence, to the number decided by the High Court after a hearing, is given in the margin, and shews, on comparison with the figures of 1881, a considerable increase in respect of appeals from appellate decrees, and a considerable decrease in respect of appeals from original decrees. Of the whole number of appeals decided after a hearing, 15·4 per cent. were dealt with in the manner described above in 1882, as compared with 12·4 per cent. in 1881. These cases came principally from the districts of Sarun, Tirhoot, Bhaugulpore, Purneah, and Tipperah.

* Revised figures.

Of 1,294 cases filed in the past 20½ years, 625 were struck off, compromised, &c., and 624 were despatched to England. Forty-five cases were pending preparation and despatch to England at the close of 1882.

The following table shows the result of appeals to the Privy Council, in which the judgments on appeal have been received during the past six years. Besides the cases here entered as disposed of in 1882, two appeals were dismissed for want of prosecution:—

V.—APPELLATE COURTS UNDER THE HIGH COURT.

Appeals instituted
See Table J.

The number of appeals in regular suits instituted, disposed of, and pending in the local Courts during the past three years, was as follows:—

	Instituted	Disposed of.	Pending.
1880	19,529	17,559	13,143
1881	19,792	18,579	14,840
1882	19,501	22,337	12,696

These figures show a decrease of 291 in the total number of appeals preferred during 1882, as compared with 1881. On a reference to Table J, which gives details in respect of each district, it will be observed that the variations in the figures for the past two years was most marked in the following districts:—

The increase in Hooghly is reported to be the result of a corresponding increase in the number of contested cases disposed of by the Subordinate Civil Courts of the District. But the fallacy of this argument, as a general one, is shewn by the fact that, although it may be made to apply to the other districts in which a marked increase in the number of appeals is reported, it cannot be considered applicable in the case of Tipperah or Tirhoot, where the number of contested cases disposed of in 1882 was far below the number disposed of in 1881. The very great decrease in the number of appeals filed in Midnapore is explained by the fact that the institutions of 1880 and 1881 were abnormally swelled by 642 appeals in settlement suits arising out of the late re-settlement of parts of the Contai and Tumlook jurisdiction. In this district there was also a decrease in the number of contested cases disposed of during the year.

The District Judge of Bankura reports that the decrees in the number of appeals filed in that district tends to shew that the decisions of the Munsifs have given greater satisfaction to the people in the past than in the previous year. Appeals in this district have been steadily decreasing since 1880, when 452 were filed. In Burdwan there was a decrease of 98 in the number of appeals preferred. On this subject, the District Judge records the following remarks:—

"The decrease appears to be steady, as the number of appeals filed in 1881 was less by 118 than the number in 1880. I am nearly certain that this decrease, which is proceeding in an inverse ratio to the number of cases decided (these shewing a steady increase), is almost entirely due to the gradually increasing cost of litigation. The scale of charges connected with the prosecution of appeals is now so high that defeated litigants cannot afford to try their chance in an Appellate Court unless the suit is of tolerably high value. I think this is shewn by the fact that the Subordinate Judge's appeals, where the value of property is high, have increased from 8, valued at Rs. 13,367 in 1881, to 15, valued at Rs. 26,755 in 1882."

The District Judge has also forwarded some remarks to the effect that the cost of copies, under the copying system already mentioned, presses hardly upon suitors; and he urges the necessity of a reduction of these fees. He also states that the number of cases in which affidavits are required has also increased, and that there is too great a disposition on the part of the Lower Courts to insist upon or to encourage optional affidavits when evidence might be adduced in Court—a procedure which tends to add to the expense of litigation. As regards the cost of copies, it is sufficient to state that the question of the reduction of the fees is one which has for some time engaged the earnest attention of the Court; and that the Judges have now under consideration the necessity of reducing the charges, and of making such other alterations in the rules as the figures taken from the returns, not only of Burdwan, but of the whole Province of Bengal, would seem to justify. On the subject of affidavits the Court would remark that the returns for the past 3½ years furnish proof of a falling off in the number of optional, and an increase in the number of compulsory, affidavits filed throughout Bengal; so that the "encouragement" referred to by the District Judge can hardly be said to be general.

The decrease in Rungpore is also attributed partly, if not wholly, by the District Judge to the increased cost of litigation under the new scheme for the preparation of copies.

The number of appeals disposed of during 1882 was considerably in excess of the number disposed of in 1881; and, as a consequence, the arrears on the pending files were reduced by 2,144 cases. The districts where the increase in the number disposed of is most marked are given below:—

	Disposed of.		Increase
	1881.	1882.
Shahabad	444	1,753	1,309
Tirhoot	1,273	2,563	1,290
Chittagong	494	1,108	614
Midnapore	920	1,462	542
Mymensingh	713	1,229	516

On the other hand, there was a marked decrease in the number of appeals decided in 1882 in the following districts:—

	Disposed of.		Decrease.
	1881.	1882.
Gya	705	427	278
Cuttack	278	80	198
Furreedpore	555	406	149

The arrears on the files of pending appeals increased or decreased (as the case may be) in a marked degree in the following districts :—

	Increase.	Decrease.
Tirhoot	...	781
Midnapore	...	686
Shahabad	...	627
Bankura	...	315
Burdwan	...	220
Backergunge	195	...
Patna	195	...
Cuttack	168	...
Pubna and Bogra	163	...

The falling off in the number of appeals decided in Gya in the year under review is stated by the District Judge to be partly owing to the fact that there was an additional Judge in 1881; and also to the fact that much of the time of the Court during the year under report was occupied in criminal work and in the trial of the Muksudpore case referred to in an earlier part of this Report. The increase in the arrears on the pending files at Cuttack is also attributed to the District Judge not being able to devote much time to civil work owing to the Criminal Sessions. The High Court have not been satisfied with this explanation.

On a reference to Table K, it will be observed that the number of decisions in Courts in the interior, in which an appeal lay to the District Court, was in the past year 71,924. The corresponding figures for the previous year were 77,985. The ratio of appeals to decisions was therefore 26·8 per cent. for the past as compared with 25·2 per cent. for the previous year. The percentage was highest in the following districts :—

	Percentage. 1881.	1882.
Tirhoot	38·15	59·66
Sarun	47·40	47·52

The following figures shew for each of the two past years the number of appeals filed under each of the three chief classes :—

	In suits for money or movables.	In suits under the rent law.	In title and other suits.
1881	3,625	8,564	7,603
1882	3,390	9,506	6,605

These figures shew that the decrease in the institution of appeals was entirely in respect of appeals in suits for money or movables and in "title and other suits."

Appeals valued. See Table M.

The value of appeals of each of these three classes instituted in 1881 and 1882 is shewn in the following statement :—

	In suits for money or movables.	In suits under the rent law.	In title and other suits.
	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
1881	6,62,881	6,40,389	14,14,793
1882	7,26,779	7,13,889	14,30,451

The total value of appeals filed was thus Rs. 28,71,119 in 1882, as compared with Rs. 27,18,063 in 1881, shewing an increase of Rs. 1,53,056, to which all three classes of appeals have contributed. The increase in the money value of appeals, in suits for money or movables and in "title and other suits" is chiefly noticeable because there was a decrease in the institution of appeals of these classes.

The following table gives details of the value of appeals filed in the past year in the Civil Courts:—

Scale of Values.	Number of Appeals.
	In suits for money or movables.	In suits under the rent law.	In title and other suits.	Total.
Not exceeding Rs. 10	122	2,395	617	3,184
„ „ „ 50	751	4,124	2,335	7,210
„ „ „ 100	1,000	1,438	1,238	3,676
„ „ „ 500	1,185	1,307	1,656	4,148
„ „ „ 1,000	198	135	293	626
„ „ „ 5,000	132	79	353	564
Value not stated	2	28	63	93

Out of 19,501 appeals the District and Subordinate Judges were both competent to try 18,937, or 97·1 per cent. In the remainder, i.e., 564 cases, or in 2·9 per cent., the appeal lay only to the District Judge, the Court of first instance being the Subordinate Judge.

The following statement shews the result of appeals in the past two years is affecting the decisions of the Lower Courts:— Appeals how disposed of. See Table N.

	Confirmed.	Modified.	Reversed.	Remanded.	Otherwise disposed of.
1881	11,003	1,913	3,594	638	1,431
1882	12,787	2,759	4,129	752	1,910

These figures shew an increase under each head. The proportion of cases in which the orders of the Court of first instance were upheld was, however, not so satisfactory as in 1881; this proportion being 57·2 per cent. in the past as against 59 2 per cent. in the previous year.

The following comparative table shews the percentage of decisions confirmed, modified, &c., during the past three years:—

	1880.	1881.	1882.
Confirmed	59·24	59·22	57·25
Modified	10·02	10·29	12·35
Reversed	21·11	19·31	18·48
Remanded	3·34	3·43	3·37

The proportion of cases, in which the decision of the first Court was upheld, was favourable in Gya, where it was 73·5 per cent., and in Backergunge, Hooghly, Purneah, Shahabad Nuddea, Cuttack, Chota Nagpore, Tipperah, and Burdwan, where it was between 61·2 and 64·7 per cent. On the other hand, the proportion was smallest in Midnapore (48·5 per cent.), Noakhally (48·6 per cent.), Bhaugulpore (49·6 per cent.), and Tirhoot (49·7 per cent.).

Miscellaneous cases before Appellate Courts.

It was stated in the beginning of this Report that according to the more recent instructions issued by the High Court regarding the preparation of the periodical returns, certain classes of miscellaneous cases of a judicial nature have been included in the statements of "Appeals in miscellaneous cases." All these cases and appeals are now exhibited under the general description "Miscellaneous cases before Appellate Courts," and the number of such cases instituted, disposed of, and pending during the past two years was as follows:—

	Instituted.	Disposed of.	Pending.
1881	1,208	1,302	434
1882	1,802	1,829	452

From these figures it will be observed that there was a considerable increase in the number of such cases instituted in 1882 as compared with 1881. This increase is most marked in the following districts, viz., Tipperah (84), Mymensingh (67), 24-Pergunnahs (59), Dacca (55), Chittagong (52). The increase in Mymensingh is considerable, for the institutions in this district rose from 7 in 1881 to 74 in 1882. The institution of cases of this class fell off slightly in only 8 districts in the Province. Notwithstanding the considerable increase in the number disposed of, the arrears on these files have increased by 18 cases.

VI.—GENERAL AND ADMINISTRATIVE.

The work done by District Judges during each of the past four years (1879-1882) is shewn in the following table:—

	Days.		Original suits.	Miscellaneous cases.	Regular appeals.	Miscellaneous cases before Appellate Courts.	Sessions trials.	Criminal appeals.
	Civil.	Criminal.
1879 . . .	4,229	2,972	231	6,733	7,529	1,205 *	1,404	2,770
1880 . . .	3,994	3,179	251	6,889	7,775	1,289 *	1,573	3,194
1881 . . .	4,344	3,020	298	6,649	7,606	1,185 *	1,476	3,404

* Miscellaneous appeals only.

Notwithstanding the increase in the number of Sessions trials and Criminal Appeals, the Civil work, especially appellate work, done by District Judges was far in excess of that done by them in 1881. The District Judge of Chittagong got through less Civil work in 1882 than in 1881; he ascribes this falling off to the fact that during a great part of the year he was hardly a week free from the fever common to the district. He states that this fever was of a low type, and did not prevent his sitting regularly, though it certainly impeded his work; and that he would have taken leave but for the hope that the fever would pass off. The District Judge of Cuttack also did less work than in 1881. The reason given is the increase of Criminal work. He states that for a long time he found a very serious difficulty in his way in the language, for he could not understand either depositions or documents read to him without explanation. Certain of the District Judges have also alluded to the increase of work in their Courts, and on this subject the following extracts have been taken from their reports:—

Burdwan.—"I have finally to offer some remarks on the difficulty which frequently arises in this district owing to accumulation of Civil work, which can only be disposed of by the District Judge. There were in the last year 1,544 miscellaneous judicial cases for disposal, of which 271 were in the Judge's file; of these many were contested certificate and guardianship cases involving heavy sums and considerable expenditure of time. The contested probate cases are also numerous, and are for exceptionally high amounts. The number of original Civil suits triable exclusively by the Judge are, I believe, judging from the figures of 1881, larger than in any other district except Jessore. The duty paid in probate and certificate cases during the past year amounted to Rs. 5,392 for 104 cases. Many of such cases can only be disposed of after an expenditure of time and trouble equal to that involved in regular Civil suits.

"In addition to this the Judge has to dispose of all Bankura Criminal appeals and all cases committed to the Bankura Sessions, in which it appears probable that a sentence greater than seven years' imprisonment, or transportation, will be passed.

"The result of the above facts is that when, as occurred during the close of the year under review, an unusually large number of Sessions cases are committed, the Civil work which the Judge is bound to try (insolvent, probate, endowment and certificate cases) gets into hopeless arrears, and the Judge is also entirely precluded from taking on his own file, as I should always wish to do, Civil cases triable by Subordinate Judges which involve any points of complexity or any large amount of property."

Chittagong.—"The work is now increasingly protracted by argument and cross-examination. There are now three resident barristers here, and others come here occasionally. It is a truism to say that these gentlemen are retained to raise every possible preliminary objection, and to dispute every inch of ground. The local counsel are, I believe, remunerated by a daily fee, so that they have no sufficient motive for brevity.

"I may note the increasing degree in which resort is had to the Court in matters domestic. I am hardly ever without proceedings more or less keenly contested bearing on the custody of minors, the marriage of minor girls, and the possession of minor wives.

"Of extra-judicial matters the heaviest have been the investigation of a substitution of a forged document in a record, and the consequent re-arrangement of the Record and Copying Departments, and the long investigation of and report on the record-room."

Hooghly.—"It will be seen from the table that the institution of original suits cognizable by the District Court alone is annually on the increase; this is no doubt chiefly the result of the precedent of the Honourable High Court, which has ruled that suits for adjustment of partnership accounts are triable by the District Court alone under Section 265 of the Contract Act. But besides these suits, others—e.g., contested probate and administration cases, suits under the patent laws, and for dissolution of marriage, instances of all of which occurred during the past year—are yearly becoming more numerous."

Mymensingh.—"I find that the time the District Judge can give to Civil work in this district is inadequate, and that much of it is wasted on miscellaneous cases—some unimportant in themselves, and others rendered important only by the manner in which the provisions of the law are strained by the parties in order to obtain the decision of the Court on points raised only incidentally."

In Mymensingh the amount of Criminal work disposed of by the Judge was just double the amount done in 1881.

The work of the Judges of Chittagong, Cuttack, and Pubna has been brought specially to the notice of the Local Government.

The following statement shews the amount of work, Civil and Criminal, done by Additional Judges during the dast four years:— Work done by Additional Judges. See Table P 2.

	Days.		Original suits.	Miscellaneous cases.	Regular appeals.	Miscellaneous cases before Appellate Courts.	Sessions trials.	Criminal appeals.
	Civil.	Criminal.
1879 . . .	401	311	8	491	639	115	278	41
1880 . . .	275	198	6	154	517	74	133	...
1881 . . .	248	165	...	107	507	36	139	59
1882 . . .	114	140	2	10	258	11	104	36

The decrease in the amount of work done by Additional Judges since 1880 is due to the fact that in the past year the only permanent Additional Judge employed in the Province was the Additional Judge of the 24-Pergunnahs, who is also employed at Howrah in the Hooghly District. It is true that the District Judge of Bankura was employed for a short time as an Additional Judge of that district, and that an Additional Judge was deputed to assist the District Judge of Gya; but these arrangements were only temporary.

The amount of work done by Subordinate Judges during the past four years was as follows:— Work done by Subordinate Judges. See Table P 3.

	Original suits.	Miscellaneous cases.	Regular appeals.	Miscellaneous cases before Appellate Courts.
1879	5,783	7,924	11,318	88 (a)
1880	5,147	7,427	9,267	65 (a)
1882	4,943	6,703	13,027	413

(a) These are miscellaneous appeals only, heard by Deputy Commissioners, who are also Subordinate Judges in Chota Nagpore.

As stated in the Report for 1881, the Subordinate Judge of Cuttack exercises the functions of a Munsif, and in this capacity he disposed of only 11 applications for the execution of decrees. The Subordinate Judge of Dinagepore holds similar powers, but the work done by him in this capacity is exhibited separately in Table P 4. In Purneah the Subordinate Judge is vested, as in previous years, with the powers of a Small Cause Court Judge for the trial of cases cognizable by such Courts up to the limit of Rs. 50 in value.

At the close of 1882, there were employed in the Province 47 Subordinate Judges and 13 Small Cause Court Judges vested with the powers of a Subordinate Judge. Of the former, eight were Deputy Commissioners, and three were Covenanted Civil Servants, who under the scheme for training young Civilians for the judicial service were vested with the original powers of a Subordinate Judge. The corresponding figures for 1881 were 38 (a) Subordinate Judges (inclusive of Deputy Commissioners) and 13 Small Cause Court Judges vested with the powers of a Subordinate Judge. The nine Additional Subordinate Judges employed at the close of 1882 were: one Covenanted Civil Servant vested with the powers of a Subordinate Judge in each of the Districts Bhaugulpore, Purneah, and Shahabad: and one ordinary Subordinate Judge at each of the Districts Bankura, Chittagong, Jessore, Mymensing, Patna, and Tirhoot.

The appointment of an Additional Subordinate Judge in Jessore is due to the fact that during the past year the Sub-divisions of Khulna, Bagirhat, and Satkhira were withdrawn—the first two from Jessore, and the last from the 24-Pergunnahs—and formed into a new District named Khulna. This district is within the jurisdiction of the District Judge of Jessore and has a Subordinate Judge attached to it.

The work done by Covenanted Civil Servants as Subordinate Judges was as follows:—

The following figures shew the number of suits and miscellaneous cases disposed of by Munsifs during each of the past three years:—

The number of ordinary Munsifs employed at the close of 1882 was 230 as compared with 222 employed at the close of 1881. Besides the ordinary Munsifs, there were two Assistant Commissioners of Chota Nagpore vested with the powers of a Munsif, and 15 Covenanted Civil Servants (of whom one is a native) who were appointed Munsifs under the scheme already mentioned. The number of such special officers employed at the close of 1881 was three Assistant Commissioners and four Covenanted Civil Servants. The amount of (a) The Deputy Commissioner of Darjeeling, who is also a Subordinate Judge vested with the powers of a Small Cause Court Judge, was incorrectly omitted from the return for 1881.

(b) In the special reports on this subject, the figures are given as 18.

Munsif's work done by Covenanted Civil Servants during the past year is shewn in the following statement (a) :—

(a) In his special report on this subject the District Judge of the 24 Pergunnahs returned 9 cases as decided by the Civilian Munsif stationed at his head-quarters. In his annual returns he shews no cases dealt with by such an officer.
(b) In his special report the District Judge gives 13 as the correct figures.
(c) In his special report the District Judge gives 29 as the correct figures.

As pointed out in the Report for 1881, this statement is of little practical value, in considering the amount of actual work performed by any one officer.

Receipts and charges of the Civil Courts. See Tables R and S.

Including the High Court and the Presidency Small Cause Court, the receipts and charges of the Civil Courts in the past year were as shewn in the margin. The general financial result is a surplus of Rs. 29,70,494 or Rs. 1,99,945 in excess of the surplus obtained in 1881.

	Rs.
Receipts	75,75,273
Charges	46,04,779
	29,70,494

Courts at the Presidency.

Taking the Courts at the Presidency separately, there is an excess of charges over receipts amounting to Rs. 2,46,373. The details are as follows:—

Receipts.		Rs.	Charges.		Rs.
In stamps	Process fees	2,74,192	Salaries of Judicial officers		6,33,572
	Other fees	6,09,678	Establishment	Process-servers	6,035
In cash	Fines	208		Others	4,70,300
	TOTAL	9,62,340		TOTAL	12,08,713

Courts in the Interior.

	Rs.
Receipts	66,12,933
Charges	33,96,066
	32,16,867

Taking the Civil Courts in the interior separately, the net financial result for the past year was a surplus of Rs. 32,16,867 as shewn in the margin.

Deducting the charges on account of process-servers, who are paid by regular salaries amounting in the aggregate to Rs. 6,34,035 for 1882, the account for the last three years may be thus stated:—

	Receipts.	Charges.	Surplus.
	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
1880	56,00,975	23,93,616	32,07,359
1881	55,56,072	25,72,602	29,83,470
1882	59,78,898	27,62,031	32,16,867

Thus the surplus of 1882 exceeded that of 1881 by Rs. 2,33,397.

Receipts.		Rs.	Charges.		Rs.

Deducting the cost of process-servers and of copying and comparing clerks (inclusive of the copyists not on the fixed establishment), the net receipts from stamps amounted to Rs. 56,83,754. Under the head of process fees separately, the net gain to Government in the past year was Rs. 11,88,908 as compared with Rs. 10,38,891 gained in the previous year.

The following figures shew the results, during the past year, of the system of preparing copies, introduced in 1880 :—

	Rs.	Rs.
Copying and comparing fees realized by special stamps . . .		3,33,584
DEDUCT—
Salary of copying and comparing clerks on the fixed establishment	21,047
Fees paid to copyists not on the fixed establishment .	1,66,739
Surplus . . .		1,45,798

It will thus appear that the surplus of the past year exceed by Rs. 7,763 that obtained in 1881. Besides the surplus of Rs. 1,45,798 obtained in 1882, "Expedition Fees" were in many cases realized from parties. These fees, as stated in the Report for 1881, are treated in the accounts as "Miscellaneous Receipts." The Court have now under consideration the advisability of lowering by 25 per cent. the charges for copies now payable by the public. The present charge is at the rate of four annas for every folio consisting of 150 English or 300 Vernacular words. One-half of the amount levied is paid over as remuneration to the section-writers, who alone are employed in preparing copies required by the public. It is in contemplation to reduce the charge to three annas per folio, the remuneration of the section-writers remaining unchanged, and the profit to Government being reduced by 50 per cent. This profit is intended to cover the cost of the necessary stamped paper, the salaries of extra comparing clerks, the pensions of members of the fixed establishment employed in this department, and other expenses connected with the scheme. The matter will shortly be decided in communication with the Local Government.

The following statement shews the receipts and charges of the several grades of Courts in the past year, and the surplus or deficit which has resulted :—

	Receipts.	Charges.	Results, plus or minus.
Courts in the Interior.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
Small Cause Courts	4,64,102	2,25,921	+2,38,181
Munsifs' Courts	42,62,322	15,94,128	+26,68,194
Subordinate Judges' Courts	9,79,926	4,63,405	+5,16,521
District and Additional Judges' Courts . .	9,06,583	11,12,612	—2,06,029
Courts at the Presidency.
Small Cause Courts	2,77,110	2,10,410	+66,700
High Courts (Original and Appellate) . .	6,85,230	9,98,303	—3,13,073

As in the previous year, the receipts have largely exceeded the expenditure in every grade of Court in the mofussil, except in the Courts of District Judges. For the reasons given in the Report for 1881, it by no means follows that a District Judge's Court is a source of loss to Government. The results of the past year in Courts of this class were more favorable than in the previous year, when the receipts fell short of the expenditure by Rs. 2,18,448. Some portion of this increase in the receipts may possibly be due to the fact that partnership suits must, according to a recent ruling of the High Court, be instituted in the Court of the District Judge, who is accordingly now credited with the fees leviable in such suits. The results in the mofussil Small Cause Courts and Munsifs' Courts were also more favorable than in 1881, the surplus obtained in these Courts in 1882 being Rs. 14,128 in the former and Rs. 2,51,468 in the latter, in excess of the surplus obtained in 1881. In the Subordinate Judges' Courts, the surplus of 1882 fell short of that for 1881 by Rs. 44,618, and in the Presidency Small Cause Court it fell short by Rs. 11,637. On the Appellate Side of the High Court, the receipts fell short of the expenditure by Rs. 4,85,036 in 1882 as compared with Rs. 4,69,101 in 1881; and on the Original Side the receipts exceeded the expenditure by Rs 1,71,963 in 1882 as compared with an excess of Rs. 1,77,843 in 1881.

As fees on probate and letters of administration, Rs. 3,18,718 were realized in the past, as compared with Rs. 3,16,134 in the previous, year. The amount levied in the District Courts was Rs. 93,067 in 1882 against Rs. 91,870 in 1881. In the High Court, omitting cases in which the assets were exclusively in the Province of Assam, the amount of duty realized was Rs. 2,25,651 as compared with Rs. 2,24,264 in 1881.

The sums here exhibited are treated in account as receipts of the Civil Courts. Deducting these, the surplus or net revenue realized from such Courts was, in the past year, Rs. 26,51,776.

Civil Court Amins. See Table U.

The receipts and disbursements on account of Civil Court Amins during 1881 and 1882 were as follows:—

		Receipts.	Disbursements.
		Rs.	Rs.
1881	Permanent Amins	33,397	34,167
	Temporary „	4,501	4,029
1882	Permanent Amins	35,469	33,760
	Temporary „	5,598	4,338

The receipts thus exceeded the expenditure by Rs. 2,969 in the past year. In the preceding year there was a nominal loss to Government of Rs. 298, owing to the fact that, in 1881, the receipts on account of the employment of Amins by the Revenue Courts were credited to the Revenue Department, the portion of their salary for the time thus occupied being debited to the Civil Department. In the year under review, the receipts and the expenditure have both been accounted for in the Civil Department, in consequence of a recommendation to that effect made by the High Court to the Government of Bengal. In Shahabad, Burdwan, Chittagong, Rungpore, and Jessore, a considerable deficit was experienced. In Chota Nagpore, the receipts exceeded the expenditure (including the allowance set apart for pensions) by Rs. 651, as compared with a loss to Government of Rs. 547 in 1881.

Local investigations. See Table V.

The number of cases in which local investigations were held and completed last year was 1,429. The number held and completed in 1881 was 1,430. In 1882, there was a considerable increase in respect of cases where the value of the property in litigation varied between Rs. 100 and Rs. 500, and in cases where the property exceeded Rs. 1,000 in value. On the other hand, there was a marked decrease in respect of cases where the value of the property varied between Rs. 5 and Rs. 20 and between Rs. 500 and Rs. 1,000.

The average value involved in the suits in which the investigation was made was Rs. 955·1 and the average cost Rs. 32. The corresponding figures for 1881 were Rs. 859·9 and Rs. 30.

Proceedings in Insolvency. See Table W.

The following statement exhibits the number of applications for a declaration of insolvency filed, disposed of, and pending in 1881 and 1882:—

	Instituted.	Disposed of.	Pending.
1881	319	298	85
1882	370	380	75

There was thus an increase of 51 in the number of applications for insolvency filed in 1882. In 1881, the number filed was 44 in excess of the number filed in 1880. Applications for a declaration of insolvency were in the past year most numerous in the following districts:—

	Filed in 1881.	Filed in 1882.
Hooghly	22	49
Dacca	21	29
Backergunge	10	24
Tipperah	10	24
Bhaugulpur	9	20
Burdwan	10	19

On the other hand, such applications were least numerous in the following districts:—

	Filed in 1881.	Filed in 1882.
Shahabad	4	2
Chota Nagpore	6	2
Rajshahye	5	3
Jessore	11	3
Gya	13	3
Furreedpore	4	4

In the remaining districts, the number filed varied from 5 to 14.

In the past year, no decree-holder availed himself of the provisions of Section 344, Act X of 1882, under which he could apply to have his judgment-debtor declared an insolvent.

Applications how disposed of.

Including 85 applications which were pending at the close of 1881, the total number on the files during 1882 was 455. Of these, 117 were granted, 109 were rejected, 154 were withdrawn or otherwise not prosecuted, and 75 were pending at the close of the year.

Of the 117 applications which were granted, a Receiver was appointed in 15 cases; and, of the 109 applications which were rejected, sentences of imprisonment were passed, under Section 359 of the Code of Civil Procedure, in 6 cases. In no case was an applicant sent to a Magistrate to be dealt with according to law.

Number of persons declared to be insolvent, discharged and pending.

See Table W 1.

The number of persons declared to be insolvents, the number who obtained their discharge, and the number who remained undischarged during each of the years 1881 and 1882, are given below:—

	Declared to be insolvents.	Discharged.	Pending.
1881	114	110	4

The districts noted on the margin shew the largest number of persons declared to be insolvents. No orders were made in this respect in Sarun and Chota Nagpore. In each of the districts of Burdwan, Bankura, Cuttack, Noakhally, Patna, Pubna and Bogra, Rajshahye and Shahabad, only one person was declared to be insolvent. In the remaining districts the number varied from 2 to 5.

The estates of 22 insolvents, including those remaining unsettled at the close of 1881(c), were in the hands of Receivers during 1882. Of these, the proceedings in 11 were finally closed during the year, leaving 11 in the Receivers' hands at the close of the year. The number of estates placed in the hands of Receivers during each of the past two years was respectively 9 and 11. The amount realized and disbursed, and the balance in the hands of such officers, during each of those years, are shewn below :—

* Revised figures.

The following remarks, relating to the manner in which the provisions of Chapter XX of the Code of Civil Procedure have been applied in their districts, are extracted from the reports of certain District Judges.

Backergunge.—"The applicants in insolvency belong to all classes of the community. Only 3 were declared insolvent during 1882, but more were such in the ordinary sense of the word,—that is, utterly without means of paying their debts,—and would have been so declared, but for vain attempts to conceal a fraction of their property and foolish lies told in their applications.

"In a country where people in need habitually do not hesitate to promise 50 or 60 per cent. interest on loans, insolvency must be, if not frequent, at least not uncommon."

Bhaugulpore.—"On the whole, I think that Chapter 20 of the Code of Civil Procedure works well. It is possible that fraudulent debtors sometimes reap advantage from it; but in the majority of cases this can be guarded against, and there are specially hard cases to which it gives relief. I am not sure that the appointment of a Receiver under Section 351 is generally appropriate beyond the limits of the Presidency towns. In the only case where, there being property to administer, I appointed a Receiver, things came to a dead-lock. The main creditor, who was armed with various decrees, saw himself appointed Receiver with much apparent joy; but when, as I imagine, he found from his legal advisers that the effect of his appointment was not to vest the property in him for himself only or for his prior satisfaction, but probably for the benefit of many other persons who had not gone to the expense of decrees, he thought the Receivership distasteful, and, without any attempt at possession, resigned the post. I have not since been able to find any one willing to take the post of Receiver for a remuneration of 5 per cent. on the value of the property."

Chota Nagpore.—"The provisions of the law relating to insolvency have hardly been used by the people in the districts of this division. During the year 1882, only 2 applications were filed in one out of the four districts, and 4 were pending over from the previous year; so there were altogether 6 for disposal during the year; and out of these, 4 were not prosecuted and 1 was refused, leaving 1 pending adjudication at the close of the year.

(a) Three of these work also as contractors.

(b) Of these, 1 was formerly a zemindar, who, when declared insolvent, was serving as a peadah (peon) under a zemindar. The decree in the case of this person was for Rs. 60,000, of which Rs. 32,000 were still due after sale of all his property.

(c) The estates of 11 persons remained unsettled at the close of 1881, not 12 as stated in that report.

"The paucity of insolvency operations is, I think, in a great measure due to the fact that the people of these districts do not yet understand the provisions of the law; and probably, in some measure, to the operation of the Encumbered Estates Act, which protects the holders of all estates taken under it from arrest."

Dacca.—"It will thus be seen" [vide statement on the margin shewing the status and profession of the persons who were declared insolvent] "that, of the 8 persons who were declared insolvents during the past year, the status of none of them can be said to have been good, and most of them belonged to a very low class of society. I cannot recollect any particular instance of flagrantly fraudulent applications under Section 344, Civil Procedure Code, made to me during the past year; but the fact that, out of 31 applications disposed of in 1882, only 8 were allowed, shews that the provisions of Section 344, Civil Procedure Code, must have been largely resorted to by other than bonâ fide insolvents. There is one fact, however, that may account for the number of applications under Section 344 that have been disallowed. This is, that many judgment-debtors put in applications to be declared insolvents, merely as a device to gain time, and an opportunity for making an arrangement with their creditors. Very many judgment-debtors, as soon as they are arrested in execution, now at once declare their intention of seeking relief under the insolvency provisions of the Civil Procedure. They accordingly get released on bail under Section 336, Civil Procedure Code. They subsequently present applications under Section 344. During all this time they are trying to satisfy their creditors by promises or partial payments. Having succeeded in doing so, they withdraw their applications under Section 344, Civil Procedure Code, or allow them to be dismissed for default."

No.	Name of the insolvent.	Status.	Profession.
1	Guru Prosad Das . .	Petty Talookdar, Kayest by caste.	Service, income Rs. 10 a month.
2	Chuidam Changa . .	Chandal by caste.	Thatcher.
3	Srimoti Moyna Sundori .	Washerwoman by caste.	No occupation, dependent upon another for maintenance.
4	Kali Kumar Bundopadhya	Brahmin by caste	Trade.
5	Amar Chand Goladar .	Caste not known.	Day-laborer.
6	Gopal Das Babaji . .	Bairagi by caste.	Professional beggar.
7	Mahomed Hosain . .	Petty Talookdar.	No occupation.
8	Bahar Ali . . .	Ditto.	No occupation, dependent upon another for maintenance.

Patna.—"The working of the Insolvency Chapter is no more successful than it was last year. It will be seen that no estates were put into the hands of a Receiver. All the applications came from judgment-debtors and only one was granted."

Purnea.—"I still consider the provisions in the Civil Procedure Code as to insolvency unsuited to the cases which arise in this district."

Sarun.—"The working of the provisions of the law relating to insolvency continues to be very different from what was apparently intended by the Legislature. Four cases were disposed of during the year, in not one of which I considered myself justified in declaring the applicant to be insolvent. Not a single case occurred in which any property was put at the disposal of the Court for distribution among the creditors. I see no reason, from the experience of the past year, to modify the view which I have had occasion to express in former reports with reference to this subject."

Shahabad.—"The present provisions of law should be at least maintained. I would even strengthen them in a quasi-penal direction if I had my own way. Evasion of debts is, I think, common, even when means to pay exist. The baneful system of 'benami' or 'furzi,' and the constitution of a 'mitakshara' family, facilitate a fraud, which a good insolvency law tends to check."

Tipperah.—"During the year there were 26 applications, of which 13 were granted, 8 withdrawn, and 5 rejected, the total amount of the assets being Rs. 1,295,—i. e., an average of Rs. 49; but, in one case the assets being Rs. 570, the average of the remainder is to be reduced accordingly. It will thus be seen that the applicants had generally hardly any property to place at the disposal of their creditors. The proceedings may generally be described as of a very petty character, and might well have been disposed of in the inferior Courts. I think only those where the total amount of debts exceeds a certain pecuniary limit, say Rs. 1,000, should be tried by the District Court. In only seven cases did the amount of debts scheduled exceed Rs. 1,000."

The following extracts, relating to the effect of recent legislation on the work of the Courts, are selected from some of the district reports:—

Bhaugulpur.—"The Minors' Act, No. XL of 1858. During the year, applications under Section 18 of Act XL of 1858, for an order to sell or mortgage the immovable property of a minor, greatly increased in number. This is said to be due to certain rulings of the Privy Council and High Court regarding transfer of property under the Mitakshara Law. Generally the minor is a co-sharer with adults in undivided family property. The cases are so entirely one-sided, that it is not always that the Court can sanction such sales without misgiving. What I require from the applicants is a clear statement shewing the whole immovable property of the minor and its yearly and gross value; the total debts or proportionate debts of the minor, and the mode in which those debts were incurred; and the nature and value of the property which it is intended to sell or mortgage: this statement being supported by an affidavit of the manager. I then look into the alleged debts and see how far they are supported by proof, and how far primâ facie binding on the minor's estate. I then pass orders refusing or else sanctioning the sale or mortgage. Generally, according to the case made out, it is much for the advantage of the minor to allow the sale or mortgage, and so clear him of debts which are accumulating at ruinous interest; and I therefore give the required sanction. But it is obvious that a Court proceeding thus ex parte may, however vigilant, be taken in. I think that the effect of the Court's order under Section 18 is generally overrated by those who apply. They seem to think that it will be quite a sufficient warrant for the sale or mortgage, and will prevent all future question as to the advisability or legality of the transaction. I do not know whether there has been a similar increase in applications of this kind in other District Courts of Behar; but, if so, I am inclined to think that the dealing with matters of this sort will become a not unimportant part of the duties of the Court, and will introduce a class of cases akin to those in the Court of Chancery."

Burdwan.—"The most important change in legislation during the year under review was the passing of the Transfer of Property Act. As, however, it came into operation only in July last, it would be premature at present to pass any opinion as to its practical working. The introduction of the new Code of Civil Procedure took place during the past year. One noticeable change in the Act is in Section 347, which allows the Judge a discretion in exempting the judgment-debtors from payment of process fees for service of copy of application on creditors. This provision has been acted upon in some cases with beneficial results, and it will no doubt improve the efficacy of the insolvent procedure. The cases, it may be noted, have increased from 10 in 1881 to 19 in 1882, or nearly 100 per cent.; as these cases are almost always contested, this increase means a considerable expenditure of time in this branch of the District Judge's duties."

Dinagepore.—"The principal new Acts which were in force during the past year were 'The Negotiable Instruments Act, XIII of 1881,' 'The Transfer of Property Act, IV of 1882, and the 'New Civil Procedure Code, Act XIV of 1882.' These appear, however, to have had little effect on the working of the Courts in this district. Regulations I of 1798 and XVII of 1806 having been repealed by the Transfer of Property Act, must make a practical difference in the institution of suits for foreclosure and redemption suits, and will simplify procedure in such cases. But not many suits of the kind under the new Act appear to have been filed, and none as yet in the Subordinate Judge's Court. Mortgages by conditional sale are not often resorted to in this district. It is said that some pleaders find a difficulty in understanding the new Act, especially Chapter II.

"The change introduced by Act XII of 1879, in Sections 51 and 52 of the Civil Procedure Code, in regard to the subscription and verification of plaints, is stated to free suitors from much difficulty in this respect. The addition of the proviso in Section 95 and the Government Resolution remitting postage charges for notices, &c., has been an advantage; the Court Nazir has also been thus relieved to some extent of the duty of receiving small deposits.

"Section 335 of the Code, in regard to obstruction by a claimant other than the judgment-debtor, is stated to be a useful addition to the old Code."

Hooghly.—"During the past year the Civil Procedure Code was revised; but as the revision consisted of the correction of a few errors and omissions only, which did not alter any of the important provisions of the Code, I need not comment upon its operation beyond stating that the Code is being gradually better understood by the people and their legal advisers, and by the Courts also. Two very important Acts (the Transfer of Property Act and the Indian Easement Act) were passed during the year and came into operation from last July. These Acts have settled many intricate questions of the law of property in this country. The old and cumbrous procedure in foreclosing mortgages and redeeming mortgaged property, which had obtained in this country for nearly a century, has now been done away with; and this relief may now be had by more swift and direct methods. A very important innovation, which will tend to abolish a very fertile source of litigation in this country, is contained in section 57 of the Transfer of Property Act, whereby a purchaser of incumbered property in execution sales may come forward and pay off the incumbrance."

Noakhally.—"Some very important Acts were passed during the year. But those which were likely to affect the administration of justice in this district were :—

Act	XIV	of 1882	. . . . Civil Procedure.
Act	IV	of 1882	. . . . Transfer of Property.
Act	XXVI	of 1882	. . . . Negotiable Instruments Act.

The amendments in the Code of Civil Procedure have not led to much which calls for remark. Under Section 368 I was in one case able to hear an appellant attempting to satisfy the Court that he had sufficient reason for not making an application to substitute a legal representative in due time. The Munsifs all state that as yet they have no data for reporting on the effect produced by Act IV of 1882, nor has any case yet arisen in my own Court in which that Act has affected the proceedings. Comment may, therefore, be postponed until next year.

"The Negotiable Instruments Act is one which will have little effect at present in a backward district like Noakhally.

"It was brought to my notice in the course of the year that the limitation of suits brought to set aside a jummabundi, under Act VIII (B. C.) of 1869 is very hard on plaintiffs; they cannot sue until two months after giving notice to the Collector (Section 424, Code of Civil Procedure), nor later than four months after publication of the jummabundi."

Purneah.—"In Purneah it is long before a knowledge of recent Acts reaches even the vakils practising at the out-station Munsifis: and I think it would be conducive to the good working of the Courts were really intelligible and accurate translations of the Acts sent down to the Nazirs of the various Munsifis for sale to the public. As a notable instance I would observe that no application has yet been made to this Court under Act V of 1881."

Sarun.—"Of the legislation during the year affecting the administration of civil justice, I have chiefly to notice the Transfer of Property Act (Act IV, 1882) and the Civil Procedure Code (Act XIV, 1882). The immediate effect of Act IV of 1882 was to entirely alter the procedure in order to foreclosure, which, until the Act came into force, had differed in Bengal from the practice in other parts of India. From certain cases which have come within my experience under Regulation XVII of 1806, I think that the alteration in the law so far is decidedly an improvement. What the general working of the Act will be remains to be ascertained by experience. The new Civil Procedure Code is for the most part a reprint of Act X, 1877, with some verbal alterations."

Shahabad.—"No legislation materially affecting the working of the Courts has come under my observation during the past year. The 'Transfer of Property Act' has not yet had time to produce any noticeable results. No improvement has taken place in the veracity of the people, on which more than on any past legislation depends a successful administration of justice. This unveracity is, in fact, so great, and so pervasive of all ranks who appear in the Courts, that the ascertainment of any fact as clearly true may be said, by all who were prepared to speak out what they think, to be nearly impossible. Whether A. cultivated X. last year and backwards for 12 years, or it was B. who did it, can hardly ever be known; nor can I see any hope of improvement in this matter. 'Education' has had a long trial, which has been a long failure. The only sources from which we can look for escape or improvement are (a) the legislative contraction of the area over which oral evidence extends, as by further 'Registration' and similar Acts; (b) the formation of a public opinion which shall work against lying, in the same degree as public opinion at present approves of and adopts lying as a legitimate means of gaining one's end. But there are as yet no signs of the formation of this public opinion even in an embryo state."

II.—CIVIL COURTS SUBORDINATE TO THE HIGH COURT.

§11. The total number of original suits instituted and decided in the Civil Courts of the Lower Provinces subordinate to the High Court in each of the past three years, and the number pending at the close of each of those years, respectively, are shown below :— Original suits instituted, disposed of, and pending. Table A.

	Instituted.	Determined.	Pending.
In 1881	383,229	390,291*	54,437*
„ 1882	403,877	407,239	57,443
„ 1883	407,657	408,789	63,274

* Revised figures.

From these figures it will appear that there was an increase of 3,780 in the number of suits instituted during 1883 upon the institutions of the previous year. The increase in the number of suits decided was not in proportion, and the pending files were in consequence heavier by 5,831 cases than at the close of 1882 and by 8,837 than at the close of 1881.

Upon a reference to the figures given in the margin, it will be observed that the increase in the institutions of 1883 has again taken place in the Regular Civil Courts, while the institutions in the Courts of Small Causes have fallen off by 3,072 cases.

	Regular	S.C.C.
„ 1882 . .	350,606	53,271
„ 1883 . .	357,458	50,199

The variations in the figures of the past two years, as regards the institutions in the Regular Civil Courts, were most marked in the following districts :—

Districts.	Institutions.		Increase.	Districts.	Institutions.		Decrease.
	1882.	1883.			1882.	1883.
Jessore	21,785	25,281	3,496	24-Pergunnahs . . .	23,810	21,424	2,386

Rungpore . . .	13,495	14,538	1,043	Moorshedabad . . .	13,146	12,659	487

The falling-off in the number of cases instituted in the Courts of Small Causes occurred chiefly in the following localities :—

	Institutions
	1882.	1883.	Decrease.
Dacca	4,093	3,426	667

Munshiganj	2,205	1,858	347
Monghyr	2,917	2,573	344
Kishnaghur	2,479	2,143	336
Bhagulpore	2,275	1,940	335
Narail	1,864	1,552	312

A marked increase took place in the two following Courts only:—

	1882.	1883.	Increase.
Mihrpur	1,574	1,909	335

§ 11. The decrease in Bhagulpore, which was considerable in the case of rent-suits, is ascribed to the final amicable settlement of the questions which long proved a source of dispute between the lessees of Raja Lilanand Singh and the tenants on his numerous estates. In Dacca the prosperous condition of the agricultural classes and consequent tolerably satisfactory relations between landlords and tenants have led to a decrease in suits for arrears of rent and the almost entire disappearance of suits for enhancement. In Moorshedabad and Burdwan, where the relations between landlords and tenants are generally satisfactory, the badness of the harvests has apparently given rise to disinclination on the part of landlords to harass their tenantry with litigation. In the latter district the Judge observes that this view is borne out by the fact that the decrease in institutions was confined to the last half of the year, when the effects of the drought were perceptible. The partial failure of the winter crops in Bankura, which raised the value of paddy and afforded the well-to-do máhájans and rent receivers a good opportunity to sell their stored-up grain and so provide themselves with funds for suits against raiyats who would but for the failure of crops have been in a position to pay their rent in kind, is assigned as the cause of the increase of litigation. The general advance of civilization in the district and the improvement in the public health are said also to have contributed to the same result. Regarding the falling-off in the institutions in Midnapore which took place mainly in rent-suits, the District Judge remarks that it is a matter of general observation that where the harvests are plentiful, rent-suits are less and title-suits more numerous, funds being available for the prosecution of claims upon which the twelve-year rule allows claimants to sleep until a convenient season. In Noakhally a considerable decrease took place in the Munsifis of Sandíp and Begumganj, owing, it is said in the latter case to the improved condition and general prosperity of the people. The decrease is most marked in petty suits on bonds, and it is said that bond debts are paid sooner than others in order to escape the payment of interest. In the Dewanganj Munsifi the hostile feeling existing between zemindars and tenants led to an increase. A progressive increase in litigation has taken place in Mymensingh since 1879, which, being due to general causes, is expected by the Judge to continue. At Attea an unfavourable jute season caused a falling-off in bond suits, which did not however extend to the other Munsifis in the district. Considering the size and enormous population of this district, the number of rent-suits instituted is inconsiderable: the cultivating raiyats as a rule, it is said, pay not only their rents but cesses enormously in excess of their rents, willingly and without the intervention of the Court. In certain parganas, however, the relations between landlords and tenants have become strained, chiefly in connection with claims for enhanced rent by the landlords and with the terms of the kabúliyats which they seek to impose on their raiyats. Some of the landlords, whose conduct has formed the subject of complaint, reside within the jurisdiction of the Iswarganj Court where the greatest increase in the number of rent-suits has occurred. In Kushtea there was an increase of rent-suits owing to certain tenants withholding payment of rent on account of their inability to come to terms with their landlord respecting lands washed away by the Padma river and other lands taken up by Government for railway purposes. Disputes between two zemindars who are co-sharers, and the consequent non-payment of rent by their tenants, also contributed to the increase. The speedy disposal of rent-suits under the scheme recently introduced of setting apart certain selected officers for the trial of this class of suits is reported to be the sole cause of the increase in the institutions at Alipore and Basirhat in the 24-Pergunnahs, and to have had some effect in the same direction at Diamond Harbour. In the latter Munsifi the existence of ill-feeling between a zemindar and his tenants also operated to increase the number of rent-suits. A decrease in the number of suits for money or moveables in Hazareebagh, Lohardugga, and Manbhum (Chota-Nagpore) is ascribed to the more extensive working of Act VI of 1876. (The Local causes of increase or decrease in litigation.

Encumbered Estates Act) during the year. A variety of other causes is assigned by local officers for the increase or decrease of institutions, which may be and probably is only the natural ebb and flow of the tide of litigation; and it is just possible that there is too great anxiety to explain variations which after all do not require explanation from abnormal causes.

§ 12. The variations in the figures of the past two years, as regards suits decided by the Regular Civil Courts, were most marked in the following districts:— Suits decided.

Districts.	Decided.		Increase.	Districts.	Decided.		Decrease.
	1882.	1883.			1882.	1883.
Jessore	22,347	25,286	2,939	Dacca	20,490	18,485	2,005

Rungpore	13,905	14,996	1,091	Furreedpore	16,197	15,039	1,158
Chittagong	12,461	13,420	959	Bhagulpore	9,736	8,866	870

Tipperah	22,124	22,908	784	Midnapore	17,347	16,728	619

A considerable increase took place in the amount of work done in the Small Cause Court at Sealdah, while in the following Small Cause Courts the number of cases decided in the past year fell considerably short of the work done in 1882:—

	Cases decided.
	1882.	1883.	Decrease.
Cuttack	2,157	1,092	1,065

Munshiganj	2,382	1,841	541
Narail	1,974	1,595	379
Kishnaghur	2,501	2,158	343

§ 13. In the districts given below there was an observable increase at the close of 1883 in the pending files of the Regular Civil Courts as compared with the files at the end of the previous year:— Pending files of Original Suits.

	Number of suits pending at the close of
	1882.	1883.	Increase.
Shahabad	2,162	2,785	623
Tipperah	4,546	5,137	591
Chittagong	1,971	2,478	507
Bankura	993	1,490	498
Patna	992	1,482	490
Rajshahye	1,161	1,601	440
Purneah	1,457	1,886	429
Bhagulpore	1,804	2,218	414

In the districts of Noakhally and Burdwan alone the files of regular suits were appreciably reduced.

Additional Munsifs are now employed in clearing off the arrears on the files in Mymensingh, Rajshahye, Purneah, Shahabad, and Tipperah. In Noakholly, notwithstanding the considerable decrease in the pending files of the whole district, the arrears on the file of the Munsif of Sandip were nearly double those at the close of 1882—a state of things attributed by the Munsif to his absence from the station for about a month from various causes, and to certain lengthy proceedings taken in a number of similar suits brought for the avoidance of under-tenures and for ejectment. An increase of 313 cases took place in the pending files of the Courts in Dacca, owing to a diminution in the numerical strength of the judicial staff.

Original suits and appeals pending for more than a year.

§ 14. The number of suits and appeals pending for more than one year at the close of each of the years 1882 and 1883 is given on the margin. These general figures for the year under report compare unfavourably with those of the previous year. The increase was most marked in Gya, Shahabad, Bhagulpore, Backergunge, and Chittagong. Some decrease, however, took place in Moorshedabad, Bhagulpore, Midnapore, Bankura, and Cuttack. The reduction in Bankura was due to the deputation of a Subordinate Judge to the district for a portion of the year.

Appeals . .	413	633

No suit of more than one year's standing remained undecided at the close of 1883 in Backergunge or Dinagepore, and no such appeal remained pending in Beerbhoom, Dacca, Dinagepore, Jessore, Moorshedabad, Noakhally, Purneah, or Rungpore. The abnormally large number of old appeals pending in Bhagulpore was due to the ill-health, during the 3rd quarter of the year, of the District Judge. The arrears in Backergunge were due to the temporary removal from the district of one of the Subordinate Judges.

Number and value of suits instituted, 1879 to 1883.

Table C.

§ 15. The total number of suits instituted in 1883, including cases in the Courts of Small Causes, exceeded the number instituted in 1879 by 32,875 or 8·7 per cent. The value of the property in litigation during the same period increased by ₹9,63,506 or 2 per cent.

In the following statement the districts have been grouped according to the number of suits instituted in 1883 :—

Local increase or decrease of original litiga-

In Jessore, where the number of suits was slightly in excess of 33,000, nearly one-third, as in 1882, were instituted in the Courts of Small Causes. In the 24-Pergunnahs the number was slightly over 28,000, of which about one-fifth were instituted in the Small Cause Courts. The number in Backergunge slightly exceeded 25,000, and in Hooghly was slightly below 20,000. On a comparison with the Report for 1882, it will be observed that while the number of districts in which the institutions exceeded 20,000 has decreased by one, the number of those in which the institutions exceeded 10,000 has increased by three. The number of districts where the institutions fell below 10,000 has thus fallen from 11 to 9.

During the past five years litigation has increased in a marked degree in Bankura (74·7 per cent.), Rajshahye (52·8 per cent.), Mymensingh (34·1 per cent.), and Tipperah (22·8 per cent.). During the same period litigation has fallen off in seven districts, the decrease being most conspicuous in Noakhally (18·7 per cent.), Nuddea (8·6 per cent.), and Chittagong (7 per cent.).

	1882.	1883.
Suits cognizable by a Small Cause Court . . .	208,362	212,047
Suits under the Rent Law	159,830	162,501

Excluding cases instituted in Courts of Small Causes, the number of cases of the Small Cause Court class instituted in 1883 was 161,845, of which 71,822 were decided by 91 Munsifs vested with the powers of a Small Cause Court Judge for the trial of suits not exceeding Rs. 50 in value, and by one Subordinate Judge vested with such powers for the trial of suits up to Rs. 100 in value. During the year under report there was a continued decrease of 5·7 per cent. in the number of cases instituted in the Courts of Small Causes, while in the Regular Civil Courts there was a continued increase of 4·3 per cent. in institutions of the Small Cause Court class. In suits under the Rent Law there was a continued increase of 1·6 per cent., while "title and other suits," which had increased by 2·2 per cent. in 1882, declined by 7·2 per cent. The decrease in cases of the Small Cause Court class, instituted in the Courts of Small Causes, will be noticed in a subsequent paragraph. The increase of 43 per cent. in cases of the Small Cause Court class instituted in the Regular Civil Courts was mainly due to institutions in Jessore, Cuttack, Backergunge, and Rungpore. In the 24-Pergunnahs, Tirhoot, and Moorshedabad there was a marked decrease in this class of cases.

The districts which contributed specially to the increase in the number of rent-suits were Backergunge, Jessore, Tirhoot, and Chittagong. There was a marked decrease in Hooghly, Bhagulpore, the 24-Pergunnahs, Noakhally, and Midnapore. An increase in the number of these suits which took place in the Sadr Sub-division of Sarun is attributed by the Rent-suit Munsif to the existence of increased ill-feeling between the zamindars and their raiyats on account of the leasing out of villages to petty thikadars, whose sole aim and object is to realize, fairly or unfairly, something in excess of the previous rental. The establishment of a separate tribunal for the speedy disposal of this class of cases is stated to have also promoted institutions. The Munsif of Sawan thinks that the completion of partition proceedings tends to increase this kind of litigation.

As regards title and other suits, the decrease, which was common to all, except eight districts, was most marked in Bhagulpore, Cuttack, Backergunge, Jessore, Beerbhoom, and Midnapore. In the remaining districts the increase was slight. In Sarun the decline has been gradual since 1881, and is again attributed to the cessation of suits brought to set aside the Collectors' orders under the Land Registration Act. The formation of the new Registers under the Act afforded an opportunity of bringing forward dormant and doubtful claims, the disposal of which by the Civil Courts has had the effect of quieting and settling titles in this and other districts in which estates belong to numerous sharers.

Including Small Cause Court cases, each of the following districts had more than 10,000 suits for money or movables during the year under notice:—

	1881.	1882.	1883.
Mymensingh	15,514	16,668	17,283
24-Pergunnahs	14,371	15,321	14,813
Jessore	13,602	12,129	13,917
Nuddea	13,328	12,689	12,305
Tipperah	9,539	11,094	11,575

Dacca, Mymensingh, and the 24-Pergunnahs still continue to head the list as in the previous two years, but in the first-named district a gradual increase has taken place, and a gradual decrease in the second.

As in the previous two years, Jessore (17,608), Backergunge (16,900), and the 24-Pergunnahs (11,114), are the only districts in which the number of rent-suits has exceeded 10,000. Their relative position also remains unaltered. Tipperah comes next with 9,170 rent-suits, and is followed by Chittagong, Hooghly, Midnapore, and Noakhally with a little over 7,000 suits.

As in 1882, Chittagong and Tipperah were the only districts where more than 2,500 "title and other suits" were instituted; but in Chittagong many of these suits were concerned with property of very small value. In the following districts the number instituted exceeded 2,000:—

	1881.	1882.	1883.
Tipperah	2,318	2,624	2,547
Jessore	1,935	1,979	2,316
24-Pergunnahs	2,180	2,411	2,283

§18. The following table contains a comparative statement of the various classes of suits under the Rent Law, instituted during the past two years in the Civil Courts and in the Revenue Courts:—

§ 19. The following statement classifies the suits other than rent-suits and suits of the Small Cause Court class instituted during the past two years :—

There was thus, it will be observed, a noticeable decrease in suits to declare and establish personal rights, and in suits for the recovery of immovable property.

§ 20. The following statement gives the value of suits of each class instituted during each of the past two years :— Suits valued according to class. Table E.

		1882. R	1883. R
Suits for money or movables	Small Cause Courts	28,91,626	27,99,086
	Regular Courts	1,66,37,949	1,87,86,004
„ under the Rent Law		90,98,624	95,92,704
Title and other suits		2,77,90,897	1,64,91,441

The increase in the value of suits for money or movables was most marked in Bhagulpore, Backergunge, Beerbhoom, Jessore, Tirhoot, and Purneah, while in Patna and Shahabad there was a noticeable decrease. The increase in Tirhoot was chiefly owing to the institution in 1883, in the Court of the 1st Subordinate Judge, of three cases of the aggregate value of R8,68,673; but in Backergunge, Beerbhoom, Jessore, and Purneah it represented a real increase in the number of institutions. The value of rent-suits increased very considerably in Sarun, Backergunge, and Purneah, and declined in the 24-Pergunnahs, Bhagulpore, Gya, and Mymensingh. Speaking generally, the fluctuations in value corresponded with fluctuations in the numbers of institutions. The value of title and other suits rose considerably in Rajshahye, Hooghly, Patna, and Gya, and fell in Mymensingh, Tirhoot, Burdwan, Moorshedabad, and Midnapore. In Tirhoot the institution of one very large suit affected the statements for 1882, and in Burdwan a similar cause operated to swell the figures for 1883.

§ 21. The following statement shows the average value of suits of each class :—

		1882. R	1883. R
Suits for money or movables	Small Cause Courts	54·2	55·7
	Regular Courts	107·2	116·

Details of value. Statement 3. Further details of the value of suits instituted during 1883 are given below:—

Details of Value.	Suits for Money or Movables.			Suits under the Rent Law.	Title and other suits.
		Regular Courts.
	Small Cause Courts.	Under Small Cause Court powers.	Under ordinary powers.
Not exceeding ₹ 10	8,465	14,049	4,094	49,502	5,060
„ „ „ 50	24,558	56,729	28,291	76,951	13,374

Total	50,202	71,034	90,811	162,501	33,109

It will thus appear that in 398,032 or 97·6 per cent. of the total number of suits instituted in the Civil Courts, the amount in dispute was less than ₹500; and in 70·6 per cent. it was below ₹50. In 33,023 or 65·7 per cent. of the suits instituted in the Small Cause Courts, and in 103,163 or 63·7 per cent. of the suits of the Small Cause Court class instituted in the Regular Civil Courts, the value in dispute was below ₹50. Of the latter, 70,678 were tried by officers vested with Small Cause Court powers. Of rent-suits 30·4 per cent. were below ₹10 and 77·8 per cent. below ₹50 in value, while the proportion of those exceeding ₹100 and ₹500, respectively, was 9·6 and 1·3 per cent.

The following statement gives further details as to 9,056 suits in which the value of the property in dispute exceeded ₹500:—

	Suits for money or movables.	Suits under the Rent Law.	Title and other Suits.
Not exceeding ₹ 1,000 in value	2,567	1,235	1,008
„ „ „ 5,000 „	1,439	836	1,247
„ „ „ 10,000 „	176	55	194
„ „ „ 1,00,000 „	98	24	152
Exceeding „ 1,00,000 „	5	1	19

In the remaining 569 cases the value could not be estimated in money.

§ 22. The result of the decision of suits during each of the past five years is shown in the following table:—

Suits how determined. Table F.

	Withdrawn, compromised, confessed, &c.	Decided ex-parte.	Contested.	Total.
1879	139,070	140,466	93,761	373,297
1880	147,885	142,606	96,474	386,965
1881	144,250	146,304	99,738	390,292
1882	152,660	157,831	96,748	407,239
1883	155,136	156,796	96,857	408,789

Of the whole number decided in 1883, 23·6 per cent. were contested. In 1882, contested cases constituted 23·7 per cent., and in 1881 25·5 per cent., of the whole number decided.

§23. In the following statement details are given for 1883 as to the manner in which the suits before each class of Court were disposed of:—

		Withdrawn, compromised, confessed, &c.	Decided ex-parte.	Contested.
Courts of Small Causes		24,466	16,421	10,222
Regular Courts	Suits for money or movables	65,907	68,664	27,184
	„ under the Rent Law	50,784	68,397	43,544
	Title and other suits	14,029	3,314	15,907
	TOTAL	130,670	140,375	86,635

It thus appears that in the Small Cause Courts 20 per cent., and in the Regular Civil Courts 24 per cent., of the cases decided were contested. As in previous years, the largest proportion of contested suits is to be found among title and other suits, while the smallest proportion is among suits of the Small Cause Court class tried by the Regular Civil Courts.

Of the suits for money, &c., decided in the Regular Courts, 71,822 cases were determined by 91 officers vested with the powers of a Small Cause Court Judge for the trial of petty suits not exceeding R50 in value, and by one officer vested with those powers for the trial of suits not exceeding R100 in value. The manner in which these cases were disposed of is shown on the margin.

Withdrawn	30,704
Decided ex-parte	30,219
Contested	10,899
TOTAL	71,822

§24. The following were the only districts in which more than 5,000 cases were contested during the year under notice:— Districts where contested suits were most numerous.

	1881.	1882.	1883.

Backergunge	4,316	4,652	5,127

The proportion of contested cases decided in the Regular Civil Courts was highest in the following districts:—

	Percentage of contested Cases.
	In Suits for money, &c.	In Suits under the Rent Law.	In title and other Suits.	TOTAL.
Gya	26·	46·8	50·2	38·5

Chota Nagpore	26·9	...	63·9	32·9
Shahabad	22·5	33·6	51·2	32·7

Except in the district of Chittagong, where over 13,000 original suits were instituted, the number of original suits instituted in each of the above districts in no case exceeded 8,000.

§25. In the following statement further details are given of the manner in which suits were decided in the subordinate Civil Courts, as compared with suits decided in the Small Cause Courts proper. The proportion of cases decided in favour of plaintiffs and defendants respectively during the past three years is also shown :—

The figures on the margin show similar percentages as regards the Small Cause Courts only for the past five years.

Applications to set aside ex-parte judgments, or judgments in default. Table G.

§26. The following statement shows for each of the past three years the number of cases dismissed in default or decreed ex-parte, as also the number of applications for setting aside the judgments made and granted in such cases respectively :—

	1881.	1882.	1883.
Number of cases dismissed in default or decreed ex-parte	177,018	203,867	205,843
Number of applications to set aside judgments in such cases	9,337	10,141	10,884
Number of such applications granted	4,176	4,835	5,106

The proportion of applications to judgments in 1883 was 5·2 per cent., as compared with 4·9 per cent. in 1882. Of the applications made during the year under notice 49·8 per cent. were granted, as compared with 47·6 per cent. in 1882. The percentages in the several classes of Courts taken separately for the past two years were as follows :—

	Percentage.
	1882.	1883.
District Judges' Courts	86·6	56·1
Small Cause Courts	58·1	56·6
Subordinate Judges' Courts	36·3	37 4
Munsifs' Courts	45·9	48·9

§27. The following statement shows the number of applications for the execution of decrees, which resulted in the realization of full or partial satisfaction, together with the total amount levied in the Regular Civil Courts :— Table II.

Decrees how executed.

	Complete.	Partial.	Amount realised.
1881	64,167	37,206	1,27,12,970
1882	70,046	43,879	1,37,30,738
1883	71,909	47,446	1,42,01,445

The corresponding figures for Small Cause Courts during the past two years are as follows :—

	Complete.	Partial.	Amount realised.
1882	5,464	6,365	4,03,878
1883	5,379	6,239	3,71,743

In the Regular Civil Courts there was an increase of ₹4,70,707 in the amount realized. The year 1882 also showed an increase. In the Small Cause Courts there was a decrease of ₹32,135 during the year under report as against an increase of ₹22,486 in 1882. The amounts realized in the Regular Civil Courts were largest in the following districts :—

	Amount realised.
	1882.	1883.
Bhagulpore	8,36,071	12,55,465
Backergunge	9,37,338	10,03,048
Tirhoot	9,13,313	9,57,857
Pubna and Bogra	2,59,774	9,09,510
24-Pergunnahs	10,03,213	8,37,869
Mymensingh	5,50,303	6,67,404
Patna	5,77,388	5,81,816
Gya	4,61,605	5,72,034
Dacca	5,31,558	5,66,569
Jessore	7,88,856	5,15,687

The marked fluctuations in Pubna, Bogra, Bhagulpore, Hooghly, and Jessore are due to one or two exceptionally heavy execution cases being finally disposed of during the year under report or during the previous year.

§28. The following statement shows the number of applications for the execution of decrees disposed of in 1883, the number in which realizations were made and the total amount realized, the figures for the Regular Civil Courts and for the Small Cause Courts being given separately :—

		Number of applications.	Amount realised.
Regular Civil Courts	With process . . .	100,572	1,25,17,509
	Without process . . .	18,783	16,83,936
Small Cause Courts	With process . . .	10,542	3,03,211
	Without process . . .	1,076	68,532

Taking all the Courts together, realisations were effected without process in 15·1 per cent. of applications in 1883, as against 14·7 per cent. in 1882.

Decrees executed. Statement 6.

§29. In Statement 6 will be found further details regarding the manner in which decrees were executed in 1883. The number of applications for execution (including verbal applications immediately upon delivery of judgment) made to the Subordinate Civil Courts was 355,444; of these 297,708 were decided and 57,736 remained pending. Satisfaction, whole or partial, was obtained in 130,973 cases. In 39,503 of the applications disposed of, the creditors' claim was adjusted under section 258 of The Code of Civil Procedure. The number of wholly infructuous applications was 158,945. These figures indicate that the decree-holders were unsuccessful, either because they did not persevere in their attempts to execute, or because no property of their judgment-debtors could be found; and in some cases it is possible that the parties settled out of Court, although the result was not reported to the Courts.

Coercive processes.

§30. The following figures show the extent to which the different modes of execution were utilized during the past five years :—

Year.	Possession given.	Imprisonment.	Property sold.
			Movable.	Immovable.
1879	8,064	2,190	10,299	32,240
1880	8,040	1,775	10,728	27,627
1881	7,453	1,936	10,258	21,182
1882	7,286	2,193	11,840	24,648
1883	7,753	2,207	12,300	25,852

An increase took place under each head, especially in respect of cases in which the judgment-debtors' immovable property was attached and sold. This increase was most marked in Jessore, Bankura, Mymensigh, and Backergunge. There was, on the other hand, a noteable decrease in proceedings of this class in the 24-Pergunnahs and Burdwan. The tendency of decree-holders to avail themselves of means of satisfying their decrees other than the attachment and sale of the immovable property of judgment-debtors, and the difficulties in the way of the decree-holder in executing his decree, are attributed by the District Judges of Bhagulpore, Burdwan, and Dacca to the strictness of the rules drawn up by the High Court in 1880 for the attachment and sale of the immovable property of judgment-debtors. The revision of these rules is under consideration. In 318 cases the judgment-debtors' immovable property was dealt with under section 305, 322, or 326 of the Civil Procedure Code; an opportunity being afforded of raising money on the property in order to satisfy the decree. Specific performance was enforced in 272 cases, and partition was effected in 84 cases. No particular details are given regarding the execution of decrees in 7,539 cases.

Miscellaneous (Judicial) cases. Table I.

§31. The following statement compares the number of original miscellaneous cases of a judicial nature instituted, determined, and pending in the Regular Civil Courts and in the Small Cause Courts, during each of the past two years :—

		Instituted.	Determined.	Pending.
Regular Civil Courts . .	1882 .	31,803	32,131	5,774*
	1883 .	32,261	32,765	5,434
Small Cause Courts . .	1882 .	3,063	3,036	221
	1883 .	3,213	3,146	302

* Revised figures.

Notwithstanding the increase in the institutions of the Regular Civil Courts, the pending files have been reduced by 340 cases. In the Small Cause Courts, however, though the cases disposed of were more than in 1883, the institutions were greater in proportion, and the pending files in consequence increased from 221 to 302. A decrease in these cases in the District Courts of Hooghly and the 24-Pergunnahs is attributed to the disappearance from the files of redemption and foreclosure cases in consequence of the Transfer of Property Act coming into operation.

Details are given below of the manner in which these cases were dealt with during the past two years:—

	By Regular Civil Courts.		By Small Cause Courts
	1882.	1883.	1882.	1883.
Withdrawn, compromised, confessed, &c. . .	6,589*	6,797	627	768
Decided ex-parte	7,292	6,996	204	254
Contested	18,250	18,972	2,205	2,124

* Includes 60 redemption and foreclosure cases.

Applications were granted in 56 per cent. of the cases disposed of after contest in the Regular Civil Courts, and were refused in the remainder. Of the whole number disposed of, 1,049 or 3·2 per cent. were compromised. In the Small Cause Courts 51·9 per cent. of the contested applications decided were granted, the rest being refused, while 80 cases or 2·5 per cent. of the whole number were compromised.

	Instituted.	Disposed of.	Pending.
1882	26,966	27,510	3,232
1883	25,479	25,325	3,386

The decrease in institutions of this class was most marked in the following districts:—

	1882.	1883.	Decrease.
Bhagulpore	2,650	2,022	628
Sarun	2,255	1,778	477
Shahabad	1,962	1,518	444
Furreedpore	581	223	358
Gya	874	558	316
Burdwan	720	449	271

In the districts noted below a considerable increase took place:—

	1882.	1883.	Increase.
Tipperah	1,495	1,844	349
Purneah	1,081	1,314	233
Moorshedabad	405	575	170
Dinagepore	831	987	156
Tirhoot	2,293	2,432	139
Jessore	657	792	135
Noakholly	625	734	109

No explanations of the fluctuation in the institution of cases of this class have been given in the district reports except in those of Bhagulpore, Burdwan, Dacca, and the 24-Pergunnahs. In the three last-named districts a diminution in the institutions is attributed to the general harmony of the relations between landlords and tenants.

§33. The following statement exhibits in detail the several classes of miscellaneous (non-judicial) cases instituted, decided, and pending in the Civil Courts during the years 1882 and 1883:—

Detail of Miscellaneou Non-judicial cases.

	Instituted.		Decided.		Pending.
	1882.	1883.	1882.	1883.	1882.	1883.
Applications for the deposit of rent	24,799	23,123	25,333	23,069	2,668	2,717
Applications for assistance to distrain	1,344	1,337	1,383	1,250	325	417
Applications for the sale of distrained property	823	1,019	794	1,006	239	252
TOTAL	26,966	25,479	27,510	25,325	3,232	3,386

Of the 1,250 applications for assistance to distrain property heard during 1883, 1,124 were granted, and the rest refused. It is remarkable that in the Patna district, out of 57 applications filed during the year no less than 54 were rejected. The remaining 72 rejected applications were distributed among 10 districts.

Average duration of cases. Table Q.

§34. The average duration of suits, contested and uncontested, decided during the past year by the several grades of Courts, is given in the following statement:—

		District Judges.		Subordinate Judges.		Munsifs		Small Cause Court Judges.
		M.	D.	M.	D.	M.	D.	M.	D.
Under ordinary procedure	Contested	5	19	7	14	4	0	...
	Uncontested	4	7	3	10	1	26	...
Under Small Cause Court procedure.	Contested	...		0	27	1	10	1	2
	Uncontested	...		0	23	0	28	0	22

Taking individual districts, the duration of cases, both contested and uncontested, decided by the District Judge of Bhagulpore, of contested cases decided by the District Judge of Burdwan, and of uncontested cases decided by the District Judge of Pubna and Bogra, was very long. The duration of contested cases before the District Judge and Subordinate Judge of Gya, which was remarkably long in 1882, showed much improvement in the year under review.

III.—SMALL CAUSE COURTS.

I.—The Presidency Small Cause Courts.

Calcutta Small Cause Court.

§35. The number of suits instituted and decided in the Calcutta Small Cause Court during 1882 and 1883, as also the number pending at the close of these years respectively, are shown below:—

	Instituted.	Decided.	Pending.
1882	29,553	29,329	1,557
1883	26,027	25,783	1,801

In 19,407 or 74·5 per cent. of the 26,027 cases instituted, the amount or value of the property involved did not exceed ₹50; and in 43·2 per cent. it was below ₹10. In 505 cases the amount or value was between ₹500 and ₹1,000, and it exceeded the latter sum in 315 cases.

The total amount in litigation was ₹19,89,465 in the year under notice, as compared with ₹18,28,343 in the previous year. Details of the value of the suits instituted in 1882 and 1883 are given below :—

Classified Value of Suits.	1882.	1883.
Up to ₹ 10	10,776	8,387
,, ,, ,, 50	12,130	11,020
,, ,, ,, 100	2,851	2,776
,, ,, ,, 500	3,050	3,024
,, ,, ,, 1,000	612	505

The decrease, it will be observed, was confined to suits in which the amount or value did not exceed ₹1,000. On this subject the Judges of the Presidency Small Cause Courts in their report to the High Court observe as follows :—

"When we submitted our last report, Act XV of 1882 (Presidency Small Cause Courts Act, 1882,) had been in force only six months, and there had been a decrease of 4,555 suits on the returns for the whole year. This falling off was confined, as we pointed out, almost entirely to suits below ₹50 and followed immediately on the introduction of the new Act. In other words, it represented the effect of the new procedure upon small suits during the last six months of the year 1882. We attributed this result in a great measure to the effect of sections 36 and 37 of The Code of Civil Procedure on small suits, and pointed out how much more troublesome it was to file and conduct a suit under the Code than under the old practice. This was a point upon which some of us held a strong opinion all along and lost no opportunity of bringing it under the notice of the Legislature during the passage of the Bill. When the Bill became law, and modifications of the Code under section 23 of the Act were under consideration, the Local Government consulted its law officers, and on their advice it was finally determined to retain the sections without modification. The attention of the Government of India has since been drawn to the subject, and that Government has expressed the opinion 'that the complaints, especially so far as the pettier classes of suits are concerned, do not seem to be entirely groundless, but to involve matters which cause substantial inconvenience and hardship to suitors. Indeed, the large diminution in the number of suits filed in the Calcutta Court, since the new Act came into operation, notwithstanding the fact that the jurisdiction of the Court now embraces suits of twice the pecuniary value admissible under the former Act, is attributed by the Judges (paragraphs 6, 7, and 8 of the Annual Report to the High Court for 1882), and apparently with justice, to the more elaborate and exacting practice connected with the representation of parties, which was introduced with the enactment now in operation. A similar result was produced by like cause on the files in the Court of Small Causes at Madras.' Those of us who held that these sections were unsuited to this Court predicted the results which have occurred and are now admitted. The Government of India has accordingly invited a reconsideration of this subject, and we have, under the orders of the Government of Bengal, proposed the omission from the Code as applicable to this Court of sections 37 and 41, and have suggested the substitution of a rule of practice which will give greater facilities for the representation of parties in suits."

The number of suits valued at more than ₹1,000 increased from 134 to 315—a result from which the Judges rightly infer the popularity of the Presidency Small Cause Court for suits of the higher values, the trial of which requires not only more care and attention than that of small suits, but in the case of contested suits occupies a greater length of time. Some of the suits instituted during the past year were a result of the rise in the price of jute and of the fall in the share market which took place during the second half of the year.

Compromised	9,599
Decreed on confession	1,981
Decreed ex-parte	5,547
Dismissed ex-parte	61
TOTAL	17,138

Of the suits disposed of during 1883, 3,434 were dismissed for default or for want of prosecution, or were withdrawn with leave; 17,138 were decided without contest in the manner shown in the margin, and 5,211 were decided after contest or on reference to arbitration.

Four hundred and sixty-one miscellaneous judicial cases were decided by the Calcutta Small Cause Court, all of which were distraint cases (not being interpleader claims) under the Distraint Act, 1875. The number of commissions from Courts in the interior executed during the year is not given in the returns.

Of 3,053 processes received from Courts in the Mufassal, 2,115 were served on persons residing in Calcutta. Out of 15,001 applications for the execution of decrees on the files* of the Calcutta Small Cause Court, 14,592 were determined and 409 remained pending at the close of the year. The number of such applications filed was 14,312 in 1882, and the increase of 354 applications is attributed to the facilities for executing their decrees afforded to decree-holders by the present Civil Procedure Code being greater than those afforded by the former procedure of the Court. Of the applications disposed of in 1883, 10,610 resulted in whole or partial satisfaction of the decrees. In 4,326 cases it was found necessary to issue process.

* Pending from 1882 355
Instituted in 1883 14,646

The total amount realized was R4,28,762† in the past as compared with R3,97,794 in the previous year. The increase is due partly to the increase in the number of applications and partly to the higher values of decrees during the year under review.

† With the issue of process . . R 2,11,407
Without the issue of process . . 2,17,355

The principal coercive measures adopted to effect the execution of decrees were the imprisonment of the judgment-debtor in 370 cases, and the sale of the debtor's movable property in 563 cases. In 29 cases the immovable property of the debtor was made over to the decree-holder in liquidation of the debt.

II.—Provincial Small Cause Courts.

Provincial Small Cause Courts. Table A 1.

In Table A1 will be found details of the business coming before each Small Cause Court separately. The number of these Courts remained unchanged during the year under notice.

The total number of cases instituted and decided in the Small Cause Courts during the past two years, as well as the number pending at the close of each of these years, is shown below :—

	Instituted.	Decided.	Pending.
1882	53,271	54,356	3,204
1883	50,202	51,109	3,452
Difference .	— 3,069	— 1,366	+ 248

The increase or decrease in the number of cases instituted has been most marked in the following Courts and groups of Courts :—

	Increase.	Decrease.
Sealdah	1,053	...
Cuttack	...	1,035
Dacca and Munshigunge	...	1,014
Bhagulpore and Monghyr	..	673
Krishnaghur, &c.	...	637
Patna	...	636
Hooghly, &c.	521	...

The decrease in the institutions in the Krishnaghur group of Small Cause Courts is attributed to the depressed condition of the people consequent on the prevalence of epidemic fever during the past three years ; while the decrease in the Bhagulpore and Monghyr Courts is ascribed to the good harvest of the previous year, very little difficulty being experienced in realizing the amounts of small bonds. The development of trade in the suburbs has led to an increase in the Sealdah Small Cause Court.

A comparison of Table F1 appended to this Report with the corresponding table appended to the Report for 1882, shows that the decrease in the number of suits instituted, though common to contested and uncontested cases, was greater in respect of the latter.

§37. The following table shows the number of cases instituted during each of the past four years in the principal Courts and Circles :— Institutions of the last four years.

	1880.	1881.	1882.	1883.
Magoorah, Jhenidah, and Narail	7,864	6,321	4,734	4,626
Dacca and Munshigunge	7,283	6,740	6,298	5,284
Jessore	4,209	4,065	3,847	3,934
Kooshtea, Chooadanga, and Meherpore	4,555	4,613	6,078	6,305
Krishnaghur, Ranaghat, and Bongong	5,775	6,482	5,065	4,428
Sealdah	5,228	5,257	5,538	6,591
Hooghly, Howrah, and Serampore	5,413	5,595	6,373	5,894
Bhagulpore and Monghyr	4,418	4,858	5,192	4,513
Furreedpore	1,411	1,311	1,079	935

The increase in the pending files of the Small Cause Court at Sealdah, amounting to 231 cases, was due to a large increase in the institutions, for the number of cases decided by this Court in 1883 exceeded the number decided in 1882 by 925. In the Furreedpore Small Cause Court the number of cases decided was less than in the previous year, and the pending files were considerably heavier at the close than at the commencement of 1883. In the Dacca and Howrah Small Cause Courts the pending files showed much improvement.

§38. The following are the Courts or groups of Courts in which the number of contested cases was greatest in the past two years :— Contested cases. Table F 1.

	1882.	1883.
Sealdah	1,619	1,674
Hooghly, &c.	1,492	1,432
Kooshtea, &c.	1,376	1,212
Dacca and Munshigunge	1,202	1,072
Magoorah, &c.	1,024	1,011
Bhagulpore and Monghyr	861	750
Kishnaghur, &c.	848	724
Jessore	678	694

The relative position of the Courts in this respect remained unchanged during the year under notice.

Of 71,822 cases decided by 91 officers vested with the powers of a Small Cause Court for the trial of petty suits not exceeding ₹50 in value, and by one officer vested with those powers for the trial of suits not exceeding ₹100 in value, 10,998 or 15·3 per cent. were contested. Of the cases of the Small Cause Court class tried before officers not vested with the powers of a Small Cause Court Judge, 34,387 were below ₹50 in value ; and 30,484 suits were above ₹50 and below ₹100. These figures afford even stronger grounds than those advanced in previous years for the extension to cases of the value of ₹100 of the powers with which Munsifs may be vested under the provisions of section 29 of Act VI of 1871. Value of suits instituted.

APPELLATE JURISDICTION.

IV.—THE HIGH COURT.

I.—Appeals under section 15 of the Letters Patent.

§39. The statement on the margin shows the number of appeals under section 15 of the Letters Patent, preferred against the decrees of the High Court in its Appellate Jurisdiction and decided in the years 1882 and 1883, respectively. The number of appeals before the Court in 1883 from the decrees of Judges of the High Court in the exercise of Original Jurisdiction, was 63, including 26 pending from the previous year. Of these 22 were decided and 41 remained unheard at the close of the year.

Class of Appeals.	Filed.		Decided.
	1882.	1883.	1882.	1883.
First Appeals	34	37	37	22
Second Appeals	2	...	...	1
Third Appeals	97	30	109	20

An opinion was expressed on a former occasion that second appeals "are prevented' by the operation of section 575 of the Code of Civil Procedure." During the current year, the question, whether, notwithstanding section 575 of the Code, a second appeal will lie when one of two Judges of a Division Bench has affirmed the decree of the Lower Court, was decided in the affirmative by a Full Bench.

Thirty third appeals were presented in 1883 against the order of a single Judge on appeal from an appellate decree in suits valued at less than ₹50, as against 97 in 1882. The further decrease shown by these figures is due to the fact that only 100 such decrees were passed by a single Judge as against 662 passed in the previous year. The results of third appeals in the past two years is shown below:—

	Confirmed.	Modified.	Reversed.	Remanded.	Disposed of otherwise.
1882	88	...	10	10	1
1883	17	...	1	1	1

	Disposed of. 1882.	1883.
Disposed of by a single Judge .	662	100
Do. by a Bench of two Judges	588	564

The figures on the margin show the number of appeals in suits valued at less than ₹50, decided by a single Judge of the Court and by Benches consisting of two Judges, respectively.

II.—Appeals from the Subordinate Civil Courts.

§40.—The number of first and second appeals from the decrees and orders of the Civil Courts which came before the High Court and were decided during the past two years is shown on the margin. These figures include appeals from Assam and British Burma. Of the first appeals brought before the Court in 1883, 40 were appeals in contested will cases, and of these 29 were decided.

Class of Appeals.	Preferred to the Court. 1882.	1883.	Decided. 1882.	1883.

From orders	164	143	155	134

The following statement shows the manner in which the appeals brought before the Court came upon the file:—

			Instituted.	Received by transfer.	On review of judgment.	Revived.

		Orders . .	274	...	...	...

		Orders . .	143	...	...	...

The number of appeals from the Subordinate Civil Courts decided by the High Court was 2,536 in the past as compared with 4,061 in the previous year, during a considerable portion of which the services of two Additional Judges were available. The decrease was common to all classes of appeals except appeals from the original orders of the Lower Courts, the number of which was 59 in excess of the number decided in 1882. The decrease was greatest in respect of appeals from the appellate decrees of Lower Courts.

§41. The pending files of appeals of all classes from the Mufassal increased from 3,297 in 1882 to 4,521 in 1883, as shown below—

§42. The following statement shows in a more complete form the work which has come before the High Court in its appellate jurisdiction during each of the past four years. It will be seen that the civil business of the Court is gradually increasing, while the criminal work shows a certain tendency to diminish.

V.—APPELLATE COURTS UNDER THE HIGH COURT.

Appeals instituted Table J.

§50. The number of appeals in regular suits instituted and decided in the Local Courts during the past three years, as also the number pending at the close of each of these years respectively, is shown below :—

	Instituted.	Decided.	Pending.
1881	19,792	18,579	14,840
1882	19,501	22,337	12,696
1883	17,457	18,590	12,129

A decrease in the number of appeals preferred during 1883 was observable in the following districts:—

	Preferred. 1882.	1883.	Decrease.
Tirhoot	1,667	967	700
Dacca	899	613	286
Shahabad	1,106	830	276
Hooghly	920	660	260
Sarun	874	618	256

An increase took place in eight districts, for five of which, where it was greatest, the figures are given below:—

	Preferred. 1882.	1883.	Increase.
Tipperah	1,538	1,806	268
Chittagong	959	1,219	260
Jessore	724	860	136
Noakholly	396	520	124
Moorshedabad	293	394	101

A large number of analogous rent appeals instituted in 1882 had swelled the Tirhoot files of that year, so that the increase there was more apparent than real. A similar cause accounts to some extent, but not entirely, for the increase in Dacca.

The transfer of the Satkhira sub-division from the 24-Pergunnahs to Jessore has affected the returns for those districts. The decrease in the Hooghly District is attributed by the District Judge mainly to his practice of hearing every appeal under section 551 of the Civil Procedure Code shortly after its institution,—a practice which has greatly checked the institution of frivolous appeals. Evidence of the correctness of this theory is found in the fact that the decrease was most marked in rent appeals and in appeals for money or movables, the classes of cases in which appeals are most frequently preferred with the object rather of harassing the opposite party than of obtaining a remedy for injustice. Appeals in title and other suits have remained practically stationary. The District Judges of Burdwan and Dinagepore attribute a diminution in the institution of appeals to the increasing cost of copies under the recent scheme for preparing copies and the high scale of Court-fees. In the first-named district the number of appeals has decreased steadily since these enhanced charges have been made.

§51. The falling off in the number of appeals filed had as a result a decrease in the number of appeals decided, notwithstanding which there was a reduction in the total number pending at the close of the year. The fluctuations in appeals decided are most marked in the following districts:—

Appeals disposed of.

Increase.		Decrease.
Pubna and Bogra	348	Tirhoot	1,001
Cuttack	232	Shahabad	866
Patna	206	Midnapore	614
Mymensingh	185	Hooghly	494
Furreedpore	147	Bhagulpore	392
Sarun	131	Dacca	281

The arrears of pending appeals increased in the following districts:—

	1882.	1883.	Increase.
Backergunge	402	801	399
Tipperah	1,137	1,472	335
Chittagong	828	1,135	307
Bhagulpore	527	716	189
Moorshedabad	50	200	150

In the following districts a considerable decrease is observable:—

	1882.	1883.	Decrease.
Tirhoot	973	438	535
Mymensingh	896	564	332
Sarun	818	502	316
Pubna and Bogra	433	209	224
Patna	575	403	172
Furreedpore	579	414	165

The increase in the arrears in Backergunge was due to the temporary deputation to Tipperah of the Second Subordinate Judge, but it is unsatisfactory to observe that this measure effected no improvement in the latter district. The accumulation of arrears at Chittagong is unsatisfactory, but it is hoped that the arrears will be reduced during the present year. It has been found necessary to appoint a more energetic officer to this district as District Judge.

The number of cases decided by the subordinate Civil Courts, in which an appeal lay to the District Court, was 70,325 in the past year as compared with 71,924 in 1882. The ratio of appeals to decisions was therefore 24·5 for the past as compared with 26·8 per cent. for the previous year. The percentage was highest in the following districts :—

	1882.	1883.
Gya	50·37	41·5
Sarun	47·52	40·07
Patna	60·99	40·01
Shahabad	45·18	38·44

§ 52. The following figures show for each of the two past years the number of appeals filed under each of the three chief classes of suits :—

1883	3,316	8,326	5,815

§ 53. The value of appeals of each of these three classes instituted in 1882 and 1883 is shown in the following statement :—

	₹	₹	₹	₹
1882	7,26,779	7,13,889	14,30,451	28,74,119

§54. The following table gives details of the value of appeals instituted during the past year in the Lower Appellate Courts :—

Scale of Values.	Number of Appeals.
	Suits for Money or Movables.	Suits under the Rent Law.	Title and other Suits.	Total.
Not exceeding ₹ 10	119	1,869	726	2,714

Value not stated	...	34	93	127
Total	3,316	8,326	5,815	17,457

Of 17,457 appeals 17,009 or 98·1 per cent. were triable either by District or Subordinate Judges. In the remainder the Subordinate Judges were the Courts of first instance, and the appeal lay therefore to the District Judge.

§55. The following statement shows the result of appeals in the past two years as affecting the decisions of the Lower Courts:— Disposal of Appeals. Table N.

The proportion of cases, in which the decision of the First Court was upheld, was best in Pubna and Bogra (71·2 per cent.), Gya (66 per cent.), Beerbhoom (63·4 per cent.), Mymensingh (63·2 per cent.), and Shahabad (63 per cent.), and not so good in Tirhoot (46 per cent.), Cuttack (46·7 per cent.), and Patna (49·3 per cent.)

The following table shows the number of "Miscellaneous cases before Appellate Courts" instituted, and decided, during each of the past two years, as also the number pending at the close of each of these years respectively:— Miscellaneous cases before Appellate Courts. Table O.

	Instituted.	Decided.	Pending.
1882	1,802	1,829	452
1883	2,166	1,992	668

An increase in the institution of such cases is observable in Tipperah Tirhoot, Midnapore, and in the 24-Pergunnahs. In Dacca a large decrease —from 114 to 50 cases—took place. The disposals in the past year did not equal the institutions, and the pending files rose from 452 in 1882 to 668 in 1883. The increase in pending cases was, however, almost confined to Tirhoot, where a large number of institutions took place towards the close of December 1883.

VI.—GENERAL AND ADMINISTRATIVE.

* Miscellaneous appeals only.

The decrease in the number of regular appeals heard by District Judges was due in a great measure to the increasing demand made upon their time by their other duties. The increase in the number of original suits decided by District Judges was common to all districts except Beerbhoom, Bancoorah, Chittagong, Hooghly, and Noakhally. No such suits were decided by the District Judges of Cuttack, Sarun, and Chota Nagpore. There was a falling off in the number of appeals heard by the District Judge of the 24-Pergunnahs owing to the complicated nature of some of the appeals which came before him, to a heavy partnership case which occupied much time, to several tedious Land Acquisition cases, and a large number of criminal appeals. Several District Judges have brought to the notice of the Court the inconvenience at present caused by section 265 of the Indian Contract Act under the provisions of which all partnership cases, however trivial, must be heard by the District Judge. The Court has recently addressed the Government of India on the subject.

Work done by Additional Judges. Table P2.

§ 57. The following statement shows the amount of work, civil and criminal, done by Additional Judges during the past four years :—

There was a considerable falling off in the amount of work done by the Additional District and Sessions Judge of the 24-Pergunnahs and Hooghly as compared with that done in 1882.

Work done by Subordinate Judges. Table P3.

§ 58. The amount of work done by Subordinate Judges during the past four years was as follows :—

	Original Suits.	Miscellaneous Cases.	Regular Appeals.	Miscellaneous Cases before Appellate Courts.
1880	5,147	7,427	9,267	65 *
1881	5,113	6,128	10,466	27 *
1882	4,943	6,703	13,027	413
1883	5,403	6,714	11,514	452

* These are miscellaneous appeals only, heard by Deputy Commissioners, who are also Subordinate Judges in Chota Nagpore.

The Small Cause Court Judge of Cuttack, who exercises the powers of a Subordinate Judge and Munsif, disposed in the latter capacity of only six execution cases. The Subordinate Judge of Dinagepore exercises similar powers, and the work done by him in this capacity is exhibited separately in Table P4. In Purneah the Subordinate Judge is vested with the powers of a Judge of a Court of Small Causes for the trial of cases cognizable by such Courts up to the limit of ₹50 in value, and the Subordinate Judge of Rungpore exercises similar powers for the trial of such cases up to the limit of ₹100 in value.

Judicial Staff.

§ 59. At the close of 1883 there were employed in the Province 49 Subordinate Judges and 13 Small Cause Court Judges vested with the powers of Subordinate Judges. Of the former four were Deputy Commissioners; four, Assistant Commissioners vested with the powers of a Subordinate Judge; and four were Covenanted Civil Servants vested with similar powers in respect of original suits only. In 1882 there were 47 Subordinate Judges (inclusive of Deputy Commissioners and Covenanted Officers), and 13 Small Cause Court Judges vested with the powers of a Subordinate Judge. The increase in the number of Subordinate Judges is due to the appointment of an Additional Subordinate Judge to Furreedpore, Gya, and Tipperah, and to the investiture of two Assistant Commissioners in Chota Nagpore with Small Cause Court powers. Subordinate Judges were withdrawn from Bankura, Purneah, and Tirhoot.

Two Covenanted Civil Servants exercised the functions of Subordinate Judges. Five cases only were tried by these officers. As observed in the Report for 1882, the scheme under which Junior Covenanted Civilians were vested with the powers of Civil Court Judges has proved of little or no practical value as a means of training the officers in question, and it has in other respects not worked satisfactorily. Since the close of the year under report the Court have found it necessary to recommend its abandonment to Government.

§60. The following figures show the number of suits and miscellaneous cases decided by Munsifs during each of the past three years:— Work done by Munsifs. Table P 4.

Two hundred and thirty-one Munsifs were employed at the close of 1883 as compared with 230 at the close of 1882. Besides these officers, two Assistant Commissioners and ten Covenanted Civil Servants were vested with the powers of a Munsif.

The amount of work done by the Covenanted Munsifs during the past year is shown below:—

§61. Including the High Court and the Presidency Small Cause Court, the receipts of the Civil Courts for the year under review amounted to R77,13,146; and the charges to R46,32,645. The profit, therefore, to the Government from civil litigation amounted to R30,80,501—a sum exceeding the surplus of 1882 by R1,10,007 and that of the preceding year by R3,09,952. Receipts and Charges of the Civil Courts. Tables R and S.

Taking the Courts at the Presidency by themselves, the charges exceeded the receipts by R2,15,693, thus:—

Receipts.		R	Charges.		R

In the Civil Courts outside the Presidency Town the net financial result for the past year was a surplus of R32,96,194. Courts outside the Presidency Town.

Deducting from both sides of the account the charges on account of processservers paid by regular salaries, which amount in the aggregate to R6,38,012 for 1883, the accounts for the last three years stand thus:—

	Receipts.	Charges.	Surplus.
	R	R	R
1881	55,56,072	25,72,602	29,83,470
1882	59,78,898	27,62,031	32,16,867
1883	61,30,817	28,34,623	32,96,194

The surplus obtained in 1883 was therefore R79,327 in excess of that obtained in 1882: and the surplus of 1882 exceeded that of 1881 by R2,33,397.

§62. The following statement gives separately and in detail the receipts and charges of the Civil Courts outside the Presidency Town during the year under review:—

Detail of Receipts and Charges.

Receipts.		R	Charges.		R

				Other contingencies and refunds	1,46,520
	TOTAL	67,68,829		TOTAL	34,72,635

Deducting the cost of process-servers and of copying and comparing clerks (inclusive of the copyists not on the fixed establishment), the net receipts from stamps amounted to R58,01,825. Under the head of process-fees alone, the net gain to Government for the past year was R12,15,967 as compared with R11,88,908 for 1882.

§63. The financial result for the past year of the system of preparing copies recently introduced into the subordinate Civil Courts is shown below—

The surplus obtained in 1883, which does not include special charges for urgent copies, was R39,548 in excess of that of 1882.

. The deficit in the High Court was confined to the Appellate Side, where the receipts fell short of the expenditure by ₹4,64,779. On the Original Side the receipts exceeded the expenditure by ₹1,77,132.

§ 65. A very important source of revenue from the subordinate Civil Courts is derived from the fee of ₹1 realized for administering the oath in the case of affidavits under The Code of Civil Procedure other than (1) affidavits made by process-servers regarding the manner of service of processes, and (2) affidavits made by public officers in virtue of their office. This fee was first levied in the latter end of 1878, and has yielded a large and rapidly-increasing income. The figures for 1878 and 1879 are incomplete, the returns having been furnished to the Court in different forms ; but the receipts for the following years are given below :— Income from Fees on Affidavits.

1880	58,870
1881	87,343
1882	1,06,334
1883	1,16,150

The revenue from this source has been raised without any corresponding increase of expenditure other than the trifling cost of court-fee stamps, and has been therefore a net source of profit to the Government. Its realization has, however, involved a very substantial increase of labour to the officers appointed by the District Judges and Munsifs to administer affidavits without any corresponding improvement of their position and emoluments. The District Judges and Munsifs have for the most part appointed their Serishtadars to be Commissioners, and the Court has recently again urged upon the Local Government the desirability of making some allowance to these officers (whose position ought to be improved, as the Government of Bengal has more than once acknowledged) for the extra work thus imposed upon them. The Court would wish to see the salaries of Serishtadars raised; but if in the present state of the provincial finances this is not feasible, the Judges are of opinion that some allowance should be made to them as Commissioners of Affidavits.

§ 66. Under the head of fees on probates and letters of administration, ₹3,08,792 were realized in the past as compared with ₹3,18,718 in the previous year. The amount levied in the District Courts was ₹87,389 in 1883 against ₹93,067 in 1882. In the High Court, omitting cases in which the assets were situated exclusively in the Province of Assam, the amount of duty realized was ₹2,21,403 as compared with ₹2,25,651 in 1882. Probates, &c. Table T.

The sums here shown are treated in account as receipts of the Civil Courts. Deducting these, the surplus or net revenue realized from such Courts was, in the past year, ₹27,71,709.

§ 67. The surplus revenue derived from the Civil Courts is so large that the Judges desire to take the present opportunity of drawing attention to the very insufficient expenditure which the Government has in recent years found it possible to devote to the improvement of judicial buildings in the Mufassal. The condition of these buildings has been frequently brought to notice and must be presumed to be known to the Government through the reports of the Public Works officials. Many of them are from their construction and appearance totally unfit for Courts of Justice; and the majority of them are from their liability to fire, exposure to damp or other causes, unsuited for the safe custody of valuable documents. It is not reasonable to expect that an officer sitting in a confined dark damp office into which his utmost efforts cannot import decent order should take that interest in the proper disposal of his records and in the neatness of his proceedings which is essential to the proper performance of his duties. In 1878 after a lengthy correspondence with the Government of Bengal, it was decided that new Court-houses should be built for Munsifs and Subordinate Judges on a standard plan and that a sum of about ₹50,000 should be set apart yearly for that purpose and for improving the already existing buildings. The promised expenditure, though insufficient for the purpose, was welcomed by the Court as being in excess of that of previous years, and as likely at all events to improve the condition of the worst Courts. Since the year 1878, however, in only one year has the full amount been allotted. In one year the amount allotted fell Condition of the Court-houses in the Mufassal.

short by about R1,500 of the sum specified, and in the remaining years, as will be seen from the figures given in the margin (which have been supplied by the Local Government), the expenditure has fallen short of the promised amount by more than one-fourth. During the current year the estimated expenditure is little over a quarter of a lakh of rupees, and all recent references to the Government of Bengal on the subject of new Court-houses for particular stations have been met with the reply that "owing to want of funds it has not been found possible to make any progress with the new Court-house." The following remarks regarding the condition of some of the Court-houses in the Mufassal have been briefly abstracted from the District Reports for 1883 :—

* These figures are subject to correction as the books of the Department for 1883-84 were not finally closed when the figures were submitted.
N.B.—Expenditures on petty works costing below R200 each are excluded from the above figures.

Backergunge.—A Court-house (thatched roof, mat walls, and earthen plinth) for the 3rd Munsif of Patuakhali, in course of erection, is the only amelioration of the accommodation secured since date of last annual report. The Court-house for the Barisal Munsif is not yet begun.

Bankura.—The Court-houses at Bishnupur and Gangajalghati are of thatched structure.

Beerbhoom.—The Balpur Munsif's Court-house is a mat-walled erection constructed by the Public Works Department on the superseded plan for dry districts and is exceedingly ill-adapted for the purposes of a Court. There is no security for records in it. The Dubrajpur building is a small thatched house, quite insufficient for the accommodation of the Court, its records, and the public, and being near the bazar is not safe from fire.

Dinagepore.—The Court-house at Hemtabad is an old, rickety, straw-thatched kacha building, and liable to take fire, being adjacent to the local bazar. The buildings at Thakurgaon, Chintamon, and Patnitola are also thatched. The house at the last-named station is ill arranged for light, fresh air, and coolness.

Furreedpore.—Masonry floors have been put down in some of the outlying thatched Court-houses, otherwise there is no change since last year.

Nuddea.—The Court at Chuadanga is held in a bungalow with one room, comprising an area of 20 cubits by 21, in which the office is also accommodated, while that at Meherpur is held in a thatched mud-walled building, the office of the Court being accommodated in the verandas. A new Court-house has been sanctioned for Bongong, but no action has been taken in the matter, because the site for the building has not been selected. The Court at Ranaghat is held in a dark and ill-ventilated thatched hut with very limited accommodation, &c., and infested with white-ants. The office is held in the verandas.

Patna.—The Court buildings are exceedingly defective owing to the increase of business in Patna. The copyists sit in a veranda where they are frozen by the north-wind in the winter, grilled by the west winds in the hot season, and wetted by every heavy shower during the rains.

Pubna and Bogra.—The buildings of the Subordinate Judicial Officers are as last year, except that for the Subordinate Judge a pucka house has been rented. At Nawabganj the house provided by the Public Works Department is so bad, the Munsif has to vacate it continually.

Rajshahye.—The Malda Court-house consists of some low ill-ventilated and dingy out-offices attached to the Collectorate cutcheries. Two glass doors have been added to the present Court-room, and this has relieved the Munsif from clouds of dust in the dry weather.

Rungpore.—At the outlying Munsifis there are still the same wretched mat and thatch buildings. The Julpaiguri Subordinate Judge's Court-house is a mat building with an iron roof and boarded floors, and the noise made by the voices and the feet of the office establishment and the public is such as to render it out of the question to work there. The Subordinate Judge consequently works at his private bungalow.

Shahabad.—The buildings both at head-quarters and at Sahsaram are in a bad state. The roof of the Judge's Court-house is propped up with posts to prevent it from falling.

Tipperah.—No change in the interior is reported, Government not seeing fit to undertake the construction for the present of Court-houses on the standard plan.

Tirhoot.—The Court building at Tajpur is in a very dilapidated condition.

24-Pergunnahs.—The new building sanctioned in 1883 for the District Judge's Court has not been commenced for want of funds; but accommodation is urgently needed for the records which are expected to be deposited during the current year. The present Court is unsuited for the purpose to which it is applied, and its locality is far too remote for the convenience of both the public and the officials. The house constructed at Basirhat in 1881 is also not suitable for the purposes of the Munsifs' Courts there. The present building at Diamond Harbour erected in 1871 does not afford sufficient accommodation for the three Munsifs stationed there. The third Munsif with the establishment of the three Munsifs is accommodated in the lower story, which is utterly unfit for habitation. The Court should be removed to the railway side of the Diamond Harbour creek as being more convenient to the public.

§68. The receipts and disbursements on account of Civil Court Amins during 1882-83 were as follow :— Civil Court Amins. Table U.

		Receipts.	Disbursements.
1882	Permanent Amins	35,469	33,760
	Temporary	5,598	4,338
1883	Permanent Amins	36,381	34,035
	Temporary	7,357	5,410

Allowing in account a deduction of 10 per cent. for pensions, the total receipts exceeded the expenditure by ₹4,293 in the past as compared with ₹2,969 in the previous year. Taking each district separately, deficits appear in the returns of Shahabad, Chittagong, and Jessore. The total number of Civil Court Amins employed at the close of 1883 was 48 as compared with 47 at the close of 1882.

Local investigations were held and completed in 1,481 cases as compared with 1,429 in 1882. The increase was most marked in cases valued between ₹5 and ₹10 and between ₹500 and ₹1,000. Local investigations. Table V.

The average value of the property in dispute in the suits in which investigations were made was ₹788·3, and the average cost ₹30·6. The corresponding figures for 1882 were ₹955·1 and ₹32.

§69. The following statement shows the number of applications for a declaration of insolvency filed, determined, and pending in 1882 and 1883 :— Proceedings in Insolvency. Table W.

	Instituted.	Determined.	Pending.
1882	370	380	75
1883	477	456	96

These applications increase yearly. During the past year they were most numerous in the following districts :—

Hooghly	49	44
Backergunge	24	40
Bhagulpore	20	29
Dacca	29	25
Patna	8	24
Tipperah	24	21

Less than 10 applications were made in the districts of Chota Nagpore, Shahabad, Furreedpore, Cuttack, Jessore, Dinagepore, and Purneah.

The provisions of section 344 of Act XIV of 1882, which enable a decree-holder to have his judgment-debtor declared an insolvent, have not been put in force for two years.

Including 75 pending at the close of 1882, the total number of applications on the files during 1883 was 552. Of these 174 were granted, 154 were rejected, 128 were withdrawn or otherwise not prosecuted, and 96 were pending at the close of the year. Disposal of Applications.

Twenty-one of the applications granted resulted in the appointment of a Receiver, and 17 of those rejected in sentences of imprisonment under section 359 of the Code of Civil Procedure. In one case the applicant was sent to a Magistrate to be dealt with according to law.

The respective numbers of persons declared insolvent, of persons who obtained their discharge, and of persons who remained undischarged during the years 1882 and 1883, are given below :— Number of persons declared Insolvent and discharged. Table W 1.

24-Pergunnahs	11	27
Backergunge	3	20
Bhagulpore	11	16
Patna	1	12
Tipperah	12	12
Tirhoot	5	10

The districts noted on the margin show the largest number of persons declared insolvent No orders in insolvency were made in Chittagong.

Of the 177 persons declared insolvent, 72 or over 40 per cent. were connected with land either as cultivators (27), labourers (19), petty tenure-holders (13), or zamindars (3); 28, or nearly 16 per cent., were petty traders and shopkeepers; the remainder included 13 persons without employment or of uncertain occupation and 7 professional beggars.

The estates of 27 insolvents, including those remaining unsettled at the close of 1882, were in the hands of Receivers during 1883. Proceedings in the case of six of these were finally closed during the year. The numbers of estates placed in the Receiver's hands during each of the past two years were 11 and 16 respectively. The amounts realized and disbursed, and the balances in the hands of Receivers during each of those years, are shown below :—

	Amount realized.	Amount disbursed.	Balance.
1882	1,561	1,571	9
1883	2,586	1,311	1,284

The discrepancy between the sum of ₹9 shown as remaining in the Receiver's hands at the close of 1882 and the sum of ₹292 mentioned in last year's Report is due to the fact that as the creditors did not come forward to receive their claims in cases in which the proceedings were closed, the amounts were deposited in the Treasury, and do not appear again in the returns of the Civil Courts.

The following remarks relating to the manner in which the provisions of Chapter XX of the Code of Civil Procedure have been applied in their districts are extracted from the district reports :—

Jessore.—"There were six applications during the year; of these two were struck off, not being proceeded with; the other four, in which the debts amounted to Rs. 6,000, were opposed by the creditors,—in three cases successfully. In one instance the petitioner was sentenced to six months' imprisonment under the provisions of section 359 of the Civil Procedure Code. The applicants were tenure-holders; unsuccessful litigation was the cause of their embarrassments, and the applications under section 344 were made in the hope that on the surrender of a few pots and pans, "shares" in baris and other property of questionable value, debts due to old opponents would be scored off without any real loss to the losing suitor. Persons of this class appear to be the only parties who attempt to avail themselves of the benefits of the provisions of a law intended for the assistance of the unfortunate."

Rungpore.—"The requirement of the present Civil Procedure Code that applications for declaration of insolvency should be made to the District Court is hard on the applicants and hard on the Court. It entails on the former heavier expenses than if their applications were heard by Munsifs, and takes up the time of the latter, for the most part, with very petty matters indeed, while important appeals and original cases are kept back. A discretion might, I think, be left with the Court before which an arrested debtor is brought to release him, on his furnishing security to pay off his debt within a certain time. It may be important to a cultivator to be at his work just at that time, or a well-to-do man may be arrested at a distance from friends, but might be able to pay up if he could communicate with them, and so forth."

Tipperah.—"There has been some decrease in insolvency cases brought to trial during the year, and I was able to dispose of them with but little encroachment on my time. Further experience leads me to doubt whether I was right last year in proposing to give Munsifs jurisdiction in this description of cases. They are no doubt important, and each case often affects a considerable number of persons.

"I would suggest, however, that the publication in the Calcutta Gazette under section 354, Civil Procedure Code, be left to the discretion of the Judge and not made compulsory. In any cases affecting only a ryot and perhaps one or two mahajans in an obscure mufassal village, it is no use to publish the case in the Gazette which nobody concerned is ever in the least likely to see, and the costs of publication come to some Rs. 3 or so which would be better given to the creditors."

24-Pergunnahs.—"The provisions of the law under Chapter XX of the Code have in their practical working given rise to difficulties in several respects.

"Section 349 empowers the Court to release a judgment-debtor on bail, only when he is under arrest; but gives no authority to the Court to direct the release of a man who has already been taken to jail. This causes great hardship in cases where an unfortunate debtor is on the day of his being brought into Court unable to find security but whose friends afterwards find means of doing so when he is in jail.

"Insolvent Courts in the Mufassal should also be allowed the power to grant ad interim protection orders as in the insolvency jurisdiction of the High Court. Such a power is very much needed to prevent a judgment-debtor, who has applied for insolvency, from being harassed by a number of warrants for arrest, and the absence of such a power is greatly felt.

Section 354 has remained a dead letter in this district, and notifications are very rarely issued, since the cost of notification in the Gazette cannot in most cases be met from the funds placed at the Court's disposal."

§70. The following extracts, relating to the effect of the Transfer of Property Act on the work of the Courts, are made in the reports of the District Judges of Noakhally and of the 24-Pergunnahs:—

Operation of the Transfer of Property Act.

Noakhally.—"Several Munsifs remark that the working of the Transfer of Property Act is beneficial in tending to put down unnecessary litigation, enabling parties to avoid the expense of foreclosure proceedings".

24-Pergunnahs.—"There were very few Acts passed last year which had any appreciable effect on the working of the Civil Courts, but there were several passed in the previous year the effects of which could be appreciated in the year under review.

"The principal Acts of 1882, which applied to the Civil Courts of Bengal, were (1) the Transfer of Property Act, (2) the Presidency Small Cause Court Act, and (3) the Amended Civil Procedure Code.

"The Transfer of Property Act has abolished all applications for foreclosure, and in lieu of the previous double proceeding there is now only one in the shape of a regular suit with a decree nisi to be made absolute after six months. This change has been highly beneficial. Under the old law the extremely technical rules of the foreclosure notice made the obtaining of a decree by the mortgagee extremely difficult, and in the case of a decree the Court had no discretion but to make over possession of the property to him. The new law not only facilitates a decree and the realization of the money, by abolishing the provision of notice, but also gives the Court a discretion to extend the time and either to deliver up possession or make other provision for the payment of the money.

"This Act, by section 60, has also transferred applications for redemption of mortgages, which used previously to be made in the District Judges' Courts under Regulation I of 1798, to the Courts of the Munsifs and Subordinate Judges having jurisdiction. The result has been not only a slight reduction in the ministerial work of this Court, but a great reduction in the expenditure incurred by applicants.

"The most important change, however, which the Act has introduced, is the adoption of some of the provisions of the Statute of Frauds. It virtually abolishes all oral contracts of sale, mortgage, lease, and exchange, and all verbal gifts of immoveable property, and makes writing and registration in all such cases compulsory. The effect of all this is already being felt in the Courts, and has greatly facilitated the conduct of cases.

"The provisions noted above have been seen to be greatly useful.

"Another new feature of the Act is its Fifth chapter (on leases), which codifies the rules applicable to the lands in the Suburbs, all of which are homestead lands, where the rules of English law were formerly considered to be in force and used to be applied in the trial of cases. One change to be met with in this chapter is, however, very objectionable. I allude to the reduction in the period of notice to quit in respect of hired houses from one month (see 12 B. L. R., page 263) to 15 days (see section 106).

"There is also a grave omission in the Act which causes no small amount of practical difficulty. Section 106 declares that all leases for agricultural or manufacturing purposes shall be presumed to be yearly leases, and to be terminable only after six months' notice, and leases of immoveable property for any other purpose are held to be leases from month to month. Now as the chapter has not been extended to agricultural holdings in Bengal, by a Government Notification as required by section 117 (probably because a new Rent Law is shortly to be passed by the Legislature), the above provision of the law is inoperative in Bengal at present. In suits for the ejectment of tenants-at-will from agricultural holdings, the period of notice required by the Courts is not uniform. In some cases the English law is followed, while in others the length of notice is based on considerations of convenience.

"The most important omission in the Act seems to me to relate to bastu holdings, which are always yearly holdings, and on which the tenants build huts at their own expense. Being admittedly yearly holdings, they cannot be deemed to be monthly tenancies, and therefore a 15 days notice in respect of such leases is not only not applicable but is absolutely hard and unjust. No one can for a moment, and with any show of reason, require a man to remove his house and his family from one place and erect a new one in another within a fortnight. In England he would get six months' notice, and if equity or convenience form any element in deciding the matter, he should at least have three months. The law not having provided for the notice required in respect of such homestead lands, the old rules are still adhered to in trying these ejectment suits, the number of which in the Subarban Munsifs is very considerable.

"I have lastly to remark, with reference to this branch of legislation, that the Transfer Act should be supplemented by further laws calculated to effect a public registration of titles.

The mere registration of assurances has proved a most unsatisfactory process. The record of rights now contemplated in the new Rent Bill is a step in the right direction."
